| CURRENT SIGNIFICANT ACTIONS ON CASE:6103 6103 and 6103 6103 are two of the largest organizations that have submitted requests for exemption under section 501(c)(3). These organizations are requesting exemption under section 501(c)(3) because they want to emphasize their charitable and educational aspects and to obtain a charitable contribution deduction for their members' dues as a way to attract and retain members.Our determination will potentially impact 6103 subordinate organizations (e.g. 6103 6103 has approximately 6103 subordinate organizations that will be impacted).6103 6103The organization submitted a Form 1023 application to request exemption under section 501(c)(3) for the central organization - it is currently exempt under section 501(c)(4). Additionally, the central organization submitted a request to have its group exemption modified from section 501(c)(4) to section 501(c)(3). |  |                                                                                                                                          |  |

Please note: This Word document is protected to enable the drop-down, text and check boxes. The cells will expand to accommodate text.

Report Exhibits - Page 000771

On September 22, 2008, EO Determinations issued a proposed denial letter to the central organization denying its request for exemption under section 501(c)(3). The group exemption request for the subordinate organizations is still in process; however, it appears that the group exemption under section 501(c)(3) will also be denied.

Note that there is uncertainty about whether a denial letter for a group exemption request under section 501(c)(3) should include declaratory judgment rights under section 7428 - this question has been raised to TE/GE Counsel and an answer is pending.

6103 6103 6103 6103 6103 6103
All of these organizations submitted Form 1023 applications to request exemption under section 501(c)(3) for the central organizations - they are all currently exempt under section 501(c)(4). Additionally, the central organizations submitted requests to have their group exemptions modified from section 501(c)(4) to section 501(c)(3).

Additional information request letters were sent to these organizations. All of the organizations requested several extensions which were granted. We are awaiting responses.

6103 6103
Per letter dated December 6, 2006, the organization was granted tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(3) effective July 25, 1960; the organization was originally tax-exempt under section 501(c)(4). The organization is also a central organization to a group of organizations exempt under section 501(c)(4). A request has been made by the central organization to change its group exemption from section 501(c)(4) to section 501(c)(3). The central organization is adamant that the subordinate organizations are exclusively charitable, and therefore, qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). However, based on information obtained, it does not appear that the subordinate organizations are exclusively charitable and qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). It is questionable whether the central organization should have been granted tax-exemption under section 501(c)(3). The central organization's request for the group exemption only includes one "test subordinate". Once exemption under section 501(c)(3) has been granted, the other subordinate organizations will be transferred over. The fact that the subordinate organizations engage in civic activities, social activities, possible gaming activities, and possible professional fundraising activities warrant a declination. This case is still in process.

6103 6103
6103 6103 (formerly known as 6103 & 6103
6103 is currently tax-exempt under section 501(c)(3). 6103 & 6103 merged into the 6103 & 6103 6103 and changed its name to 6103 6103. The organization is stating that 6103 &
6103 was the central organization for 6103, which is exempt under section
501(c)(6). 6103 6103 is seeking a group exemption under section
501(c)(3). If the group exemption under section 501(c)(3) is granted, the subordinate organizations under the 501(c)(6) group exemption will be transferred to the 501(c)(3) group exemption. This case is still in process.

| SIGNIFICANT NEXT STEPS, IF ANY:                                | ESTIMATED CLOSURE DATE:       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 6103 - Review protest to proposed denial letter when received. | 6103 - Unknown                |
| 6103 - Review response when received - due November 23, 2008.  | 6103, 6103 and 6103 - Unknown |
|                                                                | 6103 - Unknown                |

Please note: This Word document is protected to enable the drop-down, text and check boxes. The cells will expand to accommodate text.

Report Exhibits - Page 000772

|                                                                                                            |                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 6103 and 6103 -- Review responses when received - due December 8, 2008.                      | 6103 - Unknown            |
| 6103 - Issue an additional information request letter in November.                                  |                                  |
| 6103 - Issue an additional information request letter in November.                                  |                                  |
| BARRIERS TO RESOLUTION, IF ANY:Awaiting guidance from Counsel regarding the section 7428 issue. |                                  |
| SUBMITTED BY: Chad Kowalczyk                                                                        | MANAGER: SHARON CAMARILLO |
| DATE: November 18, 2008                                                                             |                                  |

Please note: This Word document is protected to enable the drop-down, text and check boxes. The cells will expand to accommodate text.

IRSR0000444820

Report Exhibits - Page 000773

TEGE Division Sensitive Case Report
(revised January 2007)

|                                                                                 |                                                          |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| CASE NAME: IRC section 501(c)(19) GroupRuling Reclassification Cases | TAX PERIODS:EARLIEST STATUTE DATE: |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

IRSR0000444821

IRSR0000444822

IRSR0000444823

Report Exhibits - Page 000774

TEGE Division Sensitive Case Report (revised January 2007)

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CASE NAME: [REDACTED]POA: N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | TAX PERIODS:EARLIEST STATUTE DATE:                                                                                     |
| FUNCTION REPORTING: EO RAPOD: Cincinnati, OH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | <input type="checkbox"/> INITIAL REPORT<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> FOLLOW-UP REPORT<input type="checkbox"/> FINAL REPORT |
| SENSITIVE CASE CRITERIA:<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Likely to attract media or Congressional attention<input type="checkbox"/> Unique or novel issue<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Affects large number of taxpayers<input type="checkbox"/> Potentially involves large dollars ($10M or greater)<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Other (explain in Case Summary)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                          |
| FORM TYPE(S)::1024                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | START DATE:7/28/2008                                                                                                          |
| POTENTIAL DOLLARS INVOLVED (IF &gt; $10M) :                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | CRIMINAL REFERRAL? No IF YES, WHEN?Freeze Code TC 914 ( Yes or No)                                                     |
| CASE OR ISSUE SUMMARY:Two organizations from 2 different states applied for exemption under section 501(c)(4) for the purpose of training women to run for political office. The services are only provided to women affiliated with the Democratic Party and focus on a variety of subjects such as public speaking and press relations, as well as how to conduct fund raising activities. The applications appear to represent potential partisan political activity. Coordination has taken place between EO Determinations, the Quality Office, and EO Technical.                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                          |
| CURRENT SIGNIFICANT ACTIONS ON CASE:In August 2008, cases were referred to the Quality Office according to IRM procedures. Research completed by the Quality Office unveiled that 4 "Emerge" organizations were already approved with the oldest approval dating back to September 2004. On October 9, 2008, after consultation with EO Technical, the two cases were transferred to them for review. The review of these 2 cases are dependent upon the resolution of the current court case between the IRS and the DLC (Democratic Party Leadership Council). On November 13, 2008, we identified another "Emerge" case that is being transferred to EO Technical. |                                                                                                                                          |
| SIGNIFICANT NEXT STEPS, IF ANY:Cases have been transferred to EO Technical awaiting details of current DLC Court Case.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ESTIMATED CLOSURE DATE:Unknown                                                                                                |
| BARRIERS TO RESOLUTION, IF ANY:Barriers include: Outstanding court case between IRS and the DLC and fact that 4 "Emerge" organizations were already approved for exemption.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                          |

Please note: This Word document is protected to enable the drop-down, text and check boxes. The cells will expand to accommodate text.

IRSR0000444824

Report Exhibits - Page 000775

TEGE Division Sensitive Case Report
(revised January 2007)

|                                  |                                  |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| SUBMITTED BY: Jon Waddell | MANAGER: SHARON CAMARILLO |
| DATE: 11/14/2008          |                                  |

Please note: This Word document is protected to enable the drop-down, text and check boxes. The cells will expand to accommodate text.

IRSR000044825

Report Exhibits - Page 000776

TEGE Division Sensitive Case Report
(revised January 2007)

|                                     |                     |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------|
| CASE NAME: FORECLOSURE cases | TAX PERIODS: |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------|

Redacted By The Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

IRSR0000444826

IRSR0000444827

TEGE Division Sensitive Case Report
(revised January 2007)

CASE NAME: TAG - 18

TAX PERIODS:

---

Redacted By The Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

---

IRSR0000444828

IRSR0000444829

Report Exhibits - Page 000778

---

From: Hartrick William M
Sent: Wednesday, April 06, 2011 10:56 AM
To: Hofacre Elizabeth L
Subject: FW: politically sensitive cases

Liz,

This is Donna's e-mail on politically sensitive cases.

Bill

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Tuesday, March 08, 2011 2:30 PM
To: Pepper Dale A; Tierney Michael J; Perry Lori A; Hartrick William M; Manohar Ramachandran; Dragoo Daniel D; Ludwig Michael A; Hofacre Elizabeth L
Subject: politically sensitive cases

Today I received a call from Jon Waddell regarding specifically Acorn related cases and Tea Party cases. In brief, guidance from EO Technical is pending and EO Technical has advised that no determination letters be issued - favorable or unfavorable - until guidance is received.

In the interim - cases can and should be developed. Therefore, if you are reviewing one of these cases - or a similar politically sensitive case, please verify the case has been fully developed. If not, please prepare an inquiry memo recommending additional development.

If you have a case that has been developed thoroughly and the determination letter is ready for issuance, please discuss with me. We will consider whether the case should be returned to the group pending guidance from EO Technical - or - whether we should contact EO Technical to solicit their agreement to closing.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
Thanks,
Donna

[illegible]

[illegible]

Report Exhibits - Page 000783

| Issue Name | Issue Description                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Resolution of the Issue                                                                                                                                                | Current Status |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 501(c)(2)  | These cases involve a commingled pension trust holding title to a high dollar note receivable secured by real estate. The application appears to be prepared from a template. The fund manager is usually [REDACTED] | Any future cases may be closed on merit if applicable. EOT determined these applications qualify under 501(c)(2). A referral was completed to address any EP concerns. | Closed         |
| Tea Party  | These cases involve various local organizations in the Tea Party movement are applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).                                                                                   | Any cases should be sent to Group 7825. Liz Holacre is coordinating. These cases are currently being coordinated with EOT.                                             | Open           |

[illegible]

Enlarged for Legibility; Produced on December 17, 2013, as Bates ILSR0000455182 - ILSR0000455196

| Issue Name             | Current Status                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Disputed / Waived | Open                                                                                              | Current Status |
|------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Open Source Software   | These organizations are requesting either 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(16) exemption in order to collaborate on developing new software. The members of these organizations are usually the for-profit business or for-profit support technicians of the software.       | 1 x               | The is no specific guidance at this point. If you see a case, elevate it to your manager.         | Open           |
| RHIO's                 | Organization's setup to electronically exchange healthcare data. Called Regional Health Information Organizations (RHIO's), are requesting exemption under 501(c)(3).                                                                                           | 2 x               | These cases should be transferred to EOT.                                                         | Open           |
| ACORN successor        | Following the breakup of ACORN                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 3 x               | If you see these cases, they should be sent to the TAG Group                                      | Open           |
| Healthcare Legislation | Per HHS Open memo dated April 20, 2010, cases impacted by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148) (PPACA) and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (HCERA) are being coordinated with EOT. | 4 x               | New applications are subject to secondary screening in Group 7821. Wayne Bohn is the coordinator. | Open           |
| Medical Marijuana      | Memo dated 7/16/10. Look for cases involving Medical Marijuana                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 7 x               | Forward cases to processing who will forward the cases to Dennis Tamayo, group 7883               | Open           |

These claims are totally unfounded, says a spokesman for the FBI. "We have no information that any of these individuals are involved in the investigation," he says. "We are not aware of any information that would suggest that any of these individuals are involved in the investigation."

1
 Feather-Layer Tooth
 (6-8 Feather-Layer Tooth)
 18 Tooth

Report Exhibits - Page 000790

|     |                                                                                                  |                                                                                                  |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 100 | Applicant's signature to support apetition from him, her, orhis or her surviving spouse. | Applicant's signature to support apetition from him, her, orhis or her surviving spouse. |
| 110 | Physical address                                                                                 | Physical address                                                                                 |
| 120 | Current place of employment                                                                      | Current place of employment                                                                      |
| 130 | Current place of residence                                                                       | Current place of residence                                                                       |
| 140 | Current place of business                                                                        | Current place of business                                                                        |
| 150 | Current place of residence                                                                       | Current place of residence                                                                       |
| 160 | Current place of residence                                                                       | Current place of residence                                                                       |

Report Exhibits - Page 000791

| Issue Name | Case Name (or Number)                                                                                                                                                                                                | Disposition of Emergency Issue | Current Status (Open/Under Review/Closed)                                                                                                                               |        |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| 501(c)(2)  | These cases involve a commingled pension trust holding title to a high dollar note receivable secured by real estate. The application appears to be prepared from a template. The fund manager is usually [REDACTED] | X                              | Any future cases may be closed on merit if applicable. EOT determined these applications qualify under 501(c)(2). A referral was completed to address any EOT concerns. | Closed |
| Ten Party  | These cases involve various local organizations in the Ten Party movement are applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).                                                                                   | 1                              | Any cases should be sent to Group 7025. Lz Hofstra is coordinating. These cases are currently being coordinated with EOT.                                               | Open   |

| CurrentYear | SubstoBeRetiredinCurrentYear | CurrentYearRetireeTurnover | SubstoBeRetiredinCurrentYear |
|-----------------|------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| 1998            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 1999            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2000            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2001            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2002            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2003            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2004            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2005            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2006            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2007            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2008            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2009            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2010            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2011            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2012            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2013            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2014            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2015            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2016            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2017            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2018            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2019            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2020            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2021            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2022            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2023            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2024            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2025            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2026            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2027            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2028            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2029            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2030            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2031            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2032            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2033            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2034            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2035            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2036            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2037            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2038            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2039            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2040            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2041            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2042            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2043            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2044            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2045            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2046            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2047            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2048            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2049            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2050            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2051            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2052            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2053            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2054            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2055            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2056            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2057            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2058            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2059            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2060            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2061            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2062            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2063            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2064            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2065            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2066            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2067            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2068            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2069            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2070            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2071            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2072            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2073            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2074            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2075            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2076            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2077            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2078            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2079            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2080            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2081            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2082            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2083            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2084            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2085            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2086            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2087            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2088            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2089            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2090            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2091            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2092            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2093            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2094            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2095            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2096            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2097            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2098            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2099            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2100            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |

| CurrentYear | SubstoBeRetiredinCurrentYear | CurrentYearRetireeTurnover | SubstoBeRetiredinCurrentYear |
|-----------------|------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| 1998            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 1999            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2000            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2001            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2002            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2003            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2004            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2005            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2006            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2007            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2008            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2009            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2010            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2011            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2012            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2013            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2014            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2015            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2016            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2017            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2018            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2019            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2020            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2021            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2022            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2023            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2024            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2025            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2026            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2027            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2028            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2029            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2030            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2031            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2032            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2033            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2034            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2035            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2036            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2037            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2038            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2039            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2040            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2041            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2042            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2043            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2044            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2045            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2046            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2047            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2048            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2049            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2050            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2051            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2052            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2053            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2054            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2055            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2056            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2057            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2058            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2059            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2060            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2061            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2062            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2063            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2064            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2065            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2066            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2067            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2068            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2069            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2070            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2071            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2072            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2073            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2074            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2075            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2076            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2077            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2078            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2079            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2080            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2081            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2082            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2083            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2084            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2085            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2086            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2087            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2088            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2089            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2090            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2091            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2092            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2093            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2094            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2095            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2096            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2097            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2098            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2099            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |
| 2100            | 1                                                    | 1                                      | 1                                                    |

Report Exhibits - Page 000793

| Issue Name             | These organizations are requesting exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(6) exemption in order to collaboratively develop new software. The members of these organizations are usually for-profit business or for-profit support technicians of the software. | 1 x | The is no specific guidance at this point. If you see a case, elevate it to your manager.         | Open |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Open Source Software   | Organization's setup to electronically exchange healthcare data, called Regional Health Information Organizations (RHIOs), are requesting exemption under 501(c)(3).                                                                                        | 2 x | These cases should be transferred to EOT.                                                         | Open |
| RHIO's                 | Following the breakup of ACORN                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 3 x | If you see these cases, they should be sent to the TAG Group.                                     | Open |
| ACORN successors       | Per Rob Citra memo dated 4/20/10, cases impacted by Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148) (PPACA) and the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-152) (HCEA) are being coordinated with EOT.        | 4 x | New applications are subject to secondary screening in Group 7821. Wayne Bohn is the coordinator. | Open |
| Healthcare Legislation |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |                                                                                                   |      |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |                                                                                                   |      |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |                                                                                                   |      |
| Medical Marijuana      | Memo dated 7/15/10. Look for cases involving Medical Marijuana                                                                                                                                                                                              | 7 x | Forward cases to processing who will forward the cases to Denise Tamayo, group 7868               | Open |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |                                                                                                   |      |

[illegible]

Enlarged for Legibility; Produced on December 17, 2013, as Bates IIRSR0000455182 - IIRSR00000455195

Report Exhibits - Page 000795

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Monday, January 30, 2012 7:40 AM
To: Fish David L; Seto Michael C
Subject: Review requested
Attachments: [REDACTED] Proposed Adverse.doc

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Hi David and Mike,

Attached is a proposed denial letter we've drafted for an ACCRN successor. Because this is the first such letter we've prepared I'd like to have someone in EO Technical review before it is issued. (I also think that this might receive some attention). In brief, the basis of the denial is the [REDACTED]

Please let me know if you'd like a copy of the case or have any questions.
Thanks,
Donna

THESE PAGES
REDACTED
BY IRS

Report Exhibits - Page 000797

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Tuesday, March 27, 2012 5:55 AM
To: Hartrick William M
Cc: Seto Michael C; Fish David L
Subject: FW: Review requested

Bill,

will you please work with Sandy to get a copy of the admin file to DC?

Thanks,
Donna

---

From: Seto Michael C
Sent: Monday, March 26, 2012 4:43 PM
To: Abner Donna J
Cc: Fish David L
Subject: RE: Review requested

Hi Donna,

Elizabeth Ardion and Mike Repass reviewed the proposed denial. They concluded that the denial needs additional facts to support the legal conclusion that the organization doesn't qualify as a (c)(3). They need to review the administrative file.

I recommend that you send a copy of the administrative file to me so we can look at the case in-depth.

Let me know if this plan is agreeable.

Thanks, Mike

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Wednesday, March 07, 2012 8:46 AM
To: Abner Donna J; Fish David L; Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Review requested

Just following up on this case - thoughts??

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Tuesday, February 07, 2012 9:16 AM
To: Fish David L; Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Review requested

The case has a March 2010 control date. No TAS inquiry or other push by EO yet. However, due to its age - it could happen at any time. Could we set a 30 day due date?

Report Exhibits - Page 000798

---

From: Fish David L
Sent: Tuesday, February 07, 2012 9:12 AM
To: Abner Donna J; Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Review requested

When do you need this back? The answer is yes but they don't have it yet and we want to make sure whomever we assign it to can make the timeline.

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Tuesday, February 07, 2012 9:09 AM
To: Fish David L; Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Review requested

Just following up - any decision or assignment to a TLS?

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Monday, January 30, 2012 8:40 AM
To: Fish David L; Seto Michael C
Subject: Review requested

Hi David and Mike,

Attached is a proposed denial letter we've drafted for an ACORN successor. Because this is the first such letter we've prepared I'd like to have someone in EO Technical review before it is issued. (I also think that this might receive some attention). In brief, the basis of the denial is [REDACTED]

Please let me know if you'd like a copy of the case or have any questions.
Thanks,
Donna

Report Exhibits - Page 000799

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Wednesday, March 24, 2010 8:43 AM
To: Choi Robert S
Subject: FW: Investigation
Attachments: [REDACTED] 6103.doc

Just a heads up that it appears that ACCORN is morphing into new organizations. According to Cincy, there was one organization that came in for exemption, but they believe it was closed FTE. Will keep you updated as to new developments in this area. May cause some press attention.

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, March 22, 2010 7:28 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: FW: Investigation

Steve,

Does EO Technical need this information?

---

From: Camarillo Sharon L
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 1:18 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Melahn Brenda
Cc: Shafer John H; Waddell Jon M
Subject: FW: Investigation

Cindy: Please elevate this issue to Alert KOT to a potential new twist on the former ACCORN organization. It appears that ACCORN may have gone out of business, but has re-organized into several different organizations with the same purpose. These new organizations include:

- [REDACTED] 6103
- [REDACTED] 6103, and
- [REDACTED] 6103

I agree with Jon's recommendation that we not open a new TAG issue until we actually receive one of these applications and can make an assessment for their potential for fraud or other abuse.

John: Can you tell if we have received any of these applications in our screening unit? If so, the cases should be forwarded to the TAG group.

Sharon L. Camarillo
EO Determinations Manager, Area 1

9350 E. Flair Drive

Report Exhibits - Page 000800

El Monte, CA 91731-2885

Telephone: 626-312-3608 ext 5026

Fax: 626-312-2928

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 6:40 AM
To: Camarillo Sharon L
Subject: FW: Investigation

Sharon,

I'm forwarding on this e-mail I rec'd from Richie in the ROO. It concerns ACORN and its apparent new incarnation as 6103. Richie inquired as to how Acorn Affiliated cases are identified when they come in for exemption as well as suggesting these types of cases be worked in TAG.

I have informed Richie I would elevate his e-mail but here are my specific thoughts:

1. To date, I remember seeing only one Acorn-related application which was previously assigned to Julie Chen and was, at one time, included on the Sensitive Case Report in 7821. I believe that the case was ultimately closed as no.
2. I don't think this issue should be added to TAG until we actually review a case and assess the level of potential fraud, if any.
3. Lastly, it might be a good idea to alert the screener's that if they see an ACORN related case or one referencing 6103 that they send it the TAG Group for review.

Overall, at this point, I think its premature to state anything is TAG case until we actually see and review a case.

thanks

---

From: Heidenreich Richie
Sent: Friday, February 26, 2010 3:58 PM
To: Todd Nancy M
Cc: Lawson Colleen C; Waddell Jon M
Subject: Investigation

Nancy,

There is a lot of internet traffic about ACORN reinventing itself. 6103 office is now occupied by 6103. They have formed a new corporation and will be applying for exemption under 501(c)(4). In 6103, the remnants of ACORN have become the 6103. In 6103, they have become 6103. I am guessing other offices will be doing the same. These cases probably should be handled by the TAG group if they can be identified.

John,

Report Exhibits - Page 000801

Do we have a mechanism to recognize these cases if and when they come in for exemption.

Richie

THESE PAGES
REDACTED
BY IRS

Report Exhibits - Page 000803

---

From: Choi Robert S
Sent: Friday, March 26, 2010 1:11 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Camarillo Sharon L; Melahn Brenda; Shafer John H; Waddell Jon M; Berry Daniel W
Cc: Grodnitzky Steven; Miller Thomas J; Choi Robert S
Subject: ACTION by 12noon 3/29/10: Investigation
Attachments: 6103.doc

I need a summary from Cincy regarding this issue of ACORN morphing into new entities. I have a meeting Monday afternoon, 3/29, to discuss this issue with HC folks. I'm trying to get background on what we have seen so far and if there are any concerns identified on the applications that have been submitted.

What have we received to date re applications? Numbers.
Have we approved, denied, or FTE'd any? Numbers.
How do we know that these new applications are related to the predecessor organizations? In other words, how are we linking them?
Have we identified any concerns to date?
Have any of these new entities assumed the assets and liabilities of the predecessor orgs?
I see from the email thread below that this originated from Ritchie Heidenreich in ROO, EO Exam. Do you know what his role is regarding ACORN?

Need response by email to Steve, Tom and I by 12noon, Monday, 3/29/10.

Thanks.

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Wednesday, March 24, 2010 9:43 AM
To: Choi Robert S
Subject: FW: Investigation

Just a heads up that it appears that ACORN is morphing into new organizations. According to Cincy, there was one organization that came in for exemption, but they believe it was closed FTE. Will keep you updated as to new developments in this area. May cause some press attention.

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, March 22, 2010 7:28 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: FW: Investigation

Steve,

Does EO Technical need this information?

---

From: Camarillo Sharon L
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 1:18 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Melahn Brenda
Cc: Shafer John H; Waddell Jon M
Subject: FW: Investigation

Report Exhibits - Page 000804

Cindy: Please elevate this issue to alert EOT to a potential new twist on the former ACORN organization. It appears that ACORN may have gone out of business, but has re-organized into several different organizations with the same purpose. These new organizations include:

- [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED], and
- [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED]

I agree with Jon's recommendation that we not open a new TAG issue until we actually receive one of these applications and can make an assessment for their potential for fraud or other abuse.

John: Can you tell if we have received any of these applications in our screening unit? If so, the cases should be forwarded to the TAG group.

Sharon L. Camarillo
EO Determinations Manager, Area 1

9350 E. Flair Drive
El Monte, CA 91731-2885

Telephone: 626-312-3608 ext 5026
Fax: 626-312-2928

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 6:40 AM
To: Camarillo Sharon L
Subject: FW: Investigation

Sharon,

I'm forwarding on this e-mail I rec'd from Richie in the ROO. It concerns ACORN and its apparent new incarnation as [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED]. Richie inquired as to how Acorn Affiliated cases are identified when they come in for exemption as well as suggesting these types of cases be worked in TAG.

I have informed Richie I would elevate his e-mail but here are my specific thoughts:

1. To date, I remember seeing only one Acorn-related application which was previously assigned to Julie Chen and was, at one time, included on the Sensitive Case Report in 7821. I believe that the case was ultimately closed for.
2. I don't think this issue should be added to TAG until we actually review a case and assess the level of potential fraud, if any.
3. Lastly, it might be a good idea to alert the screener's that if they see an ACORN related case or one referencing [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED] that they send it the TAG Group for review.

Report Exhibits - Page 000805

Overall, at this point, I think its premature to state anything is TAG case until we actually see and review a case.

thanks

---

From: Heidenreich Richie
Sent: Friday, February 26, 2010 3:58 PM
To: Todd Nancy M
Cc: Lawson Colleen C; Waddell Jon M
Subject: Investigation

Nancy,

There is a lot of internet traffic about ACORN reinventing itself. [REDACTED] office is now occupied by [REDACTED] 6103. They have formed a new corporation and will be applying for exemption under 501(c)(4). In [REDACTED] the remnants of ACORN have become the [REDACTED] 6103. In [REDACTED] 6103, they have become [REDACTED] 6103. I am guessing other offices will be doing the same. These cases probably should be handled by the TAG group if they can be identified.

John,

Do we have a mechanism to recognize these cases if and when they come in for exemption.

Richie

THESE PAGES
REDACTED
BY IRS

Report Exhibits - Page 000807

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Sunday, March 28, 2010 3:50 PM
To: Choi Robert S
Cc: Camarillo Sharon L; Waddell Jon M; Berry Daniel W; Grodnitzky Steven; Miller Thomas J
Subject: FW: ACTION by 12noon 3/29/10: Investigation
Attachments: [REDACTED] B103.doc; Mar 2010 [REDACTED] (8/28) Rev.doc

Rob,

In response to your questions, please refer to the email directly below from Jon Waddell. Also, the sensitive case report Jon references in item 1 below is attached.

If you have additional questions, please let us know.

-----Original Message-----

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Friday, March 26, 2010 3:36 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Camarillo Sharon L
Subject: RE: ACTION by 12noon 3/29/10: Investigation
Importance: Low

Cindy and Sharon,

Below are my answers:

1. How many of these applications have we received to date? As far as I know, none to date under the new scenario referred to below. However, I do remember a case received in my old group (7821) called [REDACTED] B103. In that case, Acorn was specifically listed as a member of the organization. I believe a current Sensitive Case Report Exists on that case.
2. Have we approved, denied, or approved any? To my knowledge, no.
3. How are we linking the new applications with the predecessor Acorn Organizations? At this point, through elevation to the managers and screeners to be aware that Acorn has changed its name in [REDACTED] per the details in the e-mail screen below.
4. Have we identified any concerns to date? To my knowledge, we have yet to see any of these applications so the answer would be no.
5. Have any of these new entities assumed the assets of the predecessor

Report Exhibits - Page 000808

org's? Per the answer to #4 above, we have yet to see any of these applications.

6. Richie Heidenreich's/ROO's role? Richie initially elevated the issue to me as an awareness issue. His source, I believe, was Nancy Todd who referenced internet stories describing this issue. Richie was only wondering if we (EO Determinations) have seen any applications like these.

To my knowledge, the answer would be no but I elevated the issue for awareness to management, screeners, etc.

thanks

---

From: Choi Robert S
Sent: Friday, March 26, 2010 11:11 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Camarillo Sharon L; Melahn Brenda; Shafer John H; Waddell Jon M; Berry Daniel W
Cc: Grodnitzky Steven; Miller Thomas J; Choi Robert S
Subject: ACTION by 12noon 3/29/10: Investigation

I need a summary from Cincy regarding this issue of ACORN morphing into new entities. I have a meeting Monday afternoon, 3/29, to discuss this issue with HQ folks. I'm trying to get background on what we have seen so far and if there are any concerns identified on the applications that have been submitted.

What have we received to date re applications? Numbers.

Have we approved, denied, or FTE'd any? Numbers.

How do we know that these new applications are related to the predecessor organizations? In other words, how are we linking them?

Have we identified any concerns to date?

Have any of these new entities assumed the assets and liabilities of the predecessor orgs?

I see from the email thread below that this originated from Ritchie Heidenreich in ROO, EO Exam. Do you know what his role is regarding ACORN?

Need response by email to Steve, Tom and I by 12noon, Monday, 3/29/10.

Thanks,

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Wednesday, March 24, 2010 9:43 AM
To: Choi Robert S
Subject: FW: Investigation

Just a heads up that it appears that ACORN is morphing into new organizations. According to Cincy, there was one organization that came in for exemption, but they believe it was closed FTE. Will keep you updated as to new developments in this area. May cause some press attention.

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, March 22, 2010 7:28 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: FW: Investigation

Steve,

Does EO Technical need this information?

Report Exhibits - Page 000809

---

From: Camarillo Sharon L
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 1:18 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Melahn Brenda
Cc: Shafer John H; Waddell Jon M
Subject: FW: Investigation

Cindy: Please elevate this issue to alert EOT to a potential new twist on the former ACORN organization. It appears that ACORN may have gone out of business, but has re-organized into several different organizations with the same purpose. These new organizations include:

- [REDACTED] and
- [REDACTED]

I agree with Jon's recommendation that we not open a new TAG issue until we actually receive one of these applications and can make an assessment for their potential for fraud or other abuse.

John: Can you tell if we have received any of these applications in our screening unit? If so, the cases should be forwarded to the TAG group.

Sharon L. Camarillo
EO Determinations Manager, Area 1

9350 E. Flair Drive
El Monte, CA 91731-2885

Telephone: 626-312-3608 ext 5026
Fax: 626-312-2928

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Monday, March 01, 2010 6:40 AM
To: Camarillo Sharon L
Subject: FW: Investigation

Sharon,

I'm forwarding on this e-mail I rec'd from Richie in the ROO. It concerns ACORN and its apparent new incarnation as [REDACTED]. Richie inquired as to how Acorn Affiliated cases are identified when they come in for exemption as well as suggesting these types of cases be worked in TAG.

I have informed Richie I would elevate his e-mail but here are my specific thoughts:

Report Exhibits - Page 000810

1. To date, I remember seeing only one Acorn-related application which was previously assigned to Julie Chen and was, at one time, included on the Sensitive Case Report in 7821. I believe that the case was ultimately closed file.
2. I don't think this issue should be added to TAG until we actually review a case and assess the level of potential fraud, if any.
3. Lastly, it might be a good idea to alert the screener's that if they see an ACORN related case or one referencing [REDACTED] that they send it the TAG Group for review.

Overall, at this point, I think its premature to state anything is TAG case until we actually see and review a case.

thanks

---

From: Heidenreich Richie
Sent: Friday, February 26, 2010 3:58 PM
To: Todd Nancy M
Cc: Lawson Colleen C; Waddell Jon M
Subject: Investigation

Nancy,

There is a lot of internet traffic about ACORN reinventing itself. [REDACTED] office is now occupied by [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] They have formed a new corporation and will be applying for exemption under 501(c)(4). In [REDACTED] the remnants of ACORN have become the [REDACTED]. In [REDACTED], they have become [REDACTED]. I am guessing other offices will be doing the same. These cases probably should be handled by the TAG group if they can be identified.

John,

Do we have a mechanism to recognize these cases if and when they come in for exemption.

Richie

Report Exhibits - Page 000811

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Tuesday, June 05, 2012 1:37 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Light Sharon P; Fish David L
Subject: FW: donor info letter.doc
Attachments: donor info letter.doc

Attached is the letter to applicants that sent us donor info in response to our requests. We will need to destroy the information.

Thanks,

Holly

Report Exhibits - Page 000812

Dear Applicant:

On [date], we requested additional information regarding your application for recognition of tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(x). Included in this request for additional information was a request for information concerning donors to your organization.

The information regarding donors was requested in error and was not used in the consideration of your application for tax-exempt status. Accordingly, we have expunged such information and it will not become part of your application file.

If you have any questions regarding this letter, please contact the person ....

Senate Committee on Finance
U.S. Senator Orrin Hatch (R-UT), Ranking Member

<http://finance.senate.gov>

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Julia Lawless, Antonia Ferrier

June 18, 2012

(202) 224-4515

SENATORS TO IRS: CONGRESS HAS MADE PRIVACY THE RULE, NOT THE EXCEPTION

In letter, Lawmakers Call on IRS Commissioner Shulman to Preserve Privacy Protections for Non-Profit Organizations

WASHINGTON – Citing concerns over privacy protections, 11 Senators today pressed the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for additional answers on the agency's decision to request confidential donor information from organizations applying for tax exempt status. In a letter led by U.S. Senator Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), Ranking Member of the Senate Finance Committee, the lawmakers said such action circumvented current statutory privacy protections and questioned the targeting of groups specifically seeking the approval or renewal of a tax-exempt designation under section 501(c)(4).

"Congress has made privacy the rule, and not the exception," wrote the Senators. "A list of donors who have given money to specific charitable organizations is something that carries great value to certain interested parties, as trading of personal information about private citizens has become common practice. Unfortunately, the public release of private donor information exposes citizens to possible harassment and intimidation by those who oppose the goals of the charitable organization."

Joining Hatch on the letter are Senators Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.), Mike Enzi (R-Wyo.), Lamar Alexander (R-Tenn.), John Cornyn (Texas), Kay Bailey Hutchison (R-Texas), Jon Kyl (R-Ariz.), Bob Corker (R-Tenn.), Pat Roberts (R-Kan.), John Thune (R-S.D.), and Rand Paul (R-Ky.)

Earlier this year, a dozen Republican Senators called on the IRS to prevent politics from playing a role in any action taken on non-profit 501(c)(4) organizations after several groups applying for the status received excessive follow-up inquiries from the agency. The IRS responded giving assurances their actions were not for political gain, however the issue of privacy protections was not addressed.

United States Senate
WASHINGTON, DC 20510

June 18, 2012

Hon. Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20230

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

On March 14, 2012, we wrote to you with a number of questions regarding the procedures the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") uses when evaluating organizations that apply for tax-exempt status. We appreciate the thoroughness of your response to our inquiries. However, we remain concerned that the IRS is requesting the names of donors and contributors to organizations that apply for tax exempt status. In doing so, the IRS appears to be circumventing the statutory privacy protections that Congress has long provided donors.

Prior Congresses have passed legislation with bipartisan support to ensure the privacy of donors who give to charitable organizations. While the annual tax returns of certain charitable organizations have long been required to be made available for public review, the 91st Congress denied the Secretary of the Treasury the authority to disclose the names and addresses of financial contributors from these returns.<sup>1</sup> In addition, the 100th Congress created a specific statutory exception for disclosure of names and addresses of financial contributors, when they expanded public inspection of certain annual returns, reports, and applications for exemption of certain tax exempt organizations.<sup>2</sup> In using nearly identical legislative language to create these exceptions from disclosure, both Congresses made strong legislative pronouncements that their goal was to protect the privacy of donor information. In addition, the same commitment to privacy is evident in the requirement that taxpayers be given the opportunity to obtain redaction of identifying information before related IRS private letter rulings, technical advice memoranda, and Chief Counsel Advice memoranda are made public.<sup>3</sup> Through these various expressions, Congress has made privacy the rule, and not the exception.

It is important to note the value that is placed on protecting the privacy of individuals and organizations that choose to donate funds to charitable organizations. The privacy interests of donors is widely recognized and valued. Various public policy initiatives have rightly encouraged donations to social welfare organizations, and these efforts are threatened when private information about donors is not adequately protected. A list of donors who have given

<sup>1</sup> See H.R. 13270, The Tax Reform Act of 1969, which became Public Law Number 91-172.

<sup>2</sup> See H.R. 3545, Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, which became Public Law Number 100-203.

<sup>3</sup> 26 USC § 6110

Report Exhibits - Page 000815

DOCUMENT SERVICE
Doc 2012-13021 (5 pgs)

money to specific charitable organizations is something that carries great value to certain interested parties, as trading of personal information about private citizens has become common practice. Unfortunately, the public release of private donor information exposes citizens to possible harassment and intimidation by those who oppose the goals of the charitable organization.

As we mentioned in our March 14 letter, it is our understanding that the IRS asked several organizations who applied for tax-exempt status to provide the names of individuals who had made donations (regardless of dollar amount) to those organizations, as well as the names of individuals who are expected to make donations in the future. The Form 1024 exemption application asks applicants for sources of financing but does not ask for names and addresses. It is our understanding that specific donor information — names and addresses — are not provided on Form 1024.

Yet, by requesting through correspondence, after the filing of a Form 1024, that organizations applying for tax exempt status provide names of donors, the IRS sets in motion an outcome wherein donor information that would be protected and redacted by one provision of the Internal Revenue Code (“Code”) which provides an exception from disclosure, would be made available for public inspection by a separate provision of the Code relating to inspection of applications for tax exemption. Such an outcome is clearly at odds with the express intent of Congress to maintain the privacy of donors. Even if not prohibited by law, the actions of IRS are an inappropriate circumvention of the policy of donor privacy embedded in the Code.

When the IRS requests specific donor information through a follow up letter as part of the exemption application process, it ensures that this highly sensitive donor information will be included in the administrative record. This presents a serious privacy problem: if the IRS approves the organization’s application for tax-exempt status, then section 6104 of the Code requires the associated administrative record — including the identity of donors if included therein — to be made available for public review at the national office of the Internal Revenue Service.<sup>4</sup> This is completely at odds with the treatment of the same donor information when it is viewed at the principal office of the tax-exempt organization. The Code specifically states that the names and addresses of donors are not required to be available for public inspection when viewed at this physical location.<sup>5</sup> Given that donor information is redacted on annual tax returns of tax-exempt organizations, redacted on denied tax-exempt applications, redacted on successful tax-exempt applications (when viewed at the organization’s principal office), and not required to be provided on the Form 1024, it is disconcerting that donor information would be reviewable, or at the very least not be redacted, on successful tax-exempt applications viewed at the national office of the IRS.

---

<sup>4</sup> 26 USC § 6104(a)(1)(A)

<sup>5</sup> 26 USC § 6104(d)(3)(A)

Report Exhibits - Page 000816

 eSAX
DOCUMENT SERVICE
Doc 2012-13021 (5 pgs)

In order to better understand the background on these recent requests for confidential donor information and the authority of the Internal Revenue Service to make these requests, we respectfully request that you provide answers to the following questions:

1. What is the specific statutory authority giving the IRS authority to request actual donor names during reviews of applications for recognition of exemption under Section 501(c)(4)?
2. Is it customary for IRS revenue agents to request donor and contributor identifying information during review of applications for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4)? Please provide the number of requests by the IRS for such information for each year from 2002 to 2011.
3. Is the Exempt Organizations technical office involved in all such information requests of exemption applicants?
4. Section 7.21.5 of the Internal Revenue Manual states that Letter 1313 should be used as a first request for additional information for cases received on Form 1024, and that Letter 2382 should be used for second and subsequent requests for information. We have attached redacted copies of an IRS 1313 Letter and 2382 Letter which were reportedly sent to applicant organizations earlier this year. Each of these letters contains passages which specifically request names of donors.<sup>6</sup>
  - a) Which IRS employees and officials were involved in the drafting of the questions requesting donor names?
  - b) Which IRS officials provided authority and approval for the questions requesting donor names?
  - c) Did any IRS personnel definitively review and determine whether there would be any privacy impact by the requests for names of donors which could ultimately be made part of a publically available administrative record? Was the IRS Office of Privacy consulted, and did it play a role in any such determination?
5. What is the total number of IRS 1313 and 2382 letters sent in 2011 and 2012 (to date) which specifically request names of donors?
6. Does the IRS intend to utilize IRS 1313 and 2382 letters in the future to specifically request names of donors?

<sup>6</sup> Letter 1313 asks for donor names in question 3(a) on page 4. Letter 2382 asks for donor names in question 11(a) on page 6.

Report Exhibits - Page 000817

8320X
DOCUMENT SERVICE
Doc 2012-13021 (5 pgs)

7. Does the IRS view donor identifying information as being necessary information when reviewing applications for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4)? If so, how was this finding made and what written standards are utilized by the IRS in evaluating this information? Have any IRS personnel ever recommended that IRS Form 1024 be amended to specifically require that this information be furnished?
8. Section 7.20.2.7 of the Internal Revenue Manual (relating to evaluation of organizations applying for tax-exempt status) states that requests for additional information in processing a determination should be thorough and relevant. Would a request (to an organization applying for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4)) for a list of donor names, some who may have given as little as $1, meet the relevancy standard?

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Don Hatch

John Conner

Tom Kuhl

Lamar Alexander

Michael Lee

Mike Enje

David Paul

Kyleley Hatcher

Boucarh

John Jones

Pat Roberts

Enclosures

IRS0009462284

Congress of the United States
Washington, DC 20515

April 23, 2012

RECEIVED

APR 23 2012

CONG. CORR. BR
CL:LA

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner, Internal Revenue Service
Room 3000 IR
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20224

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

It has come to our attention that numerous nonprofit civic organizations across the country have experienced extensive delays and received excessively burdensome information requests in connection with their applications for tax-exempt status under 26 U.S.C. §501(c). These requests have included demands for complete records of every oral statement ever provided by any member of the organization, vague probes into tangential associations with private citizens and excessively long questionnaires all to be returned within unreasonably short time periods. These demands go well beyond good-faith due diligence and appear designed to be logistically and financially impossible to comply with.

Tax-exempt status exists to ensure that taxation does not hinder citizens' engagement in social welfare and civic activities. To wit, 26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4)(A) exempts "[c]ivic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare...the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes." Further, the I.R.S. has affirmed that these organizations "may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." (Rev. Rule 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332)

These recent inquiries appear to constitute disparate treatment for no apparent reason other than the political persuasion of applicants. Such practices chill these groups' Constitutionally-guaranteed rights to civic participation, freedom of association and free speech and are better left to despotic regimes than a revenue-collection agency in a free country.

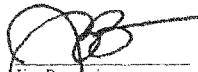

It does not appear that the missions and activities of these organizations require information beyond the scope of Form 1024 and Schedule B, which we understand to have been traditionally required. We request that you provide a response demonstrating how these recent requests by the I.R.S. are consistent with precedent and supported by law. We further request that the I.R.S. refrain from any additional unwarranted and excessive information demands and other dilatory tactics.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. We look forward to your timely response.

Sincerely,

Bill Flores
Member of Congress

Tom McClintock
Member of Congress

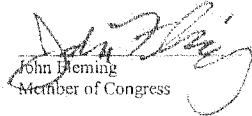

Jim Renacci
Member of Congress

PRINTED ON RECYCLED PAPER

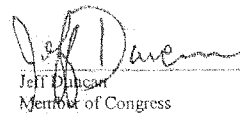

IRSR0000465030

Report Exhibits - Page 000819

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Page 2

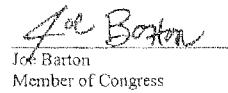

John Fleming
Member of Congress

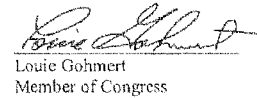

Tim Huelskamp
Member of Congress

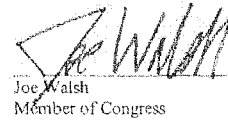

Jeff Duncan
Member of Congress

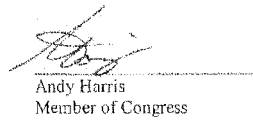

Donald Manzullo
Member of Congress

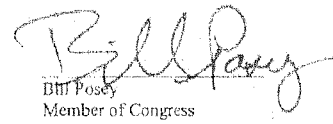

Doug LaHorn
Member of Congress

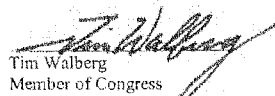

Joe Barton
Member of Congress

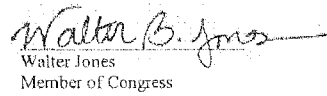

Louie Gohmert
Member of Congress

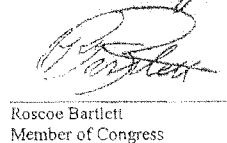

Joe Walsh
Member of Congress

Andy Harris
Member of Congress

Bill Posey
Member of Congress

Tim Walberg
Member of Congress

Walter B. Jones
Member of Congress

Roscoe Bartlett
Member of Congress

Bill Johnson
Member of Congress

Report Exhibits - Page 000820

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Page 3

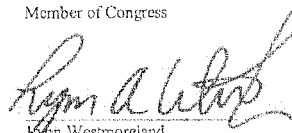

Charles Boustany
Member of Congress

James Lankford
Member of Congress

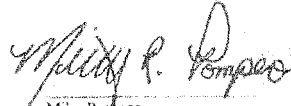

Dennis Ross
Member of Congress

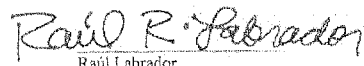

Gus Bilirakis
Member of Congress

Francisco "Quico" Canseco
Member of Congress

Lynn Westmoreland
Member of Congress

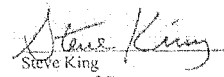

Trent Franks
Member of Congress

Mike Pompeo
Member of Congress

Raúl Labrador
Member of Congress

W. Todd Akin
Member of Congress

Alan Nunnelee
Member of Congress

Steve King
Member of Congress

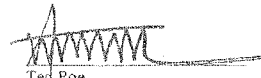

Joe Wilson
Member of Congress

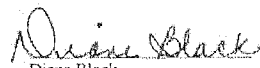

Lynn Jenkins
Member of Congress

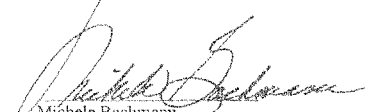

Report Exhibits - Page 000821

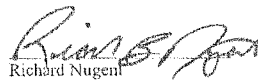

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Page 4

John Kline
Member of Congress

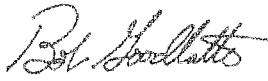

Ted Poe
Member of Congress

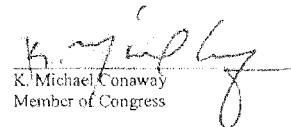

Diane Black
Member of Congress

Michele Bachmann
Member of Congress

Richard Nugent
Member of Congress

Scott DesJarlais
Member of Congress

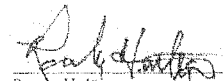

Bob Goodlatte
Member of Congress

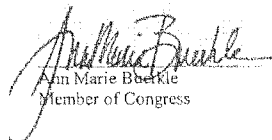

K. Michael Conaway
Member of Congress

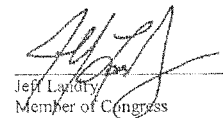

Jack Kingston
Member of Congress

Tom Graves
Member of Congress

Mick Mulvaney
Member of Congress

Randy Hultgren
Member of Congress

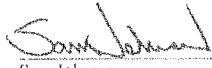

Ann Marie Buerkle
Member of Congress

Jeff Linder
Member of Congress

Report Exhibits - Page 000822

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Page 5

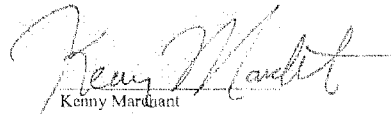

Sam Johnson
Member of Congress

Scott Tipton
Member of Congress

Kandy Forbes
Member of Congress

Marsha Blackburn
Member of Congress

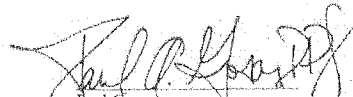

Cliff Steubens
Member of Congress

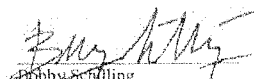

Kenny Marquart
Member of Congress

Robert Latta
Member of Congress

Trey Gowdy
Member of Congress

Thaddeus McCotter
Member of Congress

Paul Gosar
Member of Congress

Bobby Schilling
Member of Congress

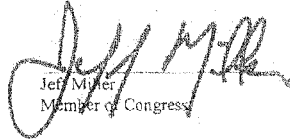

Rob Woodall
Member of Congress

Aaron Schock
Member of Congress

Sandy Adams
Member of Congress

Report Exhibits - Page 000823

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Page 6

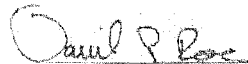

Jeff Miller
Member of Congress

Steve Scalise
Member of Congress

Connie Mack
Member of Congress

Phil Roe
Member of Congress

Flax Nikole C

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Tuesday, February 05, 2013 10:32 AM
To: Grant Joseph H; Marks Nancy J
Cc: Flax Nikole C; Paz Holly O
Subject: FW: Follow-Up

We have met with TIGTA on this several times. From our perspective, they are taking a very narrow view of the program and how we ran it. They also seem to be focused on the initial articulation of the BOLO list as a "bad" thing without looking at the entire program. I think we have a basic difference in our view of their audit. We thought it was to determine whether IRS had a biased program, which would include looking at every aspect. they seem to think the question is narrower--did we "target based on the articulation of the BOLO?" We will continue to keep you apprised as we see their written document.

Lois G. Lerner

Director of Exempt Organizations

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Tuesday, February 05, 2013 10:27 AM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Follow-Up

Thanks Troy--It probably makes sense to see what you put together and react to it rather than continuing the discussion in the abstract. We will begin to put together a reply. As I'm sure you would guess, if you don't include the whole picture, we will include a detailed version in our response. Keep us apprised of progress on the report.

Lois G. Lerner

Director of Exempt Organizations

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA [mailto:Troy.Paterson@tigta.treas.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, February 05, 2013 7:54 AM
To: Lerner Lois G
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Follow-Up

Lois,

After the discussion last week, the team went over some cases on Friday afternoon and Monday morning. We then met yesterday afternoon to discuss the cases and our thoughts on moving forward.

As far as the cases go, the team has reconsidered some cases based on input from Holly, Hillary, and Judy last week. In addition, I think we have one case that is still up in the air awaiting some additional documentation. After that, I believe we will have approximately 90 cases that we could not resolve. For these cases, I'm not sure there is much more we can discuss because most involve our literal view of the application package versus the EO function's interpretation of the application package based on experience. For example, in our literal view, we may not pick up on code words or know based on past experience that certain activities or sets of activities could actually be significant political campaign intervention, whereas the EO function may. On our side, we'll have to determine how we present both sides in the report.

2/5/2013

Report Exhibits - Page 000825

Page 2 of 3

As far as moving forward, I began working yesterday morning on a very rough version of the report that I had asked the team to prepare while we were awaiting your feedback. There is a lot of information currently in the report and a lot of information that is currently not in the report. On our side, we have a lot of difficult decisions coming up on what is relevant to include and what our interpretation is regarding, not only the allegations that led to us initiating this review, but the actions the EO function has taken since that time. At this point, we have not determined what will or will not be included in the report and how we will present everything.

If you would like to meet to discuss your concerns, I am available. If you would rather wait until I have a clearer view of what are considering for the report, we can do that also. How would you like to proceed?

Troy
404-338-7476

---

From: Lerner Lois G [mailto:Lois.G.Lerner@irs.gov]
Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2013 2:34 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: Follow-Up

We were disappointed that you couldn't attend the meeting today. I think it would be useful for you, your group, and mine to have another conversation about approach. We feel your folks are being too narrow in their view and have decided that because of the language on the earlier BOLO list regarding Tea Party, everything that followed was tainted. They seem to believe that if a case was initially sent to the advocacy group, but ultimately determined to be an approval, that our action in putting it into the advocacy group in the first place is incorrect, and illustrates "targeting." I think they remain confused about the purpose of screening vs. bucketing--and we have tried to explain several times. They also don't seem to be taking a big picture look at what we have done. That is, we've already owned up to the fact that we recognized in mid-process that Cincinnati was struggling with the issues. That is why we sent our experts in this area to Cincinnati for 3 weeks to work hand in hand with the Determ folks to train them and then walk through their post training assessments to ensure they understood and we were getting the right treatment for the cases. When we describe that process, they acknowledge that that approach sounds reasonable, but seem to be saying that reasonableness is overshadowed by the fact that the criteria look bad to folks on the outside, so there is no way we could cure the initial bad impression.

We understand why the criteria might raise questions. In fact we refined it to more accurately reflect what we are doing. I met with the group today and asked your folks what they thought the TIGTA audit was all about. The response was that they were here because there were allegations that the IRS was "targeting." When asked, they didn't seem able to provide me with a clear definition of what they meant by targeting, and they confused me when they said it wasn't necessarily political. I told them my understanding is that the audit was to determine whether the IRS was acting in a

2/5/2013

IRSR0000466814

Report Exhibits - Page 000826

Page 3 of 3

politically motivated manner--not whether the earlier articulation of the criteria looked bad. However, that doesn't seem to be the focus. They have said they aren't looking at whether the organizations are conservative or liberal because that is too difficult to figure out. They have also acknowledged that there are both conservative and liberal organizations on the list of advocacy cases.

So, I'm not sure how they are looking at whether we were politically motivated, or what they are looking for with regard to targeting. They didn't seem to understand the difference between IRS acting in a politically motivated manner and front line staff people using less than stellar judgment. I am willing to take the blame for not having provided sufficient direction initially, which may have resulted in front line staff doing things that appeared to be politically motivated, but I am not on board that anything that occurred here shows that the IRS was politically motivated in the actions taken.

So, I suggested to the group that we all get together after they have had a chance to talk to you. I asked both sides to think about the main points they wanted to make or better understand, so the meeting can be most fruitful. This is the toughest one you and I have worked on together. But, I'm hoping the meeting will get us all to an improved understanding so that your report can better reflect what occurred and why.

Louis G. Lerner

Director of Exempt Organizations

2/5/2013

IRSR0009466815

2012-Mar-14 11:10 AM Senate Finance Committee 202-228-2131

1/4

United States Senate
WASHINGTON, DC 20510

March 14, 2012

Hon. Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20230

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

We have received reports and reviewed information from nonprofit civic organizations in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, and Texas concerning recent IRS inquiries perceived to be excessive. It is critical that the public have confidence that federal tax compliance efforts are pursued in a fair, even-handed, and transparent manner—without regard to politics of any kind. To that end, we write today to seek your assurance that this recent string of inquiries has a sound basis in law and is consistent with the IRS's treatment of tax-exempt organizations across the spectrum.

As you know, the designation as a tax-exempt organization under section 501(c)(4)(A) is reserved for "[c]ivic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, ... the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes." An organization "may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare."<sup>1</sup> The 501(c)(4) designation has been conferred on many organizations in America that espouse political or public policy viewpoints—including Priorities USA, the sister organization of "[t]he super PAC supporting President Obama,"<sup>2</sup> and American Crossroads, the sister organization of a super PAC supporting Republicans.

Civic and social welfare organizations have long performed valuable roles and offered numerous benefits to our society, and tax exemptions for such organizations can be traced all the way back to the Tariff Act of 1913. It is imperative that organizations applying for tax-exempt status are able to rely on a consistent and foreseeable review structure from the IRS. Any significant changes to the IRS review process should be implemented only after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment from the public and affected parties.

A number of our constituents have raised concerns that the recent IRS inquiries sent to civic organizations exceed the scope of the typical disclosures required under IRS Form 1024 and accompanying Schedule B—the forms that all 501(c)(4) organizations must submit. Understandably, this has prompted some concerns about selective enforcement and the duty to treat similarly situated taxpayers similarly. To address these concerns, we respectfully request that you provide answers to the following questions:

<sup>1</sup> Federal Election Commission v. Beaumont, 539 U.S. 146, 150 n. 1 (2003) (quoting Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 Cum. Bull. 332, 1981 WL 166125).

<sup>2</sup> Jeremy Peters, "'Super PACs,' Not Campaigns, Do Bulk of Ad Spending," N.Y. Times (Mar. 2, 2012).

1. What is the IRS's process for approval and renewal of a tax-exempt designation under section 501(c)(4)?
2. Are all 501(c)(4) applicants required to provide responses and information beyond the questions specified in Form 1024 and Schedule B? If not, when and on what basis does the IRS require an applicant to make disclosures not described in Form 1024 and Schedule B?
3. Which IRS officials develop and approve the list of questions and requests for information (beyond the questions specified in Form 1024 and Schedule B) which are sent to 501(c)(4) organizations? What are the objective standards by which the responses to such requests for information are evaluated?
4. How do additional requests for information sent by the IRS to 501(c)(4) applicant organizations (beyond the information required by IRS Form 1024 and Schedule B) relate to a specific standard of review previously established by the IRS? Has the IRS published such standards? Does the decision to approve or deny applications for tax-exempt status adhere to these standards, particularly if these standards have not been published and are not readily known?
5. Is every 501(c)(4) applicant required to provide the IRS with copies of all social media posts, speeches and panel presentations, names and qualifications of speakers and participants, and any written materials distributed for all public events conducted or planned to be conducted by the organization? If not, which 501(c)(4) applicants must meet this disclosure requirement and on the basis of what objective criteria are they selected?
6. Form 1040 does not require specific donor information, as the instructions for the form indicate that the statement of revenue need not include "amounts received from the general public...for the exercise or performance of the organization's exempt function." In addition, the annual schedule of contributors required by the IRS for 501(c)(4) organizations is limited to donors giving the organization $5,000 or more for the year, and the names and addresses of contributors are not required to be made available for public inspection (according to IRS Form 990, schedule B). However, some of the IRS letters recently sent to 501(c)(4) applicant organizations specifically ask for the names of all donors and the amounts of each of the donations, and furthermore state that this information will in fact be made available for public inspection. These specific requests for donor information appear to contradict the published IRS policy. Given this discrepancy, please provide any correspondence (including emails, written notes, and electronic documents) generated with respect to the decision to send letters in 2012 requesting all donor information from 501(c)(4) applicant organizations, including correspondence between IRS employees, or between or among the IRS, the Department of Treasury, and the White House.

2012-Mar-14 11:00 AM Senate Finance Committee 202-228-2131

3/4

7. Many applicant organizations have stated that the IRS gave them less than 3 weeks to produce a significant volume of paperwork, including copies of virtually all internal and public communications. What is the typical deadline for responses to an IRS inquiry for additional information under section 501(c)(4)?
8. Form 1024 and related disclosures by 501(c)(4) organizations are generally "open for public inspection."<sup>3</sup> In the interest of addressing any concerns about uneven IRS enforcement of section 501(c)(4) eligibility requirements, can you please provide us with copies of all IRS inquiries sent to and responses received from Priorities USA? Those documents would provide a useful basis for comparison to other inquiries the IRS has addressed to section 501(c)(4) applicants.

Given the potentially serious implications of selective or discriminatory enforcement, we request that you hold further IRS-initiated demands for information from 501(c)(4) applicants beyond the extensive information already required of all applicants (in Form 1024 and Schedule B), until the agency provides a response demonstrating these recent IRS requests are consistent with precedent and supported by law.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

<sup>3</sup> See Form 1024, Application for Recognition of Exemption OMB No. 1545-0057 Under Section 501(a).

Report Exhibits - Page 000830

2012-Mar-14 11:10 AM Senate Finance Committee 202-228-2131

4/4

|                              |                       |
|------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Kyle Bailey Antkowiak | John Conner    |
| Mike McConnell        | Paul Paul      |
| Pat Roberts           | Chuck Grassley |
| John Stine            | Jon Kyl        |

IRSR0000468547

United States Senate
WASHINGTON, DC 20510

March 9, 2012

Hon. Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
Room 3000 IR
1111 Constitution Avenue, N.W.

RECEIVED

MAR 21 2012

CONG. CORR. BR
CL:LA

Received by the Commissioner's Correspondence
Office

MAR 21 2012

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

We write to ask the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") to immediately change the administrative framework for enforcement of the tax code as it applies to groups designated as "social welfare" organizations. These groups receive tax and other advantages under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (hereinafter, "IRC" or the "Code"), but some of them also are engaged in a substantial amount of political campaign activity. As you know, we sent a letter last month expressing concerns about the 501(c)(4) issue; an investigation this week by the New York Times has uncovered new, specific problems on how 501(c)(4)s conduct business. We wanted to address those new concerns in this letter.

IRS regulations have long maintained that political campaign activity by a 501(c)(4) entity must not be the "primary purpose" of the organization. These regulations are intended to implement the statute, which requires that such organizations be operated exclusively for the public welfare. But we think the existing IRS regulations run afoul of the law since they only require social welfare activities to be the "primary purpose" of a nonprofit when the Code says this must be its "exclusive" purpose. In recent years, this daylight between the law and the IRS regulations has been exploited by groups devoted chiefly to political election activities that operate behind a facade of charity work.

A related concern, raised in a March 7th New York Times article, concerns whether certain nonprofits may be soliciting corporate contributions that are then treated by the company as a business expense eligible for a tax deduction. The Times wrote: "Under current law, there is little to no way to tell whether contributions are being deducted, especially because many of the most political companies are privately held." This potential abuse distorts the objectives of vital revenue mechanisms and undermines the faith that we ask citizens to place in their electoral system.

We propose that the IRS make three administrative changes to curtail these questionable practices and bring IRS tax regulations back into alignment with the letter and spirit intended by those who crafted the Code:

- First, we urge the IRS to adopt a bright line test in applying its "primary purpose" regulation that is consistent with the Code's 501(c)(4) exclusivity language. The IRS currently only requires that the purpose of these non-profits be "primarily" related to social welfare activities, without defining what "primarily" means. This standard should be spelled out more fully by the IRS. Some have suggested 51 percent as an appropriate threshold for establishing that a nonprofit is adhering to its mission, but even this number would seem to allow for more political election activity than should be permitted under the law. In the absence of clarity in the administration of section 501(c)(4), organizations are tempted to abuse its vagueness, or worse, to organize under section 501(c)(4) so that they may avail themselves of its advantages even though they are not legitimate social welfare organizations. If the IRS does not adopt a bright line test, or if it adopts one that is inconsistent with the Code's exclusivity language, then we plan to pursue legislation codifying such a test.

- Second, such organizations should be further obligated to document in their 990 IRS form the exact percentage of their undertakings dedicated to "social welfare." Organizations should be required to "show their math" to demonstrate that political election activities and other statutorily limited or prohibited activities do not violate the "primary purpose" regulation.
- Third, 501(c)(4) organizations should be required to state forthrightly to potential donors what percentage of a donation, if any, may be taken as a business expense deduction. As the New York Times reported in its March 7th article, some of these organizations do not currently inform donors whether a contribution is tax deductible as a business expense at all.

The IRS should already possess the authority to issue immediate guidance on this matter. We urge the IRS to take these steps immediately to prevent abuse of the tax code by political groups focused on federal election activities. But if the IRS is unable to issue administrative guidance in this area then we plan to introduce legislation to accomplish these important changes.

Sincerely,

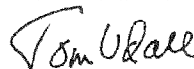

Charles E. Schumer
United States Senator

Michael Bennet
United States Senator

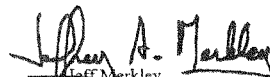

Sheldon Whitehouse
United States Senator

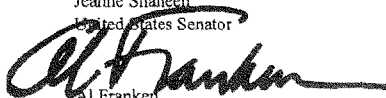

Tom Udall
United States Senator

Jeanne Shaheen
United States Senator

Jeff Merkley
United States Senator

Al Franken
United States Senator

Report Exhibits - Page 000833

---

From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Thursday, April 18, 2013 7:29 AM
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Re: speech

We will talk at noon

-----
Sent using BlackBerry

---

From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Thursday, April 18, 2013 08:28 AM Eastern Standard Time
To: Miller Steven T
Subject: Re: speech

Maybe not a terrible idea for her to get out how many approvals we have had to date and discuss the issue a bit.

---

From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Thursday, April 18, 2013 08:21 AM Eastern Standard Time
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Re: speech

She can apologize for undermanaging.

-----
Sent using BlackBerry

---

From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Thursday, April 18, 2013 08:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
To: Miller Steven T
Subject: Re: speech

April 25 - she is begging for material to discuss

---

From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Thursday, April 18, 2013 08:04 AM Eastern Standard Time
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Re: speech

When is her speech--may want to use it to burst a bubble

-----
Sent using BlackBerry

---

From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Wednesday, April 17, 2013 08:37 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Miller Steven T

Report Exhibits - Page 000834

Subject: Fw: speech

I assume you don't want lois talking [REDACTED] at GT? I know the answer, but she will want to know that I asked.

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Wednesday, April 17, 2013 08:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Re: speech

Any possibility we'd ask permission on this?
Lois G. Lerner-----
Sent from my BlackBerry Wireless Handheld

---

From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Wednesday, April 17, 2013 07:32 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Lerner Lois G
Subject: Re: speech

Anything we say re [REDACTED] has to be cleared by omb. A new memo on it came out today.

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Wednesday, April 17, 2013 07:13 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Re: speech

Am at home so can't send until tomorrow. Got a message from Terry nixing it, which puts me in a pickle since I need to talk about something high level for 40 minutes.

[REDACTED]

Lois G. Lerner-----
Sent from my BlackBerry Wireless Handheld

---

From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Wednesday, April 17, 2013 04:12 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Lerner Lois G
Subject: speech

Lois - C&L said you sent a copy of your speech - can you send it? Thanks

----- Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 000835

---

From: Lemons Terry L
Sent: Sunday, April 21, 2013 11:46 AM
To: Miller Steven T; Flax Nikole C; Vozne Jennifer L
Subject: Fw: Emailing: draft c4 comments 4-18-13.doc
Attachments: draft c4 comments 4-18-13.doc

So it's close ... But I don't think it's quite there. For the people in the room at Georgetown, it's fine. But it's not clear enough for people who won't be there and will be combing through the speech afterward. Think current version will create a lot of questions coming in after the speech and actually amplify attention on the upcoming report. Think we need to frame up better – goal should be having a text that stands on its own for reporters and others coming in later and minimizing follow-up questions. (And perhaps goal should also be for reporters in the hearing room to be handed this and fold this into their stories.)

With that in mind, I've made some edits as a starting point – tried simplifying and making clearer at a couple of points. Biggest addition is paragraph three – that's where the reporters will go.

Thanks for listening!)

-----
Sent from my BlackBerry Wireless Handheld

----- Original Message -----

From: Terry Lemons [REDACTED]
Sent: Sunday, April 21, 2013 12:40 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Lemons Terry L
Subject: RE: Emailing: draft c4 comments 4-18-13.doc

----- = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

----- Original Message -----

From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Sunday, April 21, 2013 11:30 AM Eastern Standard Time
To: Flax Nikole C; Vozne Jennifer L; Lemons Terry L
Cc: Miller Steven T
Subject: Emailing: draft c4 comments 4-18-13.doc

Take a look. This is the possible insert into Lois' Thursday speech.

-----
Sent using BlackBerry

Report Exhibits - Page 000836

Recent section 501(c)(4) activity DRAFT 4-21-13

So I think it's important to bring up a matter that came up over the last year or so concerning our determination letter process, some section 501(c)(4) organizations and their political activity. Some of this has been discussed publicly already. But I thought it would make sense to do just a couple of minutes on what we did, what we didn't do, and where we are today on the grouping of advocacy organizations in our determination letter inventory.

I will start with a summary. As you know, the number of c4 applications increased significantly starting after 2010. In particular, we saw a large increase in the volume of applications from organizations that appeared to be engaged or planning to engage in advocacy activities. We did not have good enough procedures in place to effectively work these cases. You also know about the level of guidance in this area -- we need more. There's also the factual difficulty we have of separating politics from education in these cases -- it's not always a clear area. Complicating matters is the sensitivity of these cases. Before I get into more detail, let me be clear. The IRS should have done a better job of handling the review of the c4 applications. We made mistakes, for which we deeply apologize. But these mistakes were in no way due to any political or partisan reason. They were made because of missteps in our process and insufficient sensitivity to the implications of some of our decisions. We believe we have fixed these issues, and our entire team will do a much better job going forward in this complex area. And I want to stress that our team - all career civil servants -- will continue to do their work in a fair, non-partisan manner.

So let me start again and provide more detail. Centralizing advocacy cases for review in the determination letter process made sense. The way we centralized did not make sense. But we have taken actions to fix the errors. What we did here, along with other mistakes that were made along the way, resulted in some cases being in inventory far longer than they should have. For that I apologize.

Our front-line people in Cincinnati -- who do the reviews -- took steps to coordinate the handling of the uptick in cases to ensure consistency. We take this approach in areas where we want to promote consistency. Cases involving credit counseling are the best example of this sort of situation.

Here's where a problem occurred. In centralizing the cases in Cincinnati, my review team placed too much reliance on the particular name of an organization; in this case, relying on names in organization titles like "tea party" or "patriot," rather than looking deeper into the facts (to determine the level of activity under the c4 guidelines.) Our Inspector General is looking at this situation, but I believe and the IRS leadership team believe this to be an error -- not a political vendetta. The error was of a mistaken desire for too much efficiency on the applications without sufficient sensitivity to the situation.

We also made some errors in our development letters, asking for more than was needed. You may recall the publicity around donor lists. That resulted from insufficient guidance being provided to our people working on these cases. ()

Report Exhibits - Page 000837

Now, we have remedied this situation --, both systemically for the IRS and for the taxpayers who were impacted. I think we have done a good job of turning the situation around to help prevent a situation like this from occurring again.

Let me walk you through the process.

Systemically, we will not allow the centralized collection of cases without greater and higher level review. So what happened here will not happen again.

With respect to the specific c4 cases in inventory, we took a number of steps to move things along. First, we had a team review the cases to determine the necessary scope of our review. Now make no mistake, some need that review, (some have or had endorsements on their website for example)(given recent events-likely would drop parenthetical). But many did not.

We worked to move the inventory. We closed those cases that were clear and are working on those that are less certain.

With respect to what we agree may have been overbroad requests for information, we engaged in a process of an active back and forth with the taxpayer. With respect to donor names, we informed organizations that if they could provide information requested in an alternative manner, we would work with them. In cases in which the donor names were not used in making the determination, the donor information was expunged from the file.

We now have a process where each revenue agent assigned these cases works in coordination with a specific technical expert.

And we have made significant progress on these cases. Of the nearly 300 c4 advocacy cases, we have approved more than 120 to date. We have had more than 30 (?)withdrawals. And obviously some cases take longer than others depending on the issues raised, including the level of political activity compared with social welfare activity. Let me make another important point that shouldn't be lost in all of this. We remain committed to making sure that we properly review determinations where there are questions. And I will say it seems likely that we will see some denials out of this remaining group as well. We hope to wrap the remaining cases up relatively soon.

So I wanted to raise this situation today with you. You and I know the IRS does make mistakes. And I also think you agree that our track record shows that our decisions are based on the law -- not political affiliation. When we do make mistakes, we need to acknowledge it and work toward a better result on pending cases. We also need to put in place safeguards to ensure the errors do not happen again. I think we have tried to do that here.

These cases will help us, along with the self-declarer questionnaire, to better understand the state of play on political activities in today's environment, the gaps in guidance, and where we need to head into the future.

Report Exhibits - Page 000838

Report Exhibits - Page 000839

---

From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Thursday, May 09, 2013 12:35 PM
To: Miller Steven T (steven.t.miller@irs.gov); Flax Nikole C (Nikole.C.Flax@irs.gov); Lemons Terry L (Terry.L.Lemons@irs.gov); Vozne Jennifer L; Eldridge Michelle L (MICHELLE.L.ELDRIDGE@irs.gov)
Subject: 050613C4 talking pointsSTM version.doc
Attachments: 050613C4 talking pointsSTM version.doc

Couple of edits

Report Exhibits - Page 000840

Draft / Section 501(c)(4) Determination Issues May 6, 2013

IRS Statement:

Between 2010 and 2012, the IRS saw the number of applications for section 501(c)(4) status double. As a result, local career employees in Cincinnati sought to centralize work and assign cases to designated employees in an effort to promote consistency and quality. This approach has worked in other areas. However, the IRS recognizes we should have done a better job of handling the influx of advocacy applications. While centralizing cases for consistency made sense, the way we centralized did not. Mistakes were made, but they were in no way due to any political or partisan rationale. We have fixed the situation and worked to move the centralized cases through our system. New procedures were implemented last year to ensure that these mistakes won't be made into the future. The IRS also stresses that our employees - all career civil servants -- will continue to be guided by tax law and not partisan issues.

Key Points:

- In 2010, Exempt Organizations (EO) observed a significant increase in the number of section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4) applications from organizations that appeared to be potentially engaged in political campaign activity. Between 2008 and 2012, the number of applications for section 501(c)(4) status more than doubled.
- These are difficult and sensitive cases. These are challenging cases to factually separate out political issues from those involving education or social welfare. It's not always a clear area, and there are no bright-line tests for what constitutes political campaign intervention.
- Similar to our approach in other areas (e.g., credit counseling, down payment assistance organizations, etc.), EO sought to centralize work and assign cases to designated employees in an effort to promote consistent treatment of applications.
- Centralizing advocacy cases for review in the determination letter process made sense, but some of the ways we centralized did not.
- While it is necessary to consider a variety of information in the screening process (including flags for current emerging issues), we recognize that some of the selection criteria were not appropriate for these cases.
- The IRS recognizes that the use of specific names for handling the influx of advocacy cases was an error and, over the last year, has taken a number of steps to improve the process.
- We now have a process in place where each revenue agent assigned these cases works in coordination with a specific technical expert. New procedures also have been implemented to so that decisions with respect to the centralized collection of cases must be made at the executive level.
- We have made significant improvements in this area. We are confident that we have a more appropriate path for the future that will avoid similar problems.
- EO is dedicated to reviewing applications for tax-exempt status in an impartial manner.

Report Exhibits - Page 000841

- The mistakes made were not due to any political or partisan reason. Exempt Organizations (EO) is comprised of career civil servants who do their work in a fair, non-partisan manner. Mistakes were made due to the absence of a set, rigorous process for working the increase in advocacy cases and insufficient sensitivity to the implications of some the decisions made.
- Of the approximately 300 section 501(c)(4) advocacy cases, more than 120 have been approved and nearly 30 have withdrawn.

Background on Legal Standard:

- Although the tax law allows section 501(c)(4) organizations to hold themselves out as tax-exempt without applying for IRS recognition of their status, once an organization does apply for recognition, EO must ensure the organization meets the applicable legal requirements before granting recognition.
- To be recognized as exempt under section 501(c)(4), an organization must be engaged primarily in the promotion of social welfare. The promotion of social welfare does not include political campaign intervention. The determination whether an organization engaged in political campaign intervention qualifies under section 501(c)(4) is a difficult legal and factual issue.
- There are no bright-line tests for what constitutes political campaign intervention or whether an organization is primarily engaged in social welfare activities. Whether an activity is political campaign intervention, and whether an organization meets the requirements of section 501(c)(4), must be decided on the specific facts of each case, and no one factor is determinative.
- Selection of an organization's application for further review and development does not dictate how the case is ultimately resolved. It simply means that the IRS needs additional information before a determination can be made.

Report Exhibits - Page 000842

Fact sheet—630pm

Introduction:

Law in the Area

An organization is described in section 501(c)(3) of the tax code if it is organized and operated for religious, charitable, educational and certain other specified purposes.

An organization is described in section 501(c)(4) if it is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

There are specific rules relating to exemption and political campaign intervention. Organizations described in section 501(c)(3) may not engage in such activity. Social welfare organizations described in section 501(c)(4) may engage in a limited amount of political campaign activity. Note that there are no bright-line tests for what constitutes political campaign intervention or whether an organization is primarily engaged in social welfare activities.

The applications for exemption (Form 1023 for recognition under 501(c)(3); Form 1024 for recognition under 501(c)(4)) contain questions about such activity as does the Form 990, the annual report filed by these organizations.

Determination letter process

Section 501(c)(3) organizations must apply to be recognized for tax exempt status by the IRS. Although the tax law allows section 501(c)(4) organizations to operate as tax-exempt without applying for IRS recognition of their status, most apply. Once an organization does apply for recognition, EO must ensure the organization meets the applicable legal requirements before granting recognition.

All applications for tax exempt status are sent to the IRS Exempt Organization offices in Cincinnati. A group of experienced revenue agents screens all EO Determination Letter applications before the applications are assigned to other revenue agents for review. Based on that screening, a case may be handled in one of the following ways:

- (1) Cases resolved on screening—if the application clearly meets the requirements for exempt status on its face and all necessary documents are provided, the case is forwarded from screening to a closing unit which issues a favorable letter.
- (2) Cases with minor omissions—if the application clearly meets the requirements for exempt status but the file lacks some required documentation (for example the articles of incorporation are not executed) then the case is forwarded to a unit which will contact the organization by letter to complete the file. Once the file is completed, the unit will issue a favorable determination.

Report Exhibits - Page 000843

- (3) Cases that cannot be resolved favorably without further development—if the application leaves open questions as to the adequacy and scope of the exempt purposes, the presence of private benefit, or the presence of other activities inconsistent with exempt status, then the case is forwarded for full development to a Revenue Agent who will work with the taxpayer to resolve the questions raised and to ascertain whether the organization qualifies.
- (4) Cases in category 3 that present novel issues or particularly complex fact patterns are sometimes handled on a coordinated basis by a particular group of agents in order to ensure proper development of the issues and consistency in handling (e.g. credit counseling cases, down payment assistance cases, advocacy cases, etc.).
- (5) In either categories 3 or 4 assistance from career specialists in the Headquarters office of Exempt Organizations may be sought.

Trend line of applications for 501(c)(4) status

The IRS has seen a steep increase in the number of applications for section 501(c)(4) status and there are indications of a large increase in political campaign activity by social welfare organizations.

Between FY2008 and 2012, the number of applications for 501(c)(4) status more than doubled.

|                                 | FY2008 | FY2009 | FY2010 | FY2011 | FY2012 | % Chg |
|---------------------------------|--------|--------|--------|--------|--------|-------|
| 501(c)(4) applications received | 1,631  | 1,751  | 1,735  | 2,265  | 3,357  | +105% |

Not all exempt organizations must file the annual Form 990, only those with gross receipts of more than $200,000 or total assets greater than $500,000. Within this population, IRS has seen a growth in reported political campaign activity since 2008.

|                                                                                        | TY2008        | TY2009 | TY2010        | TY2011 | % ChgTY08-10 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|--------|---------------|--------|------------------|
| §501(c)(4) organizations filing F990                                                   | 8,962  | 9,133  | 11,486 | 9,444  | 28%              |
| Number of those returns reporting political campaign activity (PCA)                    | 107    | 93     | 196    | 121    | 83%              |
| Reported PCA expenditures of organizations with revenues of $10 million or more ($M) | $17.3 | $1.1  | $46.7 | $6.0  | 170%             |

Federal electoral cycles in bold.

Based on historic filing patterns, TY11 data are ~90% complete.

Between the 2008 and 2010 electoral cycles, the number of §501(c)(4) organizations reporting political campaign activity nearly doubled, outpacing the overall growth in the §501(c)(4) population. At the same time, the value of campaign expenditures by large §501(c)(4) organizations nearly tripled.

While Tax Year 2012 Form 990 filings are due beginning this week, Federal Election Commission data from 2012 electoral cycle are available. Although the definitions of reportable spending are different, a preliminary analysis of FEC data indicates another significant increase in spending in the most recent electoral cycle. The same large §501(c)(4) organizations that reported PCA to IRS in 2010 also doubled their levels of campaign expenditures reported to the FEC between 2010 and 2012. (Note that this reflects an increase in expenditures among the population of filers identified from 2010 F990 data. It will not reflect additional organizations that may have undertaken political campaign activity in 2012.)

Report Exhibits - Page 000844

Centralization of Advocacy Cases

Early in 2010, a 501(c)(4) application from a Tea Party organization indicated its intention to influence elections as part of its activities. This led a group manager in the Cincinnati office to take the following actions in February and March of 2010: handle this type of application as an emerging issue, and that screeners look for and identify similar cases in order to ensure appropriate and consistent handling. The Cincinnati office had people try to identify and coordinate cases raising the issue of political activity using verbal and email reminders to look for cases involving the Tea Party, Patriots, 9/12 and other 501(c)(4) applications involving names suggestive of political activity. See Appendix A for the iterations of the lists that were used, along with relevant timelines. An increasing number of cases were found. The list is adopted as a method to replace the ad hoc email approach previously used to identify cases requiring coordination. On that initial list one of the categories was listed as "various local organizations in the Tea Party movement . . . applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4)." See

In June 2011, concerns about the progress, identification and handling of these cases led to conversations among senior staff culminating in a briefing of the EO Director at the end of June. The EO Director instructed that the list should be revised immediately to use criteria focused on whether (c)(4) or (c)(3) applicants were involved with political, lobbying, or advocacy activities, and that headquarters should work on facilitating the resolution of the now over 100 cases.

Late in 2011, efforts to facilitate case processing were slow. A new team was formed in Cincinnati to begin developing and resolving the cases with assistance from Headquarters specialists.

In January of 2012, without any executive knowledge, staff in Cincinnati updated the list of centralization criteria out of concern that the criteria were over broad and pulling in too many cases. The new criteria read "political action type organizations involved in limiting/expanding Government, educating on the Constitution and Bill of Rights, social economic reform/movement." Headquarters in Exempt Organizations was not informed.

In January through February 2012, the centralized team started issuing development letters to the applicants using the standard response time provided in the manual (21 days) and asking for voluminous information from some applicants, including in some cases web information and donors. Note that these letters went to organizations representing the full political spectrum.

Increasing public concern (news articles/letters from Congressional) was being expressed about the singling out of certain types of organizations, the nature of the questions in the development letters and the short turnaround time given to respond.

Report Exhibits - Page 000845

At the end of February the Director EO stopped the issuance of additional information letter requests pending new guidance to the Determinations unit. At the same time, in light of the public nature of the discussion of the letters, the Deputy Commissioner, Services and Enforcement became aware that cases were being centralized in this area. In early March, after consultation with the Deputy Commissioner, a letter was sent to organizations with a pending development letter giving them a sixty day extension and allowing flexibilities on what information to provide.

At the end of March, the Deputy Commissioner Services and Enforcement requested that the Senior Technical Advisor (STA) to the Acting Commissioner (TEGE) conduct a review of what had happened with respect to determination letter inventory in this area and report back on the review and on recommendations for how to address any issues. At the same time, TIGTA indicated that they were going to review this area.

The review by the STA was initiated by going to Cincinnati with a team of specialists to interview people about the process to date and to conduct a review of a broad cross section of the files and of the development letters issued.

On May 3, 2012, the STA reported back to the Deputy Commissioner, Services and Enforcement and to the Acting Commissioner TEGE identifying significant concerns in the case handling including:

- (1) Use of inappropriate criteria in the emails and then the list used to identify the cases that should go to the advocacy case group;
- (2) Use of development letters that included troubling questions;
- (3) Delays in resolution of applications; and
- (4) A failure to provide the agents with the training and the tools they needed in order to handle this inventory appropriately and on a timely basis.

The review did not identify:

- (1) Any evidence of improper influence on the IRS from any party external to the Service.
- (2) Any evidence of partisan motivation or behavior by any IRS employee.

Note that May 3, 2012, was the first date that the Deputy Commissioner had knowledge that a list with inappropriate names was being utilized by the Cincinnati Office. [Shortly thereafter, the Commissioner was made aware of the situation.]

Corrective Actions Taken

On May 3, 2012, the STA recommended that training be conducted for a cadre of experienced agents including quality review staff and that it be followed by having a joint team of technical specialists from headquarters and agents go through the inventory together to group the cases into four categories: (1) cases that could be closed on their merits with the information in the file; (2) cases that required focused development; (3) cases that needed significant development; and (4) cases that presented significant concerns and might well conclude as adverse determinations. This process was designed both to enhance training, experience, and consistency while also moving the inventory forward to resolution as swiftly as possible. This approach was approved and implemented.

Report Exhibits - Page 000846

Procedures were put in place to advise organizations that they generally did not need to provide donor information and that donor information that had been received in response to development letters was neither utilized nor retained. [when was this?]

In addition, having learned in April of 2012 that the centralization criteria had changed again in January, the Director EO Rulings & Agreements directed changes to the BOLO criteria and issued a memorandum requiring Director R&A approval for any listing to centralize determination applications. [This approach was concurred in by the Deputy Commissioner on May 3, 2012.]

The Numbers and Demographics

Through May 9, IRS identified 472 applications for exemption for review of potential advocacy issues (including 301 §501(c)(4) applications). The balance of applicants are for section 501(c)(3) status. To date, 176 applications have been approved (136 of which §501(c)(4) applications). There have been 37 withdrawals, inclusive of both §501(c)(3) and (4) organizations.

Of the cases reviewed by TIGTA, only one-third have a name listed for centralization. y of those have been approved. Moreover, while it is impossible based on name alone to determine with specificity the political alignment of all organizations, in their totality it is clear that they span the entire political spectrum.

Of the approximately 300 section 501(c)(4) advocacy cases noted in the TIGTA report, more than 120 have been approved and nearly 30 have withdrawn. The difference in numbers is due to the point in time when TIGTA did its work.

Consistent Treatment for Determination Letter cases

I need help here.

There are certain protections against any adverse action in a determination letter case. Any adverse rulings against section 501(c)(4) organizations require multiple layers of review. No single person makes the determination, and multi-person review provides further protection for the integrity of the review process.

[anything in this case—partner with specialist from dc—mandatory review for all or just adverse?]

IRS Analysis of this Matter

The Internal Revenue Service is dedicated to reviewing applications for tax-exempt status in an impartial manner.

Similar to our approach in other areas (e.g., credit counseling, down payment assistance organizations, etc.), EO sought to centralize work and assign cases to designated employees in an effort to promote consistent treatment of applications. Given what was happening in the community in terms of the number of organizations and concerns on campaign spending, centralizing advocacy cases for review in the determination letter process made sense. The way it was done did not. It was inappropriate but there has been no finding of political motivation.

It should be noted that the vast majority of entities that were centralized would still have been centralized on a less narrow, more appropriate, centralization listing. Organization names did not play a role in the

Flax Nikole C

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Friday, February 08, 2013 9:26 AM
To: Flax Nikole C; Lerner Lois G; Marks Nancy J; Light Sharon P
Subject: Advocacy Data Request
Importance: High
Below are the latest advocacy case numbers:

429 total cases have been bucketed as follows:

- 501(c)(3).... 145
- 501(c)(4).... 281
- 501(c)(6).... 2
- 501(c)(10).. 1

The 429 total cases have been placed in the following buckets:

- bucket 1.....94
- bucket 2.....96
- bucket 3.....141
- bucket 4.....75
- misc.....1
- no bucket. ....22

Note: The cases identified as "no bucket" include 6 cases that are currently in the process of being bucketed. 1 case closed status 01 and 15 cases closed status 04.

Total number of determinations processed is 156 cases:

- 501(c)(3)..... 32 approvals
- 501(c)(4)..... 117 approvals
- 501(c)(6)..... 1 approvals
- FTE status 11 closure....5
- FTE status 12 closure....1

The 156 total number of determination cases processed by bucket:

- Bucket 1 .....85
- Bucket 2 .....48

2/8/2013

Report Exhibits - Page 000848

- Bucket 3 .... 21
- Bucket 4 ..... 3
- No bucket .... 1

Total number of withdrawals is 33 cases.

The total number of open cases is 240. Total number of development letters sent on open cases is 136

- Number of bucket 1 cases that are open: 8 (6 additional info letters)
- Number of bucket 2 cases that are open: 45 (23 additional info letters)
- Number of bucket 3 cases that are open: 111 (80 additional info letters)
- Number of bucket 4 cases that are open: 69 (27 additional info letters)
- Number of cases open not bucketed: 6 (no additional info letters)
- Number of cases in MISC open status: 1 (additional information letter sent)

Note: Open cases are cases in status 31, 32, 37, 51, 52, 55, 57, 58, 74, 74PC, and 75

2/8/2013

IRSR0000468938

from Lois

Recent section 501(c)(4) activity
Draft 7-17-12

Legal requirements:

- The law allows section 501(c)(4) organizations to hold themselves out as tax-exempt or to apply for IRS recognition as tax-exempt.
- All section 501(c)(4) organizations must file Form 990 annual information returns.
- To qualify under section 501(c)(4), organizations must be primarily engaged in the promotion of social welfare, not organized or operated for profit, and the net earnings of which do not inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.
- The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.
- The regulations do not impose a complete ban on political activity by section 501(c)(4) organizations. A section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization can engage in some political activities as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Whether an organization meets the requirements of section 501(c)(4) depends upon all of the facts and circumstances of the particular applicant, and no one factor is determinative.

Background:

- Starting in 2010, EO observed an increase in the number of section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4) determination applications from organizations that appeared to be potentially engaged in political advocacy activities

Increase in section 501c4 applications

2008 - 1410
2009 - 1571
2010 - 1591
2011 - 2242
2012 - 1715 (through April 1, 2012)

- EO took steps to coordinate the handling of the cases to ensure consistency. As sometimes happens, however, coordination efforts resulted in some cases being in inventory for a longer time than expected.
- In early 2012, after development letters were sent to some applicant organizations, issues with respect to these cases were brought to the attention of EO management, who requested a status of the inventory.

Report Exhibits - Page 000850

- After receiving the inventory status, EO management determined that a more refined approach was warranted to ensure more timely and consistent handling of the cases. EO management put together a team of highly experienced technical experts to work with the revenue agents in Cincinnati handling the cases.
- EO now has a process where each revenue agent assigned these cases works in coordination with a specific technical expert assigned to assist the agent. On section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4) cases where there appears to be potential political intervention, the EO staff member processing the application consults with his or her assigned technical expert on a real-time basis as to whether the facts raise issues of significant potential political intervention, and as to what information is needed to fully develop those issues.
- We have made significant progress on these cases to date.
  - 320 total advocacy cases
    - 97 (c)(3) cases
    - 223 (c)(4) cases
  - More than 55 approvals have been granted to date [7 c3s and 51 c4s + 15 withdrawals]
  - There have been no denials at this time. (Emerge cases were worked in 2008. Recent activity was revoking the 5 organizations that were wrongly approved.)
  - For many cases updated information requests have been sent to focus on the specific legal issues in question. We are in process of an active back and forth with organizations in those cases where there are questions as to whether the legal requirements for tax exemption are satisfied.

Disclosure of donor names:

- There are instances in which donor names are relevant in the course of the determination process. There is no legal basis for redacting such names from the application file if the information is used in making the determination on the application.
- We informed organizations that if they could provide information requested in an alternative manner, they should contact their agent and we would work with them.
- EO Determinations staff did ask for donor names from some applicants for c4 status. In cases in which the donor names were not used in making the determination, the donor information was expunged from the file.

EO Workplan

- Includes two separate projects that could be relevant here (exact language pasted below)
  - 501(c)(4), (5) and (6) self-declarers - These groups – social welfare organizations; labor, agricultural and horticultural groups; and business leagues, such as a chamber of commerce – can declare themselves tax-exempt without seeking a determination from the IRS. EO will review organizations to ensure that they have classified themselves correctly and that they are complying with applicable rules. In FY 2012, EO will send a comprehensive questionnaire to organizations based on Form 990 filings to assess compliance in this area.
  - Political activity - As in any election year, EO will continue its work to enforce the rules relating to political campaigns and campaign expenditures. In FY 2012, EO will combine what it has learned from past projects on political activities with new information gleaned from the redesigned Form 990 to focus its examination resources on serious allegations of impermissible political intervention. As in the past, information from outside sources about political campaign intervention will be reviewed by a committee of career civil servants. In addition, other potential violations identified through risk modeling of Form 990 data also will be sent to the committee for evaluation. The committee will focus on identifying the cases to refer for examination. EO will further refine its risk models based on the results of examinations. EO will also ensure reporting and payment compliance with section 527(f).

Other issues:

- Response times -- Normal timeline for responding to requests for additional information per IRM is 21 days. We have provided all organizations more time to respond and told them to contact us if they needed additional time.
- TIGTA – looking at consistency in identifying and reviewing applications for tax-exempt status involving political advocacy issues - opening letter June 22, 2012
- BOLO – procedures modified May 17, 2012 to require all changes to receive approval up to level of the Director, EO Determinations.

Report Exhibits - Page 000852

08/11/2009 13:36 53974

UGRR

PAGE 01/06

EDOLPHUS TOWNS, NEW YORK
CHAIRMAN

DARRELL E. ISSA, CALIFORNIA
RANKING MINORITY MEMBER

ONE HUNDRED ELEVENTH CONGRESS

Congress of the United States

House of Representatives

COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND GOVERNMENT REFORM

2157 RAYBURN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, DC 20515-6143

Majority (202) 225-6081
Minority (202) 225-6074

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

RECEIVED

AUG 11 2009

Date: August 11, 2009

To: The Honorable Douglas Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service

CONG. CORR. BR
CL:LA

From: Darrell E. Issa, Ranking Member
Oversight & Government Reform Committee

Phone:

Fax: (202) 622-4733

There will be a total of 6 pages, including cover page.

Comments: _____

If there are any questions or problems regarding this transmission, please call the sender at 202-225-5074

Please Note: The information on this facsimile is confidential and is intended only for the use of the person named above. If this facsimile has come to you in error, please call the sender at the number given above. Any distribution of this facsimile is strictly prohibited.

IRSR0000469223

Report Exhibits - Page 000853

08/11/2009 13:36 53974
EDDOLPHUS TOWNS, NEW YORK
CHAIRMAN

DGRR

PAGE 02/05

DARRELL E. ISSA, CALIFORNIA
RANKING MINORITY MEMBER

ONE HUNDRED ELEVENTH CONGRESS

Congress of the United States

House of Representatives

COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND GOVERNMENT REFORM
2157 RAYBURN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, DC 20515-6143

Majority (209) 275-6081
Minority (202) 225-0074

August 11, 2009

RECEIVED

AUG 11 2009

CONG. CORR. BR
CL:LA

The Honorable Douglas Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
1111 Constitution Ave., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20224

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

The Committee staff has been investigating the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now's ("ACORN") lack of compliance with various federal laws. Recently, I released a staff report entitled, "Is ACORN Intentionally Structured As a Criminal Enterprise?" ("ACORN Report").

The ACORN Report<sup>1</sup> found ACORN conspired to defraud the United States by using taxpayer funds for partisan political activities. ACORN submitted false filings to the IRS, in addition to failing to report and pay excise taxes on Dale Rathke's excess benefit transactions. Additionally, ACORN falsified and concealed facts concerning an illegal transaction between related parties in violation of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"). I am concerned ACORN has failed to comply with §§ 501(c), 527(f) of the Internal Revenue Code ("IRC") and other Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") regulations.

Our investigation has led to additional questions regarding ACORN's compliance with the Internal Revenue Code. It appears that ACORN, a taxable non-exempt corporation, has intentionally used gaps in the IRC and the Federal Election Campaign Act ("FECA") to engage in activities that would be subject to either prohibition or taxation under any reasonable contemplation of FECA and the IRC.

FECA<sup>2</sup> generally prohibits corporations from making a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election to any political office<sup>3</sup> and from using

<sup>1</sup> See Minority staff report, Is ACORN Intentionally Structured As a Criminal Enterprise? COMM. OVERSIGHT AND GOV'T REFORM (2009) at 3-6, available at: <http://repUBLICans.oversight.house.gov/media/pdf/20090723ACORNReport.pdf>.

<sup>2</sup> 2 U.S.C. § 431 et seq.

Report Exhibits - Page 000854

09/11/2009 13:35 53974

OGRR

PAGE 03/05

Mr. Douglas Shulman
August 11, 2009
Page 2

treasury funds to pay for electioneering communications.<sup>4</sup> However, there are several exceptions to FECA's general prohibition on corporations making contributions or expenditures. Under 2 U.S.C. § 441b(b)(2), corporations may make expenditures: (1) to communicate with stockholders and executive or administrative personnel and their families; (2) to engage in nonpartisan voter registration or get-out-the-vote campaigns aimed at stockholders and executive or administrative personnel and their families; and (3) to establish, administer, and solicit contributions to a separate segregated fund for political purposes.

I understand that § 527(f) of the IRC subjects § 501(c) organizations to tax if they make an expenditure for a § 527 "exempt function." The "influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential or Vice-Presidential electors . . ." would constitute a § 527 "exempt function" under the IRC.<sup>5</sup> According to the IRC, if a § 501(c) organization sets up a separate segregated fund, the fund will be treated as a separate § 527 political organization for tax purposes.<sup>6</sup>

However, a § 501(c) organization cannot set up a fund to conduct activities it cannot do – e.g. a § 501(c)(3) organization, which is prohibited from engaging in campaign activity under the tax laws, cannot set up a fund to engage in those types of activities.<sup>7</sup> Treasury Regulation § 1.527-6(b)(1) states that FECA-permitted expenditures are taxable only to the extent provided by regulation. Unfortunately, the Treasury Department has not yet promulgated a regulation stating what that extent is.<sup>8</sup> According to the Congressional Research Service, "[u]ntil the regulation addresses this matter, it appears a § 501(c) organization may engage in [political] activities without tax consequences under IRC § 527(f)."<sup>9</sup>

I understand that, for purposes of applying FECA, the FEC does not distinguish between tax-exempt nonprofit corporations like Project Vote and taxable nonprofit corporations like ACORN. However, the Congressional Research Service has informed me "for the purposes of determining whether a corporation is exempt from certain FECA

<sup>1</sup> 2 U.S.C. § 441(a).

<sup>2</sup> 2 U.S.C. § 441b(b)(2).

<sup>3</sup> IRC § 527(e)(2).

<sup>4</sup> IRC § 527(f)(3); Treas. Reg. § 1.527-6(f).

<sup>5</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.527-6(g).

<sup>6</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.527-6(b)(3).

<sup>7</sup> Memorandum from L. Paige Whitaker, Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service and Erika Lunder, Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service to House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, 2 (Aug. 4, 2009) (on file with author). See T.D. 7744, 1981-1 C.B. 360 (stating that when the matter is eventually addressed, the regulation will apply on a prospective basis); see also Judith E. Kindell and John Francis Reilly, Election Year Issues, IRS 2002 EO CPE TEXT, at 437 (2002), available at <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-soi/02cpetext.pdf>.

Report Exhibits - Page 000855

08/11/2009 13:35 53974

OSRR

PAGE 04/06

Mr. Douglas Shulman
August 11, 2009
Page 3

prohibitions, the tax-exempt status of a corporation is relevant."<sup>10</sup> These ambiguities create the concern that ACORN is permitted to engage in lobbying activities the IRC may wrongly believe are exempt. In addition to the difficulty my staff has faced in obtaining information concerning the IRC, the apparent gap in the rules of the IRS and the FEC signals an increased need for inter-agency communication and coordination.

To ensure that ACORN and ACORN-affiliated entities are complying with both the IRC and IRS regulations, please provide the following information and documents on or before August 20, 2009:

1. It is my understanding that the IRC or IRS regulations require political funds to be separate and segregated from tax-exempt accounts. The ACORN Report disclosed an audit by ACORN's outside counsel, finding ACORN and its affiliates lack an adequately documented delineation of 501(c)(3) from non-501(c)(3) work.<sup>11</sup> ACORN cannot prove that 501(c)(3) resources are not being directed to specific regions based on impermissible partisan considerations,<sup>12</sup> and Communities Voting Together ("CVT"), a § 527 organization, is "treated like a pot of money available to ACORN to carry out state-level political work."<sup>13</sup> Does ACORN's use of 501(c)(3) resources for impermissible partisan considerations and its use of § 527 funds as a "pot of money" constitute violations of the IRC?
2. Citizens Consulting Inc. ("CCI"), a taxable nonprofit, simultaneously managed the accounts of political and private donor-funded organizations.
  - a. Does CCI's co-management of various tax-exempt and non-exempt affiliate accounts, many of which receive federal funds and some of which are 527s, violate § 527(f) of the IRC?
  - b. If so, has the IRS taken steps to prevent CCI's co-management of affiliate accounts that are legally required to be separate and segregated?
3. It is my understanding that ACORN files Form 1120 corporate income tax with the IRS, has no tax-exempt status with the IRS, and is registered in multiple states as a nonprofit corporation.
  - a. If a taxable nonprofit corporation engages in lobbying and political expenditures/contributions, even those exempt under 2 U.S.C. § 441b(b)(2), where does it report those activities?

<sup>10</sup> Memorandum from L. Paige Whitaker, Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service and Erika Lunder, Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service to House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, 3 (Aug. 4, 2009) (on file with author).

<sup>11</sup> Memorandum from Harmon, Curran, Spielberg, & Eisenberg, LLP (HCSE) on Organization Review to ACORN Beneficial Association, ACORN Housing Corporation, ACORN Institute, ACORN Votes, American Institute for Social Justice, Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now, Citizens Consulting, Inc., Citizens Services Inc., Communities Voting Together, Pennsylvania Institute for Community Affairs, Inc., Project Vote/Voting for America, Inc. (June 19, 2008) at 7 (ACORN_004933).

<sup>12</sup> Id.

<sup>13</sup> Id. at 8.

Report Exhibits - Page 000856

QGRR

PAGE 25/25

Mr. Douglas Shulman
August 11, 2009
Page 4

- b. Provide copies of ACORN's 1120's from 2004 to the present.

publication.

5. Provide all documents showing ACORN/CCI's transfer of political contributions and dues met the requirements that
  - a. The § 501(c) uses procedures that satisfy federal and state campaign laws;
  - b. The § 501(c) organization maintains adequate records to show the transferred monies and political contributions and dues (not investment income); and
  - c. (3) the transferred monies were not used to earn investment income for the § 501(c) organization.<sup>14</sup>
6. The IRS requires exempt organizations to report embezzlements on its federal tax information return (Form 990, Form W-2, or Form 1099) or on an amended federal tax information return.<sup>15</sup> Section 4958 of the Internal Revenue Code imposes an excise tax on excess benefit transactions between a disqualified person and an applicable tax-exempt organization.<sup>16</sup> A disqualified person is liable for a twenty-five percent ("25%") tax on the excess benefit.<sup>17</sup> An organization manager may also be liable for a ten percent ("10%") excise tax on the excess benefit transaction, if he or she "knowingly, willfully, and without reasonable cause" participated in the excess benefit transaction.<sup>14</sup>
  - a. Produce all IRS documents concerning fees assessed against Dale Rathke, Wade Rathke and the relevant ACORN-affiliated 501(c) corporations involved in the embezzlement.

<sup>14</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.527-6(e).

<sup>15</sup> Economic Benefit Transactions, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, available at: <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-efile/econitnce04>.

<sup>16</sup> Intermediate Sanctions, Tax Information for Charitable Organizations, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, available at <http://www.irs.gov/charities/charitable/article0..id=23298.00.html>.

<sup>17</sup> 2007 Instructions for Form 990 and Form 990-EZ, Tax Information for Charities & Other Non-Profits, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, available at <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/i990-ez>.

18 Id.

Report Exhibits - Page 000857

08/11/2009 13:36 53974

DGRR

PAGE 86/86

Mr. Douglas Shulman
August 11, 2009
Page 5

- b. If no fees were assessed, provide a detailed explanation and any documents explaining why such a transaction is not considered a violation of the excess benefit rule.
7. According to ACORN's outside counsel, ACORN paid its embezzlement-caused deficits through an employee sponsored health fund. Produce all IRS documents concerning penalties assessed against ACORN or any of its affiliates concerning violations of ERISA. If no penalties were assessed, provide a detailed explanation and any documents explaining why such a transaction is not considered a violation of ERISA.

For purposes of your response to this letter, ACORN and its affiliates includes but is not limited to: ACORN, Project Vote/Voting for America, Inc., CCI, Citizens Services Inc. ("CSI"), ACORN Housing Corporation ("AHC"), ACORN Community Labor Organizing Center ("ACLOC"), American Institute for Social Justice ("AISJ"), SEIU Local 100, SEIU Local 880, ACORN Institute, ACORN Votes, and Communities Voting Together ("CVT").

The Committee on Oversight and Government Reform is the principal oversight committee in the House of Representatives and has broad oversight jurisdiction as set forth in House Rule X.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. If you have any questions regarding this request, please contact Daniel Epstein of the Committee staff at (202) 225-5074.

Sincerely,

Darrell Issa
Ranking Member

cc: The Honorable Edolphus Towns, Chairman

IRSR0000469228

Report Exhibits - Page 000858

---

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Tuesday, March 16, 2010 9:31 AM
To: Muthert Gary A
Subject: RE: TEA PARTY
Attachments: Notebook.jpg
Importance: Low

What's the [REDACTED] movement?

*John Shafer
Group Manager
SE:T:EO:RA:D:2:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-5200*

---

From: Muthert Gary A
Sent: Tuesday, March 16, 2010 10:27 AM
To: Shafer John H
Subject: TEA PARTY

I just looked at CNN.com. There is a major TEA Party protest in Washington D.C. today. I watched the video. It appears the TEA party is a Republican based entity. I am now a resident expert on the TEA Party. However, that being said, there is also an equal Democratic "tea party" type entity, called "Emerge". If you want more info, just ask.

Gary Muthert
TE/GE, ID #1000203255
Screening Group, Group 7838
550 Main Street
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201
513-263-3639 Phone
513-263-5200 FAX

Report Exhibits - Page 000859

---

From: Angner William J
Sent: Wednesday, April 11, 2012 3:32 PM
To: Seok Stephen D
Subject: RE: TIGTA audit 4/30-5/1/2012

pswns in chain of command are either overlooked or sacrificed....some one up the chain should take the heat for you:)

---

From: Seok Stephen D
Sent: Wednesday, April 11, 2012 4:29 PM
To: Angner William J
Subject: RE: TIGTA audit 4/30-5/1/2012

Boss,

You are going to save me, right?

---

From: Angner William J
Sent: Wednesday, April 11, 2012 4:26 PM
To: Conley Melissa A; Davenport Sally B; Fletcher Brad S; Jennewein John A; Perry Veronica E; Sutfield Casey A; Woeste Bryan C; Hanson Michael J; Kiser Joan C; McLaughlin Geraldine R; Gentry Diane M; Luk Zenia; Perry Lori A
Cc: Seok Stephen D
Subject: TIGTA audit 4/30-5/1/2012

FYI:

Holly Paz and TIGTA employees will be here in Cincy 4/30-5/1/2012 to review advocacy cases (ie.TIGTA audit).

There will also be Congressional hearings about how we handle those cases as well.

Glad those are in another group worked by other agents! Please give Stephen all the morale support you can muster:)

Report Exhibits - Page 000860

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, May 10, 2010 7:27 PM
To: Herr Joseph R
Cc: Melahn Brenda; Camarillo Sharon L; Waddell Jon M
Subject: FW: Emerging issue follow-up
Attachments: Issue Training-05092010-2.doc; Issue Form-05102010.doc

Joseph,

Sorry I missed this in first review --- there is reference to "See Below." I'm not sure where we are directing the reader. Refer to comment incorporated into attached document.

Regarding the concern I had regarding TAG issue, the bullet you included is good. But, I think the CPE instructors are going to need to make sure they explain that clear TAG referrals go directly to the TAG group and do not pass through Emerging Issue group first.

---

From: Herr Joseph R
Sent: Monday, May 10, 2010 2:07 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Melahn Brenda; Camarillo Sharon L; Waddell Jon M
Subject: RE: Emerging Issue follow-up

Cindy,

I made some updates to address your concerns.

Joseph

Joseph R. Herr
Manager Group 7825
Exempt Organizations Determinations
(513) 263-3725
(513) 263-4513 fax

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Sunday, May 09, 2010 11:15 PM
To: Herr Joseph R
Cc: Melahn Brenda; Camarillo Sharon L; Waddell Jon M
Subject: FW: Emerging issue follow-up

Joseph,

This is so much better than the prior document.

Attachment 1 includes changes I recommend (tracked through Word).
Attachment 2 is a clean copy, with outstanding comments/questions.

---

From: Herr Joseph R
Sent: Friday, May 07, 2010 12:17 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Melahn Brenda; Camarillo Sharon L; Waddell Jon M
Subject: Emerging Issue follow-up

Report Exhibits - Page 000861

All,

Attached please find the re-drafted CPE training handout as discussed in our meeting yesterday.

Joseph

Joseph R. Herr
Manager Group 7825
Exempt Organizations Determinations
(513) 263-3725
(513) 263-4513 fax

Report Exhibits - Page 000862

EMERGING ISSUE/COORDINATED PROCESSING REFERRAL FORM

NOTE: Applications involving an issue that has been identified on the TAG list or possessing other affirmative indicators of potential fraud or abuse should follow the TAG referral procedures in IRM 7.20.6.

Date:

Specialist Name:

Entity Information

Name:

EIN:

Case number:

POA (if applicable):

EMERGING ISSUES ☐ COORDINATED PROCESSING ☐

Reason for Referral:

Additional Relevant Facts:

Referral Approval

Group Manager

Date

(For Coordinating Group)

Recommendation:

Disposition:

Signature

Date

TAG, Emerging Issue, Coordinated Processing, and Watch Issue Awareness

Background

As Determinations specialists, we are continually asked to be on the look out for various new issues, cases, POA's, tax law changes, or possible fraud and abuse issues. We receive multiple emails, spreadsheets, and lists and are responsible for managing this information. Without a single depository for this information, it is difficult to remember all the issues and more difficult to keep up to date on the status of them.

To assist with this, we created an Excel workbook to store all the information in one location. The workbook will be divided into five worksheets: TAG, TAG Historical Information, Emerging Issues, Coordinating Processing, and Watch Issues.

The Issues

What is a TAG issue?

Touch-and-Go (TAG) issues may involve abusive tax avoidance transactions, fraud, or terrorism. TAG procedures are described in full in IRM 7.20.6. TAG issues supersede all others. Therefore, applications involving an issue identified on the TAG list or possessing indicators of fraud or abuse should follow the TAG referral procedures.

What is an Emerging Issue?

An Emerging Issue is an issue identified in a group of cases for which no standard practice for handling has been established. Emerging Issues may arise in reaction to current events or changes to tax law, which are not addressed through existing precedent or procedures. Examples of Emerging Issues include the following:

- Tea Party cases
  - These cases were referred because of the number of applications, high profile, and inconsistent requests of 501(c)(3) and (c)(4).
- Pension trust 501(c)(2) non-traditional investment cases
  - These cases were referred because of the unusual note receivable asset, the involvement of the same law firm, high dollar amounts, and possible impact on Employee Plans (EP).

What is Coordinated Processing?

Coordinated Processing is the mechanism for promoting uniform case handling by assigning multiple related cases to a particular specialist or group when there is existing precedent and procedures that cover the issues involved. Examples of Coordinated Processing include the following:

- A break-up of a large group ruling resulting in the subordinates seeking individual exemptions
- Multiple entities related through a complex business structure such as a senior housing management company and separate senior housing properties
- A change in state law requiring instrumentalities to change their Form 990 filing requirement

What is a Watch Issue?

A Watch Issue is a general term for issues or cases in need of special handling. Examples of a Watch Issue include the following:

- A request from Criminal Investigation to look for an application from a specific organization
- A request from EO Technical to look for applications involving certain activities such as:
  - open software cases
  - Regional Health Information Organizations (RHIOs)

Workbook and Email Alerts

The Excel workbook stores all information in one location and individual worksheets will list the various issues and provide guidance on how to handle them. Also, we are in the process of establishing an email alert system to notify EO Determinations specialists of issues. These alerts will provide notification of new issues, updates on existing issues, and resolutions on closed issues.

- (1) TAG issues, Emerging Issues, Coordinated Processing and Watch Issues are tracked on a single Excel workbook.
  - Each of the issue types will have a separate worksheet.
  - Each worksheet lists the individual issues:
    - Issues are named and numbered.
    - Brief descriptions of the issues are provided.
    - Guidance on how to handle the issue is provided. (A cross reference to an email alert number will be referenced. See below.)
  - Individual issues and related cases will be assigned to different groups or different specialists.
  - A Coordinator will maintain the workbook.
    - add, update, or close issue information on the appropriate worksheet.
    - distribute the spreadsheet to EO Determinations specialists.

- 2) Email alerts will notify EO Determinations specialists of any additions, updates, or closures to issues in the workbook.
  - The Coordinator will compile and distribute the alerts:
    - Containing information on one or more issues.
    - Providing guidance in more specific detail than the Excel workbook.
    - Including numbers for cataloging.
    - Archiving for future reference.

Identification and Referral of Issues

- (1) EO Determinations specialists identify potential issues. Routinely, issues are identified in the technical screening process. However, issues can be identified at any stage of case processing.
- (2) When a potential issue is identified, the specialist will complete a referral to the appropriate coordinator.
  - TAG issues are referred following the procedures in IRM 7.20.6.
  - Emerging Issues or Coordinated Processing issues are referred to the Coordinator by completing the Emerging Issue/Coordinated Processing Referral Form. (See attached copy of form.)
    - The reasons for the referral must be clearly described.
    - The specialist's manager reviews and approves the referral prior to sending to the Coordinator.
      - Cases identified in technical screening are forwarded together with the approved referral sheet to the Group coordinating Emerging Issues.
      - Cases identified outside of technical screening remain with the specialists pending review of the referral form.
  - Watch Issues are referred to the screener/specialist's manager.

Analyzing the Referral

Upon receipt, the Coordinator reviews, researches, and analyzes the issue. The referral will result in one of the following recommendations:

- To follow Emerging Issue procedures
- To follow Coordinated Processing procedures
- To forward the referral to the TAG Coordinator

- If the Coordinator finds indications of fraud or abuse
- To not accept the referral
  - If the referral is not accepted, the referring group manager will receive feedback explaining why.
  - Cases transferred from technical screening will follow secondary screening procedures.

Emerging Issues Procedures

- (1) In the processing of an Emerging Issue Referral, the following will occur:
  - The issue will be researched and developed.
    - Research will include identifying any related cases.
    - Development will include identifying the significant facts and circumstances and the appropriate tax law.
  - The Coordinator will complete the following:
    - Add the issue to the Emerging Issues worksheet.
    - Issue an alert.
- (2) A white paper is prepared and elevated to the appropriate authority to decide how the issue is handled.
- (3) The Coordinator disseminates the decision through a follow-up email alert, and makes updates to the Emerging Issues worksheet.

Coordinated Processing Procedures

- (1) In the processing of a Coordinated Processing Referral, the following will occur:
  - The issue will be researched and developed.
    - Research will include identifying any related cases.
    - Development will include identifying the significant facts and circumstances and the appropriate tax law.
    - Determining what issue-specific procedures should be applied to the related cases.
  - The Coordinator will complete the following:
    - Add the issue to the Emerging Issues worksheet.
    - Issue an alert.
- (2) The Coordinator will disseminate follow-up information on the disposition of the issue through a follow-up email alert, and makes updates to the Coordinated Processing worksheet.

Report Exhibits - Page 000867

TIMELINE

| Dates                   | Players                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2/25-26/10email     | Jack Koester to John Shafer to Sharon Camarillo to Cindy Thomas to Holly Paz | Jack sent an email to John [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED] 6103 [REDACTED] 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 2/26-4/5/2010           | Gary Muthert and John Shafer                                                 | I was asked by John to query our system and find any Tea Party application and similar cases. John asked me to secure 10 Tea Party cases and transfer them to EOT for review. I conducted TEDS research and found 10 TP cases. Also had Karl Beckerich conduct EDS research to see if any TP received exemption or was being filed via paper. Had Karl Beckerich secure the paper files for me and prepared the cases for transfer. |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 3/16-3/17/2010email | John Shafer/Cindy Thomas/Holly Paz                                           | Acknowledged that we have the 10 cases secured by me and really to transfer. They wanted only two and we us to keep the rest until notified.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 4/5/2010                | Gary Muthert acting for John Shafer                                          | Received email from Cindy Thomas as acting manager -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Pre-2/25/10             |                                                                              | 3 TP were received exemption per EDS/TEDS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 2/25/2010               |                                                                              | Jack identified Case #1 - [REDACTED] 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 3/8/2010                |                                                                              | Identified 7 Tea Party's and prepared for EOT transfer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 4/2/2010                |                                                                              | Identified 3 Tea Party cases                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                         |                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

5/9/13 ABA closed door
 Topic ⇒ start a discussion on whether ABA can help us in our current conundrum on C4 / Pot. hand Ground Rules - limit?
 - 4 walls
 Set the context -

① - Gift tax issue is under discussion but we are late in going out

② We are in our usual spot - comfortable place in some respects but not really palatable

→ One side

- hit us hard on Gift Tax
 - will hit us hard on Tax Party Applications short outline of what happened

Notes for

ABA closed door did not run from the news service a service and as part of part of
 I think
 5/24/13

upheld of C4 with political aspect to operation centralized system (to be easier working) but used names
 not political under the by law but don't know we have changed the centralization process and we have worked hard to clean up cases
 lots of them are cleared
 700 total 120 government 20 with

Other side is pushing on C4 regulation and whether it should be changed Center Levin - lots of correspondence hearing will occur this summer key argument is why ~~section~~ <sup>it does</sup> exclusively news priority...

so the question is what should be done ...
 I would like to move forward on the gift tax discussion
 AND I DON'T MIND A DISCUSSION ON THE C4
 REG AS WELL
 AND I AM WONDERING <sup>HOW</sup> ~~WHAT~~ THE ABA MIGHT HELP

ON the C4 reg -- sort of interesting
 I am old -- spent the 90s trying to drive pol activity into C4s and out of C3s
 This allowed us to get a bit out of the difficult issue of ~~re-enforcing~~ a no tolerance rule AND out of the pre-<sup>debating</sup> battle of education vs campaign activity
 whether its voter guides or issue ads
 Then along came a wave of cash -- unleashed by citizens united and that cash chose a favorable part due to disclosure and under enforced gift tax rules
 My little <sup>of peace</sup> ~~hope~~ was dashed -- I can now have a C4 - 100% of which is political & close to the line education or grants to other orgs that are pol activists <sup>issue</sup> so I would prefer a legislative fix - disclosure it would be best but - open to looking at regulation -
 But I have a series of me concerns that I would want answers to

This is what questioning is trying to throw out

All of that have driving political activity to C4 }
 The hope that the line between education and politics could be blurry in C4 →

All of that may already be at risk
 But <sup>strict</sup> not risk shy robots which ~~we~~ <sup>we</sup> change the primary standard

We have been anything but perfect in C3

enforcement

What happens when C4 becomes ~~just~~ <sup>very similar to</sup> C3 - which is what some argue for -- do I want to expand the already inordinately large area

So I'd want to raise some questions as we proceed

A) Do we craft a brand new rule in C4?
 [Ging's inkbarber comes to mind] <sup>don't think this solves</sup> <sub>anything</sub>

B) If so -- is the definition of C4 pol activity the same? Does it have to be -- not statutory like C3

C) Is it only C4 we'd be talking about would I not change --

D) What remains of the distinction between
 C3 and C4 -- Does it come down to lobbying?

E) What else gets impacted by the reduction of permission for social welfare activities - can't do a politician only rule I think - nothing special about politics versus other "B.B." C4 activity

 AND Pol has 10 years of operational repose that would be interrupted

~~What~~ Need to understand what is out there -- presumably VBIT activity would be ok but...

8

10 There are some real questions
 But those who want to change the reg would have to be ready to discuss options

- (B) (1) Better definitions -- more guidance but this is hard -- education vs. politics
 -- level of activity -- how to measure
 -- grants and how they should be treated
 -- concepts of private benefit
 application in C 4 context

(A) (2) study sponsored by ABA?

(C) (3) Return to ~~good~~ administrative safe harbors
 25/10/15?

(4) push for disclosure of C 4 and gift tax answer in alternative -- this is legislation enough or not enough due to concept of <sup>small</sup> grant making and of shell corporations

(5) other?

Control on C4
 issues
 → reminded to put stuff
 →

Concept / Questions

Issue of end / privacy

we spent all this

① This will drive us to issue etc of education / voter turnout / ~~etc~~ vs prohib campaign activity

(IN) how craft a brand new rule?

15/1/03

① What is the rule?

C3 rule of no tolerance something else? ~~etc~~

② No I want to ~~control~~ <sup>regulate</sup> the inadvisable

- proportion issue
 - ed vs politics panel

③ What consequence for C4 / C3 destruction lobbying

④ What else if regulated by higher rules? do we know?

⑤ ~~what~~ Does <sup>cap</sup> C4 have any deficit -
 C3 to C4

⑥ Does it need to?
C4 pol. actually based on statute like C3?
based on same bad reg - not!!

Options

① better definition of Ed/

② New test on each:
25% 10% 15%

③ Push for better alternatives?

Disclosure rules

something like new proposal

Other

Report Exhibits - Page 000874

Meeting beginning at 5:00

- TOPICS FOR MEETING
- Personnel - Appeals
  - C4 roll out
  - Postmortem roll out
  - Search Update
  - Post Report Reactions
  - Union letter
  - tomorrow
  - Accidents

IRSR0000506553

4

① we have responded to TIGTA basically contribution right to us we had it wrong
we have fixed both process and cases

Drive - TIGTA
to Iowa West week
May - maybe on C4?

② Planned Roll out
→ to work with to get out w/ Oversight / Friday → Dis. time in small groups ABA Thursday Afternoon plant Q + A
→ Friday Morning 10
Q + A at ABA

→ Friday ~~morning~~
meet with Oversight staff
[I fully brief Lewis / OSB]

Can this slip to next week?

→ Oversight Meeting is for both? -

Travel is much later - 75 days

↓
What do we owe on C4 if we break it?
This week?

Report Exhibits - Page 000876

5/12/11

501(c)(4) Examinations:

Approx. May 2009 – New PSP Analyst assigned to Non-filer Initiative. Prior to this date there was no activity in the non-filer arena

Approx. May 2010 – E&G initiated a formal Referral procedure – prior to this date no formal referral procedures exist.

Between May and November of 2010 – referral procedures initiated in SBSE Exam, LB&I, Fraud/BSA

November 2010 – E&G contacted TEGE notifying them of our referral procedures.

November 2010 – Referral from Revenue Agent Charles Walker who was examining 6103 501(c)(4) and 23 donors.

December 2010 – Research conducted by PSP to determine if gift tax returns were filed for 2007 and 2008. 7 of the contributors filed no gift returns.

December 2010 – 7 contributors were established as SFR non-filers.

December 2010 – PSP contacts Policy to review technical issue

January 2011 – Sent to the field for examination; 5 letters sent to Donors

January 2011 – TEGE requests E&G make a presentation at their CPE

January 2011 – Attorney Advisor contacts Chief Counsel (Jim Hogan) to review technical accuracy of course material. Contact made to the field to suspend activity pending Counsel Advice.

May 2011 - Media Relations inquiry received.

E&G had not actively pursued examination of transfers to 501(c)(4) entities in the past due to the lack of a dedicated PSP program and the lack of substantial issues involved.

This is true even though in Revenue Ruling 88-216, the IRS determined that transfers to 501(c)(4) organizations were not eligible for a charitable deduction and as such were taxable transfers from the donors.

A significant change recently occurred that resulted in a tremendous increase in the amounts transferred to 501(c)(4) organizations. Prior to 2000, many individuals seeking to make a financial impact on elections made contributions to 527 organizations whose primary purpose was to influence the selection, nomination, selection, or defeat of

IRSR0000506555

Flax Nikole C

---

From: Urban Joseph J
Sent: Wednesday, May 11, 2011 9:00 AM
To: Flax Nikole C
Subject: Rev Rul 82-216
Rev. Rul. 82-216, 1982-2 C.B. 220

The Service will no longer contend that contributions to or on behalf of organizations described in section 527(e) of the Code are transfers subject to the gift tax, irrespective of when the transfers were made.

ISSUE

What are the gift tax consequences of contributions made before May 8, 1974, to political organizations described in section 527(e)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code?

FACTS

In 1972 D made a contribution of $10,000 in cash to a political committee to elect a particular candidate to state office. The committee met the definition of section 527(e)(1) of the Code, as now in force.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

Under section 2501(a)(5) of the Code, the federal gift tax is not imposed on the transfer of money or other property to a political organization within the meaning of section 527(e)(1) for the use of such organization. Pub. L. No. 93-625, section 14(b), 1975-1 C.B. 510, 517, provides that section 2501(a)(5) is effective with respect to transfers made after May 7, 1974.

Section 527(e)(1) and (2) of the Code, effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1974, states:

(1) Political organization.--The term 'political organization' means a party committee, association, fund, or other organization (whether or not incorporated) organized and operated primarily for the purpose of directly or indirectly accepting contributions or making expenditures, or both, for an exempt function.

(2) Exempt function.--The term 'exempt function' means the function of influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential or Vice-Presidential electors, whether or not such individual or electors are selected, nominated, elected, or appointed.

Carson v. Commissioner, 71 T.C. 252 (1978), acq. in result page 5, this Bulletin, 641 F.2d 864 (10th Cir. 1981), held that the gift tax did not apply to amounts contributed to the campaign funds of candidates for certain political offices and to amounts expended directly on their behalf in 1967 through 1971. Stern v. United States, 436 F.2d 1327 (5th Cir. 1971), reached a similar conclusion as to election campaign contributions made in 1959 through 1961. The contributions involved in both the Carson and Stern decisions were made to or on behalf of organizations of the type described in section 527(e)(1) of

5/11/2011

IRSR0000506556

Report Exhibits - Page 000878

Page 2 of 2

the Code . In the Carson case, the courts rejected the government's contention that the Congressional enactment of section 2501(a)(5) of the Code represented a change from the law applicable to transfers made prior to the effective date of that provision.

In view of these decisions, the Service will no longer contend that contributions to or on behalf of organizations that are described in section 527(e)(1) of the Code are transfers subject to the gift tax, irrespective of when the contributions were made.

In the instant case, D's $10,000 contributions was to a committee described in section 527(e)(1) of the Code. Accordingly, gift tax liability will not be asserted.

However, the Service's acquiescence in the result in the Carson decision should not be interpreted as an acceptance of the rationale of either the Tax Court or the Court of Appeals. The Service continues to maintain that gratuitous transfers to persons other than organizations described in section 527(e) of the Code are subject to the gift tax absent any specific statute to the contrary, even though the transfers may be motivated by a desire to advance the donor's own social, political or charitable goals.

See, for example, section 2522(a) which limits the charitable gift tax deduction otherwise available for transfers to charitable organizations to only those organizations that have not been disqualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3) by reason of attempting to influence legislation and that do not participate in political campaigns

HOLDING

The Service will no longer contend that the gift tax applies to contributions made before May 8, 1974, to or on behalf of a political organization described in section 527(e)(1) of the Code.

5/11/2011

IRSR0000506557

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

July 7, 2011

MEMORANDUM FOR COMMISSIONER, SMALL BUSINESS/SELF-EMPLOYED
DIVISION
COMMISSIONER, TAX-EXEMPT AND GOVERNMENT ENTITIES DIVISION

FROM:

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement

SUBJECT:

Guidance for SB/SE Estate and Gift Tax and TE/GE Exempt Organizations

Questions have been raised regarding the application of gift tax to contributions to I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) organizations. This is a difficult area with significant legal, administrative, and policy implications with respect to which we have little enforcement history. My office will be coordinating with the Office of Chief Counsel to determine whether there is a need for further guidance in this area.

Until further notice, examination resources should not be expended on this issue. It is anticipated that any future examination activity would be after the coordination described above and would be prospective only after notice to the public. Thus, the Service should not expend examination resources initiating referrals or developing audits. Accordingly, all current examinations relating to the application of gift tax to contributions to I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) organizations should be closed. This directive reaffirms and expands the suspension on March 23, 2011, of such examinations by SB/SE Estate and Gift.

This directive has no impact on any decision to pursue, or on the scope of, any examination of I.R.C. §§ 501(c) and 527 organizations, including the correct application of the tax under I.R.C. § 527(f). Nor does this directive have any impact on other estate or gift tax examinations that do not involve the issue of whether gift tax applies to contributions to I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) organizations.

cc: Chief Counsel

IRSR0000506558

To: 1CY

ISSUE

Banding record

Date _____

129 says primarily 65
50 years

- ① money flowing in from new donors to C41
  - ② C4 can do minority political activity by reg (statute says "exclusive" comm <sup>except</sup>) (but can do issue ads as well)
  - ③ C4's need not come in for states but must file 990
- C4's do not disclose donors except to us - 990 is public but donors

② C4 can do minority political activity by reg (statute says "inclusive") comm
(but can do this also as well)

③ C4's need not come in for states but must file 990

CY' do not disclose donors except to us - 990 is public but donors

Both sides of side spinal arms

both sides of aisle you're wrong

④ G, & Tax 151 wa - are not subject control to self

We have a 1980th new rule for

We have a 1980<sup>ish</sup> rev rule for

[Handwritten signature]

Deputy Commissioner

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

27

To:

Date:

Question is what response
it any to these issues

Levin / Camp / Hatch / Denny / others all have letters in on exclusions and on gift tax letter from one ~~party~~ side triggers response from the other
w/o us being involved

How where we are couple of for your information and a couple of decisions pending

Deputy Commissioner

IRSROCC0506560

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

3

To: FYI

Date:

- ① This month and next - EXAMS, START
AJ EO's that were referred by other for pol activity will be contacted for audit
35 plus
- ② EO's who worked 990 in certain fashion as well -
43 or 50 - in 2 categories
Did you work up to Did you do political?
or if they said they didn't but put some pol expenditures down

- ③ This month or next
Questionnaires to all declared start
1000-1500 C4 who are active and didn't file 1024 with us --
Part of Qaire will look like applicable up to date info on political

Deputy Commissioner

IRSR0C00506561

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

4

To:

Date:

- ③ Working on a broader study
probably public in late winter unless event
- look at C4-C6
- trends in contributions
- trends in political/media expenditures

- ④ Putting together a legislative proposal on 527 / C 4 parity on disclosure

- ⑤ Gift Tax issue

Deputy Commissioner

IRSR0000506562

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

247 5

10. Gift Tax Issue ⇒ Date:

Issues - are Contributions to C4 subject to gift tax

C3 / 527 express exclusion

We said in 80's that (PL-216)
pol contrib not gift
(prior to that effective date of 527 exclusion)

but said that other gifts to orgs were subject unless expressly cut out

But no cases for 30 years --
Couple of years ago we started

5-10 cases in gift tax arena on C4 contrib

They were referrals from EO

All hell broke loose

I issued a directive <sup>July 1990</sup> washing out the cases and saying that until we look at this - no enforcement in this area

Deputy Commissioner

IRSR0000506563

Report Exhibits - Page 000885

6

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

To:

Date:

Not rules drafted by Congress only
Now will like to go out with an announcement of a proposed rulemaking
step before a proposed reg like to say we are thinking it's a gift - and ask for comments

Deputy Commissioner

IRSR0000506564

Report Exhibits - Page 000886

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Commissioner

Topics

To:

Date:

① CY <sup>to c. 10</sup>
          <sup>to c. 10</sup>
          <sup>to c. 10</sup>

② Entering Season

- Bank run concern

- Jan 30 looking ok - a bit week before

→ 5 m / per day
(10 m / per day)

③ Hiring 720

④ NF?

Difficult Scheduling

Deputy Commissioner

IRSR0000506565

1/13/12

Draft

Reunit. history

6103

Nov 2010 → Agent doing a C4 exam notices large donations - wonder about gift tax aspect - leads to 23 donors to estate + gift as referral

E + G does check on F - to see if gift tax return <sup>was</sup> labeled - 7/24/11

even gets some - 5 letters go out to donors JAN 2011

same time for E + G goes to counsel and told
"out on pending SA"

~~making the record~~ May 2011

CCA is on whether donation to C4 is a taxable gift - meaning does it subject donor to gift tax

May 2011 Media gets wind after ABA meeting -

Reunit. history
Camp Hatch
Donor
Camp
Hatch
Donor
Camp
Hatch
Donor

Great amount of swirl including
Camp & Hatch letters
Camp
Hatch
Donor
Camp
Hatch
Donor

July 7 2011 - Asa says Lema
I issue a directive

IRSR0000506566

Directive - said until further notice no exam re/ours on this - future action would be after consulting with counsel and after public notice - and it would be prospective closed current cases that were open.

The Law

527 - 501(c)(3) - explicit exclusion we lost a 527 case (congress made it explicit) / (Carroll v. Corrine now I think)

not explicit for c4, 5, 6

1982
RR
82-216 in our agreement to Carroll - we said ok on 527
but also implied that other 501(c) incl
501(c4) were subject to 501(c3)

Proposed --

ANPRM

NPRM

subject to public

~~Sept 22~~

June 3 2011

CAMP letter
2 letters; not 11 responses
all dead ends

all 2000 C.Y. letters over last 2 years

Bawers push 2010
telling us to survey C.Y.

March 28
Welsh + 30 / C.Y. politics as an activity in other side from Apr 23 - C.Y. politics / documents related to party
Lewin ⇒ 8 letter letters on C.Y. / issue

Pending FOIA request,
① 4/5/6 questionnaire
② large C.Y. FOIA req
- 1 on gift tax window / Hiram
- bigger req on [redacted] on C.Y.

June 8 - Ten party Hatch + 10
Q + R, the who politics of the party, the party
of the party, the party

Outline

1/17/13

(1)

Topic → Guidance on a piece of the issue of increased political activity by social welfare organizations (C4) specifically - does the gift tax apply to donations to C4 (506) organizations

Background/ContextLegal Framework

- 501c3 - must apply to us for exception (except churches)
- may not do any campaign activity
- (defined term - for or against a specific candidate)
- lobbying, educational, or non-biased voter guides
- educational OR non-biased registration efforts
- 990 annual return is public but for donors
- ~~specific~~ donations explicitly excluded from gift tax
- 501c4 - social welfare org - do you benefit the community in some way - NRA, AARP traditional examples
- do not need to come to us to claim exception (do)
- can do campaign work - as long as it's not their primary activity - it contradicts exception primary is by def. - statute for C3 and C4 is the same - must be "exclusively" for social welfare
- ~~no~~ No limits on lobbying and can do education
- same 990 rules - public but not for donors
- no del. for contribution AND no explicit gift tax exclusion
- 527 - basically PAC
no income tax ~~but~~ and politics is their appropriate activity donors very much disclosed by IRS or FEC - though corporations may shade who is giving
- ~~527~~ donations to 527 not del. but are excluded/excepted from gift tax - happened in late 1970s

So - we have seen what looks like a surge in C4 spending on politics no way for us to tell until 990's come in - due May 15 but really in fall

Considerable interest on the Hill in this area

→ Congressionals on all sides often responding to each other rather than us ex Hatch responding to Baucus suggestion that we talk to C(14) during the taxable year
8 Levin Congressionals →
Congressional investigations (Camp)
Camp now has 2000 suggestions in our building concerns over our treatment of Tax Party orgs triggered a 63 member letter there was a 30 member letter on our primarily or exclusively in C4
Levin pushing on this as well

So much swirl exists - brings us to

So Gift tax --

Here is where we are on gift tax

Up until recently -- had not really dealt with the issue in many years we have a 1982 Rev Rul where we agreed with a court on 527 gift tax treatment (Congress fixed this before the rule) we said ok on 527 but implied that all other 501(c)'s where there wasn't an explicit statutory exclusion

remember that, c 4 5 6

Fast forward to <sup>Nov</sup> 2010 -

Agent is working on a 501(c)4 exam - see's large donations - refers them to our gift tax people - the gift tax people find that 7 have not paid gift tax returns

5 <sup>from</sup> letters go out some time gift tax advice counsel for opinion they say hold up - let us get you some guidance revenue

Admin/ABA meeting May 2010

All this is public - numerous competing

Congressional's afraid - CAMP starts an investigation
we have responded the 2 times

July 7 2011
As we talked about it -- I issued a directive said until further notice - no exams

- closed existing cases

- future action would be done after coordination with counsel, public notice and would be prospective

Which brings me to today would like to put out ~~an~~ something that moves the ball forward and indicates that these ~~things~~ <sup>donations</sup> are taxable gifts

⇒ 2 forms

Announcement seeking comment or

~~Notice~~ Proposed Regulation seeking comment

I prefer the former, still the latter

① Examinations

Referrals - 35+ are ready <sup>8/24/88</sup> validate mix
 if OK put into field
 if not validate mix of remainder put mix in field if possible
 Question - can EO <sup>congruence</sup> select mix of well known to commence simultaneously - <sup>6103</sup> and via hot track - Final Unit? FW?
 Also where are we on those in application process but some fall into the field if there are some Data relations in what are there? it would be a mix five -

11/24/12
 Ask TM to go down and acquire balance of 1st or 2nd tranche of cases within done this when

② Study ⇒ Change in activities money in C4 area but check on C5 C6
 the referrals / full declarations / other <sup>samples?</sup> use a checklist

① check level/trend of → media buys → covers both pot activity + issues ad → donation trend over a certain amount

question
 has certain election related activity increased look for both issue ads and outright political activity → nation → get out vote
 → publication
 → calls has the money changed direction?

 has the money increased?
 what else?
 # of C4's etc - number of C4's received during election season

Approach on C4 / Nonprofit generally 11/18/12
JPM Notes

- ① → Open <sup>exams</sup> → referals → 990
- ② → Commence multifaceted study - C4-6
  - on self declareds
  - on political activity / issue ads trends
  - on donations trends
- ③ → put out gift tax proposal in ANPRM
- ④ → push forward on educating and how to enforce on 527(f)
- ⑤ → propose 527/501 c 4-6 donor disclosure rationalization approach / legislative initiation
- ⑥ other?

See
p. 1

② Study continued

By [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

IRSR00000506576

- (3) Gift Tax
 put out in December Gift Tax.
 Announcement of proposed rulemaking - laying out our best legal arguments and requesting comments

- (4) 527(f) - - <sup>notice or website</sup> → put out educational material on what is expected in terms of 527(f) compliance → <sup>announce and</sup> do a notice program off the 2012 990's seems like they would not get an extension for tax due here - if true - announce

- (5) Review Disclosure rules for C4/5/6
 → is the 990 + schedule useful? Does it need modification?
 → what flexibility do we have on donor disclosure
 → what are interfacing rules from FEC
 → can we do anything administratively for improved case selection for public disclosure
 → I think we cannot - is there a credible legislative proposal that will eliminate the disclosure preference for 501(c)(4) versus 527? →
 Open to different dollar amounts or other dividing line ex - it will be 6 months of election - 527 style reporting etc.

just does this need to wait for (2)

IRSR0000506577

(5)

How to do it

Via questionnaire
~~Current~~ 1,000 questionnaires
Need to save top questionnaire utilize

- in selected # of current questionnaires
- in relevant cases underway
- in other "samples"? or all in following categories
  - anyone in 4 that said they did politics in any one of last 4 years (last political campaign?)
- utilize 990 reporting? (very late)
- utilize 1120pol reporting?

Proposed New 501(c)(3) Political Activities Study 11/24/12 /

- ① What is the point
- ② how should we do it
- ③ how do we adjust current pieces to create the greater study
  - [ Send out current questionnaires - and pull more data and work from them ]
  - [ Do a random sample of newly created houses who did not in the past 1, 2, or 3 years? or do all of them ]

Question - Do I want to include portion on 527 copying donations there vs 4/5/6

What is The point

2

Determine Impact of recent perceived increase in money flow and activity to C4<sup>s</sup> but also look at 5<sup>s</sup> and 6<sup>s</sup>

- 1 ⇒ Concentrate on following
  - 1 ⇒ Donations Modification
  - 2 ⇒ Activity Modification if any
  - 3 ⇒ Do we see rise in election cycle organizations (coming and going)
  - 4 ⇒ Any other changes in operation?
    - "lined up with party, party functioning, candidate issue specific side"

① Donations ⇒ are they up -
 what is trend
 are the type or frequency of donations changing larger from new sources? having changed?
 from indy, corporations etc
 ← 5 & 7 comparisons?

② Activity modification ⇒ is election targeted activity up? ~~is~~ in what categories
 I would do this w/ regard to code definitions of political
 I would want to know both issue ads / educational efforts AND traditional behind political activity how do we get at it? media buys, seems key to me - let them self denote what part
 "issue ads vs education then we can test"

Activity Modification

So I want to focus on increase in "election centric" activity - not whether it is "good" or "bad" cy s s activity

~~Then~~
We would need to ① determine how the taxpayer characterizes the activity (education vs Code definition of politics) ② What the total and comparative amount of such activity

③ <sup>Other</sup> Operational Changes

4

How many '4's are aligned with issue or specific party/candidate / party functionary

~~essentially~~ are the # of 4's or 6's up?

What do the new ones look like?
who are they aligned with (not R or D, <sup>little</sup> <sup>disruption</sup> <sup>specific</sup> party, issue ~~or~~ <sup>or</sup> the <sup>ing</sup> <sup>over</sup> <sup>standing</sup> <sup>or</sup> people or binding indicative of intent to ~~disrupt~~ <sup>disrupt</sup> in election activity -- which would define as any election activity whether "good" <sup>election</sup> <sup>activity</sup> (education, get out vote...) or "bad" <sup>election</sup> <sup>activity</sup> (candidate support)

12/12

①

Referrals

we have 58 a me

16.10.90

if not - we have 300 a me

can we start a mix

either way - can we design

a couple on either side

as best cases

6103 convert or Grubbe

②

Questionnaire & Study

Step one of analysis on dollars level of pol activity

level of crime rates

level of contributions to C4 total # of questions self declared

of election specific C4s

(7) Need an answer on Gift tax
we are ready in December

~~12/1~~

(8) Disclosure - can we walk somebody to go into grantbook

⇒ Parity of C9 and 527 on Disclosure

What are the administrative costs?

contributors over [50,000] would be disclosed on the website if organization spends more than 10% on the 60 in a year advertising of any kind }

Can I add up
TV
990 at # over 50k?

(5) 990 stuff - walk me through where we are and red flags - - at what is best

(6) 527(6)

2

It says no difference between corp & individuals in the area left in place report to show who financed etc.

HHONORS
HILTON WORLDWIDE

embassysuites.com 800-Embassy

Official Sponsor

1

CU - can't be independent expended. by unions/corps financing the money = free speech
at ruling eliminated any restrictions on independent expenditures by corp/unions
but left in place direct contributions

HHONORS
HILTON WORLDWIDE

embassysuites.com 800-Embassy

Official Sponsor

3 partisan 01/85 initiated Ctr. Unit but

(C)(4)
no reporting of donors quarterly value PAC's

HHONORS
HILTON WORLDWIDE

embassysuites.com 800-Embassy

Official Sponsor

3

CU paved way for Type PAC's
(ind. expenditures 527's) accepting unlimited contri'b
from all for purpose of raising ind. expenditure subjects before in ad. Rev
11 06
11 22 donors 50% of strong
12 196 " 50% "

HHONORS
HILTON WORLDWIDE

embassysuites.com 800-Embassy

Official Sponsor

Political Organizations Overview
Draft 3-13-12

① are broadly defining new political expenditure of corp / union by NP

Citizens United: held there is no limit on corporate (and other entity) spending of funds for communications that expressly advocate the election or defeat of candidates.

- Did not affect limits on contribution directly to candidates, but results in allowance of unlimited contributions for advocacy not connected to the candidate (independent expenditures).
- No explicit effect on tax rules, but increased contributions for independent expenditures could make nondisclosure of donors more attractive (501(c)(4) structure).

Section 501(c)(4) Organizations

Under statute, "operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare ..."

Regulations state that "an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community." (Originally promulgated in 1959)

- Political campaign activity allowed as long as that activity, along with all other non-exempt activity, is not primary activity
- No required disclosure of donors on annual filing
- Organizations not required to apply for exemption
- No limit on contributions to (c)(4)s
- Subject to tax under 527 (f) on lesser of (1) net investment income or (2) amount expended on political activity during the year.

Section 527 Organizations

- Political organizations organized and operated primarily to accept contributions and make expenditures for the purpose of influencing the "selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential electors."
- Includes political party committees, Federal, State and local candidate committees and other political committees such as political action committees (PACs).
- Filing – some 527s must file periodic reports with IRS showing contributions and expenditures. Filing is public (since legislative changes in 2000). (Filing exceptions apply for FEC political committees (including PACs) and some state and local organizations).
- Subject to tax on investment income or trade or business income (but not on income related to political contributions, dues, or political fundraising).
- Many 527s (including PACs) are also regulated by the FEC.

IRSR0000506586

Report Exhibits - Page 000908

- Super PACs – those limited to independent expenditures (not in connection with a candidate) are not subject to election law limits on contributions that otherwise apply to organizations that are associated with a candidate.

Deductibility of Contributions:

- 501(c)(4) –
  - Not deductible as charitable contributions
  - May be deductible as trade or business expenses if ordinary and necessary in the conduct of the taxpayer's trade or business. However, certain expenditures for lobbying and political activity are not deductible (those on connection with influencing legislation, participating in a political campaign on behalf of a candidate, attempting to influence the public with respect to elections, legislative matters or referendums, and direct communications with covered executive branch officials in an attempt to influence the person's actions)
- 527 – contributions to a 527 are not deductible

CU
tho also struck down McCawell v. BEC in part which had upheld McCain's right to bar on unrestricted soft money donations
Wisconsin Right to Life - 2007
said - 11th Cir. outside BCRA limits on electioneering communications 70/60

CU → other court subs
all unlimited pooling and unlimited donations to PACs so long as they act independent of campaign or candidate
but CU said must disclose
so both go to C. 4

4
GIC/FAA

LAW ⇒ 501(c)(3)/527 ⇒ exempted (or exempt)
501(c)(4) - 82-216 we should - other than 527, (and c2) no other

ACTION: May 2011 ABA meeting - some letters reported on for months with this, but then 10 - created a letter - we looked at them - determined to do what we should study it - close everything over July 7 ⇒ until further notice no more activity - close everything over "difficult now with spirit, legal, admin & policy" - right in time
"would be CC to determine need for further guidance" now - still looking - if we decide to do some things we will do it prospectively
[not on plan? we are still in process of understanding need - plan not yet final as well.]

Team Points

- ① The IRS has only 2 political appointments - neither in valid a framework we are gradually ramped up -
C4 Advocacy Orgs (July 2010) - and each has its own focus ② We saw an increase in # of applications and support by advocacy organizations - some of them had used the name of the Party - June 2011 also

A decision was made to group advocacy organizations - we do this as we did with credit counseling orgs when we want to have consistency in treatment in 2011 after some development letters went out and there was some press -
management took another look to ensure these cases got appropriate treatment
there are more than 300 (c)(4)s in this category at this point more than 50 have been approved as 501(c)(4) entities - the balance are still in development - none have been denied though some may ultimately be denied

we asked for donors on a large scale minority of cases -

Report Exhibits - Page 000911

Flax Nikole C

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Thursday, October 04, 2012 1:17 PM
To: Lerner Lois G; Flax Nikole C
Cc: Light Sharon P
Subject: FW: Hearing - Updated Advocacy Data

Below are the latest numbers on the advocacy cases.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bell Ronald D
Sent: Thursday, October 04, 2012 10:40 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: URGENT - Advocacy Data Needed for Steve Miller
Importance: High

Cindy,

341 cases have been bucketed. 232 of the total cases bucketed are 501(c)(4) and 109 of the total cases bucketed are 501(c)(3).

1. Number of favorable determinations sent

1a. Number of favorable c4s = 75
1b. Number of favorable c3s = 8

are a bunch not open?

2. Number of withdrawals = 21

3. Number of development letters sent (open cases) 70

Number of bucket 1 cases that are open: 7 (3 outstanding additional info letters)
Number of bucket 2 cases that are open: 32 (19 outstanding additional info letters)
Number of bucket 3 cases that are open: 92 (26 outstanding additional info letters)
Number of bucket 4 cases that are open: 58 (22 outstanding additional info letters)

NOTE: Open cases are cases in status 51 or status 52.

Let me know if you have any questions or need clarification. Thanks

Ron

-----Original Message-----

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, October 04, 2012 9:40 AM
To: Bell Ronald D
Cc: Bowling Steven F
Subject: URGENT - Advocacy Data Needed for Steve Miller
Importance: High

Please read Holly's email below. Could you send the data to me by 3:00 p.m. or earlier, if possible? Thanks.

-----Original Message-----

IRSR00000506593

Report Exhibits - Page 000912

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, October 03, 2012 4:58 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: Fw: Hearing

Steve would like updated numbers on the advocacy cases (let's use the format below we have been using). Could we possibly have by cob tomorrow? Sorry - just got the request.

-----
Sent from my BlackBerry Wireless Device

----- Original Message -----
From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, September 12, 2012 11:19 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: Hearing

Cindy,

Can we get today the latest total number of advocacy cases that have been bucketed?

If possible, would also like to get updated numbers on the categories below but the total number bucketed is more urgent.

Thanks!

holly

-----Original Message-----
From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Thursday, September 06, 2012 10:29 AM
To: Flax Nikole C; Lerner Lois G
Subject: RE: Hearing

Numbers as of last Tuesday, 8/28, are below. With long holiday weekend, I do not expect numbers have changed much since then but I will request updated numbers. Sending these now though so you have a quick sense:

1. number of favorable determinations sent
  - a. number of favorable c4s = 56
  - b. number of favorable c3s = 7
2. number of withdrawals = 17
3. number of development letters sent (open cases) = 101

Number of bucket 1 cases that are open: 15 (9 have outstanding additional info letters)

Number of bucket 2 cases that are open: 56 (38 have outstanding additional info letters)

Number of Bucket 3 cases that are open: 83 (28 have outstanding additional info letters)

Number of Bucket 4 cases that are open: 62 (26 have outstanding additional info letters)

-----Original Message-----
From: Flax Nikole C
Sent: Thursday, September 06, 2012 7:41 AM
To: Paz Holly O; Lerner Lois G
Subject: Fw: Hearing

Can you send to me? Thanks

Report Exhibits - Page 000913

----- Original Message -----
From: Miller Steven T
Sent: Thursday, September 06, 2012 05:09 AM
To: Flax Nikolai C
Subject: Hearing

Can I get updated numbers on C1 determin. Thx
-----
Sent using BlackBerry

Advocacy Organizations Guide Sheet

Many different types of exempt organizations engage in advocacy in compliance with the applicable tax laws. However, it can be challenging to distinguish between permissible and impermissible types of advocacy; analyzing cases involving these issues is extremely fact-intensive.

This guide sheet aids agents working these cases in differentiating between types of advocacy, reminds them of the advocacy rules pertaining to various categories of exempt organizations, and provides a checklist of facts to gather and indicators of various types of advocacy.

PART 1: THREE TYPES OF ADVOCACY:

This guide sheet breaks down the broad concept of advocacy into three categories: political campaign intervention, lobbying, and general advocacy. They are defined as follows.

1) Political Campaign Intervention:

An organization engages in political campaign intervention when it participates or intervenes in (including the publishing or distributing of statements), any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office. This includes attempts to influence political campaigns through both direct and indirect support of, or opposition to, a candidate.

2) Lobbying:

An organization engages in lobbying, or legislative activities, when it attempts to influence specific legislation by directly contacting members of a legislative body (federal, state, or local) or encouraging the public to contact those members, regarding that legislation. An organization also engages in lobbying when it encourages the public to take a position on a referendum. Lobbying is distinguished from political campaign intervention because lobbying does not involve attempts to influence the election of candidates for public office.

3) General Advocacy:

An organization engages in general advocacy when it attempts to (1) influence public opinion on issues germane to the organization's exempt purposes, (2) influence non-legislative governing bodies (e.g., the executive branch, regulatory agencies), or (3) encourage voter participation through get out the vote drives, voter guides, and candidate debates in a nonpartisan, neutral manner. General advocacy generally includes all other types of advocacy other than political campaign activity and lobbying.

Part 2: TYPES OF ADVOCACY ORGANIZATIONS:

The organizations that most commonly engage in advocacy are 501(c)(3), (4), (5), and (6) organizations and 527 organizations. Below are the rules governing which types of advocacy these organizations can engage in, along with a chart summarizing that information.

1) IRC 501(c)(3) organizations:

- Organizations described in 501(c)(3) are organized and operated exclusively for charitable, religious, educational, scientific, testing for public safety, literary, or educational purposes, or to foster national or international amateur sports competition, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.
- They can engage in an insubstantial amount of lobbying.
- They are absolutely prohibited from engaging in any type of political campaign intervention.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of general advocacy as long as it is educational.

2) IRC 501(c)(4) organizations:

- Social welfare organizations described in IRC 501(c)(4) are organized and operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, which involves promoting the common good and general welfare of people in the community.
- They can not be operated for profit.
- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(4) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(4) activities, cannot make up an organization's primary activities.
- They can engage in lobbying as their primary activity if their legislative activities are related to their specific exempt purposes.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of general educational advocacy as long as the activities are related to their exempt purposes.

3) IRC 501(c)(5) organizations:

- Organizations described in IRC 501(c)(5) must be organized and operated for the purpose of bettering the conditions of those engaged in labor, agricultural, or horticultural pursuits.
- They can engage in unlimited general advocacy.
- They can engage in unlimited lobbying, so long as the lobbying is conducted with regard to issues that are related to their exempt purpose.

- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(5) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(5) activities, cannot make up an organization's primary activities.

4) IRC 501(c)(6) organizations:

- Business league organizations described in 501(c)(6) are associations of persons with a common business interest and their purposes must be to promote this common interest.
- They can not conduct a regular trade or business for profit.
- They can engage in unlimited general advocacy.
- They can engage in unlimited lobbying so long as the lobbying is on issues related to their exempt purpose.
- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(6) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(6) activities, cannot make up the organization's primary activity.

5) IRC 527 organizations:

- Political organizations described in 527 are organized and operated for the primary purpose of engaging in political campaign intervention, including influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential or Vice-Presidential electors. Whether or not such individual or electors are selected, nominated, elected, or appointed.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of political campaign intervention. They can engage in lobbying, but would be taxed on that activity. They can engage in general advocacy, but would be taxed on that activity.

|                                                 | IRC 501(c)(3)   | IRC 501(c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6)                                       | IRC 527        |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Receive tax-deductible charitable contributions | YES      | NO                                                               | NO      |
| Engage in political campaign intervention       | NO       | LIMITED;Must Not Constitute Primary Activity Of Organization | YES     |
| Engage in lobbying                              | LIMITED; | YES;                                                             | LIMITED |

| (i.e. legislative activity)                                                                | Must Not Be Substantial                      | Unlimited Amount If In Furtherance of Exempt Purposes         |                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Engage in general public advocacy not related to legislation or the election of candidates | YES;Permitted As An Educational Activity | YES;Unlimited Amount If In Furtherance of Exempt Purposes | LIMITED |

Part 3: ADVOCACY INDICATORS:

Distinguishing between types of advocacy requires knowledge of all the pertinent facts and circumstances. Therefore, careful and full development of a case is often required to gather very specific facts. The following are facts about an organization's activities that can be helpful in distinguishing between different types of advocacy:

- What does the organization consider to be its exempt purpose(s)?
  - How much time is devoted to each purpose?
  - How many financial resources are devoted to each purpose?
  - In what order of importance does the organization consider its exempt purpose? From most important to least important.
- What are the sources of the organization's income?
- Does the organization engage in fundraising activities? If so, what are the specific details, including:
  - Copies of all solicitations the organization has made regarding fundraising, including fundraising that occurs in an election year and non-election year.
  - Copies of all documents related to the organization's fundraising events, including pamphlets, flyers, brochures, webpage solicitations.
  - How much of the organization's budget is spent on fundraising? Determine the source of fundraising expenses.
- How does the organization use its income? Are there detailed break-downs of these expenses?
- How many employees does the organization have? How many volunteers?
  - Are employees full-time, part-time, or seasonal? Explain.
  - If employees are part-time, when did/do they work?
  - If employees are seasonal, during what season (months) did/do they work?
- How many employees and volunteers are/were devoted to each activity of the organization throughout the year?
- How many and what sort of resources are devoted to volunteer activities?
- Does the organization conduct educational events, discussion groups or similar events? If so, what are the specific details, including:
  - Copies of all materials distributed with regards to the event.
  - When have the events taken place or plan to take place?
  - How much of the organization's resources and budget are devoted to these activities? What is the breakdown of expenses?

Report Exhibits - Page 000918

- Does the organization publish or distribute materials or conduct other communications that are prepared by or reviewed by another organization?
- Is the organization associated with any other IRC 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4) or 527 organizations? If so, describe in detail the nature of the relationship(s).
  - Does the organization work with those organization(s) regularly? Describe the nature of the contacts.
  - Do you share employees, volunteers, resources, office space, etc. with the organization(s)?
- Does the organization conduct candidate forums or other events at which candidates for public office are invited to speak? If so, what are the details, including the nature of the forums, the candidates invited to participate, the candidates that did participate, the issues discussed, the time and location of the event.
  - Are there copies of all materials distributed regarding the forum and provided at the forum, including any internet material discussing or advertising the forum?
- Have any candidates for public office spoken at a function of the organization? If so, what are the names of the candidates, the functions at which they spoke, any materials distributed or published with regard to their appearance and the event, any video or audio recordings of the event, and a transcript of any speeches given by the candidate(s)?
- Does the organization, or has it ever, conducted voter education activities, including voter registration drives, get out the vote drives, or publish or distribute voter guides? If so:
  - What is the location, date and time of the events.
  - Who on the organization's behalf has or will conduct the voter registration or get out the vote drives?
  - How many resources (funds/employees/volunteers) are devoted to the activity?
  - Are there copies of all materials published or distributed regarding the activities, including copies of any voter guides?
- Does the organization engage in business dealings with any candidate(s) for public office or an organization associated with the candidate, such as renting office space or providing access to a membership list? If so, what is the relationship in detail and are there any contracts or other agreements documenting the business relationship?
- Does the organization attempt to influence the outcome of specific legislation?
  - Are there copies of all communications, pamphlets, advertisements, and other materials distributed by the organization regarding the legislation?
  - Does the organization conduct media advertisements lobbying for or against legislation? Are there copies of any radio, television, or internet advertisements relating to the organization's lobbying activities?
  - Does the organization directly or indirectly communicate with members of legislative bodies? If so, determine the amount and nature of the communication.

Report Exhibits - Page 000919

Below are indicators used when determining whether an IRC 501(c)(3), IRC 501(c)(4), (5) or (c)(6), or IRC 527 organization is engaging in (1) political campaign intervention, (2) lobbying (legislative activities), or (3) general advocacy.

Section I: Political Campaign Intervention

The following are indicators of political campaign intervention:

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Yes | No |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | Is there a "candidate" for "public office?" This is an individual who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Offers himself, or</li> <li>• Is proposed by others</li> <li>• As a contestant for elective public office, whether national, state, or local public office.</li> </ul> An individual who has not yet announced an intent to seek election to public office may still be considered to have offered himself or herself as a candidate for office. Has the individual taken sufficient steps prior to announcing an intent to seek election, so that he or she may be considered to have offered himself or herself as a candidate for public office? Have others proposed the individual as a candidate for public office, even if the individual has announced an intention of not seeking election to the office? Some action must be taken to make one a candidate, but the action need not be taken by the candidate or require his consent. This would include statements in opposition to a candidate for office, even before that candidate has necessarily declared themselves as a contestant for office. |     |    |
| B. | Is the candidate seeking an office in which he or she must be elected, as opposed to appointed? The political campaign intervention prohibition applies only to campaigns for offices to which a candidate must be elected. Factors indicating an elective public office include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The position was created by statute</li> <li>• The position is continuous</li> <li>• The position is not contractual</li> <li>• The position is for a fixed term of office</li> <li>• The office requires an oath of office</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |     |    |
| C. | Does the organization publish and/or distribute written or printed statements, including communications made on the internet, in favor of or against a candidate for public office? This includes material prepared by the organization itself or by other organizations or individuals. Do materials distributed by the organization encourage members to vote for or against a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |     |    |
|    | Has the organization criticized or expressed support for a candidate on their website or through links to another website?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |    |
|    | Has the organization made oral statements in support of or in opposition                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |     |    |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | to a candidate for public office?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |
|    | Does the organization encourage individuals to vote for or against a particular candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |  |
|    | Organizations are not prohibited from speaking about moral, social, or economic issues during election periods. However, consider the facts and circumstances to determine whether the organization is surreptitiously intervening in a political campaign under the pretext of speaking to moral, social or economic issues by tying its message to the election in a manner that expresses a preference for a candidate or candidate.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
|    | Does the organization reference a candidate by use of "code words" or other references to identify a candidate, such as "Republican," "Democrat," "pro-life," "pro-choice," etc.?<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Are such references coupled with reasonably overt indications that the organization supports or opposes a particular candidate or candidates in an election?</li> <li>Does the communication contain a relatively clear directive, based on the facts and circumstances, that enables the recipient to understand the organization's position on a candidate or candidate?</li> </ul>                                                                                                              |  |  |
|    | Has the organization established or does it operate a political action committee (PAC)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
|    | Has the organization made contributions to a political action committee (PAC)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |
|    | Does the organization provide or solicit money or other support for a candidate or a political organization?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |  |
|    | Does the organization place signs on its property supporting or opposing a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |  |
|    | Does the organization rate candidates, even on a nonpartisan basis?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |  |
|    | Have organization leaders made comments in an official publication of the organization or at official functions of the organization indicating support for or opposition to a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |  |
|    | Does the organization conduct business dealings in a manner favoring a candidate or candidates, such as by renting facilities at different rates or providing/denying access to its membership list?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |  |
| D. | Personal Endorsements: Organization leaders may endorse or oppose a candidate in their personal capacity, and not in their official capacity. The following are indicators that the organization leader is speaking in his or her personal capacity and not in their official capacity:<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Do the organization leader's statements appear in a publication that is not an official publication of the organization?</li> <li>Is the ad or publication paid for by the individual himself or herself, and not by the organization?</li> <li>Is the organization leader's title and affiliation with the organization used for identification purposes only, and not to</li> </ul> |  |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
|    | indicate support by the organization?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |
| E. | Candidate Forums: The presentation of public forums for candidates to speak or debate is not in and of itself prohibited political campaign intervention, but may be a permissible method of educating the public (See Rev. Rul. 66-256; Rev. Rul. 74-574; Rev. Rul. 86-95). All the facts and circumstances must be considered and the presence or absence of one factor is not determinative. Consider the following factors when determining whether the forum is operated in a manner that may constitute prohibited campaign intervention or a permissible educational event: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does the organization operate the forum in a manner indicating bias or preference for one candidate or candidates over others, such as through biased questioning?</li> <li>• Has the organization indicated support for or opposition to a candidate (e.g., such as when the candidate is introduced)?</li> <li>• Does the organization invite only candidates who share the same position as the organization to participate?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide an equal opportunity for all candidates to participate?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide equal amounts of time for each candidate to answer questions and express their views?</li> <li>• Are questions prepared and presented by a nonpartisan, independent panel or moderator?</li> <li>• Does the moderator comment on questions or otherwise make comments that imply approval or disapproval of a candidate?</li> <li>• Does the organization make statements that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization, and/or that the organization does not endorse any candidate or viewpoint?</li> <li>• Do the topics discussed cover a broad range of issues that are of interest to the public?</li> <li>• Are the candidates asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization, indicating prohibited campaign intervention?</li> </ul> |  |
| F. | Candidate Appearances: Has a candidate spoken at an official function of the organization in his or her personal capacity or capacity as a political candidate? Depending on the facts and circumstances an organization may invite political candidates to speak at its events without jeopardizing its tax-exempt status (See Rev. Rul. 2007-41). When determining if prohibited political campaign intervention occurred, consider the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Was the candidate invited to speak at the organization's event in his or her capacity as a political candidate?</li> <li>• Did the organization provide an equal opportunity to participate to political candidates seeking the same office? (Consider the nature of the event, such as if the organization invites one</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
|----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
|    | candidate to speak at a well attended event but invites an opposing candidate to speak at a sparsely attended event. This could constitute prohibited campaign intervention even if the manner of presentation for both speakers is otherwise neutral.) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Did the organization indicate support for or opposition to the candidate (including during candidate introductions, communications concerning the candidate's attendance, including any materials distributed during the event)?</li> <li>• Did any political fundraising occur?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
| G. | Did the candidate appear or speak at an organization event in a non-candidate capacity? (See Rev. Rul. 2007-41) The candidate's presence at a public event, such as a lecture, concert, or worship service does not by itself indicate the organization is engaged in prohibited political campaign intervention. The following factors should be considered when determining if prohibited political intervention occurred: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Is the candidate publicly recognized by the organization or a representative of the organization during the event as a candidate for public office?</li> <li>• Did the organization clearly indicate the capacity in which the candidate is appearing and does not mention the individual's political candidacy or the upcoming election in any communications announcing the candidate's attendance at the event?</li> <li>• Is the individual chosen to speak solely for reasons other than his or her candidacy, such as their status as a public figure aside from being a political candidate, the individual currently holds or previously held a public office, is considered an expert in a non-political field, is a celebrity, or has served a distinguished military, legal or public service career.</li> </ul> Has any campaign activity occurred in connection with the candidate's attendance? |  |
| H. | Voter Guides: Certain "voter education" activities conducted in a non-partisan manner may not constitute prohibited political campaign activity, but may be permissible educational activity. The following are indicators that a voter guide constitutes prohibited political campaign activity, and not permissible educational activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are incumbents identified as candidates for re-election?</li> <li>• Are incumbents' positions compared to the positions of other candidates or the organization's position in a biased manner?</li> <li>• Is the voting guide distributed close in time to an election?</li> <li>• Is the voting guide primarily concerned with a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization (e.g. such as land conservation or abortion) as opposed to reporting on all legislation voted on by the candidates or of importance to the electorate?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |  |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the voting guide widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign as opposed to the organization's membership?</li> <li>Does the voting guide include only the voting records of candidates for office?</li> <li>Does the voting guide include the voting records of candidates in a partisan manner, such as by ranking them according to whether their vote aligns with the organization's position on the issue?</li> <li>Does the voting guide contain editorial comments by the organization?</li> <li>Does the voting guide contain express or implied approval or disapproval of a candidate's voting record?</li> </ul>                                                          |  |  |
| I. | Candidate Questionnaires Depending on the facts and circumstances a candidate questionnaire published by an organization may constitute permissible educational activity as opposed to prohibited political campaign intervention. The following are indicators that the organization's questionnaires constitute prohibited campaign intervention: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Does the candidate questionnaire contain editorial comments by the organization?</li> <li>Does the candidate questionnaire include only issues of importance to the organization itself and not to the general public?</li> <li>Does the questionnaire contain express or implied approval or disapproval of candidate responses?</li> </ul> |  |  |

Section III: Lobbying

The following factors are indicative of lobbying (i.e. legislative activities):

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Yes | No |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | Is the organization attempting to influence legislation or a legislative proposal? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Legislation includes acts, bills, resolutions, referendums, initiatives, legislative confirmation of an appointive office, constitutional amendments by Congress, state legislatures, local councils or similar governing bodies or by the public in a referendum, initiative, constitutional amendment or similar procedure.</li> <li>Lobbying does not include attempts to influence (1) regulations or (2) administrative matters.</li> </ul> |     |    |
| B. | Is there "action" being taken with reference to the legislation? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Action includes introduction, amendment, enactment, defeat, or repeal by legislative bodies or the public.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |     |    |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| C. | Does the organization engage in "direct lobbying?" <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the organization trying to influence legislation by directly contacting members or employees of a legislative body?</li> <li>Does the organization communicate with government officials or employees who can affect legislation?</li> <li>Do the communications refer to specific legislation?</li> <li>Do the communications reflect the organization's specific views on legislation?</li> <li>Does the organization advocate a position on a specific act, bill, or resolution?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| D. | Does the organization engage in "indirect" or "grassroots" lobbying: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Does the organization attempt to influence legislation by influencing the public's opinion on specific legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication refer to specific legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication reflect a view or position on the legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication to the public include a call to action" such as providing the address for the legislature, using a petition or tear-off postcard to communicate with the legislature or specifically identifying a legislator who will be voting on the proposed legislation and his or her position on it, or encouraging the public to contact members of a legislative body for purposes of supporting, opposing or proposing legislation?</li> </ul> |  |

Section III: General Advocacy

The following are indicators of general advocacy:

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Yes | No |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the organization attempting to influence public opinion on issues, rather than attempting to influence the election of candidates for public office or specific legislation?</li> <li>Is the organization attempting to influence non-legislative governing bodies (e.g., the executive branch, regulators)?</li> <li>Is the organization engaging in nonpartisan, neutral voter educational activities? These may include get out the vote drives, encouraging voter registration, encouraging voter participation, candidate debates and forums, and the distribution of voter guides if conducted in a nonpartisan and neutral manner. (Refer to the subheads above for criteria when considering whether these voter education activities are conducted in a nonpartisan manner.)</li> </ul> |     |    |
| B. | Does the organization engage in "educational" activities? (See Rev. Proc. 88-43). The term "educational" relates to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The instruction or training of an individual for the purpose of</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |     |    |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | improving or developing his capabilities, or <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The instruction of the public on subjects useful to the individual and beneficial to the community.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |  |
|    | Is the organization advocating a particular position or viewpoint? If "Yes" to the following, the activity may qualify as permissible educational activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does the organization present a sufficiently full and fair exposition of the pertinent facts that aid the listener or reader in the learning process?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide a factual background for the viewpoint or position being advocated?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |  |
| C. | The organization's presentations should avoid the following factors in order to be considered educational: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Do the organization's presentations avoid expressing conclusions more on the basis of strong emotional feelings than of objective evaluations?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid presenting viewpoints or positions unsupported by facts and this is a significant portion of the organization's communications?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid presenting facts purporting to support its viewpoints or positions in a distorted manner?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid making substantial use of inflammatory and/or disparaging terms?</li> </ul> |  |  |

every org did not get every question

The questions that appear in regular text are standard template questions that need to be asked of every organization. The questions in italics highlighted in yellow are supplemental questions that may be asked in this letter or subsequent letter depending on the facts and circumstances.

Note: If the answer to a template question is in the case file, then do not ask the question.

1) Please provide the following information for your board of directors and officers:

- a) Provide all copies of your minutes from inception to the present.
- b) Provide the titles, duties, work hours, and compensation amounts of your board members and officers. If they only work for a certain time yearly, bi-yearly, or quad-yearly, please provide the periods they had (have) worked and will work. Please identify your volunteers.
- c) If you have a board member or officer who has run or will run for a public office in the near future, please describe fully. If none, please confirm by answering "None" to this question.

~~a) Describe the qualifications of your board of directors and officers. Your response may include resumes.~~

2) Describe your donation, contribution, and grant expenses for each year of existence and near future years which includes the information below. If no such activity, please confirm by answering this question "None to be provided."

- a) The names of the donees, recipients, and grantees. If the donee, recipient, or grantee has run or will run for a public office, identify the office. If not, please confirm by answering this question "No."
- b) The amount of each of the donations, contributions, and grants and the dates you donated, contributed, or granted them.
- c) State how your donations, contributions, and grants fulfill your exempt purpose.

3) Provide the following for your fundraising activities:

- a) Copies of all solicitations including pamphlets, flyers and brochures your organization has made regarding fundraising.
- b) State your fundraising expenses and income for each year of existence and near future years.
- c) Please indicate the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

- 4) Provide the following information for all the events and programs (which may include meetings, forums, rallies, etc.) you have conducted and participated in from your inception to now (other than the events and programs that are questioned below separately). Please answer the following for each event:
  - a) The time, location, and detailed description of each event or program.
  - b) What was the purpose of each event or program?
  - c) Who was invited to speak at the event and why were they invited? Of the invitees, who actually spoke at the event?
  - d) Provide copies of handouts you provided to the audience, participants, and the public.
  - e) Provide a copy of the transcript for each speaker (you may provide in written form or electronic media format).
  - f) Indicate the percentage of time and resources you spent on all the events and programs in relation to 100% of all your activities.
  - g) Will your near future events and programs remain similar to those you have been conducting recently? If not, explain the changes in your events and programs for the near future in terms of content, time, and resources.
- 5) Provide the following for your publishing activities including books, CD's, DVD's, newsletters, literature, flyers, brochures, pamphlets, voter guides, and class handouts from your inception to now:
  - a) Copies of all the publications and/or advertising materials that you have distributed.
  - b) Expense amounts incurred for your publishing activities from your inception to now.
  - c) If you are distributing materials prepared by another organization or person, please identify.
  - d) Indicate the percentage of time and resources you spend on these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.
  - e) Will your near future publishing activities remain similar to those you have been conducting recently? If not, explain the changes in your publishing activities for the near future in terms of content, time, and resources.
- 6) Enclosed is a copy of information we downloaded from your website. Because we have provided a copy of this information to you, it is available for public inspection as part of your exemption application. If you have any questions regarding this information, please let us know.
- 7) Have you attempted or will you attempt to influence the outcome of specific legislation? If so, provide the following:
  - a) Provide a list of the legislation and how you influenced the legislation.

IRSR0000506609

- b) Provide copies of all communications, pamphlets, advertisements, and other materials distributed by your organization regarding the legislation.
- c) Provide copies of any radio, television, or internet advertisements relating to your lobbying activities.
- d) Please indicate the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

If not, please confirm by answering "No" to this question.

- 8) Have you or will you directly or indirectly communicate with members of legislative bodies? If so, provide copies of the written communications and the content of other forms of communications. Please include the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

If not, please confirm by answering "No" to this question.

- 9) Have you or will you directly or indirectly participate(d) or intervene(d) in any political campaign on behalf of (or opposition to) any candidate for public office including attempts to influence political campaigns through both direct and indirect support of, or opposition to, a candidate. If so, provide the following details for each of your political campaigns and interventions:

- a) Please describe the nature of the political campaign or intervention in detail which may include candidate ratings or endorsements. Provide your endorsement criteria in your description.
- b) Names and party affiliations of the candidates you support or oppose.
- c) Date and time of the political campaign or intervention.
- d) Copies of all handouts, media advertisements, pages of internet advertisements and other means (to be) provided and distributed for the political campaign or intervention. Please provide your copies in tangible format such as CDs, DVDs, tapes, and paper. Please do not substitute them with web links.
- e) If you provided or will provide funds to the candidates or the organizations that support them, provide the name of the recipient, the amount and time of the donation, and the source of the funds. Please provide this information for each of your donations.
- f) Indicate the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

If not, please confirm by answering "No" to this question.

- 10) Are you associated with any candidates for public office or any other entities such as IRC 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4) or 527 organizations? If so, provide the following:

IRSR0000506610

Report Exhibits - Page 000929

4

- a) Provide the name, employer identification number, and address of the organization(s).
- b) Describe in detail the nature of the relationship(s).
- c) Do you work with those organization(s) regularly? Describe the nature of the contacts.
- d) List shared employees, volunteers, resources, office space, etc. with the organization(s).
- e) Please indicate the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

If not, please confirm by answering "No" to this question.

Has your organization ever been involved in any of the following activities?
If yes, please provide the details of the activities and the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

1. Has your organization ever been involved in any of the following activities?

2. If yes, please provide the details of the activities and the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

3. Has your organization ever been involved in any of the following activities?

4. If yes, please provide the details of the activities and the percentage of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

5. Please identify any of your communications created and financed by your organization and each of those communications include the following information:

a) Provide a copy of the communication or a transcript of the broadcast communication.

b) Provide the date when the communication was first disseminated to the public, the period of time it was made available to the public, and the frequency the communication was printed or broadcast during that period.

c) Was there the geographic area where the communication was disseminated to the public.

d) State whether the communication was part of an ongoing series of substantially similar advocacy communications by your organization on the same issue. If so, identify the other communications in the series with the dates those communications were first disseminated to the public.

e) State whether the communication identifies specific legislation or a specific event outside your organization's control that your organization hopes to influence.

IRSR0000506611

13. Describe any considerations that influenced the timing of the communication and whether those considerations were subject to events outside the control of your consideration.

14. State the total expenses used to prepare and disseminate the communication.

15. Will you, or have you conducted, voter education activities, including voter registration drives, get out to vote drives, or publishing or distribute voter guides (in the near future)? If so, provide the following:

a) What is, or will be, the location, date and time of the events?

b) Who are the organizations that have agreed to help you conduct the voter registration or get out to vote drives?

c) Provide copies of all materials published or distributed regarding the activities, including copies of any voter guides.

d) Please include the total amount of time and resources you have spent or will spend conducting these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

16. Provide the following details of your research and survey activities including research on the public's political beliefs and values, the public's choice of political candidates, and exit poll surveys. Provide all data from your inception to now:

a) The descriptions of your research and surveys.

b) Copies of your research and survey results.

c) The details on your research and survey results. If possible, please include all distributions.

d) Expense amounts incurred for your research and survey related activities from your inception to now.

e) Indicate the percentage of time and resources you spend on these activities in relation to 100% of all your activities.

f) Will your near future research and survey activities remain similar to those you have been conducting recently? If not, explain the changes in your research and survey activities for the near future in terms of content, time and resources.

17. Are you a membership organization? If so, provide the following for your membership:

a) How many members do you have currently?

b) What does your membership consist of? Are they mostly individuals? What is the percentage of the organizational members as they are part of the whole membership?

- c) Provide the membership application/registration form.
d) Provide the membership program and rules that governs members.
e) Provide the membership fees and dues.
f) What are the membership renewal reminders?
g) What services and benefits do you provide, especially for members only?
h) What are the rules and policies for volunteers?
i) Describe your organization's employees, paid consultants, and any volunteers in further detail.

[REDACTED] - if part

16) How many paid consultants was your organization hired? Describe the dates which they were hired and the activities on which the consultants worked.

17) Has your organization used volunteers? If so, describe the number of volunteers used, the dates for which they were used, and the activities on which the volunteers worked.

17) Please provide updated financial data for pages 6 of Form 4024 on [REDACTED] enclosed.

18) Upon review of the organization's website at [REDACTED], I saw that a section of the website is accessible to members only. I am unable to determine the understanding of the organization's activities through access to the website. Please provide a temporary login and password.

C 4/6 Questionnaire Done

- I would ask when did you ~~start~~ <sup>begin</sup> in us?
- 1 when did you start operating
  - 2 when did you first have employees
  - 3 sources of income | include 1041 for
  - 4 sources of expenses | Form 990
  - 5 Dive into UBIT
  - 6 Dive into compensation (prob ok)
  - 7 Put Hobbying - other non exempt | have their activities at their proportion | fill out 990 schedule J above income/expense
  - 8 Any other description of activities or what they may need to tell us

⑨ website

⑩ related org of

Look at F and 990 and pull pieces for this

How do you describe how much of something - see my notes page 4

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                             |  |                      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|----------------------|
| Form #(Date)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceCompliance QuestionnaireIRC 501(c)(4), (5) and (6) Organizations |  | OMB No.              |
| This questionnaire asks for information about your organization and its operations. Answer the questions based on your organization's 20XX tax year. Please do not submit any books or records.                                                           |                                                                                                                                             |  |                      |
| ORGANIZATION INFORMATION                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                             |  |                      |
| Name of Your Organization (Enter the complete name)                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                             |  | EIN                  |
| Full Name and Title of Contact Person                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                             |  | Contact Phone Number |
| 1. An organization claiming exemption under sections 501(c)(4), (5), or (6) is not required to file an application (Form 1024) to be tax exempt. Briefly describe the reason(s) your organization chose not to apply for recognition of exemption. |                                                                                                                                             |  |                      |
| 2. When did your organization begin claiming exemption? (Use MM/YYYY format)                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                             |  |                      |

IRSR0000506615

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 3. Did your organization receive outside professional advice regarding its qualification for exemption? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No If so, was the advice from an: <input type="checkbox"/> Accountant <input type="checkbox"/> Attorney <input type="checkbox"/> Enrolled preparer <input type="checkbox"/> Other - Briefly Describe: _____ | 4. Is your organization claiming tax exemption as described in section 501(c)(1)? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No If yes, check the box that best describes your organization: <input type="checkbox"/> Select One <input type="checkbox"/> Ballot Measure Committee <input type="checkbox"/> Cultural Organization <input type="checkbox"/> Economic Development <input type="checkbox"/> Educational Organization <input type="checkbox"/> Financial or Credit Counseling/Debt Management <input type="checkbox"/> Healthcare Organization <input type="checkbox"/> Homeowners Association <input type="checkbox"/> Local Association of Employees <input type="checkbox"/> Local Association of Realtors/Relief Association <input type="checkbox"/> Police or Firefighters' Relief Association <input type="checkbox"/> Recreation Facility/Activities <input type="checkbox"/> Religious Organization <input type="checkbox"/> Veteran's Organization <input type="checkbox"/> Other Social Welfare Organization Briefly Describe: _____ If yes, skip to question 7. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 5. Is your organization claiming tax exemption as described in section 501(c)(5)? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No If yes, check the box that best describes your organization. Select One Only <input type="checkbox"/> Agricultural <input type="checkbox"/> Horticultural <input type="checkbox"/> Labor <input type="checkbox"/> Other - Briefly Describe: _____ | 6. Is your organization claiming tax exemption as described in section 501(c)(6)? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No If yes, check the box that best describes your organization. Select One Only <input type="checkbox"/> Business League/Trade Association/Professional Association <input type="checkbox"/> Chamber of Commerce <input type="checkbox"/> Real Estate Board <input type="checkbox"/> Board of Trade <input type="checkbox"/> Professional Sports League <input type="checkbox"/> Other - Briefly Describe: _____ |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

IRSR0000506617

Form # (Date)

Page 4

Catalog Number #

Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service

7. Enter the percentage of time your organization dedicates to each of the following activities. If your organization does not conduct a particular activity, enter "0" for the percentage of time.

Attempting to influence legislation _____ %

Conducting Trade Shows _____ %

Engaging in collective bargaining on behalf of members _____ %

Conduct any gaming activities such as pull-tabs, bingo, raffles, etc. _____ %

Promoting a single product brand, manufacturer, or technology _____ %

Providing or maintaining community property _____ %

Providing and maintaining facilities available only to members (or guests of members) _____ %

Providing security, lawn or maintenance services for members _____ %

Providing other services to your members _____ %

Publishing (in print or online) a magazine, professional journal, newsmagazine or membership directory _____ %

Publishing (either as part of another publication or separately) a catalog of your members' products or services _____ %

Sale of advertising _____ %

Supporting or opposing candidates for public office _____ %

[Handwritten signature: M. J. ...]

IRSR0000506618

8. Does your organization conduct any activities not described in question 7?

☐ Yes ☐ No

If yes, list each of those activities in order of percentage of time starting with the most time devoted. Indicate the activity and the percentage of time devoted to the activity during the year.

| Activity | Percentage of Time |
|----------|--------------------|
| 1        |                    |
| 2        |                    |
| 3        |                    |
| 4        |                    |
| 5        |                    |
| 6        |                    |

8a. In the space below provide a detailed description of the activities listed above, their purposes and how each on furthers your organization's exempt purpose.

9. Did your organization conduct any of the following activities during the year?

☐ Yes ☐ No

If no, do NOT complete the remainder of the questionnaire. Refer to the instructions for returning the questionnaire.

10. Was the compensation for the officers, directors, trustees, and key employees approved by the Board of Directors or other authorized governing body?

☐ Yes ☐ No

Handwritten note: This is not to be submitted

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 11. | Did the individual officers, directors, trustees, and key employees recuse themselves from discussions on their own compensation or otherwise not participate in the discussions?<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No                                                                                                                                                        |
| 12. | Did the individual officers, directors, trustees, and key employees recuse themselves from voting on their own compensation or otherwise not participate in the voting?<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 13. | Did your organization hire an outside compensation consultant to help determine the compensation of any of the officers, directors, trustees, or key employees?<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 14. | Did your organization use comparable compensation data to determine the compensation of any of the officers, directors, trustees, or key employees?<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> NoIf no, describe briefly how compensation was determined.If no, do NOT complete the remainder of the questionnaire. Refer to the instructions for returning the questionnaire. |
| 15. | Was the person's compensation based on a percentile from comparable compensation data?<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> NoWhat percentile from the comparable compensation data was used to determine the person's compensation? ____Explain why that percentile was appropriate: _____                                                                              |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 16. Select the sources used, including those used by outside compensation consultants retained by your organization, to obtain comparability data for compensation of the officers, directors, trustees, or key employees. Check all that apply. <input type="checkbox"/> Published surveys of compensation at similar organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Internet research on compensation at similar organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Phone surveys of compensation at similar organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Written offers of employment from similar organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Forms 990 filed by similar organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Other _____ | 17. Select the factors that were included in the comparability data and used by your organization, or any outside compensation consultants retained by your organization. Check all that apply. <input type="checkbox"/> Compensation levels paid by similar tax-exempt organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Compensation levels paid by taxable organizations <input type="checkbox"/> Level of person's education and experience <input type="checkbox"/> Specific responsibilities of position <input type="checkbox"/> Previous salary or compensation package <input type="checkbox"/> Similar services in the same geographic or metropolitan area <input type="checkbox"/> Similar number of employees <input type="checkbox"/> Similar number of individuals served <input type="checkbox"/> Annual budget and/or gross revenue/assets <input type="checkbox"/> Other _____ |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

Privacy Act and Paperwork Reduction Act Notice: We are asking you to provide information on this form to carry out the Internal Revenue laws of the United States. We need it to ensure that we are complying with these laws.

The IRS may not conduct or sponsor, and you are not required to provide the information requested on a form that is subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act unless the form displays a valid OMB control number. Books or records relating to a collection of information must be retained as long as their contents may be needed in the administration of any Internal Revenue law. Generally, tax returns and tax return information are confidential, as required by 26 U.S.C. 6103.

IRSR0000506621

Redacted By
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

IRSR0000506622

| ROO Project Code & Description                                                                        | Subsection | 501(c) all other subsections | Total      | Start Date(blue font denotes estimated date) | Closing Date(blue font denotes estimated date) | Number of Cases ROO Completed |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|------------------------------|------------|--------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1) PC 8413 - Political Activities - Part IV, Q3 = Yes and Schedule C Filed                            | 98         | 81                           | 179        | 2/23/2012                                        | 8/15/2012                                          | 179                           |
| 2) PC 8419 - Political Activities - Schedule C, line 2 > 0 & Form 990 Part IV, Q3 = No                | 139        |                              | 139        | 8/23/2012                                        | 11/15/2012                                         | 81                            |
| 3) PC 8159 - Organizations not reporting political campaign activity on Form 990, but filing 1120-POL |            | 8                            | 122        | 11/30/2012                                       | 1/31/2013                                          |                               |
| 4) PC 8416 - Newly established or established around election cycles with high % of contributions     | 0          | 99                           | 99         | 2/1/2013                                         | 2/28/2013                                          |                               |
| 5) PC 8420 - IRC 501(c)(4)(5)(6), Schedule C-Q, No 1120-POL filed                                     |            | 100                          | 100        | 3/1/2013                                         | 4/15/2013                                          |                               |
| 6) PC 8415 - Political Orgs ceasing operation with a cd established at same address within one year   | 0          | 65                           | 65         | 4/15/2013                                        | 5/15/2013                                          |                               |
| 7) PC 8414 - Payments to Public Officials                                                             | 237        |                              | 237        | 5/15/2013                                        | 8/31/2013                                          |                               |
| TOTAL                                                                                          | 179 | 244                   | 423 |                                                  |                                                    | 260                    |

* This is based upon 2009 R/Cs data, which will be updated for 2010 when the start date of the segment approaches.

IRSR0000506623

Noted by D. Grant to other of 07/21/13
of 07/21/13

(2) [Signature]
[Signature]
[Signature]

Working draft - for discussion only 8-10
11-12
13-14
15-16
17-18
19-20
21-22
23-24
25-26
27-28
29-30
31-32
33-34
35-36
37-38
39-40
41-42
43-44
45-46
47-48
49-50
51-52
53-54
55-56
57-58
59-60
61-62
63-64
65-66
67-68
69-70
71-72
73-74
75-76
77-78
79-80
81-82
83-84
85-86
87-88
89-90
91-92
93-94
95-96
97-98
99-100

(1) Are IRS & SEC close in characteristics - consistent not necessary

of 07/21/13
of 07/21/13

IRSR0000507010

Updated Baseline Analysis of 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities

May 7, 2013

PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN TEIGE AND OCA

(3) 17-50 IRS

50-108 FIC

(4) make # of orgs large increase in number

(5) not made up of orgs
done 07/21/13

Official Use Only - Sensitive But Unclassified

This presentation examines the trends in 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Political Campaign Activities from TY2008 – TY2011

Preliminary draft – for discussion

Agenda

- Background
- Executive summary
- Updated preliminary findings
- Next steps
- Appendix
  - Tax year definition
  - Initial focus on 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Political Campaign Activities and > $10M in revenue
  - Instructions for Schedule C Political Campaign and Lobbying Activities (Extract)
  - Detailed charts showing Political Campaign Activities expenses for TY2009 & TY2011
  - Number of 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Political Campaign Activities, both greater than and less than $10M in total revenue
  - Data Constraints

IRSR0000507011

Preliminary draft – for discussion

Background

Background

- Since Citizens United (2010) removed the prohibition on political spending by corporations and unions, concern has arisen in the public sphere and on Capitol Hill about the potential misuse of 501(c)(4)s for political campaign activities.

Question

- Have 501(c)(4) organizations become increasingly involved in Political Campaign Activities (PCA) since 2010?

Potential Analytic Indicators

- Is the number of 501(c)(4)s with political campaign activity increasing?
- Is the amount of political expenditures by 501(c)(4)s increasing?
- Is the number of 501(c)(4)s engaging in political campaign activities and then ceasing activity after an election increasing?

Notes for subsequent slides:

- Political Campaign Activities (PCA) for Form 990 Filers are reported to the IRS on Schedule C, Parts 1-A, 1-C and IV.
- Not all Form 990s for TY2011 have been received by the IRS; TY2012 filing is largely incomplete and therefore not included
- Trends span both election years and non-election years; trends also span a significant redesign in Form 990 incl. changes in filing thresholds.

- Has there been an increase in the number of 501(c)(4) organizations engaging in Political Campaign Activities?

501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with PCA

- The number of 501(c)(4)s reporting PCA almost doubled from TY2008 – TY2010**

Executive Summary

- Has there been an increase in Political Campaign Activities expenditures – either directly or as grants to other organizations?

PCA expenditures for large 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers

- The amount of PCA for large filers almost tripled from TY2008 – TY2010

Preliminary draft – for discussion

- Has there been an increase in "one year" 501(c)(4) organizations who are engaged in Political Campaign Activities?

"One year" 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with PCA

- There is a very limited population of "one year" filers with PCA between TY2008 – TY2011

Reminder:

- Political Campaign Activities (PCA) for Form 990 Filers are reported to the IRS on Schedule C, Parts 1-A, 1-C and IV.
- Not all Form 990s for TY2011 have been received by the IRS. TY2012 filing is largely incomplete and therefore not included.
- **Trends span both election years and non-election years. Trends also span a significant redesign in Form 990 incl. changes in filing thresholds.

Preliminary draft - for discussion

Filers with Political Campaign Activities increased from 107 in TY2008 to 196 in TY2010; this outpaces the increase in overall 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990; <sup>1</sup> Wikipedia

For filers with Political Campaign Activities, those with over $10M in revenue represent 95%<sup>1</sup> of total expenses (by filers with PCA) and present a small universe to explore

501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities
(Total Revenue > $10M)

■ 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with PCA within a Given Year and Total Revenue > $10M

| 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with total revenue > $10M |       |       |       |       |
|------------------------------------------------------|-------|-------|-------|-------|
| Large filers with PCA                                | 11    | 11    | 22    | 17    |
| Large filers without PCA                             | 274   | 269   | 258   | 221   |
| Total large filers                                   | 285   | 280   | 280   | 238   |
| Percentage with PCA                                  | 3.86% | 3.93% | 7.86% | 7.14% |

Citizens United
January 2010

ACA Reconciliation?
Oct 2009 -
June 2010

Preliminary draft - for discussion

<sup>1</sup> See appendix for further details
Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990, <sup>2</sup> Wikipedia

In federal election years, there is substantial "churn" in large<sup>1</sup> filers with Political Campaign Activities

Preliminary draft - for discussion

Large 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Political Campaign Activities
(Total Revenue > $10M) 22

Filers newly reporting Political Campaign Activities are Underlined
Filers that are newly > $10M in revenue (but have reported Political Campaign Activities previously) have an asterisk*

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990
1. Large filers are 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with > $10M in revenue.

IRSR0000507016

██████████ In the last 4 tax years, 26 (out of 299 total unique) 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Political Campaign Activities filed only once with the IRS during that period

501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers w/ Political Campaign Activities who File Form 990 One Time between TY2008 – TY2011

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System(RICS), Form 990, GuideStar (incorporation dates)

The definition of reportable spending is different for the IRS and FEC; our preliminary analysis shows the amounts reported to each IRS Form 990 Data Compared to FEC Data (TY 2010)

Preliminary draft -- for discussion

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System(RICS), Form 990, FEC Electioneering Communication & Independent Expenditures Reports. We continue to review the FEC data to ensure we have accurately distinguished in the FEC data between 501(c)(4)s and related organizations.

6103

Preliminary draft - for discussion

The definition of reportable spending is different for the IRS and FEC; our preliminary analysis shows 1 instance where there may have been different reporting outcomes

Amounts reported to the FEC by large<sup>1</sup> 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with no Schedule C in TY2010

| IRS Data | 2010 | 2010 | 2012 |
|----------|------|------|------|
| 6103     |      |      |      |

*We are verifying that the organization above is a 501(c)(4) and not a related organization with a different status. Also: Could be a 527

A more robust analysis of the reporting requirements and specific circumstances of each organization would be required to assess what may have contributed to the different reporting to the IRS and FEC.

Nov 10 pri [Signature]

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System(RICS), Form 990; FEC Electioneering Communication & Independent Expenditures Reports.<sup>1</sup>
Large filers have >$10M in rev.

Preliminary draft - for discussion

While Form 990 for TY2012 is not yet due for many filers, large<sup>1</sup> 501(c)(4)s with Political Campaign Activities expenditures in TY2010 reported a large increase in spending to the FEC between 2010 and 2012
Reported Expenditures to FEC 2010 and 2012

| 2010 (non-presidential election year) | 2012 (presidential election year) |
|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| [REDACTED]                            |                                   |

Source: FEC Electronic Communication & Independent Expenditures Reports. <sup>1</sup> Large filers are 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with >$10M in revenue. We continue to review the FEC data to ensure we have accurately distinguished in the FEC data between 501(c)(4)s and related organizations.

What do you see as potential next steps?

Potential Next Steps

- Compare preliminary analysis with results of survey

Preliminary draft – for discussion

IRSR0000507021

Appendix

Preliminary draft – for discussion

Using December of the previous year through November of the current year ensures that all the same form types are included

Definition of Tax Year

- Using January to December Calendar year will present problems because different tax year forms will be mixed in this time period. For example, here is a 2012 calendar year definition

| Tax Period     | Accounting End Period | Accounting Beginning Period | Required Tax Form to File |
|----------------|-----------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------------|
| January 2012   | January 2012          | February 2011               | Form 990                  |
| February 2012  | February 2012         | March 2011                  | Form 990                  |
| March 2012     | March 2012            | April 2011                  | Form 990                  |
| April 2012     | April 2012            | May 2011                    | Form 990                  |
| May 2012       | May 2012              | June 2011                   | Form 990                  |
| June 2012      | June 2012             | July 2011                   | Form 990                  |
| July 2012      | July 2012             | August 2011                 | Form 990                  |
| August 2012    | August 2012           | September 2011              | Form 990                  |
| September 2012 | September 2012        | October 2011                | Form 990                  |
| October 2012   | October 2012          | November 2011               | Form 990                  |
| November 2012  | November 2012         | December 2011               | Form 990                  |
| December 2012  | December 2012         | January 2012                | Form 990                  |

- A better approach is to use December of previous year through November of the current year. This will ensure all the same form type are included. For example, here is a 2012 definition

| Tax Period     | Accounting End Period | Accounting Beginning Period | Required Tax Form to File |
|----------------|-----------------------|-----------------------------|---------------------------|
| December 2011  | December 2011         | January 2011                | Form 990                  |
| January 2012   | January 2012          | February 2011               | Form 990                  |
| February 2012  | February 2012         | March 2011                  | Form 990                  |
| March 2012     | March 2012            | April 2011                  | Form 990                  |
| April 2012     | April 2012            | May 2011                    | Form 990                  |
| May 2012       | May 2012              | June 2011                   | Form 990                  |
| June 2012      | June 2012             | July 2011                   | Form 990                  |
| July 2012      | July 2012             | August 2011                 | Form 990                  |
| August 2012    | August 2012           | September 2011              | Form 990                  |
| September 2012 | September 2012        | October 2011                | Form 990                  |
| October 2012   | October 2012          | November 2011               | Form 990                  |
| November 2012  | November 2012         | December 2011               | Form 990                  |

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS) Form 990

Preliminary draft - for discussion

We selected an initial threshold >$10M in revenue for focused review because 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities and >$10M in revenue represent 95% or more of total expenses (by filers with PCA)

Concentration of Expenses, 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities, TY2008-2011

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990

We use $10M in total revenue as a dividing line between large and small entities with Political Campaign Activities spending Revenue of Largest 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities (values in Thousands)

Preliminary draft - for discussion

| 2008            | 2009            | 2010            | 2011            | 2012            |
|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| $1,144,392 (4) | $1,100,404 (3) | $1,167,927 (4) | $1,370,068 (3) | $1,370,068 (3) |
| $969,343 (3)   | $1,093,253 (3) | $1,187,027 (3) | $1,187,027 (3) | $1,187,027 (3) |
| $898,122 (3)   | $975,574 (3)   | $1,103,337 (3) | $1,103,337 (3) | $1,103,337 (3) |
| $491,924 (3)   | $134,668 (4)   | $103,337 (3)   | $964,478 (5)   | $950,618 (3)   |
| $398,644 (3)   | $421,254 (3)   | $71,901 (3)    | $187,430 (6)   | $5,462,216 (6) |
| $38,392 (6)    | $71,901 (3)    | $187,430 (6)   | $187,430 (6)   | $187,430 (6)   |
| $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    |
| $34,301 (3)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    |
| $32,271 (3)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    | $18,164 (2)    |
| $11,294 (10)   | $11,294 (10)   | $11,294 (10)   | $11,294 (10)   | $11,294 (10)   |
| $10,718 (13)   | $10,718 (13)   | $10,718 (13)   | $10,718 (13)   | $10,718 (13)   |
| $9,599 (12)    | $9,599 (12)    | $9,599 (12)    | $9,599 (12)    | $9,599 (12)    |
| $9,560 (13)    | $9,560 (13)    | $9,560 (13)    | $9,560 (13)    | $9,560 (13)    |
| $9,251 (14)    | $8,200 (14)    | $8,200 (14)    | $8,200 (14)    | $8,200 (14)    |
| $8,855 (15)    | $8,153 (15)    | $8,153 (15)    | $8,153 (15)    | $8,153 (15)    |
| $8,549 (16)    | $7,373 (16)    | $7,373 (16)    | $7,373 (16)    | $7,373 (16)    |
| $7,940 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    |
| $7,808 (18)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    | $7,109 (17)    |
| $7,734 (19)    | $6,083 (19)    | $6,083 (19)    | $6,083 (19)    | $6,083 (19)    |
| $7,646 (20)    | $5,780 (20)    | $5,780 (20)    | $5,780 (20)    | $5,780 (20)    |
| $7,444 (21)    | $5,626 (21)    | $5,626 (21)    | $5,626 (21)    | $5,626 (21)    |
| $7,427 (22)    | $4,783 (22)    | $4,783 (22)    | $4,783 (22)    | $4,783 (22)    |
| $5,923 (23)    | $4,104 (23)    | $4,104 (23)    | $4,104 (23)    | $4,104 (23)    |
| $5,896 (24)    | $3,789 (24)    | $3,789 (24)    | $3,789 (24)    | $3,789 (24)    |
| $5,794 (25)    | $3,683 (25)    | $3,683 (25)    | $3,683 (25)    | $3,683 (25)    |
| $5,521 (26)    | $3,253 (26)    | $3,253 (26)    | $3,253 (26)    | $3,253 (26)    |
| $5,085 (27)    | $3,177 (27)    | $3,177 (27)    | $3,177 (27)    | $3,177 (27)    |
| $4,691 (28)    | $3,123 (28)    | $3,123 (28)    | $3,123 (28)    | $3,123 (28)    |
| $4,305 (29)    | $3,005 (29)    | $3,005 (29)    | $3,005 (29)    | $3,005 (29)    |

Represents 95% of total expenses in TY2008

- A clear dividing line would be between 501(c)(4)s with several hundred million in revenue and all other entities, but the population size would be in the single digits.
- For this reason, we looked for a break point that represented a significant percentage of total expenses - and that falls at $10M in revenue for TY2008. We then kept the same threshold for all tax years for ease of analysis.

IRSR0000507025

Preliminary draft - for discussion

501(c)(4)s that engage in Political Campaign Activities must check yes on line 3, Part IV of the Form 990 and attach a Schedule C which details political expenditures

Purpose of Schedule<sup>1</sup>

- Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) is used by:
    - Section 501(c) organizations, and
    - Section 527 organizations.
- These organizations must use Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) to furnish additional information on political campaign activities or lobbying activities, as those terms are defined below for the various parts of this schedule.

Who Must File?

- An organization that answered "Yes" on Form 990, Part IV, Checklist of Required Schedules, line 3, 4, or 5, must complete the appropriate parts of Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) and attach Schedule C to Form 990. An organization that answered "Yes" on Form 990-EZ, Part V, line 46 or Part VI, line 47, must complete the appropriate parts of Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) and attach Schedule C to Form 990-EZ. An organization that answered "Yes" to Form 990-EZ, Part V, line 35c, because it is subject to the section 6033(e) notice and reporting requirements and proxy tax, must complete Part III of Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) and attach Schedule C to Form 990-EZ.

<sup>12</sup> Instructions for Schedule C (Form 990 or 990-EZ) 2012

IRSR0000507026

Political Campaign Activities expenditures for 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with > $10M in Revenue in years without federal elections (2009 and 2011)

Preliminary draft – for discussion

Year 2009

Year 2011

6103

6103

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990

Total expenses for large<sup>1</sup> filers with Political Campaign Activities almost double from TY2009 to TY2010; however, most of the increase is attributable to 3 HMOs

Total Expenses of 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers within a Given Year
(Total Revenue >$10M)

The difference between year 2009 and 2010 is $3.78 billion = 7.66B – 3.88B

Break down of $3.8 billion dollar difference

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990
1: Large filers are 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with >$10M in revenue

Preliminary draft – for discussion

After TY2009, the number of 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with Political Campaign Activities increases both for those with total revenue > $10M and for those with total revenue < $10M

Numbers of 501(c)(4) Filers with and without Political Campaign Activities in a Given Year
Total Revenue > $10M vs Total Revenue < $10M

|                                                       | 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with Total Revenue > $10M |         |         |         | ... with Total Revenue < $10M |        |        |        |
|-------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|---------|---------|---------|--------------------------------|--------|--------|--------|
|                                                       | TY2008                                               | TY2009  | TY2010  | TY2011  | TY2008                         | TY2009 | TY2010 | TY2011 |
| 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers, with PCA                   | 11                                                   | 11      | 22      | 17      | 96                             | 82     | 174    | 104    |
| 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers without PCA in a Given Year | 274                                                  | 289     | 258     | 221     | 8581                           | 8771   | 11032  | 9102   |
| Total 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers                       | 285                                                  | 280     | 280     | 238     | 8677                           | 8853   | 11206  | 9206   |
| Percentage of 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers w/ PCA        | 3.86%                                                | 3.93%   | 7.86%   | 7.14%   | 1.11%                          | 1%     | 1.55%  | 1.13%  |
| Total PCA expenditures                                | $17M                                                | $1M    | $47M   | $6M    |                                |        |        |        |
| Total expenditures                                    | $3950M                                              | $3880M | $1658M | $7690M |                                |        |        |        |
| Total PCA as percent of total expenditures*           | 0.43%                                              | 0.03% | 0.57% | 0.08% |                                |        |        |        |

*Pis note: The percent of PCA as total expenditures for individual large 501(c)(4)s runs from 0% to 26% in TY 2008; 0% to 1% in TY2009; 0% to 40% in TY2010; and 0% to 14% in TY2011.
** Pis further note: The percentages displayed on Slides 14 and 21 are rounded to the nearest whole percent.

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990

Preliminary draft – for discussion

Data Constraints

- Due to the filing deadlines for Form 990, TY2011 is not yet complete; this means trend analysis including TY2011 may understate filings in that year
- There was a significant change in Form 990 in TY2008 complicating historical trend analysis that spans across that tax year
- The threshold for determining whether a 501(c)(4) should file a Form 990 or a Form 990EZ changed each year from TY2008 through TY2010
- Information on Schedule C is not transcribed; this requires a manual review of the fields for analysis. For example:
  - Schedule C Political Campaign Activities expenditures is not transcribed
- Information from the Form 990 detailing recipients of grants is not transcribed; this requires a manual review of the fields for analysis

IRSR0000507030

Total Political Campaign Activities expenses<sup>1</sup> for large<sup>2</sup> filers increased from $17M in TY2008 to ~$47M in TY2010 but only represented 0.61% of TY2010 total expenses

Political Campaign Activities Expenses for 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers (Total Revenue > $10M) $47M

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS). From 990: GuideStar.org. <sup>1</sup>As reported on Sched. C, Part 1-C-3; <sup>2</sup>Large filers have >$10M in rev.

[Redacted]

Political Campaign Activities expenditures for 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with > $10M in Revenue in federal election years (2008 and 2010)

Preliminary draft - for discussion

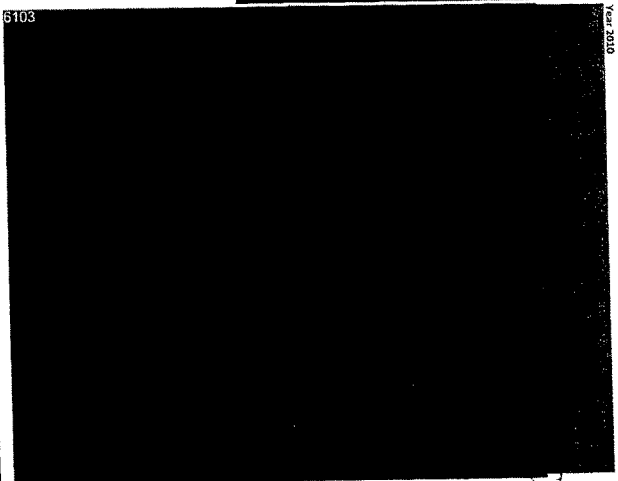

Year 2008

6103

Year 2010

6103

Source: Returns Inventory and Classification System (RICS), Form 990

[Redacted]

EOD - BOLO Advocacy Political Case List

| Organization Name |  | A |  | B                     |          | C               |  | D   |  | E                      |   |
|-------------------|--|---|--|-----------------------|----------|-----------------|--|-----|--|------------------------|---|
|                   |  |   |  | ECSTEDSStatus |          | ControlDate |  | EIN |  | SubsidiaryLocation |   |
| 1                 |  |   |  | 37                    | 11/05/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 45                |  |   |  | 37                    | 12/05/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 46                |  |   |  | 37                    | 08/05/10 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 47                |  |   |  | 37                    | 02/05/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 48                |  |   |  | 11                    | 02/01/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 49                |  |   |  | 52                    | 05/13/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 3 |
| 50                |  |   |  | 51                    | 12/01/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 3 |
| 51                |  |   |  | 04                    | 09/27/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 3 |
| 52                |  |   |  | 01                    | 11/25/10 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 53                |  |   |  | 01                    | 11/25/10 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 54                |  |   |  | 01                    | 10/05/10 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 55                |  |   |  | 52                    | 07/16/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 56                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/05/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 57                |  |   |  | 01                    | 06/28/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 58                |  |   |  | 52                    | 05/24/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 59                |  |   |  | 01                    | 09/05/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 60                |  |   |  | 37                    | 12/18/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 61                |  |   |  | 52                    | 11/15/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 62                |  |   |  | 01                    | 12/08/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 63                |  |   |  | 04                    | 04/15/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 64                |  |   |  | 01                    | 01/19/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 65                |  |   |  | 52                    | 04/06/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 66                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 67                |  |   |  | 01                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 68                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 69                |  |   |  | 01                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 70                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 71                |  |   |  | 01                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 72                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 73                |  |   |  | 01                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 74                |  |   |  | 37                    | 07/11/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 3 |
| 75                |  |   |  | 51                    | 11/19/09 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 76                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 77                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 78                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 79                |  |   |  | 01                    | 01/13/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 80                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 81                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 82                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 83                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 84                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 85                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 86                |  |   |  | 52                    | 03/29/12 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |
| 87                |  |   |  | 11                    | 02/22/11 |                 |  |     |  |                        | 4 |

Report Exhibits - Page 000967

EDD - BOLI Advocacy Political Case List

| 1   | Organization Name | A | BEOSTEOSStatus | CControlDate | DEIN | ESubmction |
|-----|-------------------|---|----------------------------|----------------------|----------|--------------------|
|     |                   |   |                            |                      |          |                    |
| 1   |                   |   | 54                         | 11/23/12             |          | 4                  |
| 88  |                   |   | 54                         | 02/01/12             |          | 4                  |
| 89  |                   |   | 51                         | 08/17/11             |          | 4                  |
| 90  |                   |   | 51                         | 08/21/12             |          | 4                  |
| 91  |                   |   | 01                         | 09/23/11             |          | 4                  |
| 92  |                   |   | 01                         | 07/14/10             |          | 4                  |
| 93  |                   |   | 01                         | 08/07/11             |          | 4                  |
| 94  |                   |   | 52                         | 09/17/12             |          | 4                  |
| 95  |                   |   | 52                         | 03/04/11             |          | 4                  |
| 96  |                   |   | 52                         | 04/04/12             |          | 4                  |
| 97  |                   |   | 61                         | 10/28/10             |          | 4                  |
| 98  |                   |   | 01                         | 04/04/11             |          | 4                  |
| 99  |                   |   | 01                         | 10/25/10             |          | 4                  |
| 100 |                   |   | 01                         | 10/27/11             |          | 4                  |
| 101 |                   |   | 52                         | 05/28/12             |          | 4                  |
| 102 |                   |   | 52                         | 05/25/11             |          | 3                  |
| 103 |                   |   | 42                         | 01/01/11             |          | 3                  |
| 104 |                   |   | 37                         | 07/28/12             |          | 3                  |
| 105 |                   |   | 52                         | 01/26/12             |          | 3                  |
| 106 |                   |   | 01                         | 03/25/11             |          | 4                  |
| 107 |                   |   | 01                         | 12/31/11             |          | 4                  |
| 108 |                   |   | 04                         | 09/17/10             |          | 4                  |
| 109 |                   |   | 51                         | 08/22/12             |          | 4                  |
| 110 |                   |   | 52                         | 02/02/12             |          | 4                  |
| 111 |                   |   | 51                         | 09/12/11             |          | 3                  |
| 112 |                   |   | 51                         | 08/16/11             |          | 4                  |
| 113 |                   |   | 61                         | 02/24/11             |          | 3                  |
| 114 |                   |   | 52                         | 04/28/11             |          | 3                  |
| 115 |                   |   | 51                         | 06/28/11             |          | 3                  |
| 116 |                   |   | 52                         | 08/03/10             |          | 4                  |
| 117 |                   |   | 01                         | 07/08/10             |          | 4                  |
| 118 |                   |   | 04                         | 03/23/11             |          | 4                  |
| 119 |                   |   | 51                         | 02/14/11             |          | 3                  |
| 120 |                   |   | 52                         | 11/08/11             |          | 4                  |
| 121 |                   |   | 04                         | 12/15/11             |          | 3                  |
| 122 |                   |   | 01                         | 08/03/11             |          | 3                  |
| 123 |                   |   | 37                         | 11/23/11             |          | 4                  |
| 124 |                   |   | 52                         | 03/28/12             |          | 4                  |

IRSR0000507035

| Organization Name | EDSTENS | ControlDate | FIN | Submitation |
|-------------------|-------------|-----------------|-----|-----------------|
| 1                 | 51          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 131               | 52          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 132               | 53          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 133               | 54          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 134               | 55          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 135               | 56          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 136               | 57          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 137               | 58          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 138               | 59          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 139               | 60          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 140               | 61          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 141               | 62          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 142               | 63          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 143               | 64          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 144               | 65          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 145               | 66          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 146               | 67          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 147               | 68          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 148               | 69          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 149               | 70          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 150               | 71          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 151               | 72          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 152               | 73          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 153               | 74          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 154               | 75          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 155               | 76          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 156               | 77          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 157               | 78          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 158               | 79          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 159               | 80          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 160               | 81          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 161               | 82          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 162               | 83          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 163               | 84          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 164               | 85          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 165               | 86          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 166               | 87          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 167               | 88          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 168               | 89          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 169               | 90          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 170               | 91          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 171               | 92          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 172               | 93          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |
| 173               | 94          | 02/18/11        | 4   | 4               |

IRSR0000507036

EOD - BOLD Advocacy Political Case List

| Organization Name |  | A  |          | B     |          | C    |          | D   |          | E      |          | F    |          |
|-------------------|--|----|----------|-------|----------|------|----------|-----|----------|--------|----------|------|----------|
|                   |  |    |          | TENS  |          | Date |          | ENR |          | Sinner |          | dion |          |
|                   |  |    |          | Style |          |      |          |     |          |        |          |      |          |
| 1                 |  | 37 | 03/8/11  | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 17                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 18                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 19                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 20                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 21                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 22                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 23                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 24                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 25                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 26                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 27                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 28                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 29                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 30                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 31                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 32                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 33                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 34                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 35                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 36                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 37                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 38                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 39                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 40                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 41                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 42                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 43                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 44                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 45                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 46                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 47                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 48                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 49                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 50                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 51                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 52                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 53                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 54                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 55                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 56                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 57                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 58                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 59                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 60                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 61                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 62                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 63                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 64                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 65                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 66                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 67                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 68                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 69                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 70                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 71                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 72                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 73                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 74                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 75                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 76                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 77                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 78                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 79                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 80                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 81                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 82                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 83                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 84                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 85                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 86                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 87                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 88                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 89                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 90                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 91                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 92                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 93                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 94                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 95                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 96                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 97                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 98                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 99                |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 100               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 101               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 102               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 103               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 104               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 105               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 | 01  | 05/27/10 | 01     | 05/27/10 | 01   | 05/27/10 |
| 106               |  | 01 | 05/27/10 | 01    |          |      |          |     |          |        |          |      |          |

EOO - BOLI Advocacy Political Case List

| 1   | A                 |  | B  | C        | D | E  |
|-----|-------------------|--|----|----------|---|----|
|     | Organization Name |  |    |          |   |    |
| 214 |                   |  | 52 | 10/09/12 |   | 3  |
| 215 |                   |  | 01 | 08/09/11 |   | 4  |
| 216 |                   |  | 52 | 07/19/10 |   | 4  |
| 217 |                   |  | 01 | 11/09/11 |   | 4  |
| 218 |                   |  | 01 | 09/11/10 |   | 4  |
| 219 |                   |  | 51 | 11/13/12 |   | 3  |
| 220 |                   |  | 01 | 09/09/12 |   | 4  |
| 221 |                   |  | 51 | 07/13/11 |   | 3  |
| 222 |                   |  | 01 | 07/14/11 |   | 4  |
| 223 |                   |  | 01 | 09/09/12 |   | 3  |
| 224 |                   |  | 01 | 07/15/11 |   | 4  |
| 225 |                   |  | 01 | 07/16/11 |   | 4  |
| 226 |                   |  | 01 | 07/17/11 |   | 4  |
| 227 |                   |  | 01 | 07/18/11 |   | 3  |
| 228 |                   |  | 01 | 07/19/11 |   | 4  |
| 229 |                   |  | 01 | 07/20/11 |   | 4  |
| 230 |                   |  | 52 | 07/21/11 |   | 4  |
| 231 |                   |  | 52 | 07/22/11 |   | 3  |
| 232 |                   |  | 04 | 07/23/11 |   | 4  |
| 233 |                   |  | 37 | 07/24/11 |   | 4  |
| 234 |                   |  | 01 | 07/25/11 |   | 4  |
| 235 |                   |  | 51 | 07/26/11 |   | 3  |
| 236 |                   |  | 37 | 08/07/10 |   | 4  |
| 237 |                   |  | 52 | 07/28/11 |   | 4  |
| 238 |                   |  | 74 | 07/29/11 |   | 4  |
| 239 |                   |  | 52 | 09/04/12 |   | 3  |
| 240 |                   |  | 52 | 07/29/11 |   | 4  |
| 241 |                   |  | 51 | 07/30/11 |   | 4  |
| 242 |                   |  | 31 | 07/31/11 |   | 4  |
| 243 |                   |  | 51 | 07/31/11 |   | 4  |
| 244 |                   |  | 51 | 07/31/11 |   | 4  |
| 245 |                   |  | 51 | 07/31/11 |   | 4  |
| 246 |                   |  | 52 | 08/01/11 |   | 4  |
| 247 |                   |  | 52 | 08/01/11 |   | 4  |
| 248 |                   |  | 51 | 08/03/11 |   | 3  |
| 249 |                   |  | 01 | 08/04/11 |   | 4  |
| 250 |                   |  | 52 | 08/10/12 |   | 4  |
| 251 |                   |  | 52 | 08/10/12 |   | 4  |
| 252 |                   |  | 01 | 08/10/12 |   | 4  |
| 253 |                   |  | 01 | 08/05/11 |   | 4  |
| 254 |                   |  | 01 | 08/07/11 |   | 4  |
| 255 |                   |  | 52 | 10/03/12 |   | 4  |
| 256 |                   |  | 52 | 09/21/12 |   | 3  |
| 257 |                   |  | 52 | 09/21/12 |   | 4  |
| 258 |                   |  | 52 | 09/20/12 |   | 10 |
| 259 |                   |  | 52 | 08/20/11 |   | 3  |

EOD - BOLO Advocacy Political Case List

|     | A                 | B                    | C               | D          | E             |
|-----|-------------------|----------------------|-----------------|------------|---------------|
|     | Organization Name | EOSTDSStatus | ControlDate | FINFIN | Subastion |
| 1   |                   |                      |                 |            |               |
| 260 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 261 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 262 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 263 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 264 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 265 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 266 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 267 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 268 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 269 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 270 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 271 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 272 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 273 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 274 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 275 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 276 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 277 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 278 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 279 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 280 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 281 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 282 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 283 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 284 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 285 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 286 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 287 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 288 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 289 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 290 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 291 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 292 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 293 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 294 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 295 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 296 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 297 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 298 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 299 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 300 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 301 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 302 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 303 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 304 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 305 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 306 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 307 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 308 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 309 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 310 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 311 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 312 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 313 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 314 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 315 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 316 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 317 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 318 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 319 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 320 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 321 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 322 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 323 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 324 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 325 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 326 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 327 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 328 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 329 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 330 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 331 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 332 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 333 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 334 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 335 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 336 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 337 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 338 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 339 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 340 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 341 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 342 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 343 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 344 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 345 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 346 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 347 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 348 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 349 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 350 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 351 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 352 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 353 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 354 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 355 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 356 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 357 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 358 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 359 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 360 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 361 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 362 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 363 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 364 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 365 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 366 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 367 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 368 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 369 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 370 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 371 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 372 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 373 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 374 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 375 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 376 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 377 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 378 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 379 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 380 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 381 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 382 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 383 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 384 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 385 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 386 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 387 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 388 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 389 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 390 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 391 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 392 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 393 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 394 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 395 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 396 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 397 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 398 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 399 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |
| 400 |                   | 01                   | 08/28/11        |            | 4             |

IRSR0000507039

EOD - GOLD Advocacy Political Case List

| 1   | Organization Name | A          | B                     | C               | D          | E              |
|-----|-------------------|------------|-----------------------|-----------------|------------|----------------|
|     |                   |            | IRSTDESStatus | ContribDate | Ein        | Subsection |
| 303 | [REDACTED]        | [REDACTED] | 01                    | 08/11/11        | [REDACTED] | 4              |
| 304 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 305 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 306 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 307 |                   |            | 01                    | 09/14/11        |            | 4              |
| 308 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 309 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 310 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 311 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 312 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 313 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/12/11        |            | 4              |
| 314 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/08/12        |            | 4              |
| 315 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/08/12        |            | 4              |
| 316 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 317 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 318 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 319 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 320 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 321 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/07/11        |            | 4              |
| 322 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/29/11        |            | 4              |
| 323 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/29/11        |            | 4              |
| 324 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/29/11        |            | 4              |
| 325 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/29/11        |            | 4              |
| 326 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/29/11        |            | 4              |
| 327 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 328 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 329 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 330 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 331 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 332 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 333 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 334 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 335 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 336 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 337 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 338 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 339 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 340 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 341 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 342 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 343 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 344 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 345 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 346 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 347 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 348 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 349 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 350 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 351 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 352 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 353 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 354 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 355 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 356 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 357 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 358 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 359 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 360 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 361 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 362 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 363 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 364 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 365 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 366 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 367 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 368 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 369 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 370 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 371 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 372 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 373 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 374 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 375 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 376 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 377 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 378 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 379 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 380 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 381 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 382 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 383 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 384 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 385 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 386 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 387 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 388 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 389 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 390 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 391 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 392 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 393 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 394 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 395 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 396 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 397 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 398 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 399 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 400 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 401 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 402 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 403 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 404 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 405 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 406 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 407 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 408 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 409 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 410 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 411 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 412 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 413 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 414 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 415 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 416 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 417 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 418 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 419 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 420 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 421 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 422 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 423 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 424 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 425 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 426 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 427 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 428 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 429 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 430 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 431 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 432 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 433 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 434 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 435 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 436 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 437 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 438 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 439 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 440 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 441 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 442 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 443 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 444 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 445 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 446 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 447 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 448 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 449 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 450 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 451 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 452 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 453 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 454 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 455 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 456 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 457 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 458 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 459 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 460 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 461 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 462 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 463 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 464 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 465 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 466 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 467 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 468 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 469 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 470 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 471 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 472 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 473 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 474 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 475 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 476 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 477 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 478 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 479 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 480 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 481 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 482 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 483 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 484 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 485 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 486 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 487 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 488 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 489 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 490 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 491 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 492 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 493 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 494 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 495 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 496 |                   |            | 01                    | 10/01/11        |            | 4              |
| 497 |                   | 01         | 10/01/11              | 4               |            |                |
| 498 | 01                | 10/01/11   | 4                     |                 |            |                |
| 499 | 01                | 10/01/11   | 4                     |                 |            |                |
| 500 | 01                | 10/01/11   | 4                     |                 |            |                |

EOJ - BDO Advocacy Political Case List

| Organization Name |  | A | B          | C               | D   | E             |
|-------------------|--|---|------------|-----------------|-----|---------------|
|                   |  |   | EOJTOS | ControlDate | EIN | Shasction |
| 1                 |  |   | 52         | 11/9/12         |     | 4             |
| 346               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 347               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 348               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 349               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 350               |  |   | 52         | 12/27/11        |     | 3             |
| 351               |  |   | 52         | 12/27/11        |     | 3             |
| 352               |  |   | 52         | 01/9/13         |     | 8             |
| 353               |  |   | 04         | 06/07/12        |     | 3             |
| 354               |  |   | 01         | 06/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 355               |  |   | 01         | 06/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 356               |  |   | 01         | 06/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 357               |  |   | 04         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 358               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 359               |  |   | 52         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 360               |  |   | 52         | 07/06/12        |     | 4             |
| 361               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 362               |  |   | 01         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 363               |  |   | 52         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 364               |  |   | 52         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 365               |  |   | 52         | 02/10/10        |     | 4             |
| 366               |  |   | 52         | 04/09/12        |     | 3             |
| 367               |  |   | 37         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 368               |  |   | 52         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 369               |  |   | 52         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 370               |  |   | 52         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 371               |  |   | 01         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 372               |  |   | 01         | 11/07/11        |     | 4             |
| 373               |  |   | 51         | 06/04/12        |     | 4             |
| 374               |  |   | 01         | 06/04/12        |     | 4             |
| 375               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 376               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 377               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 378               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 379               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 380               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 381               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 382               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 383               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 384               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 385               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 386               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 387               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 388               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 389               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 390               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 391               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 392               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 393               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 394               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 395               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 396               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 397               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 398               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 399               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 400               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 401               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 402               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 403               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 404               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 405               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 406               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 407               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 408               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 409               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 410               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 411               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 412               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 413               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 414               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 415               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 416               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 417               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 418               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 419               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 420               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 421               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 422               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 423               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 424               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 425               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 426               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 427               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 428               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 429               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 430               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 431               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 432               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 433               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 434               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 435               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 436               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 437               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 438               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 439               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 440               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 441               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 442               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 443               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 444               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 445               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 446               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 447               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 448               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 449               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 450               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 451               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 452               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 453               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 454               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 455               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 456               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 457               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 458               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 459               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 460               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 461               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 462               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 463               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 464               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 465               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 466               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 467               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 468               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 469               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 470               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 471               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 472               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 473               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 474               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 475               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 476               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 477               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 478               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 479               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 480               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 481               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 482               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 483               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 484               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 485               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 486               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 487               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 488               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 489               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 490               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 491               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 492               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 493               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 494               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 495               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 496               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 497               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 498               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 499               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 500               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 501               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 502               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 503               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 504               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 505               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 506               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 507               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 508               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 509               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 510               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 511               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 512               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 513               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 514               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 515               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 516               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 517               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 518               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 519               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 520               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 521               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 522               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 523               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 524               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 525               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 526               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 527               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 528               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 529               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 530               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 531               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 532               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 533               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 534               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 535               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 536               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 537               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 538               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 539               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 540               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 541               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 542               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 543               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 544               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 545               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 546               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 547               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 548               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 549               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 550               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 551               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 552               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 553               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 554               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 555               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 556               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 557               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 558               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 559               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 560               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 561               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 562               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 563               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 564               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 565               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 566               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 567               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 568               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 569               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 570               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 571               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 572               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 573               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 574               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 575               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 576               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 577               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 578               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 579               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 580               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 581               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 582               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 583               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 584               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 585               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 586               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |
| 587               |  |   | 51         | 10/27/11        |     | 4             |

EDD - BOLD Advocacy Political Case List

| 1   | Organization Name | A          | B                     | C               | D          | E            |
|-----|-------------------|------------|-----------------------|-----------------|------------|--------------|
|     |                   |            | EDSTEQSStatus | GeneralDate | EN         | Subscion |
| 385 | [REDACTED]        | [REDACTED] | 32                    | 11/18/11        | [REDACTED] | 3            |
| 386 |                   |            | 51                    | 01/21/12        |            | 4            |
| 387 |                   |            | 61                    | 05/03/12        |            | 4            |
| 388 |                   |            | 01                    | 05/03/12        |            | 4            |
| 389 |                   |            | 01                    | 11/06/11        |            | 4            |
| 390 |                   |            | 01                    | 11/20/11        |            | 5            |
| 391 |                   |            | 51                    | 10/03/11        |            | 4            |
| 392 |                   |            | 37                    | 11/22/11        |            | 4            |
| 393 |                   |            | 01                    | 11/22/11        |            | 3            |
| 394 |                   |            | 04                    | 08/28/11        |            | 3            |
| 395 |                   |            | 61                    | 11/28/11        |            | 4            |
| 396 |                   |            | 62                    | 12/05/11        |            | 4            |
| 397 |                   |            | 75                    | 11/28/11        |            | 3            |
| 398 |                   |            | 37                    | 01/03/12        |            | 4            |
| 399 |                   |            | 01                    | 11/28/11        |            | 4            |
| 400 |                   |            | 01                    | 11/28/11        |            | 4            |
| 401 |                   |            | 04                    | 12/07/11        |            | 4            |
| 402 |                   |            | 01                    | 12/07/11        |            | 4            |
| 403 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/18/12        |            | 4            |
| 404 |                   |            | 51                    | 12/06/11        |            | 4            |
| 405 |                   |            | 51                    | 10/06/12        |            | 4            |
| 406 |                   |            | 32                    | 10/17/11        |            | 3            |
| 407 |                   |            | 52                    | 04/27/12        |            | 4            |
| 408 |                   |            | 52                    | 12/05/11        |            | 3            |
| 409 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/18/12        |            | 4            |
| 410 |                   |            | 01                    | 12/06/11        |            | 4            |
| 411 |                   |            | 04                    | 12/07/11        |            | 4            |
| 412 |                   |            | 51                    | 10/06/12        |            | 4            |
| 413 |                   |            | 32                    | 10/17/11        |            | 3            |
| 414 |                   |            | 52                    | 04/27/12        |            | 4            |
| 415 |                   |            | 52                    | 12/05/11        |            | 3            |
| 416 |                   |            | 62                    | 12/06/11        |            | 4            |
| 417 |                   |            | 58                    | 12/06/11        |            | 3            |
| 418 |                   |            | 37                    | 12/17/11        |            | 4            |
| 419 |                   |            | 32                    | 08/18/12        |            | 4            |
| 420 |                   |            | 51                    | 12/07/11        |            | 4            |
| 421 |                   |            | 52                    | 10/17/11        |            | 3            |
| 422 |                   |            | 52                    | 04/27/12        |            | 4            |
| 423 |                   |            | 52                    | 12/05/11        |            | 3            |
| 424 |                   |            | 01                    | 08/18/12        |            | 4            |
| 425 |                   |            | 32                    | 04/23/12        |            | 4            |
| 426 |                   |            | 04                    | 12/07/11        |            | 3            |
| 427 |                   |            | 01                    | 12/18/11        |            | 4            |
| 428 |                   |            | 75                    | 12/06/11        |            | 4            |
| 429 |                   |            | 51                    | 10/03/11        |            | 4            |
| 430 |                   |            | 32                    | 03/03/12        |            | 3            |

EOB - BOLO Advocacy Political Case List

| Organization Name |  | A | B                     | C               | D   | E               |
|-------------------|--|---|-----------------------|-----------------|-----|-----------------|
|                   |  |   | EOSTEDSStatus | ControlDate | FIN | Subseqction |
| 6103              |  |   | 52                    | 12/22/11        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 12/22/11        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 12/24/11        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 09/14/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 06/14/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 12/09/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 12/29/11        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 11/29/11        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 11                    | 12/29/11        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 12/29/11        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 12/29/11        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 12/29/11        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 05/24/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 12/29/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 04                    | 12/29/11        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 01/11/13        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 01/11/13        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 01/01/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 01/09/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 01                    | 01/09/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 31                    | 01/04/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 52                    | 11/27/10        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 01/02/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 01/14/13        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 01/14/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 08/13/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 07/08/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 50                    | 03/04/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 01/31/13        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 01/18/13        |     | 6               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/28/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/28/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/14/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 12/27/12        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/13/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/11/12        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/12/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/20/13        |     | 4               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/20/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/20/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/17/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/17/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/17/13        |     | 3               |
|                   |  |   | 51                    | 02/17/13        |     | 3               |

Executive Summary

Preliminary draft - for discussion

- Has there been an increase in the number of 501(c)(4) organizations engaging in Political Campaign Activities?

501(c)(4) Form 990 filers with PCA

- The number of 501(c)(4)s reporting PCA almost doubled from TY2008 - TY2010**

- Has there been an increase in Political Campaign Activities expenditures - either directly or as grants to other organizations?

PCA expenditures for large 501(c)(4) Form 990 filers

- The amount of PCA for large filers almost tripled from TY2008 - TY2010

- Has there been an increase in "one year" 501(c)(4) organizations who are engaged in Political Campaign Activities?

"One year" 501(c)(4) Form 990 Filers with PCA

- There is a very limited population of "one year" filers with PCA between TY2008 - TY2011

Reminder

- Political Campaign Activities (PCA) for Form 990 filers are reported to the IRS on Schedule C, Parts 1-A, 1-C and IV.
- No all Form 990s for TY2011 have been received by the IRS; TY2012 filing is largely incomplete and therefore not included.
- Trends span both election years and non-election years. Trends also span a significant redaction in Form 990 incl. changes in filing thresholds.

Proposals to Alter the 501(c)(4) Regulations

Internal Discussions:

The "primarily" language in the (c)(4) regulations was a topic of perennial discussion within the IRS. Despite those discussions and various attempts,<sup>1</sup> the language has remained unchanged.

Outside Comments:

Outside commentators have asserted that the regulations do not reflect the statutory "exclusively" language, relying in part on a series of (c)(4) court cases that cite Better Business Bureau v. U.S.<sup>2</sup> (a 1945 case, predating the current version of the Code, most often cited in 501(c)(3) cases) for the proposition that "the presence of a single substantial non-exempt purpose precludes exemption."<sup>3</sup> However, these cases do not criticize the regulations, nor were they decided based on any distinction between "primarily" and "substantial" because the organizations involved were engaging almost entirely in non-exempt activity. Other cases embrace the "primarily" standard or equate the two.<sup>4</sup>

Outside Proposals:

Commentators have also suggested the adoption of a bright line expenditures test to set the allowable amount of political campaign intervention. Different iterations propose different thresholds, ranging from the ABA/Greg Colvin proposing a safe harbor allowing 40% of a (c)(4)'s program service expenditures to be political intervention<sup>5</sup> to Democracy 21 proposing an absolute cap on political intervention expenditures of 5 or 10% of total expenditures.<sup>6</sup>

Additional Information:

The IRS has maintained that all facts and circumstances should be taken into account when determining an organization's primary activities,<sup>7</sup> it is not a

<sup>1</sup> GCM 32395 (September 14, 1962); GCM 33495 (April 27, 1967); GCM 38215 (December 31, 1979).

<sup>2</sup> 326 U.S. 279.

<sup>3</sup> E.g. Democracy 21's July 27, 2011 Petition for Rulemaking at ¶ 33. Cited case language includes Contracting Plumbers Coop. Rstor. Corp. v. U.S., 488 F.2d 684, 688 (2d Cir. 1973); American Ass'n of Christian Sch. Vol. Emp. v. U.S., 850 F.2d 1510, 1516 (11th Cir. 1988); Mutual Aid Association v. U.S., 759 F.2d 792, 796 (10th Cir. 1985).

<sup>4</sup> E.g. People's Education Camp Society v. Commissioner, 331 F.2d 923, 931 (2d Cir. 1964) ("The word 'exclusively' ... has ... been interpreted to mean 'primarily... Stated another way, 'the presence of a single non-exempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will destroy the exemption ...'") (emphasis added); Vision Serv. Plan. v. U.S., 96 A.F.T.R.2d 2005-7440 (E.D. Cal 2005).

<sup>5</sup> American Bar Association Section on Taxation, Comments of the Individual Members of the Exempt Organizations Committee's Task Force on Section 501(c)(4) and Politics, May 25, 2004.

<sup>6</sup> Democracy 21's July 27, 2011 Petition for Rulemaking at ¶ 37.

<sup>7</sup> Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259.

Proposals to Alter the 501(c)(4) Regulations

quantitative test. Courts have also rejected a pure expenditures test in similar instances.<sup>8</sup>

Bright line expenditure tests have generally been avoided in the EO context, both in the definition of "primarily" and in the 501(c)(3) and unrelated business concepts of "substantial." The (statutory) elective expenditure-based test for lobbying in 501(h) is an exception, but it is of limited use to large organizations because the annual permitted lobbying amount is capped at $1 million.

Most commentator proposals focus solely on political campaign expenditures. However, a (c)(4) might conduct a variety of non-exempt activities, such as unrelated business activities. Thus, if a (c)(4) barely satisfies a bright line cap on its political intervention expenditures, but also conducts other non-exempt activity, the overall result would be in question.

Proposals have also been put forth seeking to clarify what constitutes support or opposition of candidates, which would apply in the (c)(3), (c)(4) and other contexts.<sup>9</sup>

<sup>8</sup> E.g. Christian Echoes Nat'l Ministry, Inc. v. U.S., 470 F.2d 849, 855-56 (10th Cir. 1972)(rejecting a bright-line expenditure test for determining whether a 501(c)(3) organization's lobbying was "no substantial part" of its activities, and examining lobbying in relation to its "objectives and circumstances." This predates the 501(h) elective test for lobbying.

<sup>9</sup> OMB Watch, Clarifying IRS Rules on Political Intervention: Comparing the Current Rules to the Colvin Committee Draft.

Report Exhibits - Page 000979

---

From: Seto Michael C
Sent: Friday, April 06, 2012 12:48 PM
To: Abner Donna J
Cc: Paz Holly O; Lieber Theodore R
Subject: RE: Denial - advocacy

Yes. Sorry for the confusion. Ted [REDACTED] should be assigned to Obbi. Thanks, Mike

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Friday, April 06, 2012 1:40 PM
To: Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O; Lieber Theodore R
Subject: RE: Denial - advocacy

Hi Mike,
Do you mean the second Acorn case or the case described in item #2 ([REDACTED])? Also, I assume you want a copy not the original case. Please confirm which and we can send next week.
Thanks,
Donna

Seto Michael C
Sent: Friday, April 06, 2012 12:46 PM
To: Abner Donna J
Cc: Paz Holly O; Lieber Theodore R
Subject: RE: Denial - advocacy

Hi Donna,

I got the case file; I am treating the case as an technical assistance request. Ted and I are reassigning the case from Liz Ardion to another employee, Obbi Chukuma with Mike Repass as the reviewer. Obbi needs time to get caught on this case, so I am thinking about 2 weeks.

Concerning the second case, I think we need to look at the file too. Can you send the second case up here?

Thanks,

Mike

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Friday, April 06, 2012 9:48 AM
To: Abner Donna J; Seto Michael C
Subject: RE: Denial - advocacy

Mike and Donna,

I would like EOT to look at this proposed denial Donna just sent

Thanks!

Report Exhibits - Page 000980

Holly

---

From: Abner Donna J
Sent: Friday, April 06, 2012 8:43 AM
To: Seto Michael C
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: Denial - advocacy
Importance: Low

Hi Mike,

Two items - first i want to follow up on the status of the review of the Acorn successor denial (originally forwarded denial letter early February and copy of case March). Delarms has another proposed denial for an almost identical Acorn successor. So, the decision on the first will help with the second. Any idea on when we might receive feedback?

Second - attached is another proposed denial for an advocacy case. You might want to see and consider it as well. Please note for this case we previously issued the proposed denial, received a protest which required reconsideration, and the attached is an updated proposed adverse letter that includes our consideration of the protest. Please let me know if you want us to hold off on issuing this letter until you complete your review and/or consideration.

Thanks,
Donna

Report Exhibits - Page 000981

---

From: Buller Siri
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:03 PM
To: Gitterman Janet E
Subject: RE: scr case
Attachments: 6103

Hi Janet,

Unfortunately, I don't have any development letters other than this one, which [REDACTED] I think you already have the [REDACTED] which is the only additional material I have.

Siri

---

From: Gitterman Janet E
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:55 PM
To: Buller Siri
Cc: Gitterman Janet E
Subject: FW: scr case

Siri --

Can you email me the development letters for your Emerge cases?

Thanks.

Janet

---

From: Shoemaker Ronald J
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:48 PM
To: Gitterman Janet E
Subject: FW: scr case

FYI. Comment from Steve to continue with [REDACTED] but confer with Siri in working the case.

Thanks.

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:40 PM
To: Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: scr case

It is fine for Janet to work this case. Although she should confer with Siri as she is working the other Emerge cases and Janet can see the development letters that were sent out and what we are looking for. The [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] 6103 is in EO Guidance and should be on its way for Counsel concurrence and we can use that [REDACTED] as a template for the others.

Report Exhibits - Page 000982

From: Shoemaker Ronald J
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 2:47 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: scr case

Janet is in today and she alerted me to the fact that a new case I assigned to her recently called " [REDACTED] " is similar to other cases in the office relating to political issues. The other cases are in Group 1 being handled by Siri. Janet indicates that the issue in the other cases is going or has gone to Counsel. The case in Group 1 is an SCR. When I assigned the case, I was not aware of the background to this particular case. Should Janet continue with this case or would you prefer to consolidate the cases in Group 1?

Thanks.

[illegible]

Report Exhibits - Page 000984

Enlarged for Legibility, Produced on April 23, 2014, as Bales IRSR00000630285 - IRSR00000630289

[illegible]

9
10
11
12

[REDACTED]

110

112

150

152

154

156

158

160

162

164

166

168

170

172

174

176

178

180

182

184

186

188

190

192

194

196

198

200

202

204

206

208

210

212

214

216

218

220

222

224

226

228

230

232

234

236

238

240

242

244

246

248

250

252

254

256

258

260

262

264

266

268

270

272

274

276

278

280

282

284

286

288

290

292

294

296

298

300

302

304

306

308

310

312

314

316

318

320

322

324

326

328

330

332

334

336

338

340

342

344

346

348

350

352

354

356

358

360

362

364

366

368

370

372

374

376

378

380

382

384

386

388

390

392

394

396

398

400

402

404

406

408

410

412

414

416

418

420

422

424

426

428

430

432

434

436

438

440

442

444

446

448

450

452

454

456

458

460

462

464

466

468

470

472

474

476

478

480

482

484

486

488

490

492

494

496

498

500

502

504

506

508

510

512

514

516

518

520

522

524

526

528

530

532

534

536

538

540

542

544

546

548

550

552

554

556

558

560

562

564

566

568

570

572

574

576

578

580

582

584

586

588

590

592

594

596

598

600

602

604

606

608

610

612

614

616

618

620

622

624

626

628

630

632

634

636

638

640

642

644

646

648

650

652

654

656

658

660

662

664

666

668

670

672

674

676

678

680

682

684

686

688

690

692

694

696

698

700

702

704

706

708

710

712

714

716

718

720

722

724

726

728

730

732

734

736

738

740

742

744

746

748

750

752

754

756

758

760

762

764

766

768

770

772

774

776

778

780

782

784

786

788

790

792

794

796

798

800

802

804

806

808

810

812

814

816

818

820

822

824

826

828

830

832

834

836

838

840

842

844

846

848

850

852

854

856

858

860

862

864

866

868

870

872

874

876

878

880

882

884

886

888

890

892

894

896

898

900

902

904

906

908

910

912

914

916

918

920

922

924

926

928

930

932

934

936

938

940

942

944

946

948

950

952

954

956

958

960

962

964

966

968

970

972

974

976

978

980

982

984

986

988

990

992

994

996

998

1000

1002

1004

1006

1008

1010

1012

1014

1016

1018

1020

1022

1024

1026

1028

1030

1032

1034

1036

1038

1040

1042

1044

1046

1048

1050

1052

1054

1056

1058

1060

1062

1064

1066

1068

1070

1072

1074

1076

1078

1080

1082

1084

1086

1088

1090

1092

1094

1096

1098

1100

1102

1104

1106

1108

1110

1112

1114

1116

1118

1120

1122

1124

1126

1128

1130

1132

1134

1136

1138

1140

1142

1144

1146

1148

115

Enlarged for Legibility. Produced on April 23, 2014, as Bates ILSR0000630285 - ILSR0000630289

182

TACT (Tactical) Group, 17th Air Force, 1950-1951. This group was composed of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th, 101st, 102nd, 103rd, 104th, 105th, 106th, 107th, 108th, 109th, 110th, 111th, 112th, 113th, 114th, 115th, 116th, 117th, 118th, 119th, 120th, 121st, 122nd, 123rd, 124th, 125th, 126th, 127th, 128th, 129th, 130th, 131st, 132nd, 133rd, 134th, 135th, 136th, 137th, 138th, 139th, 140th, 141st, 142nd, 143rd, 144th, 145th, 146th, 147th, 148th, 149th, 150th, 151st, 152nd, 153rd, 154th, 155th, 156th, 157th, 158th, 159th, 160th, 161st, 162nd, 163rd, 164th, 165th, 166th, 167th, 168th, 169th, 170th, 171st, 172nd, 173rd, 174th, 175th, 176th, 177th, 178th, 179th, 180th, 181st, 182nd, 183rd, 184th, 185th, 186th, 187th, 188th, 189th, 190th, 191st, 192nd, 193rd, 194th, 195th, 196th, 197th, 198th, 199th, 200th, 201st, 202nd, 203rd, 204th, 205th, 206th, 207th, 208th, 209th, 210th, 211th, 212th, 213th, 214th, 215th, 216th, 217th, 218th, 219th, 220th, 221st, 222nd, 223rd, 224th, 225th, 226th, 227th, 228th, 229th, 230th, 231st, 232nd, 233rd, 234th, 235th, 236th, 237th, 238th, 239th, 240th, 241st, 242nd, 243rd, 244th, 245th, 246th, 247th, 248th, 249th, 250th, 251st, 252nd, 253rd, 254th, 255th, 256th, 257th, 258th, 259th, 260th, 261st, 262nd, 263rd, 264th, 265th, 266th, 267th, 268th, 269th, 270th, 271st, 272nd, 273rd, 274th, 275th, 276th, 277th, 278th, 279th, 280th, 281st, 282nd, 283rd, 284th, 285th, 286th, 287th, 288th, 289th, 290th, 291st, 292nd, 293rd, 294th, 295th, 296th, 297th, 298th, 299th, 300th, 301st, 302nd, 303rd, 304th, 305th, 306th, 307th, 308th, 309th, 310th, 311th, 312th, 313th, 314th, 315th, 316th, 317th, 318th, 319th, 320th, 321st, 322nd, 323rd, 324th, 325th, 326th, 327th, 328th, 329th, 330th, 331st, 332nd, 333rd, 334th, 335th, 336th, 337th, 338th, 339th, 340th, 341st, 342nd, 343rd, 344th, 345th, 346th, 347th, 348th, 349th, 350th, 351st, 352nd, 353rd, 354th, 355th, 356th, 357th, 358th, 359th, 360th, 361st, 362nd, 363rd, 364th, 365th, 366th, 367th, 368th, 369th, 370th, 371st, 372nd, 373rd, 374th, 375th, 376th, 377th, 378th, 379th, 380th, 381st, 382nd, 383rd, 384th, 385th, 386th, 387th, 388th, 389th, 390th, 391st, 392nd, 393rd, 394th, 395th, 396th, 397th, 398th, 399th, 400th, 401st, 402nd, 403rd, 404th, 405th, 406th, 407th, 408th, 409th, 410th, 411th, 412th, 413th, 414th, 415th, 416th, 417th, 418th, 419th, 420th, 421st, 422nd, 423rd, 424th, 425th, 426th, 427th, 428th, 429th, 430th, 431st, 432nd, 433rd, 434th, 435th, 436th, 437th, 438th, 439th, 440th, 441st, 442nd, 443rd, 444th, 445th, 446th, 447th, 448th, 449th, 450th, 451st, 452nd, 453rd, 454th, 455th, 456th, 457th, 458th, 459th, 460th, 461st, 462nd, 463rd, 464th, 465th, 466th, 467th, 468th, 469th, 470th, 471st, 472nd, 473rd, 474th, 475th, 476th, 477th, 478th, 479th, 480th, 481st, 482nd, 483rd, 484th, 485th, 486th, 487th, 488th, 489th, 490th, 491st, 492nd, 493rd, 494th, 495th, 496th, 497th, 498th, 499th, 500th, 501st, 502nd, 503rd, 504th, 505th, 506th, 507th, 508th, 509th, 510th, 511th, 512th, 513th, 514th, 515th, 516th, 517th, 518th, 519th, 520th, 521st, 522nd, 523rd, 524th, 525th, 526th, 527th, 528th, 529th, 530th, 531st, 532nd, 533rd, 534th, 535th, 536th, 537th, 538th, 539th, 540th, 541st, 542nd, 543rd, 544th, 545th, 546th, 547th, 548th, 549th, 550th, 551st, 552nd, 553rd, 554th, 555th, 556th, 557th, 558th, 559th, 560th, 561st, 562nd, 563rd, 564th, 565th, 566th, 567th, 568th, 569th, 570th, 571st, 572nd, 573rd, 574th, 575th, 576th, 577th, 578th, 579th, 580th, 581st, 582nd, 583rd, 584th, 585th, 586th, 587th, 588th, 589th, 590th, 591st, 592nd, 593rd, 594th, 595th, 596th, 597th, 598th, 599th, 600th, 601st, 602nd, 603rd, 604th, 605th, 606th, 607th, 608th, 609th, 610th, 611th, 612th, 613th, 614th, 615th, 616th, 617th, 618th, 619th, 620th, 621st, 622nd, 623rd, 624th, 625th, 626th, 627th, 628th, 629th, 630th, 631st, 632nd, 633rd, 634th, 635th, 636th, 637th, 638th, 639th, 640th, 641st, 642nd, 643rd, 644th, 645th, 646th, 647th, 648th, 649th, 650th, 651st, 652nd, 653rd, 654th, 655th, 656th, 657th, 658th, 659th, 660th, 661st, 662nd, 663rd, 664th, 665th, 666th, 667th, 668th, 669th, 670th, 671st, 672nd, 673rd, 674th, 675th, 676th, 677th, 678th, 679th, 680th, 681st, 682nd, 683rd, 684th, 685th, 686th, 687th, 688th, 689th, 690th, 691st, 692nd, 693rd, 694th

TAG Category: Same address. 176 cases using same address. Primm was [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Add info letter used by agents was coordinated with Headquarters and was received from Area Counsel. Some organizations classified themselves with [REDACTED].

[illegible]

| Exemption     | Applicable exception                                                                                                                                                                           | Issue number | Applicable exception       | Group | Group State (group or group) |
|---------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|----------------------------|-------|------------------------------|
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |
| Group Rulings | Cases that involve group rulings, whether parent applying for, or subordinate leaving a group ruling need to be worked in Group 7829. The only exception is cases that have been auto revoked. | 5            | Forward case to Group 7829 |       | Open - 8/25/11               |
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |
|               |                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                            |       |                              |

| System orSystem ID                     | System Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | BasicNumber | AllegationNumber(s) | AllegationDescription                                                                                                                       | OpenStatus(YES/NO) |
|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Open SourceSoftware                    | These organizations are requesting either 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(6) exemption in order to collaboratively develop new software. The members of these organizations are usually the for-profit business or for-profit support technicians of the software. The software is provided for free, however, fees are charged for technical support by the for-profit. | 1               | x                       | Elevate case to your manager for contact with EO Tech- Peter Huiat                                                                              | Open                       |
| ACORNsuccessors                        | Local chapters of the former ACORN organization have been identified. Succession indicators include [REDACTED] in the name and/or throughout the application.                                                                                                                                                                                                | 2               | x                       | Elevate case to your manager for contact with EO Tech- Chip Huiat                                                                               | Open                       |
| [REDACTED]                                 | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | [REDACTED]      | [REDACTED]              | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                      | [REDACTED]                 |
| [REDACTED]                                 | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | [REDACTED]      | [REDACTED]              | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                      | [REDACTED]                 |
| MedicalMarijuana                       | Cases involving Medical Marijuana                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 5               | 2010- #1                | Forward case to Group 7888. Denise Tamayo (coordinator). Note: the coordinator has permission to close "exclusively educational" organizations. | Open-7-15-10           |
| [REDACTED]                                 | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | [REDACTED]      | [REDACTED]              | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                      | [REDACTED]                 |
| [REDACTED]                                 | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | [REDACTED]      | [REDACTED]              | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                      | [REDACTED]                 |
| PotentiallyAbused FamilyFoundation | Private foundations with identical narrative descriptions. 5 page trust agreements. and husband / wife trustees                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 8               | 2010- #1                | Forward case to Group 7824.                                                                                                                     | Open11/23/10           |
| NewspaperEntities                      | Newspapers requesting exemption as educational organizations                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9               | 2013- #1                | Elevate case to your manager to forward to EO Technical                                                                                         | Open12/13/10           |

Report Exhibits - Page 000993

|                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |    |         |                                                                                                                                                |                |
|----------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|---------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Fire Fighter Organizations | Fire Fighter organizations located in [REDACTED] will be filing for retroactive reinstatement of exempt status due to the Auto-Renewal project.                                                                             | 11 | 2011-#1 | Elevate case to your manager to forward to Group 7822 for coordination with Judy Kindell or Sharon Light (EO Director's senior tech advisors). | Open - 3/29/11 |
|                            | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |    |         | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                     |                |
|                            | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |    |         | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                     |                |
| Green Energy Organizations | Organizations applying for 501(c)(3) status by providing green energy (electricity/power) to other organizations                                                                                                            | 14 | 2011-#1 | Coordinate processing with Mitch Steele, Group 7824.                                                                                           | Open - 7/11/11 |
| Pain Management Clinics    | Pain management clinics in [REDACTED] applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) of the Code. These clinics appear to be involved in abusive schemes as they are forming to avoid state licensing and oversight requirements.   | 15 | 2011-#1 | Forward case to Group 7824.                                                                                                                    | Open - 7/27/11 |
|                            | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |    |         | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                     |                |
| Foundations                | Potentially abusive foundations formed in [REDACTED]. Applicants all have Foundation in their name, requesting 509(a)(2) status, 31-page bylaws, and reported projected revenues of $2,000, $5,000, $7,000 and $10,000. | 17 | 2011-#1 | Forward cases with these factors to Group 7824.                                                                                                | Open - 8/25/11 |
|                            | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |    |         | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                     |                |
|                            | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |    |         | [REDACTED]                                                                                                                                     |                |

[illegible]

Report Exhibits - Page 000995

---

From: Fish David L
Sent: Friday, October 21, 2011 2:10 PM
To: Lowe Justin; Park Nalee
Subject: FW: previously referred cases

---

From: Fish David L
Sent: Friday, October 21, 2011 3:06 PM
To: Downing Nanette M; Nair Vasu T; Grissom Jackie R
Cc: Paz Holly O; Kall Jason C
Subject: previously referred cases

A few months ago we sent 5 or 6 Emerge cases, that had been approved by Determinations, for examination. After discussing it, we figured out that no exam was necessary because we were allowed to revoke our own letters based on the record in the file. (We did denials on several of the Emerge cases up here and there is no difference between those cases and the ones that had been approved earlier by Determs). We wanted to make sure those cases had not entered the exam stream, because we are sending out proposed revocations today. We can send the list of cases if you are not familiar with them.

Report Exhibits - Page 000996

---

From: Megosh Andy
Sent: Thursday, October 20, 2011 9:15 AM
To: Park Nalee
Subject: FW: [REDACTED] Proposed Denial.doc
Attachments: [REDACTED] Proposed Denial.doc

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

---

From: Fish David L
Sent: Thursday, October 20, 2011 8:31 AM
To: Megosh Andy; Repass Mike
Cc: Salins Mary J
Subject: [REDACTED] Proposed Denial.doc

in Justin's absence, we need someone to prepare the Emerga revocations. This is the template approved by Holly and Lois. I would prefer they be done this week and prepared for Holly's signature. If not, they should be prepared for my signature.

Someone needs to eyeball the other files to make sure they all say roughly the same thing so we can use the same letter. I think Justin did it already (and Holly too), but it can't hurt and shouldn't take long.

I would really really like for these to move today or tomorrow.

Report Exhibits - Page 000997

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Friday, February 06, 2009 11:39 AM
To: Waddell Jon M
Cc: Megosh Andy; Buller Siri; Paz Holly O
Subject: RE: Emerge Case Correspondence

Jon,

In place of Justin, who will be on a detail for about six months, you can consult with Siri Buller and Andy Megosh about political activity cases.

Andy and Siri -- can you please get together and call Jon about this case? Thanks.

Steve

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Friday, February 06, 2009 10:45 AM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: FW: Emerge Case Correspondence
Importance: Low

Good Morning Steve,

I have attempted to contact Justin, currently detailed, regarding another Emerge Case(political Case) currently in my group. We have been coordinating with Justin previously on two other cases (described below) and I was just wanting to coordinate the development of our current case, [REDACTED] with him. Overall, would you happen to have someone else we could consult with on this case

thanks

Jon Waddell
Mgr. EO Determin Group 7821
513-263-3684

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Friday, December 12, 2008 10:42 AM
To: Lowe Justin
Subject: RE: Emerge Case Correspondence
Importance: Low

thanks

we will send

---

From: Lowe Justin
Sent: Friday, December 12, 2008 10:36 AM
To: Waddell Jon M
Subject: RE: Emerge Case Correspondence

Report Exhibits - Page 000998

Hi Jon, yes I have the [REDACTED] case (along with [REDACTED]). My fax number is 202-283-8937.

Thanks for the info.

Justin

Justin Lowe
Tax Law Specialist
EO Technical Group 1
Rulings and Agreements, TEGE
Phone: (202)-283-9486
Fax: (202)-283-8937

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Friday, December 12, 2008 10:32 AM
To: Lowe Justin
Subject: Emerge Case Correspondence
Importance: Low

Good Morning Justing,

We have a piece of correspondence on the [REDACTED] case that we sent to D.C. a few months ago. Per EDS, it appears that you have the case and we would be glad to fax. Please give us your fax # and we will send

thanks

Jon Waddell
Mgr. EO Group 7821
513-263-3664

Report Exhibits - Page 000999

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Wednesday, July 20, 2011 2:52 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: FW: Bazinga

Need to find out why these were approved and what are we doing about them. and whether it went through Quality review.

Lois G. Lerner
Director of Exempt Organizations

---

From: Eldridge Michelle L
Sent: Wednesday, July 20, 2011 3:33 PM
To: Lerner Lois G
Cc: Zarin Roberta B
Subject: FW: Bazinga

Heads up Lois--Frank is getting Nikolo--calling you now

---

From: Williams Grant
Sent: Wednesday, July 20, 2011 3:23 PM
To: Eldridge Michelle L
Subject: FW: Bazinga

---

From: Strom, Stephanie [<mailto:ssstrom@nytimes.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 20, 2011 3:19 PM
To: Williams Grant
Subject: Bazinga

Hi, Grant,

So, as I said, I have identified and gotten confirmation that the three organizations denied exemption were Emerge Maine, Emerge Massachusetts and Emerge Nevada.

These organizations are state affiliates of Emerge America, and I believe there are six other Emerges around the country -- some of which have been granted tax exemption as c4s. Emerge California, for example, has I.R.S. approval for tax exemption.

And while Maine, Massachusetts and Nevada were waiting for approval, another Emerge, in Kentucky, which was formed two years after them, was given approval, and Oregon, which also applied a couple of years later, is still pending.

The question, obviously, is why have some of these groups been approved and others not?

I am on a tight deadline so would like to talk to someone or have an answer to the question ASAP.

Report Exhibits - Page 001000

Many thanks, Stephanie

Stephanie Strom
The New York Times
620 Eighth Avenue
New York, NY 10018

O: 212-558-8794
M: 646-281-1402
t: @sstrom

Report Exhibits - Page 001001

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Tuesday, January 24, 2012 9:32 AM
To: Bowling Steven F
Subject: FW: Advocacy Cases --Clarification

Importance: Low

As an addition to the legislative political cases, I would also add the "Occupy Wall Street" issues as ones that would fall under this category

---

From: Waddell Jon M
Sent: Tuesday, January 24, 2012 9:42 AM
To: Bowling Steven F
Subject: Advocacy Cases---Clarification
Importance: Low

Sieve

Based upon our talk, I would suggest the following change in the way we describe advocacy issues going to your group. Specifically, I would rename the category something like "Sensitive Current Event Issues". While we currently refer to these cases as advocacy, I think what we are really seeing and addressing are organizations engaged in substantial legislation and mobilization activities that have a political point of view.

Over the past 2 years, what we have seen in this category has largely revolved around Successor to Acorn Cases and Tea Parties. While these orgs are at opposite sides of the political spectrum, they share common development factors:

1. Usually come in with a c(3) and c(4) applications that are related
2. They are designed to mobilize the public to support a particular cause such as supporting or opposing legislation----i.e healthcare, minimum wage, and supporting public education.
3. While many of the c(4) applications are approvals as the activities mentioned in item # 2 above are permissible social welfare purposes, several c(3) applications will be potential denials if they are engaging in these types of activities.

Overall, what I don't think you want, is to get the typical advocacy case going to your group that is largely unrelated to any of these issues mentioned above. In the basic sense, typical advocacy versus education organizations not related to the items above shouldn't require specialization or coordination.

thanks

Report Exhibits - Page 001002

---

From: Muthert Gary A
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 7:13 AM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Muthert Gary A
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA

I myself look for cases with the names, such as "Tea Party", "Patriots", or the "9/12 Project".

Gary Muthert
TE/GE, ID #1000203255
Screening Group, Group 7838
550 Main Street
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201
513-263-3639 Phone
513-263-5200 FAX

---

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 7:12 AM
To: Muthert Gary A; Vance Roger W; Schaber Dale T
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

Please provide me with what issues may indicate an organization is involved with the tea party movement.

Thanks,

John Shafer
Group Manager
SE:T:EO:RA:D:1:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-5200

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 12:46 AM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Bowling Steven F
Subject: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

John,

Could you send me an email that includes the criteria screeners use to label a case as a "tea party case?" BOLO spreadsheet includes the following:

Report Exhibits - Page 001003

Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).

Do the applications specify/state "tea party"? If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?

I need to forward to Holly per her request below. Thanks.

---

From: Melahn Brenda
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 3:08 PM
To: Paz Holly O; Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: group of cases

Holly - we will UPS a copy of the case in #1 below to your attention tomorrow. It should be there Monday. I'm sure Cindy will respond to #2.

Brenda

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 2:21 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Melahn Brenda
Subject: group of cases

re: Tea Party cases

Two things re: these cases:

1. Can you please send me a copy of the [REDACTED] application? Lois wants Judy to take a look at it so she can summarize the issues for Lois.
2. What criteria are being used to label a case a "Tea Party case"? We want to think about whether those criteria are resulting in over-inclusion.

Lois wants a briefing on these cases. We'll take the lead but would like you to participate. We're aiming for the week of 6/27.

Thanks!

Holly

Report Exhibits - Page 001004

---

From: Vance Roger W
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 7:02 AM
To: Shafer John H
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA

Some of the cases do contain references to the tea party and other cases that I have identified are organizations concerned with government spending, government debt, and taxes.

---

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 7:12 AM
To: Muthert Gary A; Vance Roger W; Schaber Dale T
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

Please provide me with what issues may indicate an organization is involved with the tea party movement.

Thanks,

John Shafer
Group Manager
SE:T:EO:RA:D:1:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-5200

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 12:46 AM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Bowling Steven F
Subject: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

John,

Could you send me an email that includes the criteria screeners use to label a case as a "tea party case?" BOLO spreadsheet includes the following:

Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).

Do the applications specify/state "tea party?" If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?

I need to forward to Holly per her request below. Thanks.

---

From: Melahn Brenda
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 3:08 PM

Report Exhibits - Page 001005

To: Paz Holly O; Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: group of cases

Holly - we will UPS a copy of the case in #1 below to your attention tomorrow. It should be there Monday. I'm sure Cindy will respond to #2.

Brenda

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 2:21 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Melahn Brenda
Subject: group of cases

re: Tea Party cases

Two things re: these cases:

1. Can you please send me a copy of the [REDACTED] application? Lois wants Judy to take a look at it so she can summarize the issues for Lois.
2. What criteria are being used to label a case a "Tea Party case"? We want to think about whether those criteria are resulting in over-inclusion.

Lois wants a briefing on these cases. We'll take the lead but would like you to participate. We're aiming for the week of 6/27.

Thanks!

Holly

Report Exhibits - Page 001006

6275

Internal Revenue Service

Department of the Treasury 11-128

Washington, DC 20224

National Policy Forum
229 1/2 Pennsylvania Ave., S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003

Person to Contact: Michael Seto
Telephone Number: (202) 622-6477

Refer Reply to: CP:E:EO:T:3

Date: FEB 21 1997

Employer Identification Number: 52-1827887
Key District: Southeast (Baltimore, MD)

Dear Applicant:

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(4). Based on the information submitted, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under that section. The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

The information submitted indicates that you were incorporated on May 24, 1993 under the non-profit corporation laws of the District of Columbia. In your Articles of Incorporation, you describe your purposes as follows:

[t]o encourage the involvement of citizens in free and open debate, the public exchange and development of ideas, discussions, dialogues, conferences, and discourses, to promote public forums, seminars and colloquia and information dissemination to the general populace, to develop a national Republican policy agenda and to serve as a clearinghouse for the collection and review of research and ideas on issues affecting foreign affairs, national security, economy, environment, energy, government lands, commerce, labor, federal budget, . . . and other issues of concern to or affecting the citizens of the United States of America [emphasis added].

As stated in your newsletter, Ideas Matter (May 1995 Issue), you are "[a] Republican Center for the Exchange of Ideas." "That exchange will be open and inclusive -- not exclusively for Republicans but an exchange that invites serious commentary from Democrats, Independents, and the heretofore apolitical as well[.]" according to your publication, Common Sense (Volume 1, Winter 1994, Number 1). You were founded, according to your brochure and prospectus, on three premises; 1) "that fundamentally, ideas make the difference in politics," 2) "that traditionally, ideas that make a difference have been associated

Report Exhibits - Page 001007

6276

- 2 -

National Policy Forum

with political parties," 1) "that currently, workable ideas are more likely to be found at the grassroots than in Washington."

Your organization, as described in your news release of December 8, 1993, "is composed of civic, community and business leaders, Republican elected officials, former office-holders, and other prominent Americans from all walks of life." You are not a membership organization, but your bylaws permit the board of directors to create classes of "membership" - contributing membership and honorary membership. These memberships do not carry voting rights or other organizational rights.

Your bylaws provide that a board of directors governs and directs your operations. The board of directors is invested with the power to appoint or remove board members. The initial board of directors included Mr. Ealey Barbour, the former chairman of the Republican National Committee, the political arm of the Republican Party. The information in our administrative files shows that your board members include Mr. Barbour and other prominent Republican Party members, including Senator Nickles of Oklahoma, former Republican Minority House Leader Bob Michel, former Secretary of Labor and former Maryland Senatorial candidate William E. Brock, Governor George V. Voinovich of Ohio, John Bolton, United States Representative John Boehner, former Republican gubernatorial candidate Jeb Bush and Teresa Lubbers (a member of an organization called Republican Professional Women's Roundtable). Mr. Bolton also serves as president of your organization.

One major activity you conduct in furtherance of the above described purposes is policy councils. The purpose of the policy councils is to "search for ideas by holding public and intensely participatory grassroots forums across the country." Each council has two co-chairs and members that include Congressional members, state legislators, and individuals from the private sectors. Each council addresses a specific policy area such as "Reforming Health Care," "Improving Schools and Education," "Reducing the Size and Scope of Government," or "Reforming the Legal and Regulatory Systems" (see page 5 of your prospectus). Each policy council holds public grassroots forums that address issues relating to that council's public policy area.

Your policy councils thus far have held several forums on topics such as education reform (December 7, 1993), violent crimes (December 8, 1993), and federal land use (December 15, 1993). The forums featured three panels, a panel of your representatives, a panel of expert witnesses and a panel of Congressmen -- whose purpose was to listen to viewpoints of other panelists and audience and provide their perspective. The forums were conducted in question and answer format and were hosted by your officers. The forums began with opening remarks by your president and chairman, followed by testimony of your expert witnesses, and other guests and participants. Discussion with the general audience then followed. Each policy council then reported its findings and policy recommendations to your board of directors.

6277

- 1 -

National Policy Forum

Many prominent Republican Party politicians served as speakers or panelists at your forums. For example, Republican Senator Hank Brown, former Republican Senator Malcolm Wallop (also served as a chairman of a policy council), Republican House of Representatives members Dan Schaefer, Joel Eefley, Wayne Allard, and former House Representative Craig Thomas participated at your February 14, 1994 forum (see NPF news release of February 8, 1994). The participants in your December 11, 1993 forum included Republican Senator Orrin Hatch, former Republican Senator Malcolm Wallop, former Commodity Futures Trading Commission Chairwoman Wendy Gramm, and Republican Congressman James Hansen (see December 7, 1993 News Media Advisory release). The panelists in your September 19, 1995 forum included Republican Senators Kay Bailey Hutchinson, Thad Cochran, Ted Stevens, Rod Grams and Republican House of Representatives member Mark Souder, Jennifer Dunn and Sue Myrick, and other individuals from private industries. The keynote speaker at this forum was former Republican House Representative and vice-presidential candidate Jack Kemp. Other forums you have had also featured prominent Republican Party politicians such as Governor Todd Whitman of New Jersey, Governor William Weld of Massachusetts (see April 12, 1994 NPF news release), House Speaker Newt Gingrich (see October 18, 1995 news release), House Majority Whip Tom DeLay (see July 24, 1995 NPF news release), Marilyn Tucker Quayle (see April 26, 1994 news media advisory release) and other well known Republican Party politicians or persons affiliated with the Republican Party.

You produce a monthly televised policy-oriented program called "Listening to America: A Neighborhood Meeting." The purpose of this program is to communicate ideas and to allow the public to participate in policy discussion. Many prominent Republican Party politicians were speakers at these monthly programs (such as Republican Senators Hank Brown and Malcolm Wallop, see February 10, 1994 news media advisory release).

You hold "mega-conferences" whose purpose is to focus on long-range policy issues (i.e., Trade and the Economy, Health Care) and to allow interested members of the public to participate in the discussion of these policy issues. Many prominent Republican Party politicians were speakers at your mega-conferences, and they included Republican Senators Richard Lugar, Charles Grassley, Kaye Bailey Hutchinson and Republican Governor Terry Branstad of Iowa.

6278

- 4 -

National Policy Forum

You publish quarterly a journal called Common Sense, and the purpose of this journal, as stated in your pamphlet, is to enhance "the policy debate by providing a source for provocative thinking and lively debate about the parties, politics, and public policy." The cover of Volume 1 Winter 1994 Number 1 of Common Sense stated that it was "a Republican Journal of Thought and Opinion." The journal was distributed to forum participants, elected officials and policy makers and all other interested persons. The authors of the articles in each edition of the journal were selected by your board of directors. The authors included politicians (e.g., Mike Leavitt, Republican Governor of Utah; Tommy G. Thompson, Republican Governor of Wisconsin), academicians (e.g., Andrew E. Busch, assistant professor, University of Denver) and individuals in the private sector (e.g., Charles J. Cooper, a law firm partner; Linda DiVall, vice-president of a survey research firm). The topics of the articles included foreign policy (e.g., "The United States and Greater China", "Nato and U.S. Interests") and domestic policy (e.g., "Unfunded Federal Mandates And The Need For a New Federalism", "Remembering The Question or, A Brief History of the Republican Party").

You have been operating with funds supplied by contributors - and the Republican National Committee. The Republican National Committee, from May of 1993 to December of 1995, provided you thirty seven loans totalling $2,595,000. The interest rate on these loans ranged from 7.5 percent to 10.5 percent. There were no indications that the terms of the loans were negotiated at arms length. You have used services provided by the Republican National Committee. These services included duplicating and printing materials, office furniture, moving services, etc. You stated that you were billed for these services at fair market value. You have raised $690,000 in contributions from sources other than the Republican National Committee.

Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (hereinafter "Code") provides for the exemption from federal income tax of organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations (hereinafter "Regulations") provides that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community.

Report Exhibits - Page 001010

6279

- 5 -

National Policy Forum

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) of the Regulations provides that the promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

Rev. Rul. 60-193, 1960-1 C.B. 195, concludes that an organization created to encourage greater participation in governmental and political affairs qualifies for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Activities of the organization included seminars and workshops held on campuses of colleges and universities. The subject matter of these seminars relates to the American political system. All lecturers, including academic political scientists and political leaders from the local and national levels, were required to maintain certain technical standards and were not allowed to advocate for any particular political group. Seminars and workshops were moderated by permanent staff personnel of the organization in order to prevent the program from becoming partisan in character.

Rev. Rul. 73-306, 1973-2 C.B. 179, provides that an organization formed for the purpose of promoting the common interest of tenants who reside in an apartment complex did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Any person regularly living in the complex is eligible for membership. The organization represented its member-tenants in negotiations with the management of the complex in order to secure better maintenance and services, and reasonable rentals. This revenue ruling concludes that this organization was operated to benefit its members and was not primarily engaged in activities that promote the common good and general welfare of the community.

In contrast, Rev. Rul. 80-206, 1980-2 C.B. 185, provides that an organization formed to promote the legal rights of all tenants in a community qualifies for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 73-349, 1973-2 C.B. 179, holds that an organization formed to purchase groceries for its members at the lowest possible prices on a cooperative basis is not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Each member paid for the cost of food ordered plus a monthly service charge which defrayed the organization's expenses. The organization was a cooperative enterprise for the economic benefit or convenience of its members. This revenue ruling states that the organization was operated primarily for the benefit of members and not to promote the common good and general welfare of the community.

Report Exhibits - Page 001011

6280

- 6 -

National Policy Forum

Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed by the residents of a city block to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block, and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Its activities consisted of paying the city government to plant trees on public property within the block, organizing residents to pick up litter and refuse in the public streets and on public sidewalks within the block, and encouraging residents to take an active part in beautifying the block by placing shrubbery in public areas. Much of the public area improved by the organization was part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. Membership in the organization was restricted to residents of the block and those owning property or operating businesses there.

This revenue ruling concludes that the organization did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code but did qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4). It states that because the activities enhanced the value of the members' property rights, the organization served the private interests of its members and did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). It states also that while the organization's activities were benefiting its members there was sufficient benefit conferred upon the community as a whole. Although private benefit did exist to the members, the primary benefit was to the community. Therefore, the organization was not operated primarily for the benefit of members, but primarily to promote social welfare.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to a cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Membership in the corporation was established by the purchase of a corporate share which entitled the purchaser to an apartment unit. The court held that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code because the operation was a private self help enterprise with only incidental benefit to the community.

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 877 (1974), plumbers working in New York City were responsible for the cuts they made in the city streets. Prior to the organization's existence, the city had repaired the cuts and billed the plumbers individually. This system proved to be highly inefficient. The organization was formed as a cooperative in order to restore the city streets. It only repaired cuts made by its members. The joint effort of the plumbers reduced their

Report Exhibits - Page 001012

6281

- 7 -

National Policy Forum

liability and their expenses. While the court found the program to be highly beneficial, it concluded that the organization principally served the private economic interests of its members and, thus, could not be considered exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 66-256, 1966-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed to bring about a fair and openminded consideration of social, political, and international questions by the promotion and sponsorship of a public forum at which debates and lectures were conducted. The organization invited prominent individuals to discuss varying political and social matters of national and community interest. The speakers, in addition to delivering their prepared text, answered questions of those attending. The other part of the organization's program involved the sponsorship of debates. Individuals representing opposing viewpoints were invited to debate particular topics. The debates were conducted in accordance with carefully drawn rules. Frequently, the persons invited to lecture or debate were controversial and occasionally there was opposition to their appearance. None of the programs or activities of the organization involved the participation or intervention in any political campaigns of candidates for public office.

The revenue ruling states that the presentation of public lectures, forums, or debates was a recognized method of educating the public. The fact that the presence of the invited speaker or his opinions may precipitate controversy within the community did not adversely affect the status of an organization whose primary purpose was to provide a forum for speakers. Consequently, the organization qualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3).

Rev. Rul. 76-456, 1976-2 C.B. 151, describes an organization that was formed for the purpose of elevating the standards of ethics and morality that prevail in the conduct of campaigns for election to public office at the national, state, and local levels. On a nonpartisan basis the organization collected, collated, and disseminated information concerning general campaign practices through the press, radio, television, mail, and public speeches. In addition, the organization furnished 'teaching aids' to political science and civics teachers to help stress the need for ethical conduct in political campaigns. The organization proposed a Code of fair campaign practices. Although need for the Code was extensively publicized, the organization did not solicit the signing or endorsement of the code by candidates for political office.

The revenue ruling states that the organization was instructing the public on subjects useful to the individual and

Report Exhibits - Page 001013

6282

- 8 -

National Policy Forum

beneficial to the community within the meaning of section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(3) of the regulations by encouraging voters to concern themselves with fair as well as unfair practices encountered in political campaigns. This was done, on a nonpartisan basis, so that citizens could increase their knowledge and understanding of our election processes and participate more effectively in their selection of government officials. Consequently, the organization was operated exclusively for educational purposes and thus qualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178, describes an organization whose activities included the publication of Congressional incumbents' voting records on selected issues in a non-partisan newsletter. The revenue ruling observes that the format and content of the publication were not neutral because the publication reported each incumbent's votes and his/her views on selected legislative issues and indicated whether that incumbent supported or opposed the organization's view. However, the voting records of all incumbents were presented and candidates for reelection were not identified. No comment was made on an individual's overall qualifications for public office, no statements expressly or impliedly endorsed or rejected any incumbent as a candidate for public office, and no comparison of incumbents with other candidates were made. The organizations noted the inherent limitations of judging the qualifications of an incumbent on the basis of certain selected votes by stating the need to consider such unrecorded matters as performance on subcommittees and constituent services. Furthermore, the organization did not widely distribute its compilation of incumbents' voting records. The publication was distributed to the organization's normal readership, numbering only a few thousand nationwide. This resulted in a very small distribution in any particular state or Congressional district. No attempt was made to target the publication toward particular areas in which elections are occurring nor to time the date of publication to coincide with an election. The revenue ruling concludes that the organization was not engaged in prohibited political campaign activity.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), an organization was formed for charitable and educational purposes. The organization's primary activity was to operate a school. The school-trained individuals for careers as political campaign professionals. The school maintained a regularly scheduled curriculum, a regular faculty and a full-time enrolled student body. Prior to the formation of the organization, the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC) sponsored programs designed to train candidates and to train and

Report Exhibits - Page 001014

6283

- 9 -

National Policy Forum

subsequently place campaign professionals in Republican campaigns. The organization stated that it was an outgrowth of the programs operated by the NRCC. NRCC contributed the physical assets, such as furniture and computer hardware, to the organization. Two of the organization's six full-time faculty were previously involved in the NRCC's training program. One of the organization's three initial directors was the executive director of the NRCC. The organization did not train candidates or participate in, or intervene in, any political campaign on behalf of any candidate. Neither did the organization engage in any activities tending to influence legislation. Applicants were required to provide the organization with professional references. While applicants were not required to formally declare their political affiliation to attend the organization's school, such affiliation could be deduced from the campaign experiences and political references contained in the applications. Graduates of the school were employed by various Republican organizations. No graduate was known to have affiliated with any domestic political party other than the Republican Party.

The Court concluded that the organization's activities benefited the private interests of Republican entities and candidates more than incidentally. The organization, thus, served a substantial nonexempt purpose. Although the school had a legitimate educational program, the Court held that the school conducted its educational activities with the partisan objective of benefiting the interests of the Republican Party as evidenced by:

- 1) the composition of the school's board of directors
- 2) the failure of the school to counterbalance the Republican party focus of its curriculum with comparable studies of the Democratic or other political parties,
- 3) the incorporation of the school by the General Counsel of the National Republican Congressional Committee, an unincorporated association comprised of Republican members of the House of Representatives; and,
- 4) a lack of showing by the school that its graduates served in Congressional and Senatorial campaigns of candidates from both major political parties in substantial numbers.

Report Exhibits - Page 001015

6284

- 13 -

National Policy Forum

ANALYSIS

A. Promoting Social Welfare

In order to qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code, an organization must be primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. The promotion of social welfare may include activities that educate the public or lobby public officials or both. Exemption is not dependent on the point of view of the educational material or the issue being lobbied. In contrast to lobbying and educational activities, partisan political activity does not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4). Such activity promotes the interests of one political faction. An organization engaging in such activity is engaged not merely in the clash of ideas, but in a contest for power.

Based on the information you submitted, it appears that you are a partisan issues-oriented organization. Specifically, your activities are designed to promote the Republican Party and politicians affiliated with the Republican Party. This partisanship is exhibited in the key officers and personnel that founded and operate your organization. For example, an initial board member was Mr. Halley Barbour, the former chairman of the Republican National Committee. Most members of your current board of directors are affiliated or identified with the Republican Party. These members include Mr. Barbour, Republican Senator Don Nickles, former Republican Congressman Bob Michel, former Republican senatorial candidate William Brock, and Republican Governor George C. Voinovich. Although you have members -- honorary and contributing members -- they do not have an organizational voice (or voting rights) in your operations.

This partisanship is also exhibited in your operation. The speakers or participants that you invited to your forums usually were identified or affiliated with the Republican Party. For example, the speakers or participants at your February 14, 1994 and December 15, 1993 forums are former or current Republican Party public office holders (i.e., Senator Orrin Hatch, Senator Mark Brown, Wendy Gramm, Congressman James Hansen, Congressman Dan Schaefer, Congressman Joel Hefley, Congressman Wayne Allard, and so forth). Other speakers include Governor Weld of Massachusetts and Governor Whitman of New Jersey. You have not indicated whether you have invited to your forums speakers or panelists who are affiliated or identified with other political parties.

Your publications reflect a political partisanship toward the Republican Party. For example, the word "Republican" is used

Report Exhibits - Page 001016

6285

- 11 -

National Policy Forum

in your press releases, journals and newsletters. You have published speeches of prominent Republican Party politicians such as Newt Gingrich (Speaker of the House), Richard Lugar (Republican senator), Casper Weinberger (former cabinet member in the Reagan administration), Peta du Pont and former Republican Party presidential nomination candidate Malcolm "Steve" Forbes. You also have published articles about the Republican Party (e.g., "Remembering The Question or, a Brief History of the Republican Party", Common Sense, Volume 1 Winter 1994 Number 1).

Your financial support also reflects this Republican Party partisanship. You have received substantial financial support from the Republican National Committee. The Republican National Committee lent you more than 2.5 million dollars since your formation. You also purchased supplies and services from the Republican National Committee. Although the financial support was in the form of loans, there was no indication that the terms of the loans reflect commercial market rates.

You claim to be a nonpartisan issues-oriented organization, and we acknowledge that you are issues-oriented. However, your activities are no less partisan as demonstrated by the manner in which you operate your organization and conduct your activities. Unlike the organization described in Rev. Rul. 60-193, supra, which encouraged participation in the political process by explaining the process on a nonpartisan basis, you were created for the partisan objective of promoting a particular political party. Based on the above facts and circumstances, we conclude that, because of your partisan nature, you are not engaged in activities that promote social welfare.

B. Operating Exclusively to Benefit the Whole Community

An organization exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code must be promoting the common good and general welfare of the whole community. Benefitting select individuals or groups, instead of the community as a whole, is contrary to this requirement. See Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra. For example, the tenants' organization described in Rev. Rul. 73-306, supra, is distinguishable from the one described in Rev. Rul. 80-206, supra, in that its activities are directed primarily toward benefitting its member-tenants rather than all tenants in the community. See e.g., Rev. Rul. 73-349; Lake Forest, Inc.; and Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp., supra. Therefore, a sufficient amount of benefit to select individuals will preclude an organization that would otherwise qualify for exemption from being described in section 501(c)(4).

6286

- 12 -

National Policy Forum

This private benefit standard is also demonstrated in the American Campaign Academy, supra, and is relevant here. In the case, the court held that an organization created to serve a particular faction in the political spectrum was not exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because its activities benefited the private interest of that particular faction. The private benefit standard used in American Campaign Academy is similar under section 501(c)(4). The difference is in the weighing of the private benefits (i.e. the amount of private benefits), not the standard. See Reg. Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra.

- The information you submitted clearly indicates that you, like the organization described in American Campaign Academy, are operated primarily for the benefit of a select group. This select group consists of the Republican Party and politicians affiliated with the Republican Party. Specifically, your activities benefited the Republican party and its affiliated politicians by enhancing the electoral and political fortunes of the aforementioned. These activities generated public support and enthusiasm for your policies and positions. In turn, the public support and enthusiasm could enhance the election or reelection prospects of Republican politicians (i.e. their political careers) and, thereby, the fortunes of the Republican Party. Also, political identification with the Republican Party was strengthened when individuals participated in your forums and mega-conferences. Your publications, the journals and newsletters, also served to enhance the electoral prospect of Republican politicians because they could generate party identification with and political support for the Republican Party and politicians.

This conclusion is supported by your orientation toward the Republican Party, which is demonstrated in the history, creation, control, and operation of your organization. As illustrated in your press releases, journal, newsletters, and prospectus, the word "Republican" is used throughout these publications. The speakers or participants that you invited to your forums usually were identified or affiliated with the Republican Party. For example, many speakers or participants (Senator Orrin Hatch, Senator Hank Brown, Wendy Gramm, Congressman James Hansen, Congressman Dan Schaefer, Congressman Joel Hefley, Congressman Wayne Allard, and so forth) at your forums were former or current Republican Party office holders. You have not indicated whether individuals affiliated with other political parties were invited to be speakers at your forums. Control of your organization resides with individuals who are members of or affiliated with the Republican Party.

6287

- 13 -

National Policy Forum

CONCLUSION

In summary, we conclude that you are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because you are a partisan issues-oriented organization and your activities are partisan. In addition, we conclude that your activities also substantially benefitted the Republican Party and politicians affiliated with the Republican Party. Accordingly, you do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code, and you must file federal income tax returns.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you should submit a statement of your views, with a full explanation of your reasoning. This statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date of this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Practices Requirements.

If we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and copies will be forwarded to your key district office. Thereafter, any questions about your federal income tax status should be addressed to that office.

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: CP:E:EO:T:J, Room 6137
1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20224

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Edward K. Karcher
Chief, Exempt Organizations
Technical Branch 1

Report Exhibits - Page 001019

Shafer John H

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Friday, February 24, 2012 4:25 PM
To: Bowling Steven F; Shafer John H
Subject: FW: Congressional Follow-Up - NEED INFO

Importance: High

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Due By: Tuesday, February 28, 2012 12:00 PM
Flag Status: Flagged

Steve/John - Do either of you remember when we added the advocacy cases to the BOLO? My records show that we sent [REDACTED] to EOT in March 2010. Do you think that is when we started identifying them or before? If before, a rough estimate would be fine.

Steve -- I know that Ron Bell was initially working [REDACTED] and coordinating with Chip Hull. Did Ron FTE any of the cases or approve any? If so, can you check with him to see how many? And, if he FTE'd any, how many came back?

Thanks for info.

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Friday, February 24, 2012 4:11 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: Congressional Follow-Up
Importance: High

Please see #2 below - When did Dolems first put these on the BOLO list? Don't need answer today. Sometime next week is good. Thanks!

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Friday, February 24, 2012 3:46 PM
To: Spellmann Don R; Cook Janine; Paz Holly O
Cc: Kindell Judith E; Lowe Justin; Flax Nikole C; Urban Joseph J
Subject: Congressional Follow-Up
Importance: High

Just came back from the meeting and they have asked for several things.

1. Don/Janine-- The guidance provided to Cincy that Don reviewed-- I'm hoping you can let us know your concerns as soon as possible so we can finalize the draft. We will be sending it over to them and putting it out on the web with other check sheets/guide sheets.

2. Holly--a timeline relating to the uptick--that is, about when did we notice there were enough of these that we needed guidance from R & A and then when did we get cases up here to look at. If there is info regarding development and FTEs and replacement cases, give me that too.

3. Case Grading Guide--I think it is not disclosable, but please confirm and if not, let me know the basis.

22 Feb 2012 3:55 PM

SM

SP:11 ET02-06-AM

71-000026

PSI-IRS-09-000026

Report Exhibits - Page 001020

Thanks to all who got me ready for today—I think it went as well as it could.

John F. Lawrence
Director of Exempt Organizations

12-11 06:00 PM

12-11

12-11 06:00 PM

71-000027

PSI-IRS-09-000027

Report Exhibits - Page 001021

Page 1 of 4

Thomas Cindy M

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Wednesday, March 17, 2010 4:14 PM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Comarillo Sharon L
Subject: RE: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]
Sounds good. Thanks John.

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Wednesday, March 17, 2010 1:48 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Comarillo Sharon L
Subject: RE: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]
Importance: Low

I will sent [REDACTED] to EO Technical [REDACTED] I can hold the remaining cases in my group "75" number unless you want them held some other place.

John Shafer
Group Manager
SE:T:EO:RA:D:2:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-5200

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Wednesday, March 17, 2010 1:21 PM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Comarillo Sharon L
Subject: FW: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]

John,

Per Holly's e-mail directly below, EOT does not want all of the tea party cases. They only want 2 of them and want us to hold the remainder. We can discuss who should hold them if you would like. Let me know. Thanks.

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, March 17, 2010 12:40 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: RE: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]

Cindy,

Thanks for the heads up. [REDACTED] but had not yet heard that there were more. I think we should take a few more cases (I'd say 2) and would ask that you hold the rest until we get a sense of what the issues may be. Then when we will work with Deternis in working the other cases.

513 263 3696 2010-03-17

IRS 03/17/10 11:58 AM

71-000040

PSI-IRS-09-000040

Report Exhibits - Page 001022

Page 3 of 4

Subject: [REDACTED] --- Does EO Technical Want [REDACTED]?

Holly,

Page 2 of 4

FYI - I will be on maternity leave starting tomorrow. Steve will be acting as head of EO Tech.

Holly

---

From: Thomas Cindy M

Sent: Wednesday, March 17, 2010 12:10 AM

To: Paz Holly Q

Subject: FW: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]

Importance: High

Holly,

Did you know about these additional 10 tea party cases? Do you want all of them or do you only want a few and then give us advice as to what to do with the remaining?

---

From: Shafer John H

Sent: Tuesday, March 16, 2010 9:35 AM

To: Thomas Cindy M

Cc: Camarillo Sharon L

Subject: RE: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]

Importance: Low

Cindy,

We have identified a total of 10 Tea Party cases. Three cases have been approved, two 501(c)(4) and one 501(c)(3). I have collected the other cases and will forward them to EO Technical.

John Shafer

Group Manager

SE:T:EO:RA:D:2:7838

Telephone: (513)263-3406

FAX: (513)263-5200

---

From: Thomas Cindy M

Sent: Friday, February 26, 2010 8:36 AM

To: Shafer John H

Cc: Camarillo Sharon L

Subject: FW: [REDACTED] --- EO Technical Would Like [REDACTED]

EO Technical would like [REDACTED]. Please thank Jack for identifying the issue and elevating it. Thanks.

---

From: Paz Holly Q

Sent: Friday, February 26, 2010 8:23 AM

To: Thomas Cindy M

Subject: RE: [REDACTED] --- Does EO Technical Want [REDACTED]?

I think sending [REDACTED] up here is a good idea given the potential for media interest. Thanks.

---

From: Thomas Cindy M

Sent: Thursday, February 25, 2010 10:00 PM

To: Paz Holly Q

DB: [REDACTED] 569C 632 175

SHI

BS:TT CTBZ-DE-AM

71-000041

PSI-IRS-09-000041

Report Exhibits - Page 001023

Page 2 of 5

Gary Muthert
TEPS, ID #1000203295
Screening Group, Group 7108
150 Main Street
Chardon, Ohio 42011
513-263-5239 Phone
513-263-5200 FAX

Page 1 of 3

Thomas Cindy M

From: Speaker John H
Sent: Tuesday, April 06, 2010 10:00 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Camerillo Sharon L
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases -- ACTION
Attachments: Tea Party 4-5-2010.xls
Cindy & Sharon,

Gary has added a few more cases that he discovered. I have all of the status "75" cases in my office.

John Shafer
Group Manager
SE: TEO: RA: O: 1: 7838
Telephone: (513) 263-3406
FAX: (513) 263-5200

From: Muthert Gary A
Sent: Monday, April 05, 2010 2:29 PM
To: Muthert Gary A; Shafer John H; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases -- ACTION

513 263 5239
P. 04

581

BS: T1 ET02-06-2010

71-000042

PSI: IRS-09-000042

Report Exhibits - Page 001024

Page 3 of 3

From: Shoemaker Ronald J
Sent: Monday, April 05, 2010 11:30 AM
To: Elliot-Moore Donna; Grodnitzky Steven Subject: RE: [REDACTED]

From: Elliot-Moore Donna
Sent: Friday, April 02, 2010 8:38 AM
To: Grodnitzky Steven; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: [REDACTED]

The Tea Party movement is covered in the Post almost daily; expect to see more applications.

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Thursday, April 01, 2010 1:04 PM
To: Elliot-Moore Donna; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: [REDACTED]

These are [REDACTED] cases as they deal with the Tea Party so there may be media attention. May need to do an SCR on them.

From: Elliot-Moore Donna
Sent: Thursday, April 01, 2010 7:43 AM
To: Grodnitzky Steven; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: [REDACTED]

I looked briefly and it looks [REDACTED]

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Wednesday, March 31, 2010 5:30 PM
To: Elliot-Moore Donna; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: [REDACTED]

Thanks. Just want to be clear -- [REDACTED]

Ron! -- can you let me know who is getting [REDACTED]?

From: Elliot-Moore Donna
Sent: Wednesday, March 31, 2010 10:30 AM
To: Grodnitzky Steven Subject: [REDACTED]

Steve:

Re: [REDACTED]

Holly accepted [REDACTED] for EO Technical. Complex of email exchanges between Cindy Thomas and Holly in case files.

The concern is potential for media attention.

They will be assigned to Group 2.

FYI

Donna

5010 5556 552 515

501

05:11 5162-02-AUN

71-00043

PSI-IRS-09-000043

Report Exhibits - Page 001025

517 267 3695 P.06

IRS

65:11 102-20-2013 11:59

71-000044

PSI-IRS-09-000044

Report Exhibits - Page 001026

Page 1 of 2

Thomas Cindy M

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Monday, April 26, 2010 11:35 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Camarillo Sharon L; Melahn Brenda; Brinkley Lynn A; Craig Karen K; Berry Daniel W; Shafer John H; Shoemaker Ronald J; Hull Carter C
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases
Signed By: There are problems with the signature. Click the signature button for details.
Please have her contact Ron Shoemaker. Thanks.

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Sunday, April 25, 2010 1:00 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Cc: Camarillo Sharon L; Melahn Brenda; Brinkley Lynn A; Craig Karen K; Berry Daniel W; Shafer John H
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases

Steve,

We are going to have those cases assigned to Liz Hofacre. Liz reports to Joseph Herr in Brenda Melahn's area. After she gets the cases, who in EOT should she contact to coordinate development?

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Saturday, April 24, 2010 6:21 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Cc: Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: RE: SCR

Steve,

None of those cases have been assigned. They have been sitting in our Screening Group waiting for guidance from EOT. I will discuss with Area Managers to find out who we will have work these cases and will get back with you. Thanks.

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 4:37 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Grodnitzky Steven; Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: FW: SCR

I understand that you have a number of these cases in Cincy. It may not be a bad idea to coordinate with the individual(s) who have the cases in Cincy so that you can start developing them.

If you have the names of the agents and manager with those cases, please let me know. We should at least have a call and see how we can work together.

From: Shoemaker Ronald J
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:28 PM
To: Grodnitzky Steven
Subject: RE: SCR

Sorry, I forgot about [REDACTED] See the attached document.

2010 04 23 11:59 AM PST

581

65:11 11:59 AM PST

71-000045

PSI-IRS-09-000045

Report Exhibits - Page 001027

Page 2 of 2

---

From: Grodnitzky Steven
Sent: Friday, April 23, 2010 3:13 PM
To: Shoemaker Ronald J
Subject: SCR

What about the SCR for the Tea Party cases? I believe that Chip has the cases. Can you or Chip make up the SCR, and confer with Cincy to include their information in the SCR? They have a few cases, and I believe that some have even been granted exemption. Thanks.

Steven Grodnitzky
Acting Manager, EO Technical
Rulings and Agreements, TEGE
Internal Revenue Service
phone: (202) 283-8941
fax: (202) 283-8837

513 263 3655 P. 08

IRS MAY-30-2013 11:59

71-000048

PSI-IRS-09-000046

Report Exhibits - Page 001028

Page 1 of 3

Thomas Cindy M

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Friday, June 10, 2011 5:14 PM
To: Paz Holly O; Seto Michael C
Subject: FW: Coordination Question - For meeting tentatively scheduled for 6/13

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Wednesday, June 08, 2011 4:46 PM
To: Seto Michael C
Cc: Esby Donnie A; Bowling Steven F; Bell Ronald D; Hull Carter C; Kastenberg Elizabeth C
Subject: Coordination Question

Mike,

Ron Bell received the email directly below from Chip regarding the "tea party cases" and the criteria for identifying these cases. It appears there is some duplication of efforts because Holly already asked me for information last week. Refer to my email below dated 6/2/2011. If you would like to discuss, please feel free to call me. Thanks.

From: Hull Carter C
Sent: Wednesday, June 08, 2011 1:52 PM
To: Bell Ronald D
Cc: Bowling Steven F; Kastenberg Elizabeth C
Subject: Coordination Question
Importance: High

Hi Ron,

In order to present a balanced picture to Lois Lerner at our briefing, we have a couple of questions concerning how the cases on your list were identified to be included in your list.

The EO Delineations Screening Checklist lists "Political Activities - Sensitive Issues" and the IRM 7.20.5.4 describes cases such as these as "impact cases." On screening, how were the cases on your list identified as political? For example, were specific identifying words used, people or location, etc.? Did any particular person within EO indicate that these types of cases should be set aside and included on the list? Or was there a memorandum of some kind requesting that EO take a closer look at those types of cases? We noted that the list contained organizations that appeared to be of a particular political ideology. Were any other political ideology cases included (e.g. liberal, conservative, well-known, particular people or identifying particular people or affiliations)?

Thank you for your assistance. Any information you can gather on this would be most helpful. If you have any questions, you can contact me or Elizabeth Kastenberg at (202) 253-9468.

Chip

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 10:35 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: group of cases

The email below from John Shafer, Screening Manager, outlines the criteria the screening group is using to identify cases as "tea party cases." This is criteria the screening group came up with based on cases they were seeing. If we don't want the screening group to include all of these type issues as "tea party

6/10/2011 5:14 PM
Paz Holly O

IRS 6/10/2011 5:14 PM

71-000047

PSI-IRS-09-000047

Report Exhibits - Page 001029

Page 2 of 3

cases," they would have no problem including or excluding certain cases. However, they need to be given the criteria to use. And, if we don't want certain cases included, then EOD still needs to know how the cases should be processed. I guess what I am trying to say is that it doesn't matter what the cases are called or how they are grouped, EOD needs guidance to ensure consistency.

Process: When the screening group starts seeing new type cases that have similar issues, they meet and come up with criteria to identify "emerging issue" and elevate information. "Emerging issue" cases are sent to Group 7822 (Steve Bowling's group) and we start coordinating with EOT to seek guidance.

Would you like for me to ask Bonnie Esrig, Steve Bowling, Group 7822 Manager, and Ron Bell, agent working "tea party cases" to participate in the briefing with Lois?

---

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 9:21 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Bowling Steven F
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA

Cindy,

The following are issues that could indicate a case to be considered a potential "tea party" case and sent to Group 7822 for secondary screening.

1. "Tea Party", "Patriots" or "8/12 Project" is referenced in the case file.
2. Issues include government spending, government debt and taxes.
3. Educate the public through advocacy/legislative activities to make America a better place to live.
4. Statements in the case file that are critical of the way the country is being run.

John Shafer
Group Manager
SEIT:EQ:RA:D:1:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-6200

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 12:46 AM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Bowling Steven F
Subject: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

John,

Could you send me an email that includes the criteria screeners use to label a case as a "tea party case?" BOLO spreadsheet includes the following:

Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).

Do the applications specify/state "tea party?" If not, how do you know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?

I need to forward to Holly per her request below. Thanks.

---

<N67013
01'd 569E 092 CTS

SRI

6S:11 0182-0E-AUM

71-000048

PSI-IRS-09-000048

Report Exhibits - Page 001030

Page 3 of 3

From: Melahn Brenda
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 3:08 PM
To: Paz Holly O; Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: group of cases

Holly - we will UPS a copy of [REDACTED] in #1 below to your attention tomorrow. It should be there Monday. I'm sure Cindy will respond to #2.

Brenda

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 2:21 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Melahn Brenda
Subject: group of cases

re: Tea Party cases

Two things re: these cases:

[REDACTED]

2. What criteria are being used to label a case a "Tea Party case"? We want to think about whether those criteria are resulting in over-inclusion.

Lola wants a briefing on those cases. We'll take the lead but would like you to participate. We're aiming for the week of 6/27.

Thanks!

Holly

5/16/2013 11:11 P
SL3 263 3695

SR1

65:11: C102-05-M

71-000049

PSI-HS-09-000049

Report Exhibits - Page 001031

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, May 10, 2012 5:45 PM
To: Lahey Victoria; Lewis Jovonnie; Brinkley Lynn A; Waddell Jon M; Bibb Kenneth B; Berry Daniel W
Cc: Haley Philip H; Shankling Lonnie; Jefferson-White Beverly J; Angner William J; Shafer John H; Muthert Gary A; Bowling Steven F; Combs Peggy L; Eskig Bonnie A; Sheer Mary; Chumney Tyler N; Abner Donna J
Subject: FW: Advocacy Cases - Next Steps - UPDATE
Importance: High

I spoke with Holly today regarding the advocacy team, training, etc. Following are the updates:

1. Training -- will be held in Room 7108 from 2:00 - 4:30 on 5/14 and 8:00 - 4:30 on 5/16

2. Participants for training:

EO Determinations

Janine Estes
Jodi Garwood
Joseph Herr
Grant Harting
Faye Ng
Mitch Steele
Carly Young

EODQA

Daniel Dragoo
Mike Ludwig

EO Washington Office

Matthew Giuliano
Hillary Goehausen
Judy Kindell
Sharon Light
Justin Lowe
Andy Megosh

3. Holly Pez and Nan Marks will be in Cincinnati on 5/14 and 6/16 and will be kicking off the training.

5/28/2013

SLP d 5696 ESE CTS

IRS

95:11 1102-06-184

71-000064

PSL-IRS-09-000064

Report Exhibits - Page 001032

4. Sharon Light will take over coordination of the Advocacy Team until further notice.

5. Those from the Washington Office, along with Daniel and Mike from EODQA, and Joseph, Mitch, Carly and Janine from EOD will start bucketing all of the advocacy cases on 5/16 until completed. Room 7112-B has been reserved for this. Those from the Washington Office will provide more details about the bucketing process once the team meets.

Please be certain that those folks who are scheduled for training and bucketing know where to be and when. If you have any questions regarding this, please let me know. Thanks.

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Tuesday, May 08, 2012 11:41 PM
To: Esrig Bonnie A; Combs Peggy L
Cc: Bowling Steven F; Sheer Mary Subject: Advocacy Cases - Next Steps
Importance: High

I spoke with Holly late today (5/8) and she indicated that folks from D.C. plan to fly into Cincinnati on 5/14 in the a.m. and would like to have a training session for the advocacy team members physically located in Cincinnati starting at 1:00 p.m. that day. The training will go through the end of the day on 5/15. To prepare for the training, the folks from D.C. would like for Joseph Herr and Mitch Steele to be available via phone on 5/10 and 5/11; they will be receiving an email from Sharon Light regarding the planning sessions. If Joseph and/or Mitch have any cases that they believe would be good for training purposes, they may want to let us know so that we can pull them out of the pile.

Starting on 5/16, Holly would like for the training team (Joseph Herr, Mitch Steele, Judy Kindell, Justin Lowe, Sharon Light), along with Stephen Soak, Carly Young, a representative(s) from Quality, and a few additional folks from D.C. to start to put the advocacy cases into buckets:

1. Favorable (no further substantive development needed),
2. Favorable (limited development with approx. 2 or 3 questions to ask that may involve technical issues --- a list of questions would be jotted down by the team),
3. Significant Development, and
4. Probable Adverse.

Most likely, we'll try to get those cases in Bucket 1 closed quickly and then move to Bucket 2. The Washington Office will prepare template denial letters for Bucket 4 and will share those letters with EO Determinations to issue.

I've tentatively reserved Room 7106 for the training on 5/14 and 5/15, and have reserved Room 7112-B from 5/16 through 5/11 for those who will be identifying cases for the various buckets. Hubs are available in both of those rooms to allow for Internet connectivity.

Holly indicated that those folks from D.C. who will be assisting with this project will most likely be working overtime while in Cincinnati and overtime is available for our folks who are working on this project as well, if they choose to work it.

After these steps are taken, we'll figure out how to fold in those specialists from outside of Cincinnati who are currently on the Advocacy Team.

As I hear more, I'll pass on the information. In the meantime, please let me know ASAP if you have questions/concerns, or if there are concerns/conflict for anyone who will be involved in this project and/or training. Thanks.

5/28/2013

P. 14

3695 253 131

IRS

95:11 11:56

71-000065

PSI-IRS-09-000065

Report Exhibits - Page 001033

MAY-31-2013 14:24

IRS

513 263 3695 P.02

1382

71-000066

PSI-IRS-09-000066

Report Exhibits - Page 001034

MM-31-2

2-12

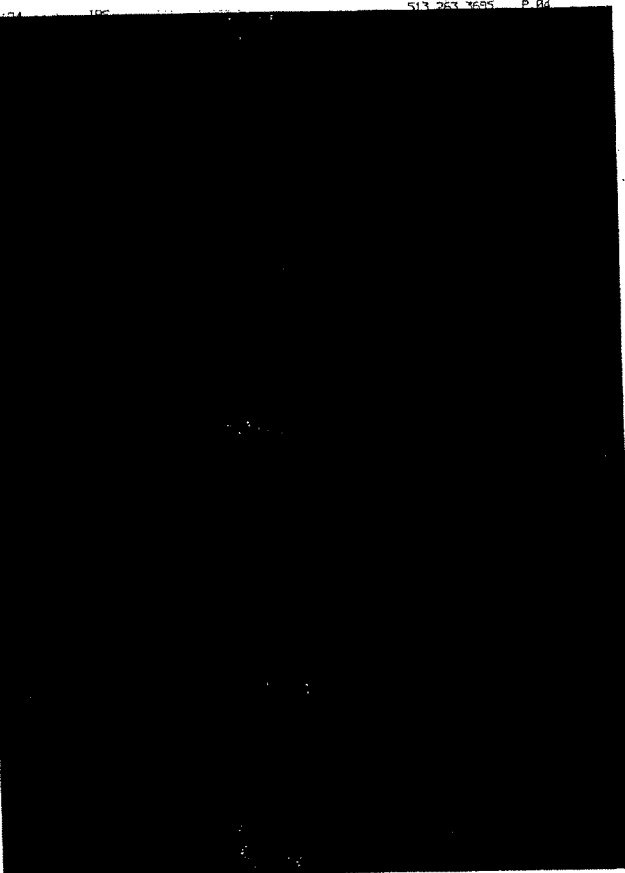

71-000057

PSI-IRS-09-000067

Report Exhibits - Page 001035

MAY-31-2013 11:51 AM 105 513 263 3695 P. 84

|    |                                                                                                                     |                                                                                     |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 11 | Proteridyl Alkane Family Foundation                                                                                 |  |
|    | Private foundation with devoted activities throughout a large area of operations, and involved with other entities. |                                                                                     |
|    |                                                                                                                     |                                                                                     |
|    |                                                                                                                     |                                                                                     |
|    |                                                                                                                     |                                                                                     |

1 of 2

Report Exhibits - Page 001036

MAY-31-2013

513 263 3685 P.05

2.92

71-000059

PSI-IRS-09-000059

Report Exhibits - Page 001037

MAY-31-2013 14:24

IRS

104

71-000070

PSI-IRS-09-000070

Report Exhibits - Page 001038

MAY-31-2013 14:25

IRS

S13 253 3595 P.07

7
2
4

71-000071

PSI-IRS-09-000071

Report Exhibits - Page 001039

MAY-31-2013 14:25

IRS

513 263 3695 P.08

71-000072

PSI-IRS-09-000072

Report Exhibits - Page 001040

MAY-31-2013 14:25

IRS

513 263 3635 P.89

| Current Federal Income Taxable Income | Amount of Federal Income Taxable Income (including capital gains) for the year, less the amount of Federal income tax credit for foreign taxes paid, and less the amount of Federal income tax credit for state and local taxes paid. | E.I. | X | Current State Income Tax | Total |
|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|---|--------------------------|-------|
|                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |      |   |                          |       |
|                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |      |   |                          |       |
|                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |      |   |                          |       |

71-000073

PSI-IRS-09-000073

Report Exhibits - Page 001041

MAY-31-2013 14:25

IRS

513 263 3695 P.10

71-000074

PSI-IRS-09-000074

Report Exhibits - Page 001042

MAY-31-2013 14:25

IRS

513 263 3695 P.11

71-000075

PSI-IRS-09-000075

Report Exhibits - Page 001043

PRY-31-2013 14:26

IRS

513 253 3695 P.12

| Paying Nilsson           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |           |           |                        |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|------------------------|
| Line                     | Organization formed to pay down the national debt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 2012-2013 | 2013-2014 | Open 2014/15           |
| Supporting Organizations | From 1023 and 1940 automatic by organization seeking SO status as follows:1) Type 1 where there is no other data for instructional point to report and remove the2) Type 1 or 2 where there is more than one supported organization (where specifiedby name or assigned by date or purpose) or when a separate organization (where specifiedorganization does not independently provide the reporting organization. | 27        | 2013-2014 | Transfer cases to ECT. |
|                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |           |           | Open 2014/15           |

TOTAL P.12

71-000076

PSI-IRS-09-000076

Report Exhibits - Page 001044

JUN-03-2013 12:48

IRS

513 263 3695 P.02

Shafer John H

---

From: Vance Roger W
Sent: Monday, June 03, 2013 12:29 PM
To: Shafer John H
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA

---

From: Vance Roger W
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 8:02 AM
To: Shafer John H
Subject: RE: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA

Some of the cases do contain references to the tea party and other cases that I have identified are organizations concerned with government spending, government debt, and taxes.

---

From: Shafer John H
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 7:12 AM
To: Muthert Gary A; Vance Roger W; Schaber Dale T
Subject: FW: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

Please provide me with what issues may indicate an organization is involved with the tea party movement.

Thanks,

John Shafer
Group Manager
SE:T:EO:RA:D:1:7838
Telephone: (513)263-3406
FAX: (513)263-5200

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, June 02, 2011 12:46 AM
To: Shafer John H
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Bowling Steven F
Subject: Tea Party Cases - NEED CRITERIA
Importance: High

John,

Could you send me an email that includes the criteria screeners use to label a case as a "tea party case?" BOLO spreadsheet includes the following:

Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4).

71-000092

PS:IRS-09-000092

Report Exhibits - Page 001045

JUN-03-2013 12:48

IRS

513 263 3695 P.23

Do the applications specify/state "tea party?" If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?

I need to forward to Holly per her request below. Thanks.

---

From: Melahn Brenda
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 3:08 PM
To: Paz Holly O; Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: group of cases

Holly - we will UPS a copy of [REDACTED] in #1 below to your attention tomorrow. It should be there Monday. I'm sure Cindy will respond to #2.

Brenda

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, June 01, 2011 2:21 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Melahn Brenda
Subject: group of cases

re: Tea Party cases

Two things re: these cases:

[REDACTED]

2. What criteria are being used to label a case a "Tea Party case"? We want to think about whether those criteria are resulting in over-inclusion.

Lois wants a briefing on those cases. We'll take the lead but would like you to participate. We're aiming for the week of 6/27.

Thanks!

Holly

TOTAL P.23

71-000083

PSI-IRS-09-000093

Fischer David

From: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 9:51 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Review of E-Mails

Purpose: To document results of OI search of IRS emails.

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, May 07, 2013 8:39 AM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: FW: Review of E-Mails

See below. I forgot to ask, but did we remove reference to OI in the footnotes and the related referral?

From: Camus Timothy P TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 03, 2013 3:34 PM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA; McKenney Michael E TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Cc: Silvis Randy M TIGTA; Jackson James S TIGTA
Subject: Review of E-Mails

Gentlemen,

As a result of our meeting with Russell a couple of weeks ago, we agreed to pull e-mails from identified staff members of the EO organization in Cincinnati to find out 1). If an e-mail existed that directed the staff to "target" Tea Party and other political organizations and 2). If there was a conspiracy or effort to hide e-mails about the alleged directive.

Audit provided us with a list of employees in question, key word search terms and a timeframe for the e-mails. We pulled the available IRS e-mails, which resulted in 5,500 responsive e-mails.

Review of these e-mails revealed that there was a lot of discussion between the employees on how to process the Tea Party and other political organization applications. There was a Be On the Lookout (BOLO) list specifically naming these groups; however, the e-mails indicated the organizations needed to be pulled because the IRS employees were not sure how to process them, not because they wanted to stall or hinder the application. There was no indication that pulling these selected applications was politically motivated. The e-mail traffic indicated there were unclear processing directions and the group wanted to make sure they had guidance on processing the applications so they pulled them. This is a very important nuance.

Tim

Timothy Camus
Deputy Inspector General for Investigations
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
401 H St. NW, Suite 469
Washington, DC 20005

INSPECTOR GENERAL
FOR TAX
ADMINISTRATION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005

February 13, 2013

MEMORANDUM FOR DEPUTY ASSISTANT INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR INVESTIGATIONS

FROM: Gregory D. Kutz
Assistant Inspector General for Audit (Management Services and Exempt Organizations)

SUBJECT: Request for Investigation Related to Audit on Internal Revenue Service Oversight of Exempt Organizations Applications

We are currently reviewing the Exempt Organizations (EO) function's tax-exempt application review process for identifying organizations that are potentially involved in political campaign intervention. As you requested, we are providing a formal request for investigation to determine who at the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) EO function Determinations Unit in Cincinnati, Ohio originally developed and who authorized the policy to improperly target applications of certain organizations based on their names and political views. According to representations we have received, a high profile case was received in February 2010 which led to an e-mail in May 2010 stating that all "Tea Party" applications should be forwarded for additional review by a certain Determinations group. By June 2011, the policy was expanded to include other groups (9/12 and Patriots). After repeated attempts to identify who developed the policy and who authorized it, at all levels the IRS is unwilling or unable to provide us with this information, including relevant e-mails. Below are certain time periods and personnel who may have been involved in the development of the improper criteria.

| Time Period                    | Personnel                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Criteria                                  | Reason                                                                                                                       |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| February 2010 through May 2010 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Cindy M. Thomas, Determinations Program Manager;</li> <li>➤ Holly O. Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements;</li> <li>➤ John H. Shafer, Determinations Group Manager;</li> <li>➤ John Koester,</li> </ul> | "Tea" or "Patriots" or "9/12" or "(c)(4)" | We have requested an email that was sent to the Determinations Unit staff that included criteria for processing applications |

| Time Period     | Personnel                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Criteria                      | Reason                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                 | Determinations Specialist;> Gary A. Muthert, Determinations Specialist;> Carter C Hull, EO Technical Specialist;> Elizabeth Hofacre, former Determinations Specialist;> Sharon Camarillo, former Area Manager;> Joseph Herr, Determinations Group Manager; and> Steven Grodnitzky, EO Technical Manager |                               | involving specific groups, but IRS personnel state that they cannot locate the email.                                                                                              |
| June 1-10, 2011 | > Cindy M. Thomas, Determinations Program Manager;> Holly O. Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements;> John H. Shafer, Determinations Group Manager; and> Gary A. Muthert, Determinations Specialist                                                                                                                   | "Tea" or "Patriots" or "9/12" | We have been provided criteria used for processing certain tax-exempt applications, but IRS officials stated that they do not know who developed it or who knew about it and when. |

We are currently drafting our report, which may be issued before you complete your investigation. We plan to note in our report that we have referred certain matters to your office for further investigation. We will provide you with a draft of this report as background and to ensure that our reference to this referral is appropriate. If you identify evidence material to our audit report before it is issued, we will work with you on any additional disclosures we should make. Due to the high visibility of this issue, it is possible you will be asked to brief congressional staff on the results of your investigation.

We will provide you and your staff access to all relevant documentation we have received including the first written evidence of the improper targeting policy. Once you have reviewed this memo please have your staff coordinate with Troy Paterson, Director, Tax Exempt and Government Entities/Human Capital, at (404) 338-7476.

cc: Deputy Inspector General for Investigations IG:OI Acting Deputy Inspector General for Audit IG:A

Report Exhibits - Page 001049

File: PA6.ee EDS 501c4 Case Universe Open and Closed Rec'd 6-11-12

Tabs: Open and Closed (see notes below)

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from and to identify the universe of closed 501(c)(4) applications to sample from.

Date Created: June 5, 2012

File modified as followed purely for presentation purposes and to aid discussion:

- To look at the entire universe in a single manner, the Open and Closed tabs have been combined to create a single listing.
- One additional column was added entitled "List." This column has four potential values:
  - o May '12: This indicates that the application appeared in the Advocacy Listing that was effective as of May 31, 2012.
  - o Dec '12: This indicates that the applications did not appear in the May 31, 2012 Advocacy Listing but did appear in the December 17, 2012 Advocacy Listing.
  - o None: This indicates that the application did not appear in either the May 31, 2012 or the December 17, 2012 Advocacy Listing.
- Color Coding: The following color codes were used for Application Names for purposes of clarity (in alphabetical order):
  - o Environmental
  - o Financial
  - o Healthcare
  - o Patriotic
  - o Progress/Innovative
  - o Tea Party
- Color Coding:

Report Exhibits - Page 001050

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.

Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|             |            | 8/12, 9/12, 9/12, 9/12 |                |               |             |                    |                         |              |            |
|-------------|------------|------------------------|----------------|---------------|-------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein                    | Applicantname1 | Advisory List | Subsecti on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date | EDS Date   |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4           | 1                  | 5/21/2010               | 7/28/2010    | 7/28/2010  |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4           | 1                  | 12/29/2010              | 2/10/2011    | 2/10/2011  |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4           | 4                  | 10/14/2010              | 1/18/2011    | 1/18/2011  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 1/10/2012               | 5/5/2010     | 5/5/2010   |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 5/20/2010    | 5/20/2010  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 1                  | 5/25/2012               | 8/20/2010    | 8/20/2010  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 4                  | 3/2/2012                | 8/31/2010    | 8/31/2010  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 11/19/2010   | 11/19/2010 |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 2/8/2012                | 1/13/2011    | 1/13/2011  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 3/11/2011               | 2/22/2011    | 2/22/2011  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 1                  | 5/25/2012               | 4/4/2011     | 4/4/2011   |
|             |            |                        |                | Dec '12       | 4           | 74                 | 5/31/2012               | 8/15/2011    | 8/15/2011  |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 12/21/2011   | 12/21/2011 |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 5/24/2012               | 4/8/2012     | 4/8/2012   |
|             |            |                        |                | Dec '12       | 4           | 74                 | 6/2/2012                | 4/24/2012    | 4/24/2012  |
|             |            |                        |                | Dec '12       | 4           | 74                 | 6/2/2012                | 5/10/2012    | 5/10/2012  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001051

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.

Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|             |            | Conservative |                |               |            |                    |                         |              |  |
|-------------|------------|--------------|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|--|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein          | Applicantname1 | Advocacy List | Subsect on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 5/20/2010               | 7/25/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 5/8/2012                | 4/12/12      |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 3/2/2012                | 5/11/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 7/15/2010               | 5/27/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 6/7/2010     |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 5/7/2010                | 6/30/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 7/14/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 11                 | 9/20/2011               | 9/16/2010    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 74                 | 3/1/2012                | 10/25/2010   |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 7/20/2011               | 12/30/2010   |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 4/25/2011               | 3/17/2011    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 4/7/2011     |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 3/13/2012               | 8/10/2011    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/15/2012               | 8/16/2011    |  |
|             |            |              |                | None          | 4          | 51                 | 3/5/2012                | 1/20/2012    |  |
|             |            |              |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/1/2012                | 2/2/2012     |  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001052

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.
Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|                |               | Emerge |                |                  |               |                          |                            | Pre-2010        |
|----------------|---------------|--------|----------------|------------------|---------------|--------------------------|----------------------------|-----------------|
| TEDSCase # | EDSCase # | Ein    | ApplicantName1 | AdvocacyList | Subsecton | CurrentEDSStatus | Current EDSStatus Date | ControlDate |
|                |               |        |                | None             | 4             | 2                        | 9/7/2011                   | 7/22/2011       |
|                |               |        |                | None             | 4             | 2                        | 9/7/2011                   | 4/7/2012        |
|                |               |        |                | None             | 4             | 2                        | 9/7/2011                   | 8/12/2011       |
|                |               |        |                | None             | 4             | 2                        | 7/25/2011                  | 6/22/2010       |
|                |               |        |                | None             | 4             | 1                        | 4/27/2011                  | 6/22/2010       |

Report Exhibits - Page 001053

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.
Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

| Freedom     |            |     |                | Control       |            |                    |                         |              |
|-------------|------------|-----|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein | Applicantname1 | Advocacy Unit | Subsection | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 9/2/2010                | 1/22/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 52                 | 5/16/2012               | 3/6/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 7/29/2010               | 6/11/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 9                  | 12/29/2010              | 7/16/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 8/20/2010               | 7/29/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 9/22/2010               | 8/23/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 52                 | 11/19/2010              | 9/9/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 9/24/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 3/25/2011               | 10/1/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 3/25/2011               | 10/5/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 12/22/2010   |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 5/12/2011               | 1/20/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 2/17/2012               | 1/26/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 4/9/2012                | 2/16/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 52                 | 2/9/2012                | 3/7/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 52                 | 2/10/2012               | 3/10/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 4/15/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 7/27/2011               | 4/15/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 5/4/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | Dec 12        | 4          | 6                  | 6/14/2011               | 5/4/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 5/17/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 12/8/2011               | 5/17/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 1                  | 5/25/2012               | 6/28/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 3/2/2012                | 7/25/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 11/21/2011              | 10/13/2011   |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 12/6/2011               | 10/31/2011   |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 11/2/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 51                 | 5/15/2012               | 11/15/2011   |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 2/15/2012               | 11/30/2011   |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 1/31/2012               | 12/7/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | 51                 | 5/15/2012               | 2/9/2012     |
|             |            |     |                | Dec 12        | 4          | 62                 | 5/18/2012               | 3/20/2012    |
|             |            |     |                | Dec 12        | 4          | 74                 | 6/2/2012                | 4/5/2012     |
|             |            |     |                | Dec 12        | 4          | 51                 | 6/1/2012                | 5/24/2012    |

Report Exhibits - Page 001054

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.
Source: Holy Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

| Liberty     |            |     |                |               |             |                    |                         |              |
|-------------|------------|-----|----------------|---------------|-------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein | Applicantname1 | Advocacy List | Subsecti on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 1                  | 4/16/2011               |              |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 1                  | 5/8/2010                |              |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 1                  | 7/14/2010               |              |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 6                  | 8/6/2010                | 6/18/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 1/23/2012               | 6/30/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 11                 | 3/29/2011               | 7/2/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 1/30/2012               | 8/31/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 6                  | 10/8/2010               | 9/10/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 2/6/2012                | 9/13/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 4                  | 4/6/2012                | 9/28/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 6                  | 10/29/2010              | 10/18/2010   |
|             |            |     |                | Dec '12       | 4           | 6                  | 1/15/2011               | 12/7/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 1/18/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 2/22/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 6                  | 5/15/2011               | 4/26/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/9/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 9/13/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 11/7/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 72                 | 5/14/2012               | 11/8/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4           | 72                 | 5/14/2012               | 1/27/2012    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4           | 51                 | 5/1/2012                | 2/9/2012     |
|             |            |     |                | Dec '12       | 4           | 62                 | 6/1/2012                | 4/23/2012    |

Report Exhibits - Page 001055

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.
Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|             |            | Patriot(s) |                |               |            |                    |                         |              |                  |
|-------------|------------|------------|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|------------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein        | ApplicantName1 | Advocacy List | Subject on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date | PS-IRS-37-000010 |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 5/1/2012                | 1/2/2010     |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 2/10/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 1/25/2012               | 5/19/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 1/29/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 5/3/2010     |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/17/2012               | 5/11/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 6/11/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 7/20/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 12/3/2010               | 7/26/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 2                  | 1/11/2012               | 8/18/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 3                  | 9/16/2010               | 8/19/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 3                  | 10/5/2010               | 9/14/2010    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/2/2012                | 10/16/2010   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/2/2012                | 10/25/2010   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 74                 | 3/1/2012                | 10/25/2010   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 9                  | 3/25/2011               | 11/18/2010   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/6/2012                | 12/17/2010   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 5/17/2012               | 1/31/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 7/8/2011                | 4/6/2011     |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/21/2012               | 4/13/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/21/2012               | 4/16/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/21/2012               | 4/19/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 6/10/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/11/2012               | 8/12/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 9/30/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/11/2012               | 9/30/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 10/24/2011   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | Dec '12       | 4          | 74                 | 6/1/2012                | 11/8/2011    |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 12/30/2011   |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/24/2012               | 3/5/2012     |                  |
|             |            |            |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/24/2012               | 4/9/2012     |                  |
|             |            |            |                | None          | 4          | 61                 | 5/9/2012                | 4/26/2012    |                  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001056

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.
Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|             |            | Progress / Progressive |                |               |            |                    |                         |              |  | Pre-May 2010 |
|-------------|------------|------------------------|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|--|--------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | EIN                    | Applicant Name | Advocacy List | Subject on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 11                 | 2/14/2012               |              |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 9                  | 5/5/2010                |              |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 9                  | 6/29/2010               |              |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 11/29/2010              |              |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 11/19/2010              | 5/14/2010    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 1/11/2011               | 6/10/2010    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 12/22/2011              | 6/24/2010    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 10/19/2010              | 8/3/2010     |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 1                  | 12/6/2010               | 9/20/2010    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 9                  | 4/22/2011               | 11/30/2010   |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 3/11/2011    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/13/2012               | 3/30/2011    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 7/29/2011               | 6/27/2011    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/11/2012               | 7/1/2011     |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 9/25/2011               | 8/2/2011     |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 5/15/2012               | 8/19/2011    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 9/25/2011               | 8/22/2011    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 9/2/2011     |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 10/19/2011   |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 71                 | 5/15/2012               | 10/26/2011   |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | May '12       | 4          | 51                 | 4/13/2012               | 11/26/2011   |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | Dec '12       | 4          | 62                 | 5/31/2012               | 1/6/2012     |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | None          | 4          | 71                 | 5/14/2012               | 3/23/2012    |  |              |
|             |            |                        |                | Dec '12       | 4          | 75                 | 6/1/2012                | 5/10/2012    |  |              |

Report Exhibits - Page 001057

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.

Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

|             |            |     |                | Pre-May 2012  |            |                    |                         |              |
|-------------|------------|-----|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | EIN | Applicantname1 | Advocacy List | Subject SN | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 6/16/2011               | 5/16/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 6                  | 11/22/2011              | 8/5/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May 12        | 4          | S1                 | 5/11/2012               | 10/3/2011    |

Report Exhibits - Page 001058

Purpose: To identify the universe of open 501(c)(4) applications to sample from. This listing was run on June 5, 2012.

Source: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements

501(c)(4) Initial Applications

| Tea Party   |            |     |                |               |            |                    |                         |              |
|-------------|------------|-----|----------------|---------------|------------|--------------------|-------------------------|--------------|
| TEDS Case # | EDS Case # | Ein | Applicantname1 | Advocacy List | Subject on | Current EDS Status | Current EDS Status Date | Control Date |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 4                  | 6/15/2010               | 3/22/2012    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 5/17/2012               | 3/18/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 3/5/2012                | 12/4/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 3/16/2012               | 9/29/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | None          | 4          | 52                 | 11/7/2011               | 2/28/2012    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 2/17/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 37                 | 3/2/2012                | 5/13/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/8/2012                | 3/4/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 3/2/2012                | 3/28/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 4/26/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 3/14/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 4/26/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/12/2012               | 4/26/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 4/4/2012                | 5/7/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 5/21/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 2/27/2012               | 5/26/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 5/27/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 5/28/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 6/11/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/18/2012               | 6/11/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/24/2012               | 7/6/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/24/2012               | 7/8/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 7/19/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 7/23/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/27/2012               | 8/5/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '13       | 4          | 52                 | 1/27/2012               | 8/9/2010     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/31/2012               | 8/24/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 1/30/2012               | 8/31/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/2/2012                | 10/13/2010   |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/3/2012                | 10/18/2010   |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 6/1/2012                | 12/1/2010    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/6/2012                | 12/17/2010   |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 52                 | 2/8/2012                | 1/3/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 5/17/2012               | 1/27/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 5/17/2012               | 1/31/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 4                  | 6/2/2012                | 3/8/2011     |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 3/17/2011    |
|             |            |     |                | May '12       | 4          | 58                 | 4/23/2012               | 3/18/2011    |

PSI-IRS-37-000013

Report Exhibits - Page 001059

|  |         |   |    |           |            |
|--|---------|---|----|-----------|------------|
|  | May '12 | 4 | 4  | 6/2/2012  | 3/25/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 2/13/2012 | 3/31/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 2/16/2012 | 4/8/2011   |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 2/21/2012 | 4/13/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 2/21/2012 | 4/16/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 2/21/2012 | 4/19/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/11/2012 | 6/6/2011   |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 7/25/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 7/25/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 8/8/2011   |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 8/11/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 8/12/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 52 | 6/1/2012  | 8/23/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 9/16/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 9/30/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 9/30/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/11/2012 | 10/4/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 10/17/2011 |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 11/2/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 11/23/2011 |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 12/1/2011  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 12/30/2011 |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 12/31/2011 |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 1/11/2012  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 4/13/2012 | 1/18/2012  |
|  | May '12 | 4 | 51 | 5/24/2012 | 3/5/2012   |

Report Exhibits - Page 001059-a

Topic: Date Ranges for Data Selection

Statement (Audit): "We determined this through two statistical samples of 338 (7.5 percent) from a universe of 4,510 I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications filed during May 2010 through May 2012 that were not forwarded to the team of specialists." (footnote 19 on page 8)

Statement (Audit): "We reviewed a statistical sample of 94 I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) cases closed from May 2010 through May 2012 from a universe of 2,051 applications..." (page 9)

Statement (Audit): "We reviewed a statistical sample of 244 I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) cases closed from May 2010 through May 2012 or open as of May 31, 2012..." (page 9)

Statement (Audit): "We reviewed all 298 applications that had been identified as potential political cases as of May 31, 2012." (page 10)

Statement (Letter): "TIGTA performed additional research which determined that six tax-exempt applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 having the words "progress" or "progressive" in their names were included in the 298 cases the IRS identified as potential political cases."

Statement (Letter): "We also determined that 14 tax-exempt applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 using the words "progress" or "progressive" in their names were not referred for additional scrutiny as potential political cases."

IRS Observations: The first, fifth, and sixth statements above reference a date range based on the date that the application was filed with the IRS (known as the Control Date). The second, third, and fourth statements appear to reference applications that may have been received by the IRS prior to May 2010 but had some action taken during the May 2010 to May 2012 timeframe.

The set of 298 advocacy cases that TIGTA reviewed includes 21 501(c)(4) cases that were filed with the IRS prior to May 2010 (including 11 Tea Party cases). The set of 298 cases also does not include 3 additional Tea Party cases (one 501(c)(3) case and two (c)(4) cases) that were filed prior to May 2010 but never ended up in the advocacy case listing, including the 501(c)(4) case that was the primary focus of the recurring Sensitive Case Reports in the TIGTA files. The set of 298 cases also does not include 5 cases that were closed in 2011 for an organization on the opposite end of the political spectrum from Tea Party, four of which also received a referral to EO Technical, had a Sensitive Case Report prepared, were referred to Chief Counsel for additional scrutiny, and eventually received a determination after approximately a three-year delay. Moreover, the list of 298 does not include 72 cases that were received by the IRS prior to May 31, 2012, but had not been assigned to the advocacy case listing by that date [37 cases for 501(c)(4) and 35 cases for 501(c)(3)].

The TIGTA report states in Appendix I (Detailed Objective, Scope, and Methodology): "Obtained a list of applications that were identified for processing by the team of specialists and determined the status of the identified cases (open, approved, denied, etc.) through May 31, 2012. We also received an updated list of identified cases through December 17, 2012, to determine the status of each initial case as of this date." This updated file expands the total universe of cases set aside for additional scrutiny as potential advocacy cases to 407.

TIGTA indicated in a conversation on July 9, 2013 that the December 17, 2012 file was only used to update the status of the original 298 cases under review, and not to update the listing itself to include those additional cases that were, in fact, filed prior to May 2010 and were included in the December 2012 Advocacy listing update, but had not made it into the Advocacy listing as of June 5, 2012 when the list of 298 cases was prepared.

Report Exhibits - Page 001059-b

Topic: More on Date Ranges for Data Selection and Data Used for Statistical Sampling

Statement (Audit): The footnote associated with the statement that all cases with Tea Party, Patriots, or 9/12 in their names were forwarded to the team of specialists (footnote #19) states: "We determined this through two statistical samples of 338 (7.5 percent) from a universe of 4,510 I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications filed during May 2010 through May 2012 that were not forwarded to the team of specialists. See Appendix I for details on our sampling methodology."

TIGTA indicated in a conversation on July 11, 2013 that part of this statement was not accurate. There were applications filed prior to May 2010 that were included in the universe from which this sample was drawn. The actual universe used included two 501(c)(4) Tea Party cases that were not forwarded to the team of specialists, as well as four of the Progressive cases that were highlighted in the letter to Congressman Levin, that were filed prior to May 2010.

TIGTA also clarified that the "universe of 4,510 I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications filed during May 2010 through May 2012" used as the basis for this sampling was not the entire universe of 501(c)(4) applications that had been provided by the IRS, but rather a subset of that universe of data. Specifically, several hundred applications were removed from the universe based on status codes that TIGTA believed were not relevant for the purpose of the sampling. This truncated data set appeared to primarily be designed to address the following two questions (page 9 of the audit report):

- How many "applications had indications of significant political campaign intervention and should have been forwarded to the team of specialists" but had not;
- How many "applications that the IRS determined required additional information from the organizations applying for tax-exempt status ... but were not forwarded to the team of specialists;" and

However, this same truncated data set was also used to determine the following (page 8):

- "That all cases with Tea Party, Patriots, or 9/12 in their names were forwarded to the team of specialists."

Statement (Audit): In Appendix I: In the first of the two samples referenced in the footnote: "We selected our statistical sample using the following criteria: 90 percent confidence level, 50 percent error rate, and  $\pm$  5 percent precision rate."

The footnote to this statement is: "An expected error rate of 50 percent was chosen because we determined that cases needing significant additional information had criteria that included the names of specific groups."

See data sets for discussion on the beginning and end points for data collection used in the audit report.

Relevant Documents from TIGTA workpapers: PA6.ff – Advocacy Case Tracking Sheet, PA6.ee EDS 501c4 Case Universe Open and Closed Rec'd 6-11-12, PA6.nn – Tracking Sheet 12172012 – Advocacy Cases, and 20100419 – April 2010 Tea Party (and subsequent monthly Sensitive Case Reports)

Report Exhibits - Page 001059-c

Topic: Percentage of applications identified for additional scrutiny as "potential political cases"

Statement (Audit): "While the team of specialists reviewed applications from a variety of organizations, we determined during our reviews of statistical samples of I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications that all cases with Tea Party, Patriots, or 9/12 in their names were forwarded to the team of specialists."

Statement (Letter): "...our audit found that 100 percent of the tax-exempt applications with Tea Party, Patriots, or 9/12 in their names were processed as potential political cases during the timeframe of our audit."

IRS Observations: Specific data sets used, and whether actual data or statistical sampling was used; See spreadsheets for calculations and discussion. Summary tables included in this section -- see footnote for explanation for the definition of the three data sets referenced in these summary tables.<sup>1</sup> None of these are precise matches to TIGTA. Data Set #1 is the closest match, however numbers for Patriots and Progressive differ from the charts below because of the exclusions that TIGTA made from the universe of 501(c)(4) applications based on certain status codes.

|                       | Data Set #1 |            |             | Data Set #2 |            |             | Data Set #3 |            |             |
|-----------------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|
|                       | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside |
| Tea Party             | 62          | 64         | 97%         | 62          | 62         | 100%        | 51          | 51         | 100%        |
| 9/12; 9-12; 9 12; 912 | 10          | 15         | 63%         | 10          | 13         | 77%         | 12          | 12         | 100%        |
| Patriot(s)            | 24          | 32         | 75%         | 24          | 32         | 75%         | 21          | 28         | 75%         |

Relevant Documents from TIGTA workpapers: PA6.ff – Advocacy Case Tracking Sheet, PA6.ee EDS 501c4 Case Universe Open and Closed Rec'd 6-11-12, and PA6.nn – Tracking Sheet 12172012 – Advocacy Cases

<sup>1</sup> Data Set #1:

- "Set Aside for Additional Scrutiny" (the numerator):
  - Includes all cases with the name/label that appear in the Advocacy Listing as of May 31, 2012
  - Does not include cases with the name/label filed prior to May 31, 2012 but did not appear in the Advocacy Listing until the update provided on December 17, 2012
- "Total Applications" (the denominator):
  - Includes everything in the numerator + all other cases filed with the IRS with that name/label as of May 31, 2012

Data Set #2:

- "Set Aside for Additional Scrutiny" (the numerator):
  - Includes all cases with the name/label that appear in the Advocacy Listing as of May 31, 2012
  - Does not include cases with the name/label filed prior to May 31, 2012 but did not appear in the Advocacy Listing until the update provided on December 17, 2012
- "Total Applications" (the denominator):
  - Includes everything in the numerator + all other cases filed with the IRS with that name/label between May 2010 and May 2012 (inclusively)
  - Does not include non-Advocacy cases with the name/label filed prior to May 2010 (key change from #1)

Data Set #3:

- "Set Aside for Additional Scrutiny" (the numerator):
  - Includes all cases that were filed with that name/label between May 2010 and May 2012 (inclusive) and ended up in an Advocacy Listing (either the May 2012 listing or the December 2012 listing) (key change from #1 and #2)
  - Does not include cases that were filed prior to May 2010 or after May 2012 (key change from #1 and #2)
- "Total Applications" (the denominator):
  - Includes everything in the numerator + all other cases filed with the IRS with that name/label between May 2010 and May 2012 (inclusively)

Report Exhibits - Page 001059-d

Statement (Letter): "TIGTA performed additional research which determined that six tax-exempt applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 having the words "progress" or "progressive" in their names were included in the 298 cases the IRS identified as potential political cases. We also determined that 14 tax-exempt applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 using the words "progress" or "progressive" in their names were not referred for additional scrutiny as potential political cases."

IRS Observations: Specific data sets used; See spreadsheets for calculations and discussion

|                         | Data Set #1 |            |             | Data Set #2 |            |             | Data Set #3 |            |             |
|-------------------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|
|                         | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside |
| Progress or Progressive | 7           | 24         | 29%         | 7           | 20         | 35%         | 9           | 20         | 45%         |

Relevant Documents from TIGTA workpapers: PA6.ff – Advocacy Case Tracking Sheet, PA6.ee EDS 501c4 Case Universe Open and Closed Rec'd 6-11-12 , and PA6.nn – Tracking Sheet 12172012 – Advocacy Cases

Statement (Letter): "As part of our audit, we reviewed the section of the BOLO listings that related to the specific criteria that the IRS stated were used to identify potential political cases for additional scrutiny. TIGTA also found that certain criteria (e.g., Patriots, 9/12, education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live," etc.) used to select potential political cases were not in any BOLO listings."

Evidence: While many names and labels appeared over time on the BOLO lists, Tea Party was the only name or label that ever appeared on the Emerging Issues tab. Greater insights into the selection pattern of the "Other" 202 cases represented in the pie chart in the audit may be useful in this regard.

IRS Observations: Specific data sets used; See spreadsheets for calculations and discussion

|              | Data Set #1 |            |             | Data Set #2 |            |             | Data Set #3 |            |             |
|--------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|-------------|------------|-------------|
|              | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside | Set Aside   | Total Apps | % Set Aside |
| Conservative | 8           | 16         | 50%         | 8           | 15         | 53%         | 7           | 14         | 50%         |
| Republican   | 1           | 3          | 33%         | 1           | 3          | 33%         | 1           | 3          | 33%         |

Relevant Documents from TIGTA workpapers: PA6.ff – Advocacy Case Tracking Sheet, PA6.ee EDS 501c4 Case Universe Open and Closed Rec'd 6-11-12 , and PA6.nn – Tracking Sheet 12172012 – Advocacy Cases

Report Exhibits - Page 001059-e

Topic: Additional Discussion for Clarification

Statement (Audit): "Figure 4 shows that approximately one-third of the applications identified for processing by the team of specialists included Tea Party, Patriots, or 9/12 in their names, while the remainder did not."

Seeking clarity on the grouping of names in the pie chart (Figure 4) in the audit report where two of these labels appear in a single organization's name.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

January 28, 2014

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am responding to your request for documents relating to tax exempt advocacy organizations.

The Internal Revenue Service is committed to providing you with as complete a response as possible. Since May of last year, we have been collecting, reviewing, and producing materials in response to a number of Congressional requests, including those from you and your Committee. In order to provide you and your staff our full cooperation in addressing this matter, more than 150 people, including Chief Counsel attorneys, litigation support staff, and IRS personnel have worked for a total of more than 70,000 hours.

- To date, we have produced over half a million pages of documents to the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees, which are authorized to receive IRC section 6103 information.<sup>1</sup> We also have produced over 385,000 pages, redacted as required by law for IRC section 6103 information, to the Senate and House Governmental Oversight Committees. Our productions have prioritized the custodians, subject matters, and search terms as requested.
- IRS has responded to more than fifty Congressional letters and hundreds of informal Congressional requests.
- We have facilitated more than sixty transcribed interviews by Congressional staff of current and former IRS employees.
- IRS personnel have answered questions related to the subjects of these investigations at 14 Congressional hearings.
- The IRS document production has been collected from IRS hard copy and electronic files as well as documents from 82 individual custodians.

The enclosed documents from this IRS production are Bates-stamped IRSR0000495035-IRSR0000508187. Today's production includes hard copy notes from Steven T. Miller that are Bates stamped IRSR0000505454-IRSR0000507228 and hard copy materials related to

<sup>1</sup> As part of this process, in May 2013 we directed our document retention and retrieval specialists to perform an electronic data search of the records of personnel we identified who may have potentially relevant information. We are conducting this process under the litigation hold procedures detailed in IRS Chief Counsel Notice CC-2012-017. Much of the raw electronically stored information (ESI) required decryption, which often corrupted files that had to be restored manually before the search process could begin. Once we received the decrypted information, it was electronically searched using search terms we have provided to you. PSI-IRS-40-000001

Report Exhibits - Page 001061

congressional hearings in March and July 2012 and May 2013. As with earlier productions, these include certain materials, such as spreadsheets, that do not lend themselves to this production format. If there are documents with unique formatting that you need re-produced in a different format, please let us know.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have any questions, please contact me or have your staff contact me at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Leonard Oursler", with a stylized flourish at the end.

Leonard Oursler
National Director for Legislative Affairs

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

April 22, 2014

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This is in further response to your letter dated January 4, 2013 requesting additional information about I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements the previous responses dated June 4, 2012, July 13, 2012, August 24, 2012, September 14, 2012, October 17, 2012, November 23, 2012, and March 15, 2013, and addresses additional questions raised by your staff in a meeting on April 30, 2013.

Our letter to you dated November 23, 2012 stated that Exempt Organizations (EO) had issued 42 revocation notices to section 501(c)(4) organizations between January 2007 and September 2012. Our letter to you dated March 15, 2013 explained that because of some discrepancies between system-generated information and the actual revocation notices, we were unable to provide accurate copies of the letters that were mailed without retrieving them from the files. With the March 15, 2013 letter, we provided you with copies of 9 of the 42 revocation letters. At the April 30, 2013 meeting, your staff asked us to update the information as to the number of revocations and to provide copies of additional letters.

For the period October 2012 to February 2014, we have identified 5 additional revocations, so that, as of February 2014, the total number of revocations since January 2007 stands at 47. We are enclosing 28 additional redacted revocation letters for the period January 2007 to September 2012, as well as five redacted letters for the period October 2012 to February 2014. We have learned that the remaining revocations from the original count of 42 were not sustained in Appeals. Accordingly, no redacted copies of letters in those cases are available.

Please note that some of the 33 revocation letters enclosed herewith say that they are making adverse determinations. Although that phrase is used in some of the revocation letters, it is clear from the body of each letter that the letter constitutes an adverse determination after examination, and that the Service is revoking the exemptions.

Our letter to you dated November 23, 2012 enclosed copies of all 10 of the redacted adverse determination letters that were issued between January 2007 and September 2012. At the April 30, 2013 meeting, your staff asked us to update the information as to the number of adverse determinations and to provide copies of those additional letters.

Report Exhibits - Page 001063

Since September 2012, EO Determinations has issued 9 adverse determinations (denials) to organizations applying for section 501(c)(4) status. It should be noted that some of these denials may not have involved political advocacy issues even though the organization applied for section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt status. We are in the process of retrieving redacted copies of the 9 additional adverse determinations from the underlying files, and will provide those copies as soon as they have been located.

The enclosed documents are Bates-stamped IRSC036438 - IRSC036823

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact me at (202) 317-4146 or John McDougal at (202) 317-5103.

Sincerely,

Leonard Oursler
National Director of Legislative Affairs

Enclosures (33)

Report Exhibits - Page 001064

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 20, 2013 11:35 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Advocacy Orgs - Updated List of Cases and Guidesheet from EOT
Attachments: Updated Adv Org Excel Cinci v3 11-21-11.xls; Advocacy Org Guidesheet 11-3-2011 (2).doc

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Monday, July 23, 2012 3:04 PM
To: Seldell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Advocacy Orgs - Updated List of Cases and Guidesheet from EOT

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Tuesday, April 17, 2012 8:44 AM
To: Marks Nancy J; Malone Robert; Urban Joseph J; Light Sharon P; Paz Holly O
Subject: FW: Advocacy Orgs - Updated List of Cases and Guidesheet from EOT

Attachment 1 includes an updated list of advocacy organizations along with comments received from EOT.

Attachment 2 is the Advocacy Organization guidesheet received from EOT that was shared with the manager overseeing the Emerging Issue (Advocacy Organizations).

---

From: Bowling Steven F
Sent: Wednesday, November 23, 2011 3:01 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: Advocacy Orgs
Importance: High

Cindy,

I would like Stephen Seok to coordinate these. We have a commitment meeting at 8:30 and I have a 2011-44 team meeting at 10:30 on the 30th.

STEVEN F. BOWLING
Manager, EO Group 7822
Exempt Organizations Determinations
550 Main Street, Room 4-504
Cincinnati, OH 45202
Tel (513) 263-3704
Fax (513) 263-4540

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Wednesday, November 23, 2011 1:57 PM

To: Bowling Steven F
Subject: Advocacy Orgs
Importance: High

Steve,

Please refer to Mike Seto's email below. Attachment 1 includes the list of cases EOT reviewed along with their comments. Attachment 2 is a draft document EOT put together for our use.

I'd like to meet with you on 11/30, along with whomever you'd like to coordinate these cases, so we can come up with a game plan for working these cases. In the meantime, for those cases that EOT believes can be approved, I'd recommend you go ahead and have those cases worked now that the Guidesheet is available.

---

From: Seto Michael C
Sent: Tuesday, November 22, 2011 3:56 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M; Fish David L; Kindell Judith E
Cc: Grodnitzky Steven; Goehausen Hilary; Lowe Justin; Kastenberg Elizabeth C; Lieber Theodore R
Subject: List of advocacy org cases screened by EOT for EODI

Hilary has updated the spreadsheet, the content of which is self-explanatory.

We have screened 182 cases, substantial majority of which needs to be developed.

We identified 12 cases that may qualify for exemption. The caveat is that the favorable suggestions are based on initial screening of the cases, not full development. We recommend that EOD review our suggestions on these 12 cases.

We identified 15 cases for possible denial of exemption. The caveat is that our denial suggestions are based on initial screening of the cases, not full development. We recommend that EOD review our suggestions on these 15 cases.

[REDACTED]

If you have questions, please contact Hilary and Steve or me. FYI . . . Steve is the manager overseeing this technical area.

Thanks, Mike

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

| Organization Name | Date | EIN | Solicitation | EPS $/hr | Current | Lobbying | General Advocacy (issue advocacy and/or educational) | Propaganda (issue advocacy, educational, special) | Political Activities | Development | Comments |
|-------------------|------|-----|--------------|-----------|---------|----------|------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|----------------------|-------------|----------|
|                   |      |     |              |           |         |          |                                                      |                                                   |                      |             |          |

|   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|---|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
| 1 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 2 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 3 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 4 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 5 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 6 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 7 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 8 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

1

2

9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

PSI, ICTA 01-000047

1

3

EO Political Advocacy Causes - Screened by EO Technical (11/18/11)

PSL-1071-C-000248

29
30
31
32
33
34
35
36
37
38
39
40
41
42
43
44
45

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/18/11)

4

1

PSI/JGTA-0100749

40
41
42
43
44
45
46
47
48
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58

EOO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

1

5

50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60

EOB Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

1

8

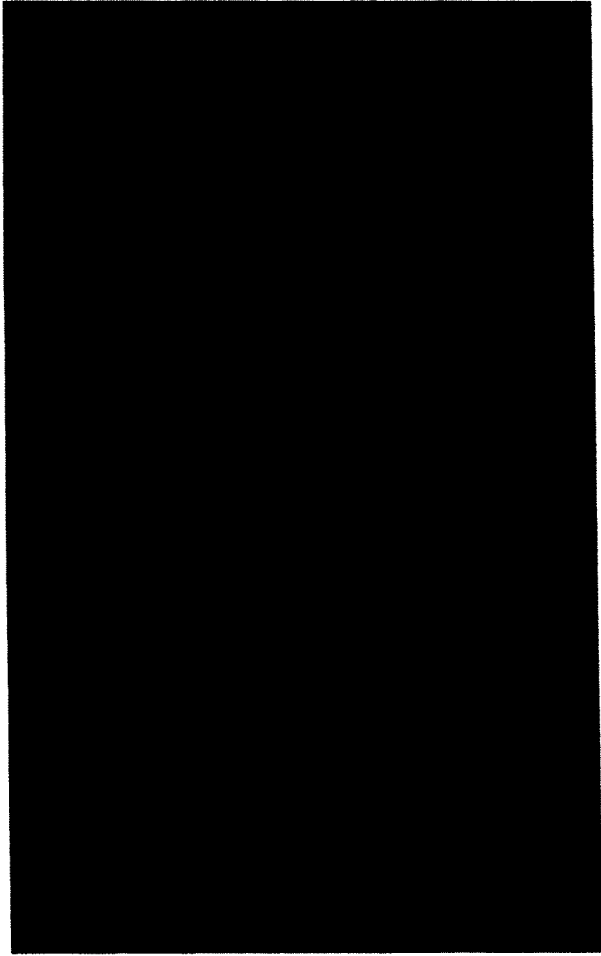

71
72
73
74
75
76
77
78
79
80

PS-JUSTA-01-00051

ECG Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by ECG Technical (11/16/11)

1

7

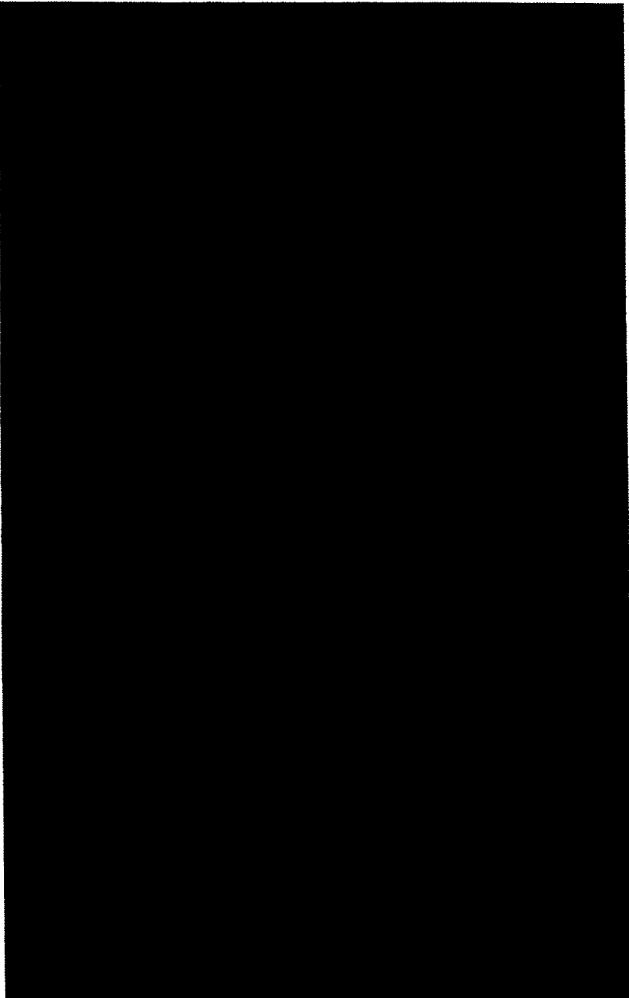

81
82
83
84
85
86
87
88
89
90
91
92
93
94
95

1

8

EOO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

96
97
98
99
100
101
102
103
104
105
106
107
108
109
110
111
112
113

1

9

EOB Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

114
115
116
117
118
119
120
121
122
123
124
125
126
127
128

1

10

EOO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

PSLTGTA-01-C00055

127
130
131
132
133
134
135
136
137
138
139
140
141

3

11

EOD Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

142
143
144
145
146
147
148
149
150
151
152
154
155
156
157
158

PSJ 11631A-01-000056

|     |  |
|-----|--|
| 159 |  |
| 160 |  |
| 161 |  |
| 162 |  |

)

13

EOD Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

01-000058

[illegible]

PSI-TIGTA-01-000059

[illegible]

[illegible]

17

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

[illegible]

1

18

EOU Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/18/11)

|  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|

PSI-TIGTA-01-000063

1

19

EOB Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

01-000064

[illegible]

PSLTCTA-01-000065

1

21

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |  |

PSI-TAGTA-01-000066

22

EO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/16/11)

|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |
|                                                                                     |  |  |  |  |

PSI-TIGTA-01-000007

[illegible]

~~PGI-TGTA-01-000068~~

Abstract

1

24

EOO Political Advocacy Cases - Screened by EO Technical (11/18/11)

|  |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |

Advocacy Organizations Guide Sheet

Many different types of exempt organizations engage in advocacy in compliance with the applicable tax laws. However, it can be challenging to distinguish between permissible and impermissible types of advocacy; analyzing cases involving these issues is extremely fact-intensive.

This guide sheet aids agents working these cases in differentiating between types of advocacy, reminds them of the advocacy rules pertaining to various categories of exempt organizations, and provides a checklist of facts to gather and indicators of various types of advocacy.

PART 1: THREE TYPES OF ADVOCACY:

This guide sheet breaks down the broad concept of advocacy into three categories: political campaign intervention, lobbying, and general advocacy. They are defined as follows.

1) Political Campaign Intervention:

An organization engages in political campaign intervention when it participates or intervenes in (including the publishing or distributing of statements), any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office. This includes attempts to influence political campaigns through both direct and indirect support of, or opposition to, a candidate.

2) Lobbying:

An organization engages in lobbying, or legislative activities, when it attempts to influence specific legislation by directly contacting members of a legislative body (federal, state, or local), or encouraging the public to contact those members, regarding that legislation. An organization also engages in lobbying when it encourages the public to take a position on a referendum. Lobbying is distinguished from political campaign intervention because lobbying does not involve attempts to influence the election of candidates for public office.

3) General Advocacy:

An organization engages in general advocacy when it attempts to (1) influence public opinion on issues germane to the organization's exempt purposes, (2) influence non-legislative governing bodies (e.g., the executive branch, regulatory agencies), or (3) encourage voter participation through get out the vote drives, voter guides, and candidate debates in a nonpartisan, neutral manner. General advocacy generally includes all other types of advocacy other than political campaign activity and lobbying.

Part 2: TYPES OF ADVOCACY ORGANIZATIONS:

The organizations that most commonly engage in advocacy are 501(c)(3), (4), (5), and (6) organizations and 527 organizations. Below are the rules governing which types of advocacy these organizations can engage in, along with a chart summarizing that information.

1) IRC 501(c)(3) organizations:

- Organizations described in 501(c)(3) are organized and operated exclusively for charitable, religious, educational, scientific, testing for public safety, literary, or educational purposes, or to foster national or international amateur sports competition, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.
- They can engage in an insubstantial amount of lobbying.
- They are absolutely prohibited from engaging in any type of political campaign intervention.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of general advocacy as long as it is educational.

2) IRC 501(c)(4) organizations:

- Social welfare organizations described in IRC 501(c)(4) are organized and operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, which involves promoting the common good and general welfare of people in the community.
- They can not be operated for profit.
- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(4) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(4) activities, cannot make up an organization's primary activities.
- They can engage in lobbying as their primary activity if their legislative activities are related to their specific exempt purposes.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of general educational advocacy as long as the activities are related to their exempt purposes.

3) IRC 501(c)(5) organizations:

- Organizations described in IRC 501(c)(5) must be organized and operated for the purpose of bettering the conditions of those engaged in labor, agricultural, or horticultural pursuits.
- They can engage in unlimited general advocacy.
- They can engage in unlimited lobbying, so long as the lobbying is conducted with regard to issues that are related to their exempt purpose.

- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(5) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(5) activities, cannot make up an organization's primary activities.

4) IRC 501(c)(6) organizations:

- Business league organizations described in 501(c)(6) are associations of persons with a common business interest and their purposes must be to promote this common interest.
- They can not conduct a regular trade or business for profit.
- They can engage in unlimited general advocacy.
- They can engage in unlimited lobbying, so long as the lobbying is on issues related to their exempt purpose.
- They can engage in limited political campaign intervention. Political campaign intervention does not further (c)(6) purposes; therefore political campaign activity, along with all other non-(c)(6) activities, cannot make up the organization's primary activity.

5) IRC 527 organizations:

- Political organizations described in 527 are organized and operated for the primary purpose of engaging in political campaign intervention, including influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential or Vice-Presidential electors, whether or not such individual or electors are selected, nominated, elected, or appointed.
- They can engage in an unlimited amount of political campaign intervention.
- They can engage in lobbying, but would be taxed on that activity.
- They can engage in general advocacy, but would be taxed on that activity.

|                                                 | IRC 501(c)(3)   | IRC 501(c)(4), (c)(5),and (c)(6)                                          | IRC 527        |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Receive tax-deductible charitable contributions | YES      | NO                                                                     | NO      |
| Engage in political campaign intervention       | NO       | LIMITED;Must Not ConstitutePrimary Activity OfOrganization | YES     |
| Engage in lobbying                              | LIMITED; | YES;                                                                   | LIMITED |

| (i.e. legislative activity)                                                                | Must Not Be Substantial                             | Unlimited Amount If In Furtherance of Exempt Purposes                |                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Engage in general public advocacy not related to legislation or the election of candidates | YES;Permitted As An Educational Activity | YES;Unlimited Amount If In Furtherance of Exempt Purposes | LIMITED |

Part 3: ADVOCACY INDICATORS:

Distinguishing between types of advocacy requires knowledge of all the pertinent facts and circumstances. Therefore, careful and full development of a case is often required to gather very specific facts. The following are facts about an organization's activities that can be helpful in distinguishing between different types of advocacy:

- What does the organization consider to be its exempt purpose(s)?
  - How much time is devoted to each purpose?
  - How many financial resources are devoted to each purpose?
  - In what order of importance does the organization consider its exempt purpose? From most important to least important?
- What are the sources of the organization's income?
- Does the organization engage in fundraising activities? If so, what are the specific details, including:
  - Copies of all solicitations the organization has made regarding fundraising, including fundraising that occurs in an election year and non-election year.
  - Copies of all documents related to the organization's fundraising events, including pamphlets, flyers, brochures, webpage solicitations.
  - How much of the organization's budget is spent on fundraising? Determine the sources of fundraising expenses.
- How does the organization use its income? Are there detailed break-downs of these expenses?
- How many employees does the organization have? How many volunteers?
  - Are employees full-time, part-time, or seasonal? Explain.
  - If employees are part-time, when did/do they work?
  - If employees are seasonal, during what season (months) did/do they work?
- How many employees and volunteers are/were devoted to each activity of the organization throughout the year?
- How many and what sort of resources are devoted to volunteer activities?
- Does the organization conduct educational events, discussion groups or similar events? If so, what are the specific details, including:
  - Copies of all materials distributed with regards to the event.
  - When have the events taken place or plan to take place?
  - How much of the organization's resources and budget are devoted to these activities? What is the breakdown of expenses?

- Does the organization publish or distribute materials or conduct other communications that are prepared by or reviewed by another organization?
- Is the organization associated with any other IRC 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4) or 527 organizations? If so, describe in detail the nature of the relationship(s).
  - Does the organization work with those organization(s) regularly? Describe the nature of the contacts.
  - Do you share employees, volunteers, resources, office space, etc. with the organization(s)?
- Does the organization conduct candidate forums or other events at which candidates for public office are invited to speak? If so, what are the details, including the nature of the forums, the candidates invited to participate, the candidates that did participate, the issues discussed, the time and location of the event.
  - Are there copies of all materials distributed regarding the forum and provided at the forum, including any internet material discussing or advertising the forum?
- Have any candidates for public office spoken at a function of the organization? If so, what are the names of the candidates, the functions at which they spoke, any materials distributed or published with regard to their appearance and the event, any video or audio recordings of the event, and a transcript of any speeches given by the candidate(s)?
- Does the organization, or has it ever, conducted voter education activities, including voter registration drives, get out the vote drives, or publish or distribute voter guides? If so:
  - What is the location, date and time of the events.
  - Who on the organization's behalf has or will conduct the voter registration or get out the vote drives?
  - How many resources (funds/employees/volunteers) are devoted to the activity?
  - Are there copies of all materials published or distributed regarding the activities, including copies of any voter guides?
- Does the organization engage in business dealings with any candidate(s) for public office or an organization associated with the candidate, such as renting office space or providing access to a membership list? If so, what is the relationship in detail and are there any contracts or other agreements documenting the business relationship?
- Does the organization attempt to influence the outcome of specific legislation?
  - Are there copies of all communications, pamphlets, advertisements, and other materials distributed by the organization regarding the legislation?
  - Does the organization conduct media advertisements lobbying for or against legislation? Are there copies of any radio, television, or internet advertisements relating to the organization's lobbying activities?
  - Does the organization directly or indirectly communicate with members of legislative bodies? If so, determine the amount and nature of the communication.

Report Exhibits - Page 001095

Below are indicators used when determining whether an IRC 501(c)(3), IRC 501(c)(4), (5) or (c)(6), or IRC 527 organization is engaging in (1) political campaign intervention, (2) lobbying (legislative activities), or (3) general advocacy.

Section I: Political Campaign Intervention

The following are indicators of political campaign intervention:

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Yes | No |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | Is there a "candidate" for "public office?" This is an individual who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Offers himself, or</li> <li>• Is proposed by others</li> <li>• As a contestant for elective public office, whether national, state, or local public office.</li> </ul> An individual who has not yet announced an intent to seek election to public office may still be considered to have offered himself or herself as a candidate for office. Has the individual taken sufficient steps prior to announcing an intent to seek election, so that he or she may be considered to have offered himself or herself as a candidate for public office? Have others proposed the individual as a candidate for public office, even if the individual has announced an intention of not seeking election to the office? Some action must be taken to make one a candidate, but the action need not be taken by the candidate or require his consent. This would include statements in opposition to a candidate for office, even before that candidate has necessarily declared themselves as a contestant for office. |     |    |
| B. | Is the candidate seeking an office to which he or she must be elected, as opposed to appointed? The political campaign intervention prohibition applies only to campaigns for offices to which a candidate must be elected. Factors indicating an elective public office include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The position was created by statute</li> <li>• The position is continuous</li> <li>• The position is not contractual</li> <li>• The position is for a fixed term of office</li> <li>• The office requires an oath of office</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |     |    |
| C. | Does the organization publish and/or distribute written or printed statements, including communications made on the internet, in favor of or against a candidate for public office? This includes material prepared by the organization itself or by other organizations or individuals. Do materials distributed by the organization encourage members to vote for or against a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |     |    |
|    | Has the organization criticized or expressed support for a candidate on their website or through links to another website?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |     |    |
|    | Has the organization made oral statements in support of or in opposition                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |     |    |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | to a candidate for public office?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |
|    | Does the organization encourage individuals to vote for or against a particular candidate?Organizations are not prohibited from speaking about moral, social, or economic issues during election periods. However, consider the facts and circumstances to determine whether the organization is surreptitiously intervening in a political campaign under the pretext of speaking to moral, social or economic issues by tying its message to the election in a manner that expresses a preference for a candidate or candidate.                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |  |
|    | Does the organization reference a candidate by use of "code words" or other references to identify a candidate, such as "Republican," "Democrat," "pro-life," "pro-choice," etc.?<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Are such references coupled with reasonably overt indications that the organization supports or opposes a particular candidate or candidates in an election?</li> <li>Does the communication contain a relatively clear directive, based on the facts and circumstances, that enables the recipient to understand the organization's position on a candidate or candidate?</li> </ul>                                                                                                              |  |  |
|    | Has the organization established or does it operate a political action committee (PAC)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
|    | Has the organization made contributions to a political action committee (PAC)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |
|    | Does the organization provide or solicit money or other support for a candidate or a political organization?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |  |
|    | Does the organization place signs on its property supporting or opposing a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |  |
|    | Does the organization rate candidates, even on a nonpartisan basis?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |  |
|    | Have organization leaders made comments in an official publication of the organization or at official functions of the organization indicating support for or opposition to a candidate?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |  |
|    | Does the organization conduct business dealings in a manner favoring a candidate or candidates, such as by renting facilities at different rates or providing/denying access to its membership list?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |  |
| D. | Personal Endorsements: Organization leaders may endorse or oppose a candidate in their personal capacity, and not in their official capacity. The following are indicators that the organization leader is speaking in his or her personal capacity and not in their official capacity:<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Do the organization leader's statements appear in a publication that is not an official publication of the organization?</li> <li>Is the ad or publication paid for by the individual himself or herself, and not by the organization?</li> <li>Is the organization leader's title and affiliation with the organization used for identification purposes only, and not to</li> </ul> |  |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | indicate support by the organization?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |  |
| E. | Candidate Forums: The presentation of public forums for candidates to speak or debate is not in and of itself prohibited political campaign intervention, but may be a permissible method of educating the public (See Rev. Rul. 66-256; Rev. Rul. 74-574; Rev. Rul. 86-95). All the facts and circumstances must be considered and the presence or absence of one factor is not determinative. Consider the following factors when determining whether the forum is operated in a manner that may constitute prohibited campaign intervention or a permissible educational event: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does the organization operate the forum in a manner indicating bias or preference for one candidate or candidates over others, such as through biased questioning?</li> <li>• Has the organization indicated support for or opposition to a candidate (e.g., such as when the candidate is introduced)?</li> <li>• Does the organization invite only candidates who share the same position as the organization to participate?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide an equal opportunity for all candidates to participate?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide equal amounts of time for each candidate to answer questions and express their views?</li> <li>• Are questions prepared and presented by a nonpartisan, independent panel or moderator?</li> <li>• Does the moderator comment on questions or otherwise make comments that imply approval or disapproval of a candidate?</li> <li>• Does the organization make statements that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization, and/or that the organization does not endorse any candidate or viewpoint?</li> <li>• Do the topics discussed cover a broad range of issues that are of interest to the public?</li> <li>• Are the candidates asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization, indicating prohibited campaign intervention?</li> </ul> |  |  |
| F. | Candidate Appearances: Has a candidate spoken at an official function of the organization in his or her personal capacity or capacity as a political candidate? Depending on the facts and circumstances an organization may invite political candidates to speak at its events without jeopardizing its tax-exempt status (See Rev. Rul. 2007-41). When determining if prohibited political campaign intervention occurred, consider the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Was the candidate invited to speak at the organization's event in his or her capacity as a political candidate?</li> <li>• Did the organization provide an equal opportunity to participate to political candidates seeking the same office? (Consider the nature of the event, such as if the organization invites one</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |  |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | candidate to speak at a well attended event but invites an opposing candidate to speak at a sparsely attended event. This could constitute prohibited campaign intervention even if the manner of presentation for both speakers is otherwise neutral.) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Did the organization indicate support for or opposition to the candidate (including during candidate introductions, communications concerning the candidate's attendance, including any materials distributed during the event)?</li> <li>• Did any political fundraising occur?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |  |
| G. | Did the candidate appear or speak at an organization event in a non-candidate capacity? (See Rev. Rul. 2007-41) The candidate's presence at a public event, such as a lecture, concert, or worship service does not by itself indicate the organization is engaged in prohibited political campaign intervention. The following factors should be considered when determining if prohibited political intervention occurred: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Is the candidate publicly recognized by the organization or a representative of the organization during the event as a candidate for public office?</li> <li>• Did the organization clearly indicate the capacity in which the candidate is appearing and does not mention the individual's political candidacy or the upcoming election in any communications announcing the candidate's attendance at the event?</li> <li>• Is the individual chosen to speak solely for reasons other than his or her candidacy, such as their status as a public figure aside from being a political candidate, the individual currently holds or previously held a public office, is considered an expert in a non-political field, is a celebrity, or has led a distinguished military, legal or public service career.</li> <li>• Has any campaign activity occurred in connection with the candidate's attendance?</li> </ul> |  |  |
| H. | Voter Guides: Certain "voter education" activities conducted in a non-partisan manner may not constitute prohibited political campaign activity, but may be permissible educational activity. The following are indicators that a voter guide constitutes prohibited political campaign activity, and not permissible educational activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are incumbents identified as candidates for re-election?</li> <li>• Are incumbents' positions compared to the positions of other candidates or the organization's position in a biased manner?</li> <li>• Is the voting guide distributed close in time to an election?</li> <li>• Is the voting guide primarily concerned with a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization (e.g. such as land conservation or abortion) as opposed to reporting on all legislation voted on by the candidates or of importance to the electorate?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |  |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the voting guide widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign as opposed to the organization's membership?</li> <li>Does the voting guide include only the voting records of candidates for office?</li> <li>Does the voting guide include the voting records of candidates in a partisan manner, such as by ranking them according to whether their vote aligns with the organization's position on the issue?</li> <li>Does the voting guide contain editorial comments by the organization?</li> <li>Does the voting guide contain express or implied approval or disapproval of a candidate's voting record?</li> </ul>                                                           |  |  |
| I. | Candidate Questionnaires: Depending on the facts and circumstances a candidate questionnaire published by an organization may constitute permissible educational activity as opposed to prohibited political campaign intervention. The following are indicators that the organization's questionnaires constitute prohibited campaign intervention: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Does the candidate questionnaire contain editorial comments by the organization?</li> <li>Does the candidate questionnaire include only issues of importance to the organization itself and not to the general public?</li> <li>Does the questionnaire contain express or implied approval or disapproval of candidate responses?</li> </ul> |  |  |

Section II: Lobbying

The following factors are indicative of lobbying (i.e. legislative activities):

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Yes | No |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | Is the organization attempting to influence legislation or a legislative proposal? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Legislation includes acts, bills, resolutions, referendums, initiatives, legislative confirmation of an appointive office, constitutional amendments by Congress, state legislatures, local councils or similar governing bodies or by the public in a referendum, initiative, constitutional amendment or similar procedure.</li> <li>Lobbying does not include attempts to influence (1) regulations or (2) administrative matters.</li> </ul> |     |    |
| B. | Is there "action" being taken with reference to the legislation? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Action includes introduction, amendment, enactment, defeat, or repeal by legislative bodies or the public.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |     |    |

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |  |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
| C. | Does the organization engage in "direct lobbying?" <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the organization trying to influence legislation by directly contacting members or employees of a legislative body?</li> <li>Does the organization communicate with government officials or employees who can affect legislation?</li> <li>Do the communications refer to specific legislation?</li> <li>Do the communications reflect the organization's specific views on legislation?</li> <li>Does the organization advocate a position on a specific act, bill, or resolution?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |  |  |
| D. | Does the organization engage in "indirect" or "grassroots" lobbying: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Does the organization attempt to influence legislation by influencing the public's opinion on specific legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication refer to specific legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication reflect a view or position on the legislation?</li> <li>Does the communication to the public include a "call to action" such as providing the address for the legislature, using a petition or tear-off postcard to communicate with the legislature or specifically identifying a legislator who will be voting on the proposed legislation and his or her position on it, or encouraging the public to contact members of a legislative body for purposes of supporting, opposing or proposing legislation?</li> </ul> |  |  |

Section III: General Advocacy

The following are indicators of general advocacy:

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Yes | No |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----|
| A. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Is the organization attempting to influence public opinion on issues, rather than attempting to influence the election of candidates for public office or specific legislation?</li> <li>Is the organization attempting to influence non-legislative governing bodies (e.g., the executive branch, regulators)?</li> <li>Is the organization engaging in nonpartisan, neutral voter educational activities? These may include get out the vote drives, encouraging voter registration, encouraging voter participation, candidate debates and forums, and the distribution of voter guides if conducted in a nonpartisan and neutral manner. (Refer to the subheads above for criteria when considering whether these voter education activities are conducted in a nonpartisan manner.)</li> </ul> |     |    |
| B. | Does the organization engage in "educational" activities? (See Rev. Proc. 86-43). The term "educational" relates to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The instruction or training of an individual for the purpose of</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |     |    |

Report Exhibits - Page 001101

|    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |  |
|----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|    | improving or developing his capabilities, or <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The instruction of the public on subjects useful to the individual and beneficial to the community.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |
|    | Is the organization advocating a particular position or viewpoint? If "Yes" to the following, the activity may qualify as permissible educational activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does the organization present a sufficiently full and fair exposition of the pertinent facts that aid the listener or reader in the learning process?</li> <li>• Does the organization provide a factual background for the viewpoint or position being advocated?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |  |
| C. | The organization's presentations should avoid the following factors in order to be considered educational: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Do the organization's presentations avoid expressing conclusions more on the basis of strong emotional feelings than of objective evaluations?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid presenting viewpoints or positions unsupported by facts and this is a significant portion of the organization's communications?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid presenting facts purporting to support its viewpoints or position made in a distorted manner?</li> <li>• Does the organization avoid making substantial use of inflammatory and/or disparaging terms?</li> </ul> |  |  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001102

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Clean-ups & Revisions to Guide Sheet
Date: Monday, May 20, 2013 12:19:44 PM
Attachments: guide sheet master 04-25-12 (counsel).doc guide sheet master compare 04-25-12.doc

---

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, July 24, 2012 1:56 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Clean-ups & Revisions to Guide Sheet

---

From: Spellmann Don R
Sent: Wednesday, April 25, 2012 3:48 PM
To: Lerner Lois G; Marks Nancy J; Paz Holly O; Kindeli Judith E; Fish David L; Megosh Andy; Lowe Justin; Goehausen Hillary; Urban Joseph J
Cc: Judson Victoria A; Cook Janine; Brown Susan D; Marshall David L
Subject: Clean-ups & Revisions to Guide Sheet

We just can't seem to keep our hands off this thing (or stop thinking about it). You'll see a fair amount of red here. But it's predominantly clean-up, more consistency in language, some rephrasing (political now ahead of lobbying throughout), added precision and clarity (we hope), and better conformity to the published ruling examples. We also removed, combined, or massaged a number of factors that were neutral (or unnecessary) free-standing.

The first document is clean, only containing the discrete comment windows from before.

The second is red, white and black.

Please let us know if you have questions or would like to discuss anything.

Don & Crew

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Reviewing Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) Exemption Applications
(Political Campaign Intervention and Lobbying)

OVERVIEW

This document provides information to assist you in processing the exemption applications under sections 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) of organizations that indicate they may participate or intervene in a political campaign ("political campaign intervention"), or attempt to influence legislation ("lobbying").<sup>1</sup> This document will help you screen your applications for organizations that may engage in political campaign intervention or lobbying, decide which activities may require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular activity may be political campaign intervention or lobbying.

Questions on case development and applicable law should be directed to Exempt Organizations Technical.

This document contains the following sections:

1. Definitions of political campaign intervention and lobbying
2. Rules on political campaign intervention and lobbying for section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4) organizations
3. A separate guide sheet for certain activities that may be political campaign intervention or lobbying.

PART 1: DEFINITIONS

1) Political Campaign Intervention:

- Participating or intervening in (including the publishing or distributing of statements) any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office. [§ 501(c)(3); § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)]
- It includes, but is not limited to, the publication or distribution of written or printed statements or the making of oral statements on behalf of or in opposition to a candidate. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iii)]

---

<sup>1</sup> This document is not designed for use in processing exemption applications under § 501(c)(5) (labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations) or § 501(c)(6) (business leagues). The guide sheets relating to specific types of activities conducted by § 501(c)(4) organizations may be relevant for gathering information from these organizations.

Report Exhibits - Page 001104

DRAFT 4/25/2012

2) Lobbying:

- Contacting, or urging the public to contact, members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation, or
- Advocating the adoption or rejection of legislation.
- Legislation includes action by the Congress, by any State legislature, by any local council or similar governing body, or by the public in a referendum, initiative, constitutional amendment, or similar procedure.
- Lobbying does not include engaging in nonpartisan analysis, study, or research and making the results thereof available to the public.

[§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii), (3)(iv); Rev. Rul. 71-530 (applying to § 501(c)(4) organizations)]

PART 2: RULES ON POLITICAL CAMPAIGN INTERVENTION AND LOBBYING<sup>2</sup>

1) Section 501(c)(3) Organizations:

- Organized and operated exclusively for charitable, educational, and other specified purposes. [§ 501(c)(3)]
- Do not engage in political campaign intervention. [§ 501(c)(3), § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1). Rev. Rul. 2007-41]
- No substantial part of their activities is lobbying.<sup>3</sup> [§ 501(c)(3)]

2) Section 501(c)(4) Organizations:

- Operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare [§ 501(c)(4)]
- Promotion of social welfare does not include political campaign intervention. [§ 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)] The regulations do not impose a complete ban on such activities, as long as the organization's primary activities promote social welfare.<sup>4</sup> [Rev. Rul. 81-85]
- Lobbying may promote social welfare. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(flush); Rev. Rul. 68-556, Rev. Rul. 71-530]

<sup>2</sup> Organizations described in § 501(c) (other than § 501(c)(3)) are subject to special reporting rules regarding their political and lobbying activities and may be subject to tax on those activities. See § 527 and § 6033(c).

<sup>3</sup> For private foundations, even insubstantial lobbying activities are subject to penalty excise taxes. [§ 4945(e)]

<sup>4</sup> A § 501(c) organization that makes expenditures for political organization "exempt function" activity as defined in § 527(e) is subject to tax on the organization's net investment income, up to the amount of the "exempt function" expenditures. [§ 527(f)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001105

DRAFT 4/25/2012

PART 3: GUIDE SHEETS FOR SPECIFIC ACTIVITIES

Below are separate guide sheets for certain activities that may be political campaign intervention or lobbying. Use the guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may engage in that specific activity.

The guide sheets will help you screen your applications for organizations that may engage in political campaign intervention or lobbying, decide which activities may require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular activity is political campaign intervention or lobbying. The guide sheets each present a specific set of facts in which an activity generally is (or generally is not) political campaign intervention or lobbying. For all other situations, the guide sheets list individual facts for you to consider and develop. The facts are listed by whether they tend to show (or tend not to show) political campaign intervention or lobbying. Each fact contains a citation to revenue rulings or other legal authorities to consult for further information. These authorities contain examples that illustrate how to apply the law on political campaign intervention and lobbying to these activities.

Your determination is based on all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether an activity is political campaign intervention or lobbying. If an organization engages in multiple activities, the interaction among them may affect whether the organization is engaged in political campaign intervention [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]. Questions on case development and applicable law should be directed to Exempt Organizations Technical.

Comment (A1): Add an instruction to call (A2) technical, if the application has possible campaign or lobbying activities other than those activities addressed in the specific guide sheets.

Possible Political Campaign Intervention

- Guide Sheet 1: Voter Guides
- Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums
- Guide Sheet 3: Other Candidate Appearances
- Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention
- Guide Sheet 5: Individual Activity by Organization Leaders
- Guide Sheet 6: Business Activities

Possible Lobbying : For Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only

- Guide Sheet 7: Communications with the General Public on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)
- Guide Sheet 8: Communications with Government Officials on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

Report Exhibits - Page 001106

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 1: Voter Guides

Certain voter education, including the preparation and distribution of certain voter guides, conducted in a non-partisan manner, may not constitute political campaign intervention [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]. On the other hand, an organization that publishes a compilation of candidate positions or incumbents' voting records may engage in political campaign intervention if the questionnaire used to solicit candidate positions or the voter guide itself shows a bias or preference in content or structure with respect to the views of a particular candidate. [Rev. Rul. 78-248]. The timing and manner of the distribution also are relevant to determining whether the organization is engaged in political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 80-282].

Comment (A2): The revenue rulings cited in this document are § 501(c)(3) rulings. They do not specifically address, or state that they apply to, § 501(c)(4) organizations. This document applies them to both, based on the same or similar language on political campaign intervention and lobbying in the regulations under §§ 501(c)(3) and (c)(4).

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may publish or distribute voter guides. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's voter guide activities for possible political campaign intervention, decide which voter guide activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular voter guide activity may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which voter guide activities generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Voter guide activities generally are not political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization annually prepares and makes generally available to the public a compilation of voting records of all members of a particular legislative body on major issues involving a wide range of subjects, the publication contains no editorial opinion, and the contents and structure of the publication do not imply approval or disapproval of any members or their voting records [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]; or
2. The organization sends a questionnaire to all candidates for the same public office soliciting a brief statement of their positions on a wide variety of issues; it publishes all responses in a voter guide it makes generally available to the public; it selects the issues for their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole, and neither the questionnaire nor the voter guide, in form or content, shows a bias or preference for any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]

B. Voter guide activities generally are political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization sends a questionnaire evidencing bias on certain issues to candidates for public office, and it uses the responses to prepare a voter guide that it distributes during an election campaign [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 3]; or

Report Exhibits - Page 001107

DRAFT 4/25/2012

2. The organization publishes a compilation of the voting records of incumbents on a narrow range of issues, and it widely distributes the publication among the electorate during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]

C. Voter Guides -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a voter guide activity is (or is not) political campaign intervention. The facts are listed separately for guides on the positions of candidates for public office and guides on the voting records of incumbents. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a voter guide activity is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Positions of Candidates for Public Office

Does the organization indicate that it may prepare and distribute a guide summarizing the positions of one or more candidates for public office? If no, skip this section. If yes, develop the following facts

a. Facts tending to show that the candidate position activity is not political campaign intervention.

Comment (A3): Phrase from 2004-6

- The organization sends to all candidates for the same public office a questionnaire that covers a wide variety of issues selected by the organization based on their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole, and publishes all of the responses. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The questionnaire does not, in content or structure, show a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The questionnaire solicits from all candidates for the same public office a statement of his or her position, and the organization publishes or distributes all candidate responses to the questionnaire in the voter guide. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The voter guide covers a wide variety of issues, which the organization selects based on their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The voter guide does not, in content or structure, show a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]

Report Exhibits - Page 001108

DRAFT 4/25/2012

b. Facts tending to show that the candidate position activity is political campaign intervention:

- The organization sends a questionnaire to all candidates for the same public office that covers a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization, and it uses the responses to prepare a voter guide which it widely distributes during an election campaign. [derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situations 2 & 4]
- The questionnaire shows a bias on certain issues, and the organization uses the responses to the questionnaire to prepare a voter guide which it distributes during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 3]
- The voter guide, in content or structure, shows a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates, and the organization distributes the guide during an election campaign. [derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situations 1 & 2]
- The voter guide covers a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization, and the organization widely distributes the voter guide among the general public during an election campaign. [derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]

Comment [A4]: Derived from means that this is not a specific example in the ruling, but is supported by the ruling's listed factors.

2. Voting Records of Incumbents

Does the organization indicate that it may prepare and publish or distribute a report or other compilation of the voting records of incumbents (for example, current Members of Congress)? If no, skip this section. If yes, develop the following facts.

a. Facts tending to show that the voting record activity is not political campaign intervention:

- The organization annually prepares and makes generally available to the public a compilation of voting records of incumbents on major legislative issues involving a wide range of subjects. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]
- The organization usually publishes the voting records after the close of the legislative session, and the distribution is not geared to the timing of any election. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
- The publication contains no editorial opinion, and its contents and structure do not imply approval or disapproval of any incumbents or their voting records. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]
- The publication presents the voting records of all incumbents, and it does not identify candidates for reelection. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]

Report Exhibits - Page 001109

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The format and content of the publication is not neutral because it reports on whether the incumbent supported the organization's views, but distribution occurs as soon as practical after the end of each legislative session, is limited to a relatively small group consisting of the organization's normal readership, is not targeted to particular areas in which elections are occurring, and is not timed to coincide with an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
  - The publication does not comment on an individual's overall qualification for public office, or compare candidates who might be competing with the incumbents in any political campaign. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
- b. Facts tending to show that the voting record activity is political campaign intervention:
- The publication contains a statement that endorses or rejects any incumbent as a candidate for public office, or identifies candidates for re-election and comments on their overall qualification for public office, or compares candidates that might be competing with incumbents in a political campaign, and the publication is widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign or targeted toward particular areas in which elections are occurring. [derived from Rev. Rul. 80-282]
  - The publication reports on the organization's views on selected legislative issues, indicates whether the incumbent supported or opposed the organization's view, and is widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign or targeted toward particular areas in which elections are occurring. [derived both from Rev. Rul. 80-282 and Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]
  - The publication covers a narrow range of issues selected for their importance to the organization, and it is widely distributed during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]
- D. Legal References
- Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178
  - Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums

The presentation of public forums or debates is a recognized method of educating the public. [Rev. Rul. 66-256] Providing a forum for candidates does not, in and of itself, constitute political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 74-574] However, a forum for candidates could be operated in a manner that would show a bias or preference for or against a particular candidate, such as through biased questioning procedures. On the other hand, a forum held for the purpose of educating and informing the voters, which provides fair and impartial treatment of candidates, and which does not promote or advance one candidate over another, would not constitute political campaign intervention [Rev. Rul. 86-95] [also cited in Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may invite candidates for public office to speak at its events in their capacity as political candidates. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's candidate forums for possible political campaign intervention, decide which candidate forums require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular candidate forum may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which candidate forums generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Candidate forums generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The organization invites all candidates seeking the same office to participate at the same (or a substantially similar) event, provides each candidate an equal opportunity to address and field questions on a wide variety of topics, and does not comment on their qualifications or indicate a preference for any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]

B. Candidate forums generally are political campaign intervention if:

The organization invites one candidate to speak at an organization event in support of the candidate's campaign and does not invite any other candidates for the same public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]

C. Candidate Forums -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a candidate forum is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a candidate forum is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains

Report Exhibits - Page 001111

DRAFT 4/25/2012

any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a candidate forum is not political campaign intervention:

- The organization does not comment on the qualifications of, or indicate a preference for, any candidate during the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]
- The topics discussed cover a broad range of the issues that the candidates would address if elected to the office sought and that are of broad interest to the public. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization does not indicate support for or opposition to a candidate during the event (such as when the candidate is introduced). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7 & 8)]
- The candidates at the event are not asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances)]
- A nonpartisan, independent panel prepares any questions presented to candidates at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- A nonpartisan, independent panel or moderator presents the questions. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator does not comment on questions or otherwise imply approval or disapproval of a candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator states that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization, and that sponsorship of the forum is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization provides an equal opportunity for candidates to use its facilities to speak in support of their respective campaigns. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]

2. Facts tending to show that a candidate forum is political campaign intervention:

- The organization comments on the qualifications of, or indicates a preference for, any candidate during the event. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001112

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The topics discussed at the forum do not cover a broad range of the issues that the candidates would address if elected to the office sought and that are of broad interest to the public. [derived both from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7) and Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization indicates support for or opposition to a candidate during the event (such as when the candidate is introduced). [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7 & 8)]
- The candidates at the event are asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances)]
- Questions to forum participants are not prepared and presented by a nonpartisan, independent panel. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); derived from Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator comments on questions or otherwise implies approval or disapproval of a candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator does not state that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization, or that sponsorship of the forum is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate. [derived from Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization selectively provides an opportunity for one candidate (but not others) to use its facilities to speak in support of his or her campaign. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]

D. Legal References:

- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7-9)
- Rev. Rul. 86-95, 1986-2 C.B. 73
- Rev. Rul. 74-574, 1974-2 C.B. 180
- Rev. Rul. 86-256, 1986-2 C.B. 210

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 3: Other Candidate Appearances

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of a candidate appearance at an organization event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may be involved with any candidate appearance. This guide sheet will help you screen any candidate appearances at organization events for possible political campaign intervention, decide which candidate appearances require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular candidate appearance may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which candidate appearances generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

Consult Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums for assistance in evaluating whether inviting candidates for public office to speak at organization events in their capacity as political candidates may be political campaign intervention.

A. Candidate appearances generally are not political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization invites the individual to speak solely for reasons other than his or her candidacy; neither the individual nor any representative of the organization mention the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election; and no political fundraising occurs at the event [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]; or
2. The individual appears at an organization event only in a non-candidate capacity; the organization only acknowledges the individual's presence and his official title; and the organization makes no reference to the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 10)]

B. Candidate appearances generally are political campaign intervention if:

The individual attends an organization's event that is open to the public; and an official of the organization asks the crowd to support the candidate in the upcoming election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 13)]

C. Candidate Appearances -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Report Exhibits - Page 001114

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a candidate appearance is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a candidate appearance is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a candidate appearance is not political campaign intervention:

- The individual was invited to appear or speak at the organization's event for reasons other than his or her political candidacy. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]
- The individual attends or speaks only in a non-candidate capacity. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-11)]
- The organization does not indicate any support for or opposition to the individual's candidacy (including introductions). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-11)]
- No political fundraising or other campaign activity occurs at the event in connection with the candidate's attendance. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]
- The organization makes no mention of the individual's political candidacy or the upcoming election in communications announcing the individual's attendance at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]
- The organization maintains a nonpartisan atmosphere at the event at which the candidate is present. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]

2. Facts tending to show that a candidate appearance is political campaign intervention:

- The organization indicates support for or opposition to the individual's candidacy (including during introductions). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 13)]
- There is political fundraising at the event, or other campaign activity occurs at the event in connection with the candidate's attendance. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001115

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The organization maintains a partisan atmosphere on the premises or at the event where the candidate is present. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]

D. Legal Reference

Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-13)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention

Organizations may take positions on public policy issues, including issues that divide candidates in an election for public office. However, issue advocacy may function as political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41] Even if a statement does not expressly tell an audience to vote for or against a specific candidate, an organization delivering the statement may engage in political campaign intervention if there is any message favoring or opposing a candidate. A statement can identify a candidate not only by stating the candidate's name, but also by other means such as showing a picture of the candidate, referring to political party affiliations, or other distinctive features of a candidate's platform or biography. All the facts and circumstances need to be considered to determine if the advocacy is political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

A web site is a form of communication. An organization that posts something on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office will be treated the same as if it distributed printed materials, oral statements or broadcasts. When an organization establishes a link to another web site, it is responsible for the consequences of establishing and maintaining that link, even if it does not have control over the content of the linked site. Links to candidate-related material, by themselves, do not necessarily result in political campaign intervention. All facts and circumstances must be taken into account when assessing whether a link produces that result. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that its issue advocacy communications (including on its web site) may support or oppose a candidate for public office. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's issue advocacy communications for possible political campaign intervention, decide which issue advocacy communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular issue advocacy communication may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which issue advocacy communications generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Issue advocacy communications generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The communication urges the public to contact an officeholder to support specific legislation, the statement appears immediately before the officeholder is scheduled to vote on that legislation, the statement does not mention the election or the candidacy of the office holder, and the issues that are the subject of the legislation have not been raised as distinguishing the officeholder from any election opponent. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy: Situation 14)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001117

DRAFT 4/25/2012

B. Issue advocacy communications generally are political campaign intervention if:

The communication is delivered shortly before an election, identifies by name an officeholder who is also a candidate in that election, takes a position on an issue that has been used to distinguish the candidates in the election, is not part of an ongoing series of substantially similar advocacy communications by the organization on the same issue, and is not timed to coincide with a non-electoral event (such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]

C. Issue Advocacy Communications -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether an issue advocacy communication, including on a website, is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether an issue advocacy communication is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that issue advocacy communications are not political campaign intervention:

- The communication does not identify one or more candidates for a given public office by name or by other means. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
- The communication does not address any issue that has been raised as an issue distinguishing candidates for a given office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 14)]
- The communication is timed to coincide with a non-electoral event such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 14)]
- The communication is part of an ongoing series of communications by the organization on the same issue that are made independent of the timing of an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
- The communication is not delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
- The organization has not posted anything on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001118

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The organization's web site does not provide a direct link to a web page that contains material favoring or opposing a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 20)]
  - The organization's web site links to the website of another entity, the web site link serves an exempt purpose of the organization (such as educating the public), and neither the context for the link nor the relationship between the organization and the other entity indicates that the organization was favoring or opposing any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - The organization establishes on its web site links to the official campaign web sites of all the candidates for a particular office and presents all of the links in a neutral, unbiased manner. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 19)]
2. Facts tending to show that issue advocacy communications are political campaign intervention:
- The communication identifies one or more candidates for a given public office by name or by other means, such as addressing an issue that has been raised as an issue distinguishing the candidates for that office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - The communication is delivered close in time to an election and is not timed to coincide with a non-electoral event such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - The communication is delivered close in time to an election and is not part of an ongoing series of communications by the organization on the same issue that are made independent of the timing of an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - The organization posts a message on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 21)]
  - The organization's web site provides a direct link to a web page that contains material favoring or opposing a candidate for public office, and the web site link does not serve an exempt purpose of the organization, such as educating the public. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - The organization establishes a link to a candidate's official campaign web site and does not present the link in a neutral, unbiased manner or does not establish similar links for all of the candidates for a particular office. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 19)]

D. Legal Reference

Report Exhibits - Page 001119

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Issue Advocacy, Situations 14-16; Web Sites, Situations 19-20)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 5: Individual Activity by Organization Leaders

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of political campaign activities by any organization leader. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if any organization leader may engage in any political campaign activity. This guide sheet will help you screen the political campaign activity of any organization leader for possible political campaign intervention by the organization, decide which organization leader activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular political campaign activity by any organization leader may be political campaign intervention by the organization.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which political campaign activities by any organization leader generally are political campaign intervention by the organization and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains a legal reference.

A. Political campaign activity by any organization leader generally is not political campaign intervention if:

The leader makes a statement in the leader's personal capacity supporting the election of a candidate for public office; the statement appears in a publication that is not an official publication of the organization; the organization pays none of the costs of the publication; and the publication states that the leader's title and affiliation with the organization are provided for identification purposes only. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, Situation 3.]

B. Political campaign activity by any organization leader generally is political campaign intervention if:

The leader makes an oral statement to vote for a candidate for public office at an official meeting of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Situation 6).]

C. Political Campaign Activity by Organization Leaders -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether the political campaign activity by any organization leader is (or is not) political campaign intervention by the organization. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether political campaign activity by any organization leader is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

Report Exhibits - Page 001121

DRAFT 4/25/2012

1. Facts tending to show that political campaign activity by any organization leader is not political campaign intervention

- The leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office does not appear in an official publication of, or in a publication paid for by, the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3 & 5)]
- The leader does not make the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]
- The leader does not say that he is speaking as a representative of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]
- The leader personally endorses a candidate in a publication that is not paid for by the organization and is not an official publication of the organization, and the publication states that her title and affiliation with the organization are provided for identification purposes only. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 3)]
- The leader does not make the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization or otherwise use the organization's assets, and the leader does not say that he is speaking on behalf of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]

2. Facts tending to show that political campaign activity by any organization leader is political campaign intervention

- The leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office appears in an official publication of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 4)]
- The leader makes the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 6)]
- The organization pays for the publication of the leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3 & 5)]
- The leader makes the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an event that is not an official function of the organization, and the

Report Exhibits - Page 001122

DRAFT 4/25/2012

leader states that she is speaking on behalf of the organization. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]

D. Legal Reference

Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3-6)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 6: Business Activities

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of a business activity of the organization, such as the selling or renting of mailing lists, the leasing of office space, or the acceptance of paid political advertising. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may engage in business activities with any candidate for public office. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's business activities for possible political campaign intervention, decide which business activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular business activity may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which business activities generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains a legal reference.

A. Business activities with candidates generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The organization sells or rents goods, services, or facilities to the general public, it makes them available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis, and the fees charged to candidates are at the organization's customary and usual rates. [Rev Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]

B. Business activities with candidates generally are political campaign intervention if:

The organization does not normally sell or rent goods, services or facilities to the general public, but does so selectively to a candidate for public office, and it does not make its goods, services or facilities available on an equal basis to the other candidates in the same election. [Rev Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]

C. Business Activities -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a business activity is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a business activity is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

Report Exhibits - Page 001124

DRAFT 4/25/2012

1. Facts tending to show that a business activity is not political campaign intervention

- The business activity is an ongoing activity of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]
- The organization makes the good, service or facility available to the general public. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]
- The organization makes the good, service, or facility available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]
- The organization charges all candidates in the same election its usual and customary rates for the good, service, or facility. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]

2. Facts tending to show that a business activity is political campaign intervention

- The organization only provides the good, service or facility to a political candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]
- The organization does not make the good, service or facility available to all candidates in the same election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]
- The organization does not make the good, service or facility available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]
- The organization does not charge all candidates in the same election its usual and customary rates for the good, service or facility. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]

D. Legal Reference

- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Business Activity, Situations 17-18)

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 7: Communications with the General Public on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

The fact that an organization, in carrying out its primary purpose, advocates social or civic changes or presents opinion on controversial issues with the intention of molding public opinion or creating public sentiment to an acceptance of its views does not preclude the organization from qualifying under section 501(c)(3). [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(2)] However, an organization does not qualify under section 501(c)(3) if a substantial part of its activities is attempting to influence legislation by propaganda or otherwise. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)]

An organization also does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3) if its primary objective may be attained only by legislation (or a defeat of proposed legislation) and it advocates for the attainment of such objective, as distinguished from engaging in nonpartisan analysis, study, or research and making the results thereof available to the public. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3); Rev. Rul. 64-195]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may communicate with the general public on legislative issues. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's communications with the general public on legislative issues for possible lobbying, decide which communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular communication may be lobbying.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which communications with the general public on legislative issues generally are lobbying and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, lobbying. Parts D and E contain legal and other references.

Consult Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention for assistance in evaluating whether a communication on legislative issues functions as political campaign intervention.

A. Communications with the general public generally are not lobbying if either:

1. The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation or urge the public to contact one or more legislators to propose, support, or oppose legislation; and the organization's primary objective can be attained other than by the enactment or defeat of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(i), (iv)] or
2. The organization conducts nonpartisan analysis, study, and research to develop solutions for problems affecting a particular region and publishes the results for the benefit of the public, and does not advocate the adoption of any legislation or legislative action to implement its findings. [Rev. Rul. 70-79]

Report Exhibits - Page 001126

DRAFT 4/25/2012

B. Communications with the general public generally are lobbying if:

The communication urges members of the general public to contact legislators to support or oppose legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]

C. Communication with the general public -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a communication with the general public on legislative issues is (or is not) lobbying. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a communication with the general public is lobbying. The legal and other references in Parts D and E will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a communication with the general public is not lobbying:

- The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii); Rev. Rul. 64-195; Rev. Rul. 70-79]
- The communication does not urge the public to contact members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The communication makes available to the general public the results of nonpartisan analysis, study, or research conducted by the organization. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv); Rev. Rul. 64-195; Rev. Rul. 70-79]

2. Facts tending to show that a communication with the general public is lobbying:

- The communication advocates the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The communication urges the public to contact members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The organization's primary objective can be attained only by the enactment (or defeat) of legislation, and the organization advocates for the attainment of that objective. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv); Rev. Rul. 62-71]

D. Legal References

- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii) and (iv)
- Rev. Rul. 62-71, 1962-1 C.B. 85
- Rev. Rul. 64-195, 1964-2 C.B. 138
- Rev. Rul. 70-79, 1970-1 C.B. 127

Report Exhibits - Page 001127

DRAFT 4/25/2012

E. Other legal references

- Treas. Reg. § 56.4911-2 (public charities that have made the § 501(h) election only)
- Treas. Reg. § 53.4945-2 (private foundations only)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 8: Communications with Government Officials on Legislative Issues
(for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

An organization can communicate with government officials on legislative issues without engaging in lobbying. For example, an organization is not engaged in lobbying activity if, at the request of a legislative committee, a representative testifies as an expert witness on pending legislation affecting the organization. [Rev. Rul. 70-449] Similarly, an organization may seek to assist government officials in the study of problems by conducting nonpartisan analysis, study, and research into these problems and publishing the results for the benefit of the general public. Such activities may qualify as educational. However, an organization may be engaged in lobbying if it advocates the adoption of legislation to implement the organization's findings. [Rev. Rul. 70-79]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may communicate with government officials on legislative issues. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's communications with government officials on legislative issues for possible lobbying, decide which communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular communication may be lobbying.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which communications with government officials on legislative issues generally are lobbying and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, lobbying. Parts D and E contain legal and other references.

A. Communications with government officials generally are not lobbying if:

1. At the request of a legislative committee, the organization sends a representative to provide expert testimony on pending legislation [Rev. Rul. 70-449]; or
2. The organization's activities are limited to studying, researching, and assembling materials necessary to evaluate legislation, and presenting an objective analysis of the legislation to those who are interested in the issue (both those who favor the legislation and those who oppose it) and to the general public. [Rev. Rul. 64-195]

B. Communications with government officials generally are lobbying if:

The organization contacts legislators to advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)].

C. Communications with government officials -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Report Exhibits - Page 001129

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a communication with government officials on legislative issues is (or is not) lobbying. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a communication with government officials is lobbying. The legal and other references in Parts D and E will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a communication with government officials is not lobbying:

- The communication is in response to a request for technical assistance from a governmental body, such as a Congressional committee. [Rev. Rul. 70-449]
- The communication makes available to the general public the results of nonpartisan analysis, study, or research conducted by the organization. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 64-195, and Rev. Rul. 70-79]
- The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of any legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 64-195, Rev. Rul. 70-79]

2. Facts tending to show that a communication with government officials is lobbying:

- The organization contacts members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The organization's primary objective can be attained only by the enactment (or defeat) of legislation, and the organization advocates for the attainment of that objective. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 62-71]

D. Legal References

- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii) and (iv)
- Rev. Rul. 62-71, 1962-1 C.B. 85
- Rev. Rul. 64-195, 1964-2 C.B. 138
- Rev. Rul. 70-79, 1970-1 C.B. 127
- Rev. Rul. 70-449, 1970-2 C.B. 111

E. Other legal references

- Treas. Reg. § 56.4911-2 (public charities that have made the § 501(h) election only)
- Treas. Reg. § 53.4945-2 (private foundations only)

DRAFT 4/23/2012

Reviewing Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) Exemption Applications
(Political Campaign Intervention and Lobbying)

OVERVIEW

This document provides information to assist you in processing the exemption applications under sections 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) of organizations that indicate they may participate or intervene in a political campaign ("political campaign intervention"), or attempt to influence legislation ("lobbying").<sup>1</sup> This document will help you screen your applications for organizations that may engage in political campaign intervention or lobbying, decide which activities may require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular activity may be political campaign intervention or lobbying.

Questions on case development and applicable law should be directed to Exempt Organizations Technical.

This document contains the following sections:

1. Definitions of political campaign intervention and lobbying
2. Rules on political campaign intervention and lobbying for section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4) organizations
3. A separate guide sheet for certain activities that may be political campaign intervention or lobbying

PART 1: DEFINITIONS

1) Political Campaign Intervention:

- Participating or intervening in (including the publishing or distributing of statements) any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office. [§ 501(c)(3); § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)]
- It includes, but is not limited to, the publication or distribution of written or printed statements or the making of oral statements on behalf of or in opposition to a candidate. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iii)]

<sup>1</sup> This document is not designed for use in processing exemption applications under § 501(c)(5) (labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations) or § 501(c)(6) (business leagues). The guide sheets relating to specific types of activities conducted by § 501(c)(4) organizations may be relevant for gathering information from these organizations.

Deleted: Lobbying and

Deleted: attempt to influence legislation ("lobbying"), or

Deleted: lobbying or

Deleted: lobbying or

Deleted: lobbying and

Deleted: lobbying and

Deleted: some

Deleted: section

Deleted: section

Deleted: section

DRAFT 4/25/2012

2) Lobbying:

- Contacting, or urging the public to contact, members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation; or
- Advocating the adoption or rejection of legislation.
- Legislation includes action by the Congress, by any State legislature, by any local council or similar governing body, or by the public in a referendum, initiative, constitutional amendment, or similar procedure.
- Lobbying does not include engaging in nonpartisan analysis, study, or research and making the results thereof available to the public.

[§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii), (3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 71-530 (applying to § 501(c)(4) organizations)]

PART 2: RULES ON POLITICAL CAMPAIGN INTERVENTION AND LOBBYING<sup>2</sup>

1) Section 501(c)(3) Organizations:

- Organized and operated exclusively for charitable, educational, and other specified purposes. [§ 501(c)(3)]
- Do not engage in political campaign intervention. [§ 501(c)(3), § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1), Rev. Rul. 2007-41]
- No substantial part of their activities is lobbying.<sup>4</sup> [§ 501(c)(3)]

Deleted: LOBBYING AND

Deleted: No substantial part of its activities is lobbying.
Deleted: <sup>3</sup> [§ 501(c)(3)] if Does
Deleted: }

2) Section 501(c)(4) Organizations:

- Operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare [§ 501(c)(4)]
- Promotion of social welfare does not include political campaign intervention. [§ 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)] The regulations do not impose a complete ban on such activities, as long as the organization's primary activities promote social welfare.<sup>5</sup> [Rev. Rul. 81-96]
- Lobbying may promote social welfare. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(flush); Rev. Rul. 68-656, Rev. Rul. 71-530]

Deleted: Lobbying may promote social welfare. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(flush); Rev. Rul. 68-656, Rev. Rul. 71-530]

<sup>2</sup> Organizations described in § 501(c) (other than § 501(c)(3)) are subject to special reporting rules regarding their political and lobbying activities and may be subject to tax on those activities. See § 527 and § 6033(e).
<sup>3</sup> For private foundations, even insubstantial lobbying activities are subject to penalty excise taxes. [§ 4955(a)(2)]
<sup>4</sup> A § 501(c) organization that makes expenditures for political organization "exempt function" activity as defined in § 527(e) is subject to tax on the organization's net investment income, up to the amount of the "exempt function" expenditures. [§ 527(f)]

Deleted: word
Deleted: section
Deleted: section
Deleted: section
Deleted: section
Deleted: section

Report Exhibits - Page 001132

DRAFT 4/25/2012

PART 3: GUIDE SHEETS FOR SPECIFIC ACTIVITIES

Below are separate guide sheets for certain activities that may be political campaign intervention or lobbying. Use the guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may engage in that specific activity.

The guide sheets will help you screen your applications for organizations that may engage in political campaign intervention or lobbying, decide which activities may require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular activity is political campaign intervention or lobbying. The guide sheets each present a specific set of facts in which an activity generally is (or generally is not) political campaign intervention or lobbying. For all other situations, the guide sheets list individual facts for you to consider and develop. The facts are listed by whether they tend to show (or tend not to show) political campaign intervention or lobbying. Each fact contains a citation to revenue rulings or other legal authorities to consult for further information. These authorities contain examples that illustrate how to apply the law on political campaign intervention and lobbying to these activities.

Your determination is based on all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether an activity is political campaign intervention or lobbying. If an organization engages in multiple activities, the interaction among them may affect whether the organization is engaged in political campaign intervention (Rev. Rul. 2007-41). Questions on case development and applicable law should be directed to Exempt Organizations Technical.

Possible Political Campaign Intervention

- Guide Sheet 1: Voter Guides
- Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums
- Guide Sheet 3: Other Candidate Appearances
- Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention
- Guide Sheet 5: Individual Activity by Organization Leaders
- Guide Sheet 6: Business Activities

Possible Lobbying : For Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only

- Guide Sheet 7: Communications with the General Public on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)
- Guide Sheet 8: Communications with Government Officials on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

Deleted: some

Deleted: which

Deleted: lobbying or

Deleted: lobbying or

Deleted:

Deleted: ]

Comment (A1): Add an instruction to call EO technical if the application has possible campaign or lobbying activities other than those activities addressed in the specific guide sheet?

Report Exhibits - Page 001133

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 1: Voter Guides

Certain voter education, including the preparation and distribution of certain voter guides, conducted in a non-partisan manner, may not constitute political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41] On the other hand, an organization that publishes a compilation of candidate positions or incumbents' voting records may engage in political campaign intervention if the questionnaire used to solicit candidate positions or the voter guide itself shows a bias or preference in content or structure with respect to the views of a particular candidate. [Rev. Rul. 78-248] The timing and manner of the distribution also are relevant to determining whether the organization is engaged in political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]

Comment [A2]: The revenue rulings cited in this document are § 501(c)(3) rulings. They do not specifically address, or state that they apply to, § 501(c)(4) organizations. This document applies them to both, based on the same or similar language on political campaign intervention and lobbying in the regulations under §§ 501(c)(3) and (c)(4).

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may publish or distribute voter guides. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's voter guide activities for possible political campaign intervention, decide which voter guide activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular voter guide activity may be political campaign intervention.

Deleted: is

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which voter guide activities generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Voter guide activities generally are not political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization annually prepares and makes generally available to the public a compilation of voting records of all members of a particular legislative body on major issues involving a wide range of subjects, the publication contains no editorial opinion, and the contents and structure of the publication do not imply approval or disapproval of any members or their voting records [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]; or
2. The organization sends a questionnaire to all candidates for the same public office soliciting a brief statement of their positions on a wide variety of issues; it publishes all responses in a voter guide it makes generally available to the public; it selects the issues for their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole; and neither the questionnaire nor the voter guide in form or content, shows a bias or preference for any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]

Deleted: is Deleted: position

Deleted: s

Deleted: s

B. Voter guide activities generally are political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization sends a questionnaire evidencing bias on certain issues to candidates for public office, and it uses the responses to prepare a voter guide that it distributes during an election campaign [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 3]; or

Deleted: with biased questions

Report Exhibits - Page 001134

DRAFT 4/25/2012

2. The organization publishes a compilation of the voting records of incumbents on a narrow range of issues, and it widely distributes the publication among the electorate during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]

C. Voter Guides -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a voter guide activity is (or is not) political campaign intervention. The facts are listed separately for guides on the positions of candidates for public office and guides on the voting records of incumbents. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a voter guide activity is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Positions of Candidates for Public Office

Does the organization indicate that it may prepare and distribute a guide summarizing the positions of one or more candidates for public office? If no, skip this section. If yes, develop the following facts.

a. Facts tending to show that the candidate position activity is not political campaign intervention:

- The organization sends to all candidates for the same public office a questionnaire that covers a wide variety of issues selected by the organization, based on their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole, and publishes all of the responses. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The questionnaire does not, in content or structure, show a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The questionnaire solicits from all candidates for the same public office a statement of his or her position, and the organization publishes or distributes all candidate responses to the questionnaire in the voter guide. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The voter guide covers a wide variety of issues, which the organization selects based on their importance and interest to the electorate as a whole. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]
- The voter guide does not, in content or structure, show a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 2]

Deleted: elected officials.

Deleted: of

Comment [A3]: Phrase from 2004-G

Deleted: , which

Deleted: selects

Deleted: each candidate

Deleted: election

Report Exhibits - Page 001135

DRAFT 4/25/2012

b. Facts tending to show that the candidate position activity is political campaign intervention:

- The organization sends a questionnaire to all candidates for the same public office that covers a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization, and it uses the responses to prepare a voter guide which it widely distributes during an election campaign. [Derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situations 2 & 4]
- The questionnaire shows a bias on certain issues, and the organization uses the responses to the questionnaire to prepare a voter guide which it distributes during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 3]
- The voter guide, in content or structure, shows a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates, and the organization distributes the guide during an election campaign. [Derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situations 1 & 2]
- The voter guide covers a narrow range of issues of importance to the organization, and the organization widely distributes the voter guide among the general public during an election campaign. [Derived from Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]

Deleted: which the organization selects based on their

Deleted: and interest

Deleted: 1

Comment [A4]: Deleted from means that this is not a specific example in the ruling, but is supported by the ruling's listed factors.

Deleted: The questionnaire, in content or structure, shows a bias or preference with respect to the views of any candidate or group of candidates.

Deleted: 4b-The voter guide covers a narrow range of issues, which the organization selects based on their importance and interest to the organization. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situations 2 & 4] ¶

Deleted: Situation 3

Deleted: interest

2. Voting Records of Incumbents

Deleted: Elected Officials

Does the organization indicate that it may prepare and publish or distribute a report or other compilation of the voting records of incumbents (for example, current Members of Congress)? If no, skip this section. If yes, develop the following facts.

Deleted: public office holders

a. Facts tending to show that the voting record activity is not political campaign intervention:

- The organization annually prepares and makes generally available to the public a compilation of voting records of incumbents on major legislative issues involving a wide range of subjects. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]
- The organization usually publishes the voting records after the close of the legislative session, and the distribution is not geared to the timing of any election. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
- The publication contains no editorial opinion, and its contents and structure do not imply approval or disapproval of any incumbents or their voting records. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 1]
- The publication presents the voting records of all incumbents, and it does not identify candidates for reelection. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]

Deleted: all members of a legislative body

Deleted: will publish

Deleted: will

Deleted: be

Report Exhibits - Page 001136

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The format and content of the publication is not neutral because it reports on whether the incumbent supported the organization's views, but distribution occurs as soon as practical after the end of each legislative session, is limited to a relatively small group consisting of the organization's normal readership, is not targeted to particular areas in which elections are occurring, and is not timed to coincide with an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
  - The publication does not comment on an individual's overall qualification for public office, or compare candidates who might be competing with the incumbents in any political campaign. [Rev. Rul. 80-282]
- b. Facts tending to show that the voting record activity is political campaign intervention:
- The publication contains a statement that endorses or rejects any incumbent as a candidate for public office, or identifies candidates for re-election and comments on their overall qualification for public office, or compares candidates that might be competing with incumbents in a political campaign, and the publication is widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign or targeted toward particular areas in which elections are occurring. [derived from Rev. Rul. 80-282]
  - The publication reports on the organization's views on selected legislative issues, indicates whether the incumbent supported or opposed the organization's view, and is widely distributed among the electorate during an election campaign or targeted toward particular areas in which elections are occurring. [derived both from Rev. Rul. 80-282 and Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]
  - The publication covers a narrow range of issues selected for their importance to the organization, and it is widely distributed during an election campaign. [Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4]

D. Legal References

- Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178
- Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154

Deleted: it is a small

Deleted: and

Deleted: or to time the publication

Deleted: with other candidates,

Deleted: organization targets the Deleted: towards

Comment [AS]: This is not a specific example to the ruling, but is supported by the ruling's listed factors

Deleted: and Rev. Rul. 78-248, Situation 4

Deleted: select

Deleted: s

Deleted: when and

Deleted: and interest

DRAFT 4/23/2012

Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums

The presentation of public forums or debates is a recognized method of educating the public. [Rev. Rul. 66-256] Providing a forum for candidates does not, in and of itself, constitute political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 74-574] However, a forum for candidates could be operated in a manner that would show a bias or preference for or against a particular candidate, such as through biased questioning procedures. On the other hand, a forum held for the purpose of educating and informing the voters, which provides fair and impartial treatment of candidates, and which does not promote or advance one candidate over another, would not constitute political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 86-95] [also cited in Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may invite candidates for public office to speak at its events in their capacity as political candidates. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's candidate forums for possible political campaign intervention, decide which candidate forums require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular candidate forum may be political campaign intervention.

Deleted: campaign
Deleted: is

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which candidate forums generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Candidate forums generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The organization invites all candidates seeking the same office to participate at the same (or a substantially similar) event, provides each candidate an equal opportunity to address and field questions on a wide variety of topics, and does not comment on their qualifications or indicate a preference for any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]

B. Candidate forums generally are political campaign intervention if:

The organization invites one candidate to speak at an organization event in support of the candidate's campaign and does not invite any other candidates for the same public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 8)]

C. Candidate Forums -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a candidate forum is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a candidate forum is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

Report Exhibits - Page 001138

DRAFT 4/25/2012

1. Facts tending to show that a candidate forum is not political campaign intervention:

- The organization does not comment on the qualifications of, or indicate a preference for, any candidate during the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]
- The topics discussed cover a broad range of the issues that the candidates would address if elected to the office sought and that are of broad interest to the public. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization does not indicate support for or opposition to a candidate during the event (such as when the candidate is introduced). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7, & 8)]
- The candidates at the event are not asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances)]
- A nonpartisan, independent panel prepares any questions presented to candidates at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- A nonpartisan, independent panel or moderator presents the questions. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator does not comment on questions or otherwise imply approval or disapproval of a candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The moderator states that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization, and that sponsorship of the forum is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 86-95]
- The organization provides an equal opportunity for candidates to use its facilities to speak in support of their respective campaigns. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]

2. Facts tending to show that a candidate forum is political campaign intervention:

- The organization comments on the qualifications of, or indicates a preference for, any candidate during the event. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7)]

Deleted: s.g.,

Deleted: -9

Deleted: make comments that

Deleted: <= The moderator includes a statement that the order of the speakers was determined at random. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 6)] ¶

<= The moderator includes a statement that one candidate declined to the invitation to speak. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 6)] ¶

Deleted: Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (

Report Exhibits - Page 001139

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The topics discussed at the forum do not cover a broad range of the issues that the candidates would address if elected to the office sought and that are of broad interest to the public. [derived both from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 7) and Rev. Rul. 86-95]

Deleted: )
  - The organization indicates support for or opposition to a candidate during the event (such as when the candidate is introduced). [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7 & 8)]

Deleted: §
Deleted: (e.g.,
Deleted: a
  - The candidates at the event are asked to agree or disagree with positions, agendas, platforms, or statements of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances)]
  - Questions to forum participants are not prepared and presented by a nonpartisan, independent panel. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); derived from Rev. Rul. 86-95]

Deleted: A nonpartisan, independent panel does not prepare the questions presented to candidates at the event.
  - The moderator comments on questions or otherwise implies approval or disapproval of a candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]

Deleted: ~~•~~ A nonpartisan, independent panel or moderator does not present the questions. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances); Rev. Rul. 86-95]
§
Deleted: makes comments that imply
Deleted: s
  - The moderator does not state that the views expressed are those of the candidates and not of the organization or that sponsorship of the forum is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate. [derived from Rev. Rul. 86-95]

Deleted: [derived from Rev. Rul. 86-95]
§
The moderator does not include a statement that the order
Deleted: speakers was determined at random. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]
Deleted: Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]
  - The organization selectively provides an opportunity for one candidate (but not others) to use its facilities to speak in support of his or her campaign. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]

Deleted: ~~•~~ The moderator does not include a statement that one candidate declined to the invitation to speak even though one candidate was not present. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances, Situation 9)]
§
Deleted: a candidate
- D. Legal References
- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Candidate Appearances, Situations 7-9)
  - Rev. Rul. 86-95, 1986-2 C.B. 73
  - Rev. Rul. 74-574, 1974-2 C.B. 160
  - Rev. Rul. 86-256, 1986-2 C.B. 210

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 3: Other Candidate Appearances

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of a candidate appearance at an organization event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may be involved with any candidate appearance. This guide sheet will help you screen any candidate appearances at organization events for possible political campaign intervention, decide which candidate appearances require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular candidate appearance may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which candidate appearances generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

Consult Guide Sheet 2: Candidate Forums for assistance in evaluating whether inviting candidates for public office to speak at organization events in their capacity as political candidates may be political campaign intervention.

A. Candidate appearances generally are not political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization invites the individual to speak solely for reasons other than his or her candidacy; neither the individual nor any representative of the organization mention the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election; and no political fundraising occurs at the event [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]; or
2. The individual appears at an organization event only in a non-candidate capacity; the organization only acknowledges the individual's presence and his official title; and the organization makes no reference to the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 10)]

B. Candidate appearances generally are political campaign intervention if:

The individual attends an organization's event that is open to the public; and an official of the organization asks the crowd to support the candidate in the upcoming election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 13)]

C. Candidate Appearances -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Deleted: the organization's

Deleted: chooses

Deleted: 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10 and 11); or]]

2. The individual appears or speaks at an organization event only in a non-candidate capacity; the organization clearly indicates the capacity in which the individual is appearing; neither the individual nor any representative of the organization mention the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election; and no political fundraising occurs at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10 and 11)]

B. Candidate appearances generally are political campaign intervention if either:

1. The organization chooses the individual to speak because he or she is a political candidate; and the individual or a representative of the organization mention the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election; or political fundraising occurs at the event [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Derived from Situations 10 and 11); or]]

2. The individual appears or speaks at an organization event in a non-candidate capacity; and the individual or a representative of the organization mention the individual's candidacy or the upcoming election; or political fundraising occurs at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Derived from Situations 10 and 11); or]]

Deleted: 12]]

Report Exhibits - Page 001141

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a candidate appearance is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a candidate appearance is political campaign intervention. The legal references in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a candidate appearance is not political campaign intervention:

- The individual was invited to appear or speak at the organization's event for reasons other than his or her political candidacy. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]
- The individual attends or speaks only in a non-candidate capacity. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-11)]
- The organization does not indicate any support for or opposition to the individual's candidacy (including introductions). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-11)]
- No political fundraising or other campaign activity occurs at the event in connection with the candidate's attendance. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]
- The organization makes no mention of the individual's political candidacy or the upcoming election in communications announcing the individual's attendance at the event. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]
- The organization maintains a nonpartisan atmosphere at the event at which the candidate is present. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]

Deleted: not Deleted: because he Deleted: she is a
Deleted: candidate.

Deleted: during
Deleted: , communications concerning the individual's attendance, and any materials distributed during the event.
Deleted: Derived from
Deleted: 13
Deleted: There was no
Deleted: at the event.

Deleted: any
Deleted: <#>The individual was invited to appear or speak at the organization's event because he or she is a political candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]
¶
<#>The individual speaks in his or her capacity as a candidate (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate).
¶

Deleted: , communications concerning the individual's attendance, and any materials distributed during the event.

Deleted: was Deleted: occurring

Deleted: (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 11 and 13)]
¶
The organization mentions the individual's political candidacy or the upcoming election in communications announcing the individual's attendance at the event. [Rev.
Deleted: .
Deleted: 13

2. Facts tending to show that a candidate appearance is political campaign intervention:

- The organization indicates support for or opposition to the individual's candidacy (including during introductions). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 13)]
- There is political fundraising at the event, or other campaign activity occurs at the event in connection with the candidate's attendance. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situation 11)]

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The organization maintains a partisan atmosphere on the premises or at the event where the candidate is present. ~~derived from~~ Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate)]

~~Deleted: Derived from~~

D. Legal Reference

Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Candidate Appearances When Speaking or Participating as a Non-Candidate, Situations 10-13)

DRAFT

Report Exhibits - Page 001143

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention

Organizations may take positions on public policy issues, including issues that divide candidates in an election for public office. However, issue advocacy may function as political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41] Even if a statement does not expressly tell an audience to vote for or against a specific candidate, an organization delivering the statement may engage in political campaign intervention if there is any message favoring or opposing a candidate. A statement can identify a candidate not only by stating the candidate's name, but also by other means such as showing a picture of the candidate, referring to political party affiliations, or other distinctive features of a candidate's platform or biography. All the facts and circumstances need to be considered to determine if the advocacy is political campaign intervention. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Deleted: lobby for or against legislation or otherwise

A web site is a form of communication. An organization that posts something on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office will be treated the same as if it distributed printed materials, oral statements or broadcasts. When an organization establishes a link to another web site, it is responsible for the consequences of establishing and maintaining that link, even if it does not have control over the content of the linked site. Links to candidate-related material, by themselves, do not necessarily result in political campaign intervention. All facts and circumstances must be taken into account when assessing whether a link produces that result. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Deleted: web

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that its issue advocacy communications (including on its web site) may support or oppose a candidate for public office. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's issue advocacy communications for possible political campaign intervention, decide which issue advocacy communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular issue advocacy communication may be political campaign intervention.

Deleted: web

Deleted: involve discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates

Deleted: discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office

Deleted: discussion(s)

Deleted: discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office is

Deleted: discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office

Deleted: is

Deleted: is

Deleted: Discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office

Deleted: is Deleted: other

Deleted: statement

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which issue advocacy communications generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains legal references.

A. Issue advocacy communications generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The communication urges the public to contact an officeholder to support specific legislation, the statement appears immediately before the officeholder is scheduled to vote on that legislation, the statement does not mention the election or the candidacy of the office holder, and the issues that are the subject of the legislation have not been raised as distinguishing the officeholder from any election opponent. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 14)]

Report Exhibits - Page 001144

DRAFT 4/23/2012

B. Issue advocacy communications generally are political campaign intervention if:

The communication is delivered shortly before an election, identifies by name an officeholder who is also a candidate in that election, takes a position on an issue that has been used to distinguish the candidates in the election, is not part of an ongoing series of substantially similar advocacy communications by the organization on the same issue, and is not timed to coincide with a non-electoral event (such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue). [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation15)]

C. Issue Advocacy Communications -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether an issue advocacy communication, including on a website, is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether an issue advocacy communication is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that issue advocacy communications are not political campaign intervention:
  - The communication does not identify one or more candidates for a given public office by name or by other means. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
  - The communication does not address any issue that has been raised as an issue distinguishing candidates for a given office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 14)]
  - The communication is timed to coincide with a non-electoral event such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 14)]
  - The communication is part of an ongoing series of communications by the organization on the same issue that are made independent of the timing of an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
  - The communication is not delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy)]
  - The organization has not posted anything on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites)]

|                                                                                                      |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Deleted: Discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office   |
| Deleted: is                                                                                          |
| Deleted: either                                                                                      |
| Deleted: statement                                                                                   |
| Deleted: close in time to                                                                            |
| Deleted: refers                                                                                      |
| Deleted: to                                                                                          |
| Deleted: and                                                                                         |
| Deleted: organization                                                                                |
| Deleted: election                                                                                    |
| Deleted:                                                                                             |
| Deleted: Discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office   |
| Deleted: a discussion                                                                                |
| Deleted: of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office              |
| Deleted: a discussion of the positions of public officials who are also candidates for public office |
| Deleted: a discussion of the positions of public officials who                                       |
| Deleted: also candidates for public office is                                                        |
| Deleted: The statement                                                                               |
| Deleted: Situations 14 & 15                                                                          |
| Deleted: statement                                                                                   |
| Deleted: Situations 14-16                                                                            |
| Deleted: The statement                                                                               |
| Deleted: election                                                                                    |
| Deleted: derived from                                                                                |
| Deleted: 15                                                                                          |
| Deleted: The statement                                                                               |
| Deleted: derived from                                                                                |
| Deleted: , Situation15                                                                               |
| Deleted: The statement                                                                               |
| Deleted: derived from                                                                                |
| Deleted: , Situation15                                                                               |
| Deleted: web                                                                                         |
| Deleted: , Situation 21                                                                              |

Report Exhibits - Page 001145

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- The organization's web site does not provide a direct link to a web page that contains material favoring or opposing a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 20)]
  - Deleted: <#>The organization does not establish on its website a link to another website that contains material on candidates for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: web
  - Deleted: Situations 19-
  - Deleted: .
- The organization's web site links to the website of another entity, the web site link serves an exempt purpose of the organization (such as educating the public), and neither the context for the link nor the relationship between the organization and the other entity indicates that the organization was favoring or opposing any candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: web
- The organization establishes on its web site links to the official campaign web sites of all the candidates for a particular office and presents all of the links in a neutral, unbiased manner. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 19)]
  - Deleted: web
- 2. Facts tending to show that issue advocacy communications are political campaign intervention
  - Deleted: a discussion of the positions of public officials who
  - Deleted: also candidates for public office is
  - Deleted: The statement
  - Deleted: [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situations 14 & 15)]
  - Deleted: a given
  - Deleted: The statement addresses
  - Deleted: a given
  - Deleted: Situations 14-16
  - Deleted: statement
  - Deleted: election
  - Deleted: The statement
- The communication identifies one or more candidates for a given public office by name or by other means, such as addressing an issue that has been raised as an issue distinguishing the candidates for that office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: The statement is delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: a given
  - Deleted: Situations 14-16
  - Deleted: statement
  - Deleted: election
  - Deleted: The statement
- The communication is delivered close in time to an election and is not timed to coincide with a non-electoral event such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action on the issue [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: The statement is delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: a given
  - Deleted: Situations 14-16
  - Deleted: statement
  - Deleted: election
  - Deleted: The statement
- The communication is delivered close in time to an election and is not part of an ongoing series of communications by the organization on the same issue that are made independent of the timing of an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: The statement is delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: a given
  - Deleted: Situations 14-16
  - Deleted: statement
  - Deleted: election
  - Deleted: The statement
- The organization posts a message on its web site that favors or opposes a candidate for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 21)]
  - Deleted: <#>The statement is delivered close in time to an election [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Issue Advocacy, Situation 15)]
  - Deleted: posted something
  - Deleted: web
  - Deleted: <#>The organization established on its website a link to another website that contains material on candidates for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: web
  - Deleted: [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: .
  - Deleted: The
  - Deleted: .
- The organization's web site provides a direct link to a web page that contains material favoring or opposing a candidate for public office, and the web site link does not serve an exempt purpose of the organization, such as educating the public. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: <#>The organization established on its website a link to another website that contains material on candidates for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: web
  - Deleted: [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: .
  - Deleted: The
  - Deleted: .
- The organization establishes a link to a candidate's official campaign web site and does not present the link in a neutral, unbiased manner or does not establish similar links for all of the candidates for a particular office. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situation 19)]
  - Deleted: <#>The organization established on its website a link to another website that contains material on candidates for public office. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: web
  - Deleted: [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Web Sites, Situations 19-20)]
  - Deleted: .
  - Deleted: The
  - Deleted: .

D. Legal Reference

Report Exhibits - Page 001146

DRAFT 4/25/2012

- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Issue Advocacy, Situations 14-16; Web Sites, Situations 19-20)

Deleted: and

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/23/2012

Guide Sheet 5: Individual Activity by Organization Leaders

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of political campaign activities by any organization leader. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if any organization leader may engage in any political campaign activity. This guide sheet will help you screen the political campaign activity of any organization leader for possible political campaign intervention by the organization, decide which organization leader activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular political campaign activity by any organization leader may be political campaign intervention by the organization.

Deleted: be involved with

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which political campaign activities by any organization leader generally are political campaign intervention by the organization and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains a legal reference.

A. Political campaign activity by any organization leader generally is not political campaign intervention if:

The leader makes a statement in the leader's personal capacity supporting the election of a candidate for public office; the statement appears in a publication that is not an official publication of the organization; the organization pays none of the costs of the publication; and the publication states that the leader's title and affiliation with the organization are provided for identification purposes only. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41, Situation 3.]

Deleted: made

Deleted: a publication

Deleted: was

Deleted: did not pay for the Deleted: stated

Deleted: was

B. Political campaign activity by any organization leader generally is political campaign intervention if:

The leader makes an oral statement to vote for a candidate for public office at an official meeting of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Situation 6).]

Deleted: made

Deleted: supporting the election of

Deleted: ; and the leader made the statement

C. Political Campaign Activity by Organization Leaders -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether the political campaign activity by any organization leader is (or is not) political campaign intervention by the organization. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether political campaign activity by any organization leader is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

Report Exhibits - Page 001148

DRAFT 4/25/2012

1. Facts tending to show that political campaign activity by any organization leader is not political campaign intervention:

- The leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office does not appear in an official publication of, or in a publication paid for by, the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3 & 5)]
- The leader does not make the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]
- The leader does not say that he is speaking as a representative of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]
- The leader personally endorses a candidate in a publication that is not paid for by the organization and is not an official publication of the organization, and the publication states that her title and affiliation with the organization are provided for identification purposes only. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 3)]
- The leader does not make the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization or otherwise use the organization's assets, and the leader does not say that he is speaking on behalf of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]

Deleted: The publication in which the leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to)

Deleted: public office appeared stated

Deleted: is

Deleted: , and the organization did not pay for the publication

Deleted: did

Deleted: , the leader did not say that he was speaking on behalf of

Deleted: , and he did not use church

Deleted: for the function.

2. Facts tending to show that political campaign activity by any organization leader is political campaign intervention:

- The leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office appears in an official publication of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 4)]
- The leader makes the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an official function of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5)]
- The organization pays for the publication of the leader's statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office. [derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3 & 5)]
- The leader makes the statement in support of (or in opposition to) a candidate for public office at an event that is not an official function of the organization, and the

Deleted: s 3 &

Deleted: s 5 &

Deleted: paid

Deleted:

Deleted: Derived from

Deleted: made

Deleted: was

Report Exhibits - Page 001149

DRAFT 4/25/2012

leader states that she is speaking on behalf of the organization. (derived from Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situation 5))

Deleted: stated
Deleted: was Deleted: I
Deleted: Derived from

D. Legal Reference

Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Individual Activity by Organization Leaders, Situations 3-6)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 6: Business Activities

The question whether an activity constitutes political campaign intervention may arise in the context of a business activity of the organization, such as the selling or renting of mailing lists, the leasing of office space, or the acceptance of paid political advertising. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may engage in business activities with any candidate for public office. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's business activities for possible political campaign intervention, decide which business activities require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular business activity may be political campaign intervention.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which business activities generally are political campaign intervention and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, political campaign intervention. Part D contains a legal reference.

A. Business activities with candidates generally are not political campaign intervention if:

The organization sells or rents goods, services, or facilities to the general public, it makes them available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis, and the fees charged to candidates are at the organization's customary and usual rates. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]

Deleted: is

Deleted: provides

Deleted: it charges all

Deleted: in the same election its

B. Business activities with candidates generally are political campaign intervention if:

The organization does not normally sell or rent goods, services or facilities to the general public, but does so selectively to a candidate for public office, and it does not make its goods, services or facilities available on an equal basis to the other candidates in the same election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]

Deleted: either

Deleted: 1.

Deleted: provides

Deleted: one or more candidates

Deleted: them

Deleted: all

Deleted: ; or

Deleted: if

2. The organization provides goods, services or facilities to one or more candidates, and it makes them available on an equal basis to all candidates in the same election, but it does not charge all candidates in the same election its usual and customary rates. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (derived from Business Activity, Situation 17)]

C. Business Activities -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a business activity is (or is not) political campaign intervention. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a business activity is political campaign intervention. The legal reference in Part D will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

Report Exhibits - Page 001151

DRAFT 4/25/2012

1. Facts tending to show that a business activity is not political campaign intervention:

- The business activity is an ongoing activity of the organization. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]
- The organization makes the good, service or facility available to the general public. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 17)]
- The organization makes the good, service, or facility available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]
- The organization charges all candidates in the same election its usual and customary rates for the good, service, or facility. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]

Deleted: Situations 17 & 18

Deleted: Situations 17 & 18

2. Facts tending to show that a business activity is political campaign intervention:

- The organization only provides the good, service or facility to a political candidate. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]
- The organization does not make the good, service or facility available to all candidates in the same election. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity, Situation 18)]
- The organization does not make the good, service or facility available to all candidates in the same election on an equal basis. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]
- The organization does not charge all candidates in the same election its usual and customary rates for the good, service or facility. [Rev. Rul. 2007-41 (Business Activity)]

Deleted: for

Deleted: Situation 18

Deleted: Situation 18

D. Legal Reference

- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421 (Business Activity, Situations 17-18)

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 7: Communications with the General Public on Legislative Issues (for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

The fact that an organization, in carrying out its primary purpose, advocates social or civic changes or presents opinion on controversial issues with the intention of molding public opinion or creating public sentiment to an acceptance of its views does not preclude the organization from qualifying under section 501(c)(3). [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(2)] However, an organization does not qualify under section 501(c)(3) if a substantial part of its activities is attempting to influence legislation by propaganda or otherwise. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)]

An organization also does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3) if its primary objective may be attained only by legislation (or a defeat of proposed legislation) and it advocates for the attainment of such objective, as distinguished from engaging in nonpartisan analysis, study, or research and making the results thereof available to the public. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3); Rev. Rul. 64-195]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may communicate with the general public on legislative issues. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's communications with the general public on legislative issues for possible lobbying, decide which communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular communication may be lobbying.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which communications with the general public on legislative issues generally are lobbying and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, lobbying. Parts D and E contain legal and other references.

Consult Guide Sheet 4: Issue Advocacy vs. Political Campaign Intervention for assistance in evaluating whether a communication on legislative issues functions as political campaign intervention.

A. Communications with the general public generally are not lobbying if either:

1. The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation or urge the public to contact one or more legislators to propose, support, or oppose legislation; and the organization's primary objective can be attained other than by the enactment or defeat of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii), (iv)] or

2. The organization conducts nonpartisan analysis, study, and research to develop solutions for problems affecting a particular region and publishes the results for the benefit of the public, and does not advocate the adoption of any legislation or legislative action to implement its findings. [Rev. Rul. 70-79]

Report Exhibits - Page 001153

DRAFT 4/25/2012

B. Communications with the general public generally are lobbying if:

The communication urges members of the general public to contact legislators to support or oppose legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]

C. Communication with the general public -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a communication with the general public on legislative issues is (or is not) lobbying. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a communication with the general public is lobbying. The legal and other references in Parts D and E will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a communication with the general public is not lobbying:

- The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(i); Rev. Rul. 64-195; Rev. Rul. 70-79]
- The communication does not urge the public to contact members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The communication makes available to the general public the results of nonpartisan analysis, study, or research conducted by the organization. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv); Rev. Rul. 64-195; Rev. Rul. 70-79]

Deleted: )]

Deleted: (

Deleted: )

Deleted: ,

2. Facts tending to show that a communication with the general public is lobbying:

- The communication advocates the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iii)]
- The communication urges the public to contact members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The organization's primary objective can be attained only by the enactment (or defeat) of legislation, and the organization advocates for the attainment of that objective. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv); Rev. Rul. 62-71]

D. Legal References

- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii) and (iv)
- Rev. Rul. 62-71, 1962-1 C.B. 85
- Rev. Rul. 64-195, 1964-2 C.B. 138
- Rev. Rul. 70-79, 1970-1 C.B. 127

Report Exhibits - Page 001154

DRAFT 4/23/2012

E. Other legal references

- Treas. Reg. § 58.4911-2 (public charities that have made the § 501(h) election only)
- Treas. Reg. § 53.4945-2 (private foundations only)

DRAFT

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Guide Sheet 8: Communications with Government Officials on Legislative Issues
(for Section 501(c)(3) Organizations Only)

An organization can communicate with government officials on legislative issues without engaging in lobbying. For example, an organization is not engaged in lobbying activity if, at the request of a legislative committee, a representative testifies as an expert witness on pending legislation affecting the organization. [Rev. Rul. 70-449] Similarly, an organization may seek to assist government officials in the study of problems by conducting nonpartisan analysis, study, and research into these problems and publishing the results for the benefit of the general public. Such activities may qualify as educational. However, an organization may be engaged in lobbying if it advocates the adoption of legislation to implement the organization's findings. [Rev. Rul. 70-79]

Use this guide sheet only if the organization indicates that it may communicate with government officials on legislative issues. This guide sheet will help you screen the organization's communications with government officials on legislative issues for possible lobbying, decide which communications require further case development and which facts to develop, and determine whether a particular communication may be lobbying.

Parts A and B present a specific set of facts in which communications with government officials on legislative issues generally are lobbying and generally are not. Part C contains a list of facts to consider and develop for all other situations. The facts are grouped by whether they tend to show, or tend not to show, lobbying. Parts D and E contain legal and other references.

A. Communications with government officials generally are not lobbying if:

1. At the request of a legislative committee, the organization sends a representative to provide expert testimony on pending legislation [Rev. Rul. 70-449], or

2. The organization's activities are limited to studying, researching, and assembling materials necessary to evaluate legislation, and presenting an objective analysis of the legislation to those who are interested in the issue (both those who favor the legislation and those who oppose it) and to the general public. [Rev. Rul. 84-195]

B. Communications with government officials generally are lobbying if:

The organization contacts legislators to advocate the adoption or rejection of legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]

C. Communications with government officials -- Facts to Consider and Develop

Report Exhibits - Page 001156

DRAFT 4/25/2012

Below is a list of facts that tend to show whether a communication with government officials on legislative issues is (or is not) lobbying. Consider all the facts and circumstances. No one fact determines whether a communication with government officials is lobbying. The legal and other references in Parts D and E will help you make the determination. If your application contains any facts beyond those listed below, or if you have questions on case development and applicable law, contact Exempt Organizations Technical.

1. Facts tending to show that a communication with government officials is not lobbying:

- The communication is in response to a request for technical assistance from a governmental body, such as a Congressional committee. [Rev. Rul. 70-449]
- The communication makes available to the general public the results of nonpartisan analysis, study, or research conducted by the organization. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 64-195, and Rev. Rul. 70-79]
- The communication does not advocate the adoption or rejection of any legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 64-195, Rev. Rul. 70-79]

2. Facts tending to show that a communication with government officials is lobbying:

- The organization contacts members of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii)]
- The organization's primary objective can be attained only by the enactment (or defeat) of legislation, and the organization advocates for the attainment of that objective. [§ 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iv), Rev. Rul. 62-71]

D. Legal References

- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(ii) and (iv)
- Rev. Rul. 62-71, 1962-1 C.B. 85
- Rev. Rul. 64-195, 1964-2 C.B. 138
- Rev. Rul. 70-79, 1970-1 C.B. 127
- Rev. Rul. 70-449, 1970-2 C.B. 111

E. Other legal references

- Treas. Reg. § 56.4911-2 (public charities that have made the § 501(h) election only)
- Treas. Reg. § 53.4945-2 (private foundations only)

Report Exhibits - Page 001157

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST
Date: Monday, May 20, 2013 11:32:06 AM
Attachments: EDS Letter 4587(modified) (3).doc

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Monday, July 23, 2012 3:32 PM
To: Seldell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, July 19, 2012 9:07 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Thursday, March 08, 2012 10:09 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: EDS Letter 4587(modified) (3).doc

Yes. But I think they are going to change it to 60 days to respond instead of 90. The theory is that, when we have had a case for a long time without taking action and are asking for a lot of stuff, we have to give more time. I hear you on fairness but I also do what I am told. Thanks for looking at the letter.

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, March 08, 2012 8:53 AM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: FW: EDS Letter 4587(modified) (3).doc
Importance: High

Just to make sure I understand, we're giving the organization 90 days to respond and, if the organization doesn't respond, then another 90 days in suspense before closing FTE. Is this correct?

a. If not, please clarify.

b. If so, I don't understand why an organization who is not being compliant is getting special treatment. But obviously, we'll do what we are told to do.

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Wednesday, March 07, 2012 11:04 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: EDS Letter 4587(modified) (3).doc

Report Exhibits - Page 001158

Importance: High

This supersedes the letter I sent you earlier today. Any comments? Thanks!

---

From: Lerner Lois G
Sent: Wednesday, March 07, 2012 7:24 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: EDS Letter 4587(modified) (3).doc

A tiny change

Report Exhibits - Page 001159

Internal Revenue Service
P.O. Box 2508
Cincinnati, OH 45202

Department of the Treasury
Employer Identification Number:
[NN-NNNNNN]

Contact

Person:
Date:

[Agent Name and Number]

Toll Free Telephone Number:
1-877-829-5500

[Organization Name]
[Address]
[Address]

Previous Letter Date: [ 8010 ] [Letter Date Field] (Automatic, variable required)

Dear Applicant:

Our previous letter, copy enclosed, requested additional information about your application for tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code. To be tax-exempt under section 501(c)(4), an organization must be primarily engaged in the promotion of social welfare. When determining whether an organization meets that standard, all the facts and circumstances of that specific organization must be considered.

As indicated in our previous letter, we are unable to make a final determination on your exempt status without additional information. We ask that you provide the previously requested information by (90 days). Please contact the individual listed above if you believe that the details required to demonstrate eligibility of section 501(c)(4) status can be provided through alternative information or if you have any other concerns about specific information requested. If you need additional time to provide the requested information or have other questions, please contact the individual listed above. Please submit your response to us at:

Internal Revenue Service
P.O. Box 2508
Cincinnati, OH 45201

If you do not provide the additional information or receive an extension from us by (90 days), your case will be placed in suspense. You may reactivate your case by providing the requested information within 90 days of being placed in suspense. After the 90-day period has passed, we will close your case and if you wish to pursue IRS recognition of tax-exempt status you will be required to submit a new application package and new user fee payment.

Please note that if your case is closed and you hold yourself out as a section 501(c)(4) organization, you must file the appropriate Form 990-series return (Form 990-N, Form 990-EZ or Form 990).

We have sent a copy of this letter to your representative as indicated in your power of attorney.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure:
Previous Letter

|                                          |
|------------------------------------------|
| Deleted: Because w                       |
| Deleted: the                             |
| Deleted: , we ask that you provide the   |
| Deleted: information                     |
| Deleted: insert date                     |
| Deleted: information                     |
| Deleted:                                 |
| Deleted: about our request               |
| Deleted:                                 |
| Deleted: request and                     |
| Deleted: insert date                     |
| Deleted:                                 |
| Comment [K1]: Is this language standard? |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Deleted: Unlike section 501(c)(3) organizations, section 501(c)(4) organizations are not required to apply to the IRS for recognition of their tax-exempt status. You may self-declare and, if you meet the statutory and regulatory requirements, you will be treated as tax-exempt. If you do want reliance on an IRS determination of your status, your application for exemption must be approved by the IRS. While your application is pending, you must file the appropriate Form 990-series return (Form 990-N, Form 990-EZ or Form 990). like any other tax-exempt organization, and are able to operate without material barrier. § |
| Formatted: Font color: Red                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Deleted: §                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Report Exhibits - Page 001160

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST
Date: Monday, May 20, 2013 12:32:27 PM
Attachments: Draft IRM 7 20 4 - Emerging Issues - 05102012.doc

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Monday, July 23, 2012 3:36 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, July 19, 2012 9:45 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Friday, May 11, 2012 12:37 AM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: BOLO Spreadsheet - Description

Yes, Group 7822 is responsible for updating the BOLO spreadsheet and sending BOLO Alerts to all EO Determinations specialists and managers when changes are made to the BOLO spreadsheet. One of the areas of responsibility for Group 7822 is Emerging Issues cases.

Issues can be updated on the BOLO spreadsheet for the Watch List, Potential Abusive, or Coordinated Processing by the manager of a particular group sending an email to the manager of Group 7822. For example, if Group 7824 (responsible for potential abusive cases) identifies something from an ATAT meeting, review of cases, etc., the Group 7824 manager or potential abusive case coordinator will send an email to the Group 7822 manager asking that an issue be revised. If there are concerns by the Group 7822 manager about what is being requested, the Group 7822 manager will elevate. For example, one manager previously requested that the Coordinated Processing tab include beauty pageants and farmers' markets. The Group 7822 manager took exception with that because he believed we'd need to start adding every type of case we worked, where to draw the line, and the problem with these types of cases was the need for more training. Another example of how an issue is added to the BOLO spreadsheet, EOT manager contacts me to "watch for" certain types of cases that need to be coordinated with EOT. I'll email Group 7822 manager, who has the issue added to the "Watch For" tab on the BOLO spreadsheet, and the coordinator sends a BOLO Alert.

For emerging issues to be added to the BOLO spreadsheet, referrals are sent to Group 7822 and the coordinator reviews and researches the issue. The manager is responsible for consulting with the area manager and/or the EO Determinations program manager to determine how the emerging issue will be handled, i.e., whether I discuss with EOT manager, EO R&A Director, issue paper written, etc.

In June/July 2010, we had CPE and the Spreadsheet was introduced/shared with employees. At that time, I believe very basic information was shared with employees regarding the Spreadsheet and what would be included. Shortly after CPE (in August 2010), we came up with BOLO as the name of the Spreadsheet. Since CPE, when information was shared with employees, we've had a few discussions with managers as to how the process should work but no formal, written procedures have been shared. In October 2011, we started revising IRM 7.20.4 (Specialty Issues IRM), including reviewing, revising, and sending to OTC and Publishing all letters and forms referenced, incorporating written procedures where there are gaps such as Emerging Issues, etc. Refer to draft material prepared for processing Emerging Issue cases.

Report Exhibits - Page 001161

If you have questions regarding this, please let me know. Thanks.

---

From: Paz Holly Q
Sent: Wednesday, May 09, 2012 11:29 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: question re BOLO

One of the things we have been asked by Steve is to think about potential adjustments to the BOLO process going forward. If I understand correctly, the emerging issues group is responsible for updating it. Do I have that right? What's the process for adding to it? Do suggestions come into a centralized place? How is it decided whether or not to put something on and how to describe it?

Thanks!

DRAFT

IRM 7.20.4

7.20.4.9 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Emerging Issues and Coordinated Cases

(1) "Emerging Issues" are issues identified in cases during the determination process which may require additional study, research, or coordination by the designated group for various reasons. An emerging issue is often identified by:

- Multiple applications exhibiting identical or highly similar programs;
- The programs are of a novel, unfamiliar, or unconventional kind;
- Unusual technical questions and issues arise in connection with the common programs;
- Applicable precedent is not immediately obvious; and/or
- There is a change in the related legal or cultural environment (e.g., a change in the law or world events, such as an economic crisis.)

(2) "Coordinated cases" are cases that do not meet emerging issue criteria or other reserved inventory categories but which may be desirable to work in a coordinated fashion to ensure uniformity and consistency of case processing. For example, a group of cases that represent a filing trend rather than simultaneous submission of applications by a few closely related organizations.

(3) Emerging issues and coordinated processing cases will be tracked on the Be On the Look Out (BOLO) spreadsheet (see IRM 7.20.4.9.2.3).

7.20.4.9.1 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Report Exhibits - Page 001163

Identification and Referral

- (1) A specialist may identify a potential emerging issue or cases benefitting from coordinated processing at any stage of processing.
- (2) If a potential issue is identified, the specialist will complete Form XXXXX, Potential Referral to Designated Specialty Group.
  - (a) The form must include clearly stated reasons for the referral.
  - (b) The case remains with the assigned specialist until he or she receives notice of the disposition of the referral.
- (3) The specialist's manager reviews the referral. If the manager agrees with the specialist, he/she signs the referral form. The specialist will send the referral to the manager of the designated group for consideration with a copy to the specialist's manager.
- (4) Cases identified in technical screening are forwarded with the approved referral form to the designated group. If related hard copy cases are forwarded, cases should be banded together and marked "related cases".
- (5) All referral forms and any related documents should be sent using secure email.

7.20.4.9.2 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Receipt and Review of Referral by the Designated Group

- (1) The designated EO Determinations group selects a primary coordinator.

Report Exhibits - Page 001164

(2) The coordinator reviews the referral form and makes one of the following recommendations:

- Coordinated handling of the related cases is warranted
- The issue identified qualifies as an emerging issue
- The referral should not be accepted
- The referral involves a potential abusive transaction and/or fraud issue and is discussed with the coordinator in the group designated to work those cases before any recommendation is made.

(3) Accepted referrals are reviewed by the coordinator's manager for concurrence.

(4) If the referral is not accepted, an explanation of why it was not accepted is sent to the referring group's manager.

(5) If a referral from the screening group is not accepted, cases will be rescreened according to procedures set forth in IRM 7.20.2.3.

7.20.4.9.2.1 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Identified Emerging Issues

(1) The group manager will assign a specialist to study the emerging issue.

(2) The coordinator will identify and locate all open cases meeting the profile of the emerging issue.

(3) The assigned specialist will:

- (a) Conduct research on the identified issue;

Report Exhibits - Page 001165

- (b) Present his or her conclusions and the research upon which they are based to the group manager; and
  - (c) Consult with the group manager to determine which cases should be assigned to the emerging issues group.
- (4) The group manager will consult with the area manager and/or the EO Determinations program manager to determine whether an issue paper should be prepared to assist upper management in deciding how the emerging issue is to be handled. If appropriate:
- (a) The specialist will draft the issue paper.
  - (b) The group manager will review and perfect the issue paper and will elevate it to the area manager.
  - (c) The area manager will review and share the final issue paper with the EO Determinations program manager.
  - (d) The program manager will discuss the issue with EO Determinations senior management and/or EO Rulings and Agreements in the Washington Office, as deemed necessary, to determine the appropriate handling of the emerging issue and will communicate its decision down to the group manager.
- (5) The emerging issue coordinator will:
- (a) List instructions in the "Disposition" column of the worksheet for EO Determinations personnel to follow, and

Report Exhibits - Page 001166

- (b) Will, if the emerging issue is accepted, add the issue and its description to the "Emerging Issues" tab of the BOLO spreadsheet (see IRM 7.20.4.9.2.3).

- (6) The coordinator will disseminate the decision to the groups through a follow-up alert and will update the information in the BOLO spreadsheet, as necessary.

7.20.4.9.2.2 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Identified Coordinated Processing Cases

- (1) If the coordinator's manager agrees that coordinated case processing may be appropriate, he or she will assign the coordinator or another specialist to create an action plan.
  - (a) The action plan will include specific proposals for consistent handling of the cases.
  - (b) The action plan will be elevated to management.
- (2) Management will communicate to the group manager its decision concerning the handling of the cases in question.
- (3) If the management decision is made to coordinate the working of the cases, the coordinator will add the issue to the "Coordinated Processing" tab of the BOLO spreadsheet along with the approved instructions for handling of the cases.
- (4) The coordinator will issue an email alert to the groups notifying them of the new coordinated processing issue including a brief description of any actions to take.

Report Exhibits - Page 001167

(5) The coordinator will update the issue on the spreadsheet and issue follow-up alerts, as appropriate.

7.20.4.9.2.3 (MM-DD-YYYY)

Be On the Look Out (BOLO) Spreadsheet and E-mail Alerts

- (1) Abusive Transactions and Fraud Issues, Emerging Issues, and Coordinated Processing cases will all be tracked on a single combined Be On the Look Out (BOLO) spreadsheet.
- (a) The spreadsheet is maintained to enable EO Determinations specialists to be informed about the current status of abusive transactions and fraud, emerging, coordination, and watch issues, and to process cases in a consistent manner.
  - (b) Abusive Transactions and Fraud Issues, Emerging Issues, and Coordinated Processing will each occupy a separate tab of the spreadsheet.
  - (c) A fourth tab, the "Watch List" will list recent developments such as changes in the law, current events, or specific applications that EO Determinations management believes has the potential to impact the filing of applications.
- (2) The Emerging Issues coordinator will maintain the combined spreadsheet including:
- (a) Creating original entries for new emerging issues and entering them on the appropriate tab of the spreadsheet.
  - (b) Creating original entries for new coordinated processing cases and entering them on the appropriate tab of the spreadsheet.

Report Exhibits - Page 001168

- (c) Receiving issue updates from the abusive transaction and fraud group and entering them on the appropriate tab of the spreadsheet.
  - (d) Receiving "Watch List" updates from senior management and entering them on the appropriate tab of the spreadsheet.
  - (e) Updating the spreadsheet as instructed by the group manager.
- (3) EO Determinations groups will be notified of new Watch List items, Potential Abusive Transaction and Fraud Issues, Emerging Issues, and Coordinated Processing cases through single e-mail alerts. When there is any change or update to the status or procedural handling of any listed issue/case, a follow-up alert will be disseminated by e-mail.
- (4) The Emerging Issues coordinator is responsible for issuing all e-mail alerts.
- (5) The most recent copy of the spreadsheet will be posted on the EO Determinations shared drive folder.

Report Exhibits - Page 001169

From: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, May 30, 2013 2:41 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST
Attachments: Advocacy Team.xls

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Monday, July 23, 2012 3:19 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, July 19, 2012 8:47 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Bowling Steven F
Sent: Tuesday, February 28, 2012 11:47 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: Guidance on developing advocacy cases

Attached is a list of the team and the number of cases assigned to each individual in the (.). Mitch Steele has been removed but is working what he already had and Lori Perry has been added.

Per Stephen's numbers:

EDS cases total 169 and 141 are assigned. 26 U.S.C. § 6103

TEDS cases total 60 and 0 are assigned. 26 U.S.C. § 6103
26 U.S.C. § 6103

STEVEN F. BOWLING
Manager, EO Group 7822
Exempt Organizations Determinations
550 Main Street, Room 4-504
Cincinnati, OH 45202
Tel (513) 263-3704
Fax (513) 263-4540

Report Exhibits - Page 001170

---

From: Bowling Steven F
Sent: Tuesday, February 28, 2012 8:47 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: RE: Guidance on developing advocacy cases

I told Stephen to hold off on any further development of template questions, not to stop developing cases. I'll straighten it out. I understood that Washington is looking at the letters that went public and would provide guidance.

I've asked Stephen for the other information you requested, I'll respond as soon as I can.

Also, Stephen has a meeting set up today @ 1:00 with the entire to learn to discuss their cases and current events. I'm going to try and make it, I'm scheduled for a DQMP meeting @ 9:00 which could last all day.

STEVEN F. BOWLING
Manager, EO Group 7822
Exempt Organizations Determinations
550 Main Street, Room 4-504
Cincinnati, OH 45202
Tel (513) 263-3704
Fax (513) 263-4540

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, February 27, 2012 9:56 PM
To: Bowling Steven F
Subject: RE: Guidance on developing advocacy cases
Importance: High

26 U.S.C. § 6103

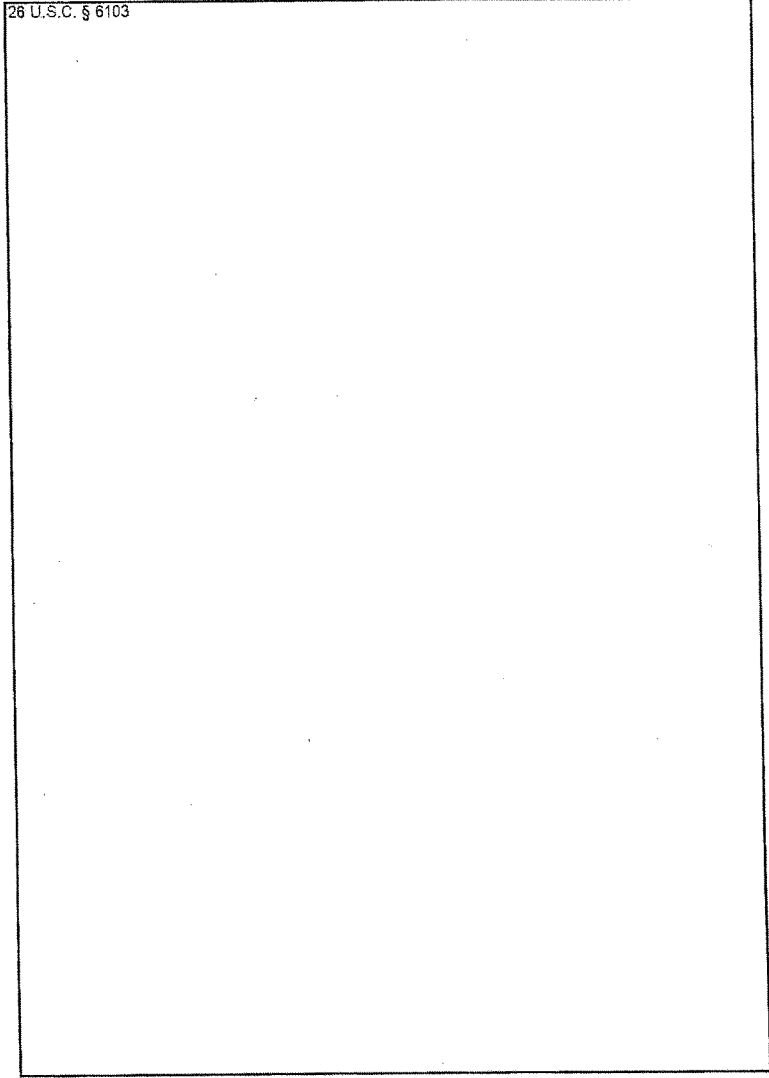

A question though: Why are we not issuing development letters? Who instructed folks to stop? The only thing I heard from Holly is that we shouldn't be asking organizations to submit their entire website. Instead, we should be printing pages of concern and send them to the organization with questions that cause us concern.

Please send me a list of the folks who are working the advocacy cases. Also, please let me know if they are working the cases 100% of the time or are requesting other cases be assigned. If you or Stephen don't know, just let me know and I'll have Bonnie ask their managers. Finally, what is the control date of the oldest unassigned case?

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Report Exhibits - Page 001171

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Report Exhibits - Page 001172

26 U.S.C. § 6103

From: Herr Joseph R
Sent: Monday, February 27, 2012 9:57 AM
To: Seok Stephen D
Subject: Guidance on developing advocacy cases

Stephen,

I have a few items to run by you regarding the advocacy cases.

- 26 U.S.C. § 6103
- Do we have any idea on when we might be able to issue developmental letters again? I have four un-reviewed cases. It does not make sense to review them if we cannot issue letters. If it will be a while, I should request some non-advocacy case to work.
- Regarding developmental questions in general, I am wondering if we should tweak our line of questioning. We are currently asking questions which will answer whether individual actions by the applicants would be considered social welfare or political. That method of questioning does not necessarily answer the question whether social welfare is the primary activity. I am wondering if we should add to the questioning a line of inquiry to see if the organization is proactively monitoring their political activity. We could ask the organizations if they have any policies and procedures to track and monitor the amount of political activity and political expenditure. We could think about drafting some suggested policy and control guidance for them to adopt. This suggestion would need to be elevated, but it could be a way to be a way to approve cases especially if the organization's have not had any past activities.
- 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Thank you,
Joseph

Joseph R. Herr
Revenue Agent Group 7821
Exempt Organizations Determinations
(513) 263-3725
(513) 263-4513 fax

Report Exhibits - Page 001173

7822 Cincinnati Bowling Steve 7829 Cincinnati Vicki Esney 7821 Cincinnati Ken Bibb 7823 Cincinnati Dan Berry 7824 Cincinnati Lynn Erdman 7827 Cincinnati Angela Bill

7828 Cincinnati Bell Ron (1) Perry Loe 7830 Cincinnati Estes, Jarline (2) Herr, Joseph (35) 7880 Baltimore Jefferson White Beverly 7887 El Monte Sharkling, Lonnie 7888 Sacramento/Laguna Haley, Phillip QA Cincinnati Abasi, Dohine

7828 Cincinnati Lewis, Jovanita 7830 Cincinnati Waites, Jon 7880 Baltimore Jefferson White Beverly 7887 El Monte Sharkling, Lonnie 7888 Sacramento/Laguna Haley, Phillip QA Cincinnati Abasi, Dohine

Young, Carly (6) 7828 Cincinnati Garuccio, Jodi (3) Morris, Annetta (6) Woo, Greg (7) Marquez, Elizabeth (21) Hofacre, Liz

EXCERPT

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt Status Involving Political

Advocacy Issues
Audit # 201210022

Objective: To interview Exempt Organizations (EO) function management involved in developing the advocacy emerging issue to identify steps taken and develop a timeline of events.

Background: We interviewed EO function officials to understand how applications are processed for organizations seeking tax-exempt status. We learned that there was an increase in the number of organizations applying for Section (b)(1)(c)(1) or 501(c)(4) exempt status that were very up-front about political work the organizations would be conducting whose applications contained indicators of potentially significant amounts of political campaign intervention.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

It is the EO's & Agreements' standard practice with emerging issues (including credit counseling and mortgage foreclosures, as well as these advocacy organizations) to work some of the applications in EO Technical Order to get a better sense of the issues. EO Technical is then better able to advise EO Determinations on the processing of such cases and determine the most appropriate form of advice, which may range from verbal or written advice on a particular application or case, to template development letters, template denial letters, guide sheets, etc. In addition to assisting advice from and coordinating with EO Technical, the unusual number of applications with potential political campaign intervention received by organization seeking § 501(c)(1) or 501(c)(4) exempt status also prompted the EO function to isolate these types of cases as an emerging issue warranting scrutiny by EO Determinations group to ensure consistent processing by a specialized Determinations group.

In order to help specialists identify cases involving potentially significant political campaign intervention for assignment to a particular Determinations group so that they could be consistently processed in accordance with advice provided by EO Technical, to assist in this effort, a Be On the Lookout (BOLQ) listing was developed, which contained criteria description to aid Revenue Agents in identifying applications submitted by § 501(c)(3), § 501(c)(4), § 501(c)(5), and § 501(c)(6) organizations that should be sent to the specialized Determinations group as included on the Be On the Lookout (BOLQ) list. To ensure consistent treatment of applications, EO Determinations had long been alerting its specialists to emerging issues by sending emails describing particular issues or factual situations warranting additional review or coordinated processing. Because it was difficult to keep track of all of these separate email alerts, EO Determinations staff requested a consolidated list of all such alerts. EO Determinations was developing the Be On the Lookout (BOLQ) list in early 2010. The BOLQ, which is an Excel spreadsheet, provides a centralized source of regularly updated information to EO Determinations specialists about potentially abusive organizations or fraud issues, issues and cases requiring coordinated processing, emerging issues and issues for which to watch. The BOLQ currently includes four tabs: (1) Potential Abuse, (2) Emerging Issues, (3) Coordinated Processing, and (4) Watch List.

Commentary (MCTF) to Comments from EO
Director on timeline of events.
Purpose: To track and coordinate by EO Director on timeline of events.
Source: EO Director

| Date           | Event                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Additional Details                                                                         |
|----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| June 1-2, 2011 | Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements, requested criteria used to identify "Tea Party" cases from EO Determinations Manager. EO Determinations Manager requested criteria from Screener Manager.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                            |
| June 1-6, 2011 | As the number of advocacy cases grew, the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements wanted to make sure that EO Determinations was not being used exclusively in identifying such cases (including organizations that were solely engaged in lobbying or policy education with no apparent request for mission intervention). In addition, in light of the diversity of applications selected under this "Tea Party" case" label (e.g., some had "tea party" in their name but others did not, some stated in their activities that they were affiliated with the "tea party" movement while others stated they were affiliated with the Democratic or Republican party, etc.), the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements sought clarification as to the criteria being used to identify these cases. In preparation for the briefing with the EO Director, the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements asked the EO Determinations Program Manager what criteria Determinations was using to determine if a case was a "Tea Party" case. Because the EOLO only contained a brief reference to "Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4)", the EO Determinations Program Manager asked Screener Manager what criteria were being used to label these cases ("Do the applications specify/state 'tea party'? If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?"). Screener Manager provided criteria for identifying potential "tea party" cases to EO Determinations Program Manager ("The following are factors that should indicate a case to be considered a potential 'tea party' case"). Information forwarded to Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements. Screener Manager provided criteria for identifying potential "tea party" cases to EO Determinations Manager. Information forwarded to Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements. | This criteria is very different than the De On The Lookout criteria available at the time. |

Formatted: Font: Times New Roman, 12 pt

Report Exhibits - Page 001176

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, June 06, 2013 2:15 PM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Advocacy Cases --- Status Request

-----Original Message-----

From: Thomas Cindy M [mailto:Cindy.M.Thomas@irs.gov]
Sent: Wednesday, September 05, 2012 9:36 PM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Cc: Paz Holly O
Subject: Advocacy Cases --- Status Request

-----Original Message-----

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Wednesday, November 17, 2010 7:17 AM
To: Camarillo Sharon L
Cc: Bowling Steven F
Subject: Re: emerging issue cases

Sharon,

Steve's email is accurate. I called Holly a couple of weeks ago and she indicated she was going to check into this matter and would get back with me.

I haven't heard back from her so I will follow up and will get back with you.

-----
Sent using BlackBerry

-----Original Message-----

From: Sharon Camarillo
To: Steven Bowling
Cc: Cindy M Westcott
Subject: RE: emerging issue cases
Sent: Nov 16, 2010 5:02 PM

Steve, the last communication I have from EOT (Groditzky) is that because these TEA PARTY cases are included in an SCR, they will not make any recommendations for closure without coordination with Rob.

Cindy, do you have anything more recent on this issue?

Report Exhibits - Page 001177

Sharon

---

From: Bowling Steven F
Sent: Tuesday, November 16, 2010 1:47 PM
To: Camarillo Sharon L
Subject: emerging issue cases
Importance: Low

Sharon,

I the past Chip Hull has requested copies of tea party applications and case development letters from Liz Hofacre and now has requested some development letters from Ron Bell. I know Cindy has contacted Holly Paz about the tea party cases but I don't know or remember if a game plan was established. I believe when this all started the idea was to have EOT take a look at some of these and provide us with a development letter similar to how we handled Credit Counseling cases. I'm not sure how everyone wants to proceed but I think we need to get a handle on this. Ron is getting phone calls on these cases and his typical answer is "the case is under review". I just want to make sure that I'm on the same page.

Thank you,

STEVEN F. BOWLING
Manager, EO Group 7822
Exempt Organizations Determinations
550 Main Street, Room 4-504
Cincinnati, OH 45202
Tel (513) 263-3704
Fax (513) 263-4540

Report Exhibits - Page 001178

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 20, 2013 11:06 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Paz Holly O (<mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov>)
Sent: Monday, July 23, 2012 3:05 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Thursday, July 19, 2012 4:42 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: TIGTA DOCUMENT REQUEST

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, June 06, 2011 10:16 AM
To: Bowling Steven F
Cc: Esrig Bonnie A
Subject: RE: 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Steve,

26 U.S.C. § 6103 Holly sent an email and asked questions about criteria being used to identify cases as "tea party cases." The D.C. office thinks the criteria being used may be resulting in over-inclusion. 26 U.S.C. § 6103
26 U.S.C. § 6103

My response was that we have no problem including or excluding any type of case, as long as they come up with the criteria so we can provide it to the Screening Group. And, it doesn't matter what the cases are called or how they are grouped, EOD still needs guidance to ensure consistency.

A meeting has been set up for 6/29 for EOT to brief Lois on these cases. Holly asked for me to participate. I asked her if she wants me to have you, Ron, and Bonnie participate. If so, I'll forward the information.

Until we hear otherwise, we'll continue working cases as we have been.

---

From: Bowling Steven F
Sent: Monday, June 06, 2011 9:04 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M

Report Exhibits - Page 001179

Cc: Esrig Bonnie A; Combs Peggy L; Bell Ronald D
Subject: RE: 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Cindy,

26 U.S.C. § 6103

STEVEN F. BOWLING
Manager, EO Group 7822
Exempt Organizations Determinations
550 Main Street, Room 4-504
Cincinnati, OH 45202
Tel (513) 263-3704
Fax (513) 263-4540

---

From: Thomas Cindy M
Sent: Monday, June 06, 2011 8:59 AM
To: Combs Peggy L; Bell Ronald D
Cc: Bowling Steven F; Esrig Bonnie A
Subject: RE: 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Peggy - 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Ron - 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Any questions, please let me know. Thanks.

---

From: Combs Peggy L
Sent: Monday, June 06, 2011 8:06 AM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Cindy,

26 U.S.C. § 6103 Let me know if you would like me to do anything.

Peggy

Report Exhibits - Page 001180

From: Sabando Cesar A
Sent: Friday, June 03, 2011 4:50 PM
To: Combs Peggy L
Cc: Abramowitz Hyman; Bradley Kenneth W
Subject: 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Hi Peggy,

I'm on the Classification Referral Committee along with Hy Abramowitz and Ken Bradley. We are

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Thanks for assistance.

Cesar Sabando
Manager, EO: 7910
Ph. (718) 488-2212
Fx. (718) 488-2358

Report Exhibits - Page 001181

From: Paz Holly O <Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov>
Sent: Tuesday, July 24, 2012 7:03 AM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl I TIGTA
Subject: FW: Briefing Paper on c3/4 Advocacy Orgs.
Attachments: June 29 C3-4 Advocacy Orgs Briefing Paper.doc

---

From: Paz Holly O [<mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov>]
Sent: Friday, April 20, 2012 4:05 PM
To: Marks Nancy J; Urban Joseph J; Malone Robert; Light Sharon P
Subject: FW: Briefing Paper on c3/4 Advocacy Orgs.

---

From: Lowe Justin
Sent: Monday, June 27, 2011 8:56 AM
To: Paz Holly O
Cc: Seto Michael C; Buller Siri; Hull Carter C; Kastenberg Elizabeth C; Goehausen Hilary
Subject: Briefing Paper on c3/4 Advocacy Orgs.

Holly,

Attached is the briefing paper we plan to use at the meeting with Lois on Wednesday afternoon. Please let us know if you have any questions or would like to meet beforehand.

Thanks,

Justin

Background:

- EOD Screening has identified an increase in the number of (c)(3) and (c)(4) applications where organizations are advocating on issues related to government spending, taxes and similar matters. Often there is possible political intervention or excessive lobbying.
- EOD Screening identified this type of case as an emerging issue and began sending cases to a specific group if they meet any of the following criteria:
  - "Tea Party," "Patriots" or "9/12 Project" is referenced in the case file
  - Issues include government spending, government debt or taxes
  - Education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live"
  - Statements in the case file criticize how the country is being run
- Over 100 cases have been identified so far, a mix of (c)(3)s and (c)(4)s. Before this was identified as an emerging issue, 26 U.S.C. § 6103
- 26 U.S.C. § 6103
  - 26 U.S.C. § 6103
  -
- EOT is assisting EOD by providing technical advice (limited review of application files and editing of development letters).

EOD Request:

- EOD requests guidance in working these cases in order to promote uniform handling and resolution of issues.

Options for Next Steps:

- Assign cases for full development to EOD agents experienced with cases involving possible political intervention. EOT provides guidance when EOD agents have specific questions.
- EOT composes a list of issues or political/lobbying indicators to look for when investigating potential political intervention and excessive lobbying, such as reviewing website content, getting copies of educational and fundraising materials, and close scrutiny of expenditures.
- Establish a formal process similar to that used in healthcare screening where EOT reviews each application on TEDS and highlights issues for development.
- Transfer cases to EOT to be worked.
- Include pattern paragraphs on the political intervention restrictions in all favorable letters.
- Refer the organizations that were granted exemption to the ROO for follow-up.

Cautions:

- These cases and issues receive significant media and congressional attention.
- The determinations process is representational, therefore it is extremely difficult to establish that an organization will intervene in political campaigns at that stage.

Report Exhibits - Page 001183

From: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, May 30, 2013 7:49 AM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: FW: advocacy cases - next steps

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, July 24, 2012 4:48 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: advocacy cases - next steps

---

From: Paz Holly O
Sent: Thursday, June 07, 2012 5:01 PM
To: Megosh Andy; Goehausen Hilary; Giuliano Matthew L; Kindell Judith E; Miller Thomas J; Lowe Justin
Cc: Light Sharon P; Fish David L; Seto Michael C; Lerner Lois G; Marks Nancy J
Subject: FW: advocacy cases - next steps

Set forth below is a summary of the bucketing results. This email outlines the next steps to be taken with regard to each bucket.

83 c/3s bucketed:

16 approval
16 limited development
23 general development
28 likely denial

199 c/4s bucketed:

65 approval
48 limited development
56 general development
30 likely denial

Bucket 1:

C4s

Faye and Jodi will make calls to all c4 applicants who were sent development letters but have not yet responded before favorable determination letters are sent using the script already provided. Faye and Jodi will send the favorable c4 determinations using the letter already provided.

C3s

Report Exhibits - Page 001184

Faye and Jodi will make calls to make calls to all c3 applicants who were sent development letters but have not yet responded before favorable determination letters are sent. The phone script already provided will be modified accordingly by Faye and Jodi. Faye and Jodi will send the favorable c3 determinations. Addendum 1 to the c4 letter will be added to our standard favorable c3 letter. The second addendum to the c4 letter referencing the section of the pub re: political activity is not necessary.

Donor Information

C3s and c4s that provided names of their donors in response to an additional information request from the IRS will be sent a letter (to be sent in a separate email) indicating that the request was made in error and we have destroyed that information. This applies to applicants that provided the information in response to a development request specifically requesting a list of all donors, a development request to detail all sources of revenue or any other additional development request by the IRS. It does not apply to organizations that provided this information in their application. In cases meeting this criteria, this letter must be sent before the favorable determination is sent.

Quality Review

In light of the small number of disagreed cases, Quality will now shift from 100% mandatory review of c4s to reviewing one of every 10 c4 cases in bucket 1. All c3s will be sent to Quality, but this will be reduced to a sampling based on the results of the review. Disagreed cases will be discussed by QA, the individuals who completed the bucketing worksheets and/or reconciliation sheet, and Sharon to reach a mutual decision re: the appropriate action on the case. The Determs bucketer will get the complete file back from Donna so they can discuss with the DC bucketer. If a mutual decision cannot be reached, the case will be elevated to me for decision.

Bucket 2:

Jodi, Faye, Grant, Janine, and Carly will draft the development letters consisting of the questions listed by the bucketers on the bucketing worksheets. Each letter is to be reviewed by Hilary, Matthew or Andy before it is sent based on the following partnering:

Andy -- Faye (all c/3 cases)

Matthew -- Carly and Grant (c/4 cases)

Hilary -- Jodi and Janine (c/4 cases)

Hilary and Matthew should consult with Andy if they have any questions.

Caveat: In light of the size of the files and the time it would take to get another specialist familiar with the files.
28 U.S.C. § 6103
28 U.S.C. § 6103

The DC reviewer will provide any comments or a response indicating no comments within 2 business days. If a response is not received within two business days, the drafter of the development letter should notify Sharon.

If an applicant was previously sent a development letter but has not yet responded, the individual assigned to write the development letter will first call the applicant to direct them to disregard the prior development letter and that a new letter will be coming (modifying phone script provided for bucket 1) cases). The new development letter should also contain such a statement (language can be pulled from first addendum to favorable c4 letter).

Report Exhibits - Page 001185

The assigned Determinations specialist should email the assigned DC reviewer the development letter. In reviewing the letter, the DC reviewer will look at the application on TEDS, the bucketing worksheets (and reconciliation worksheet, if applicable) and the organization's website (if available).

Quality will review the cases once a response has been received and the Determinations specialist has reached a decision on the case - just like a regular mandatory review case. Initially, all bucket 2 cases will be sent to Quality, but this will be reduced to a sampling based on the results of the review. I will send a message to the team when we are ready to shift to a sampling review.

Bucket 3:

Same as bucket 2 except the individual assigned the case will have to draft the questions. Bucket 2 cases should be started before bucket 3 cases. Given the number of c3s in this bucket, c3 cases may have to be assigned to more than one person.

Bucket 4:

Cindy will send me the 10 oldest c4 cases. Judy and Justin will draft a development letter for each case. Tom Miller will review the development letter. Judy and Justin will send the development letter to Ron Bell who will assign the case to either Mitch or Joseph -whichever is available at that time. Mitch and Joseph will send the development letters and coordinate with Judy/Justin on reviewing the responses.

Joseph is in the process of determining whether c3s in this bucket could qualify under c4 and, if so, is contacting the applicant to inform them that we do not believe they qualify under c3 but may under c4 and instruct them to submit 1024 if they are interested in pursuing c4 status.

Bucketing Going Forward:

Mitch and Joseph will each review and bucket all new receipts that meet the definition of advocacy case on the BOLO and send their bucketing worksheets to Sharon. Sharon will be involved in any reconciliation discussions needed if Mitch and Joseph place cases in different buckets.

Tracking Going Forward:

Ron Bell will be responsible for tracking the advocacy cases going forward. He will use a spreadsheet that combines the original tracking sheet created by Determinations and the spreadsheet created by Sharon and may modify it to add new columns as cases move through the process. Everyone should notify Ron when a case is sent to their manager for closing.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Chip Hull, EO Technical
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 30, 2012

Time: 1:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Mr. Hull's manager, Steve Grodnitzky, asked him to become the Cincinnati coordinator, working with Liz Hofacre in Cincinnati on § 501(c)(4) and (c)(3) cases with political activities. Mr. Hull first worked on

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Ms. Hofacre sent copies of additional information letters to Mr. Hull to review prior to issuance. She later began sending copies of the case files as well, so Mr. Hull could determine what questions needed to be asked. Mr. Hull's manager looked at the first few cases with him and decided it wasn't necessary to look at any more. Mr. Hull is the Subject Matter Expert on § 501(c)(4)'s, (c)(5)'s, (c)(6)'s and political organizations. Mr. Hull reviewed around 30 cases for Cincinnati. He also had numerous phone conversations with Ms. Hofacre on cases, usually 4-5 at a time.

Mr. Hull's understanding of the issue was whether organizations were engaged in political activity and whether it was more than 50 percent of their activities. Cincinnati needed to frame the questions to determine the activities and the amount of time on each activity. As far as he knows, no donor information was requested.

Mr. Hull worked with Liz Hofacre for around a year. The volume of cases decreased. Ron Bell took over for Liz Hofacre in Cincinnati. He stopped sending Mr. Hull cases for review and didn't ask for his guidance with the development letters.

Report Exhibits - Page 001187

Mr. Hull did not have any involvement in the BOLO criteria. He heard his name was on the BOLO as a contact, but never saw the criteria being used. He does not know who developed it. He knew that the cases were being referred to in conversation as Tea Party, but he is bi-partisan. After a meeting with Lois Lerner, EO Director, in June 2011, the cases were referred to as advocacy cases instead of Tea Party.

7/31/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Mike Seto, EO Technical Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 30, 2012

Time: 2:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

In January 2011, Mr. Seto was Acting Director of EO Technical. [REDACTED]

26 U.S.C. § 6103

In the Fall of 2011, Determinations asked EO Technical to complete a review of all the advocacy cases. Hilary Goehausen completed the review, with technical assistance from Justin Lowe.

The purpose of the review was whether the organizations qualify as § 501(c)(4), which requires an activities test. It is difficult to determine exemption; includes looking at staffing and resources to determine primary activity.

Mr. Seto first learned of the Tea Party reference in April/May 2011. He had no idea about the BOLO criteria, but learned of it during the June 2011 briefing of the EO Director. He refers to them as advocacy or lobbying cases. He was not involved in the development of the BOLO criteria.

Mr. Seto did not instruct Cincinnati to stop working on cases while the guide sheet was developed. He spoke with Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, about the cases, but does not remember how she referred to them.

He is currently reviewing new additional information request letters from the May 2012 bucketing of the cases in Cincinnati.

7/31/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Justin Lowe, EO Guidance
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 30, 2012

Time: 3:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Last summer, around July 2011, the EO Director was briefed. Mr. Lowe wrote the briefing paper. He first learned about the criteria used to identify cases when writing the June 2011 briefing paper for the EO Director. He believes he received the criteria in the briefing paper from Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, or maybe Ron Bell, Advocacy Coordinator. (Auditor's Note: Mr. Lowe went back and checked for the email with the criteria, but could not find it.)

26 U.S.C. § 6103 Cincinnati has many cases. He worked on developing the guide sheet for Cincinnati to use when reviewing advocacy cases along with Hilary Goehausen. Judy Kindell also reviewed the draft guide sheet.

In January 2012, Mr. Lowe reviewed development letters and worked on revising the guide sheet. He also worked on responses to Congressional inquiries.

Mr. Lowe understood that the issue involved the identification of more cases related to getting citizens involved in issues/politics. Cases were referred to as Tea Party cases, but some were 26 U.S.C. § 6103 too.

Mr. Lowe never saw the BOLO and was not involved in any of the criteria changes.

Mr. Lowe occasionally helped Hilary Goehausen with the triage of cases performed to determine if any cases could be closed either approved or denied. He would provide advice on how to handle certain issues. He always referred to the cases as advocacy cases and was concerned with (c)(4) activities (general vs. advocacy). Cincinnati referred to cases as Tea Party, but it was just a shorthand for all advocacy cases.

Report Exhibits - Page 001190

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt Status Involving Political Activity Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Nan Marks, Technical Advisor, TE/GE Division Commissioner
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 2:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Nan Marks became a technical advisor to the Division Commissioner in August/September 2011. Prior to this, she worked in the Chief Counsel's Office. The first time she was involved in the advocacy issue was in early March 2012. She was asked to review guidance being prepared for EO Determinations. Ms. Marks knew that the guidance was going back and forth between Counsel and EO Technical, and that they wanted someone else's opinion on it. On March 23, 2012, Ms. Marks participated in a meeting with Steve Miller, Deputy Commissioner, Services and Enforcement, about concerns with the media coverage of the IRS's processing of applications for Tea Party organizations. He wanted to make sure EO Determinations was on track with handling the cases and what delays were occurring. He also was interested in the nature of the questions being asked. At this meeting, they also prepared for Mr. Miller's testimony at an upcoming hearing.

On March 27, 2012, they met again to prepare his testimony. Mr. Miller also asked Ms. Marks to take a look at what was happening in EO Determinations and make some recommendations. Mr. Miller wanted to have an understanding on how applications were processed for his testimony. The focus was to be on § 501(c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6) applications, as well as the particular handling of the advocacy applications.

Ms. Marks was authorized to pull resources to review the application process. She tried to review case files using TEDS, but found out that not all the information is available on TEDS, especially open cases. Prior to her visit to Cincinnati in April 2012, Ms. Marks requested copies of all development letters for the advocacy cases be available to review. She asked Judy Kindell and Sharon Light to go through them to determine if certain agents need more scrutiny, had more extensive letters, etc. The review found that one agent, Stephen Seok, had consistently extensive additional request letters. They toyed with the idea of creating a worksheet for the case reviews, but abandoned the idea. They felt that this could lead to bias/pre-judging of the applicants. They wanted the case files to speak for themselves.

Ms. Marks requested the approximately 230 advocacy cases be pulled for her to review. Although she did not get through them all, she probably reviewed around half the cases during her visit to Cincinnati. She visited EO Determinations in Cincinnati the week of April 23, 2012, along with Holly Paz, Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements, Rob Malone, Tax Law Specialist, Sharon Light, Technical Advisor, EO Director, and Joe Urban, Tax Law Specialist. Ms. Marks wanted fresh eyes to look at the processing of advocacy cases. This is when she first heard about the BOLO. She asked the advocacy team what was working and not working in the processing of the cases. She found that the Specialists were frustrated with the process.

During the Cincinnati meeting in April 2012, everyone sat in a room to review the cases. They found that questions 5 and 15 of the Form 1024 were significant in determining political activity. The bylaws and articles, and the website could also have political emphasis. Based upon their reviews, they determined if the development letter was appropriate. No bias was found in the identification of the advocacy cases. The group does not think the organizations were trying to hide anything; there is just confusion by the applicants and the Specialists on how to complete and review the Form 1024.

Once the group returned to Washington, D.C., they reconvened to do a post-mortem on the cases. They also reviewed the questions asked and identified the ones they felt were not necessary to resolve the cases -- remote chance of risk. Stephen Seok had lengthy lists of questions that were exhaustive and repetitive between cases. Ms. Marks discovered that Mr. Seok was previously part of a credit counseling team where the cases were similar, so similar questions were asked. The determinations reviews ended up more like an Exam for the credit counseling cases.

Ms. Marks developed her own timeline of the events of the development of the advocacy issue. (Auditor's Note: she did not develop a document of the timeline. It comes from emails and conversations with various people.) In February 2010, John Shafer, Screener Manager, informed Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, that there has been an uptick in cases with (c)(4) political activities.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Cincinnati completed a TEDS search and found 18 cases with similar issues; 3 were approved, 4 were (c)(3)s, 10 were (c)(4)s. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 The cases were assigned to Liz Hofacre.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Ms. Hofacre worked other cases as well as the advocacy cases during this time.

Report Exhibits - Page 001192

Mr. Hull concluded that the cases were not "cookie cutter" and did not think a template would work to process these cases. During the latter part of 2010, Mr. Hull worked with Ms. Hofacre to develop additional question letters for the cases assigned to her. In October 2010, Ms. Hofacre transferred to Quality Assurance. All of the advocacy cases under her control were transferred to Ron Bell. He was told to put them on hold until assistance came from EO Technical on how to process them. [26 U.S.C. § 6103]

26 U.S.C.
§ 6103

In the Summer of 2011, [26 U.S.C. § 6103] the inventory in Cincinnati was growing. EO Technical and Counsel decided to develop a guide sheet that covers the broad view of issues by EO. An early draft was sent to Cincinnati in early November 2011 for comment. Mrs. Thomas stated that it didn't look very helpful in its current form.

Cincinnati requested different technical experts to help them with processing the cases. Hilary Goehausen and Justin Lowe were assigned as contacts for the Specialists.

In the Fall 2011, Hilary Goehausen, using information available on the TEDS, reviewed all the identified advocacy cases to provide feedback to Cincinnati with recommendations for processing the cases.

In November 2011, Cincinnati set up a team of GS-13s to review advocacy cases. Stephen Seok was in charge of the team. Mr. Seok provided the team one of his development letters as a guide for the others, but the team did not use it. The team compared notes on the questions asked in the cases and started to develop a template of questions to assist them in case processing. The team sent the "template" to DC for review, but never used it when processing cases.

In January 2012, the advocacy team started reviewing the cases again and development letters were issued to the organizations. There was much media coverage of these development letters, stating that the IRS was using boiler plate letters instead of requesting needed information. Ms. Marks stated that they did not find the use of a "template" for the additional letters when they conducted their review in April 2012.

In March 2012, the media coverage with complaints about the two week time period for responding from the applicants began. Ms. Marks's team found that all requests for extensions of time to reply were granted.

Lois Lerner, EO Director, decided to give all organizations that had not responded to their additional request letters a 60 day extension in March 2012. If they did not reply, the cases would still go into suspense for another 90 days before closing FTE. The Specialists were told to stop working on the cases at this time.

Marks's team again discussed issuing guidance on the advocacy cases. These cases are very much facts and circumstances, so it is difficult to boil it down in a guidance document. In addition, there is not a lot of published guidance on § 501(c)(4)s, and they didn't want to set a precedent with any guidance developed.

Report Exhibits - Page 001193

After reviewing the cases, they came up with what they felt was a sense of the problem; Specialists were well intended but confused on the standards to apply to the cases.

- Legislative vs. political advocacy
- What is primarily for the activities standard
- Private benefit threshold

There was fear of making a mistake which prevented them from moving the cases.

Ms. Marks developed options for moving forward. They could transfer all the cases to EO Technical in DC, but there are not enough people to work them and it wouldn't be a long term solution. The other option was to conduct a workshop in Cincinnati for the advocacy team to group and prioritize the inventory of cases. Hopefully, as Cincinnati became more comfortable, DC's involvement would be phased out. She decided on the second option.

To prepare for the workshop, Judy Kindell and Sharon Light reviewed around 70 unassigned advocacy cases on TEDS and put them into 1 of 4 buckets (approval, focused development, full development, and probable denial). They identified cases with certain issues to use during the workshop. Ms. Marks picked a team of experienced DC employees for the bucket review: Sharon Light, Justin Lowe, Judy Kindell, Hilary Goehausen, Matthew Giuliano, and Andy Megosh. During the week of May 14th, EO Technical staff conducted a workshop with the advocacy team, going through sample cases with specific issues and coming up with the questions that needed to be asked. Discussions followed on the appropriateness of the questions. Since these cases are mandatory review, a person from Quality Assurance was also part of the team.

It took around 3 weeks total to review all the advocacy cases and go through the bucketing exercise. Each case was reviewed by two people. A worksheet was developed to capture their reviews. Bucket 1 (approvals) was given to the processing group to issue approval letters. Bucket 2 (focused development) were transferred to the advocacy team to work first. Bucket 4 (denials) were sent to DC for development of a model to use as the denial letter. Once all of Bucket 2 was completed, then Bucket 3 (full development) cases were assigned to the advocacy team.

There seemed to be a lot of taxpayer confusion with the whole application process. Ms. Marks felt they needed better communications with the public. Before the approval letters were issued, they were reviewed by EO Technical and the wording "massaged". The Specialists also went through a role playing exercise on how to deal with the frustration from the applicants when contacting them. Ms. Marks also felt there was a need to send letters to the organizations acknowledging that we did not need the information previously requested.

Report Exhibits - Page 001194

With the approval letter, a pamphlet is sent on how to stay exempt. The letter refers to certain pages of the pamphlet.

To be able to close certain cases where there were indications of possible political activity, but nothing to prevent approval of tax-exempt status, a ROO referral would be developed for follow-up in the future.

Ms. Marks is not directly involved in the advocacy issue anymore. She does participate in the periodic calls updating Steve Miller on the status of the cases.

8/2/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Toni Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 1:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Ms. Paz went through her role during the development of the advocacy issue.

Beginning in 2010 – Acting Manager, EO Technical Maternity leave in March 2010 – Steve Grodnitzky, Acting Manager, EO Technical October 2010 – Manager, EO Technical Manager
January 2011 – Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements – Mike Seto became Acting Manager, EO Technical
Maternity leave in October 2011 – David Fish, Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements
February 2012 – Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements
May 2012 – Director, Rulings and Agreements

In early 2010, Ms. Paz received questions from Cincinnati about a possible emerging issue identified in screening involving political activity related to the Tea Party organizations or affiliated with the Tea Party. She requested 2 cases (1 c3 and 1 c4) be sent to EO Technical for review. 28 U.S.C. § 6103

28 U.S.C. § 6103

28 U.S.C. § 6103

By the Spring of 2011 there was a large increase in the number of cases identified to around 100 cases. This was too much for Chip Hull to handle. The EO Director, Lois Lerner was briefed in June 2011 on the situation. It was decided that a guide sheet would be developed by EO Technical for Cincinnati to use. This was also when the BOLO criteria was revised. Ms. Paz did not know about the Tea Party criteria being used until she began to prepare for this briefing with Lois Lerner.

Report Exhibits - Page 001196

2

Cases were commonly referred to as Tea Party cases in Cincinnati and by Chip Hull. It did not occur to Determinations not to use this "short hand" for the types of cases they were identifying. Other issues have been referred to by particular names in the past. The BOLO was not approved during the development of the advocacy issue. Ms. Paz now approves all wording for the BOLO.

The EO Director receives Sensitive Case Reports monthly. Mr. Hull began preparing a Report for the 28 U.S.C. § 6103 No meetings were held with Ms. Lerner until June 2011.

There was a miscommunication with Determinations about working cases. They were told that EO Technical was developing guidance, but not to stop working the cases. Ms. Paz does not know who decided to stop work on the cases.

In the Fall of 2011, Hilary Goehausen and Justin Lowe went through all the advocacy cases on TEDS because Mrs. Thomas and Ms. Paz thought some of the cases didn't belong and could be closed. Judy Kindell worked with both of them on the cases. However, Cincinnati did not do anything with the results of this review when sent to Mrs. Thomas. Ms. Paz does not know why.

The screeners were told to cast a wide net when reviewing applications. Ms. Paz stated that this is commonly done when new issues are identified. Ron Bell re-screened the cases before being added to the case tracking sheet. The BOLO criteria was rewritten in January 2012 because too many cases that did not meet the criteria for the advocacy team were being transferred over.

In June 2011 Justin Lowe took over for Chip Hull as the coordinator in EO Technical. He could more quickly handle the cases. Mr. Lowe is groomed in political issues.

The identified cases were consolidated in the emerging issues group. This group is responsible for all "issues" that seem to need consistency in review. Liz Hofacre worked all the initial cases starting in 2010. In the Fall 2010, Ms. Hofacre transferred to Quality Assurance. Ron Bell was given responsibility for the cases.

In November-December 2011, Mrs. Thomas decided that a team approach would be better for working the cases. The volume became too much for one person. The advocacy team was selected based upon their experience and grade (GS-13s). Stephen Seok took over as coordinator from Ron Bell because Mr. Bell was also trying to oversee the auto revocation applications and it was just too much for one person to work.

In January 2012, the Advocacy Group Manager, Ron Bell, and Stephen Seok decided that the BOLO criteria was too generic and revised it. This did not come from DC. Ms. Paz found out about the change in April 2012 and informed Ms. Lerner. Ms. Paz changed the criteria again in May 2012.

Report Exhibits - Page 001197

3

The draft guide sheet was begun in July 2011. Counsel helped reviewed the guide sheet beginning in March 2012 and had concerns with it. It did not have any information that is not already stated in published guidance or revenue rulings.

In March 2012, Ms. Lerner approved a one-time letter issued to organizations that had not responded to development letters giving them 60 day extensions. Ms. Paz does not know who came up with this idea. It was considered a fairness issue since Determinations was asking for a larger than usual volume of information. These letters should be in the case files.

Based on the discussions over the guide sheet, training was provided to the advocacy team in Cincinnati. Sample cases were reviewed as a group. There were no handouts or other documentation for this training. The Specialists seemed terrified of making a bad approval.

Other than the May 2012 training, the advocacy team did not receive any other training, and none is planned. The advocacy team members not located in Cincinnati did not receive the training. EO had a virtual CPE in May/June 2011 during which political activity was covered.

Since May 2012, the advocacy team is working with an assigned EO Technical employee on the advocacy cases. All letters are being reviewed by the EO Technical employee, along with the case files. They are trying to ensure that the letters don't ask for too much and are written in plain language. No disagreements to date between Determinations and EO Technical. If there are any problems, Sharon Light will review the case as coordinator of this effort. All the cases are going to Quality Assurance right now. As everyone becomes comfortable with these cases, EO will go back to sampling for quality reviews.

Ms. Paz was not involved in the development of the initial additional information letter requests. Ms. Lerner wants Determinations to be more mindful of what information is needed to make a determination.

EO Determinations received Operational Assistance Requests (OAR)s from the Taxpayer Advocate Office on some of the advocacy cases. Ron Bell dealt with responding to these requests with the status of the cases.

Ms. Paz was not involved in the initial development of the BOLO criteria prior to June 2011. She was not involved in the change made in January 2012, but did write the May 2012 change.

In June 2011, template letters were discussed for working advocacy cases but it never happened.

Ms. Paz discussed Determination's concern with the requested donor information with the Counsel Procedure and Administration Office. They stated that since the information was not relied on to make the determinations, it can be destroyed or sent back to the organization -- referred to as expunged. The request for the information was a mistake so it doesn't need to be in the file. A letter was sent to all organizations that provided donor information at the request of the Specialist notifying them that the information was destroyed.

Many of these organizations hadn't had contact with the IRS on their applications in a long time or hadn't responded to a development letter. So, after the bucketing exercise in May 2012, the organizations that were to receive an approval letter received a call first to explain the situation (script). An addendum to the favorable letter was also added informing them to disregard the development letter. The script and addendum were developed by Ms. Paz, Ms. Lerner, Judy Kindell and Nan Marks.

General questions

EO is currently updating IRM 7.20.1 with current processing procedures for applications. It will include screener guidance, BOLO and OFAC research, and new check sheets.

Ms. Paz first saw the BOLO criteria when preparing for the Lerner briefing. AM Seidell commented that the BOLO criteria in June 2011 was different than what was in the briefing paper, so we were confused on what the screeners were using to identify advocacy cases. Ms. Paz never compared the two criteria and does not know why they are different. The BOLO iterations document we received may be incomplete. We should ask Ron Bell in Cincinnati.

Managers do not review additional information letters prior to issuance. Managers review case files before they are closed. They track case closures. She did not receive the advocacy tracking sheet regularly during the emerging issue development. Since the bucketing of cases in May 2012, Ms. Paz receives a status report on the advocacy cases every two weeks. She does not have access to EDS to monitor the cases herself.

Ms. Paz did not know if organizations applying for § 501(c)(3) status are informed of their right to sue if the application is not closed within 270 days. No organizations included in the advocacy cases have sued the IRS because it missed this standard. In fact, this type of lawsuit is very rare in general.

In September 2011, EO knew the volume of cases was growing and decided to triage the cases in EO Technical to see if any could be closed. Hilary Goehausen performed this triage. After the media attention from the January 2012 letters, Specialists were told to stop working the cases around the end of February 2012. They were to continue working the cases, but no new development letters should be issued. After the bucketing of the cases in May 2012, development letters began to be issued again.

Ms. Paz does not know if calendar days or work days are used in the BPR to compute elapsed days for case inventory. We should ask Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager.

In hindsight, the EO Director should have been briefed earlier in the development of the advocacy emerging issue. The Determinations Office moves at a faster pace than EO Technical, which was trying to develop guidance for Cincinnati.

Report Exhibits - Page 001199

5

In March/April 2012, Steve Miller, Deputy Commissioner, became involved in the advocacy issue. He wanted to know the status of the cases and be briefed for upcoming testimony.

Ms. Paz was involved since the beginning of the emerging issue, but was not involved in discussions to refer to them in a certain way.

Since the bucketing in May 2012, Ron Bell has been using a new tracking sheet to monitor the cases. Not all advocacy cases are included. Some types of cases are reserved for EO Technical to review per the IRM. They may have political advocacy issues. If identified, they should be included on the tracking sheet Ron Bell is controlling in Cincinnati. None have been identified yet.

8/2/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Steve Grodnitzky, EO Technical Group Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 9:00 am

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Mr. Grodnitzky has been the group 1 manager for 6 years. He is currently detailed to legislative affairs.

During October/November 2011, the Branch Manager oversaw the cases sent to his group. The Branch Manager and Ron Shoemaker screened the cases referred to EO Technical and if they were advocacy related, not just political advocacy, but all types of advocacy, they would be transferred to Mr. Grodnitzky's group. Mr. Grodnitzky initially reviews all cases into his group and assigns them. If the case was advocacy related, they would be assigned to Hilary Goehausen. He checks the status of all cases, not just advocacy ones, on a regular basis.

Mr. Grodnitzky keeps a Word file with a summary of all the cases for reference. (w/p: Binder 1, pp. 147-150) Every 4 weeks, he contacts the Specialists for an update. Because certain cases are assigned to EO Technical, there may be some advocacy cases not included on the Cincinnati's tracking sheet.

Mr. Grodnitzky's understanding of the issue is that some organizations are advocating specific positions/candidates and a determination needs to be made if the activity is political.

He did not know what the BOLO was and has never seen the BOLO criteria. Cases are transferred from Cincinnati to DC, they are screened and assigned to his group if advocacy.

Mr. Grodnitzky always refer to the cases as advocacy cases. He has no direct interaction with Cincinnati. He became aware of the advocacy issue after the guide sheet was begun, so he is not aware that case reviews stopped. There was no stoppage of cases in DC.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Sharon Light, Senior Technical Advisor to EO Director
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 10:00 am

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Ms. Light began with the IRS in January 2011. The first time she was involved in the advocacy issue was at the June 2011 EO Director briefing. She is aware that guidance was developed but was not involved in it. Nor was she involved in any of the Congressional inquiries.

She became involved after all the media and Congressional attention began in March 2012. She traveled with Nan Marks to Cincinnati in April 2012 and completed a walk-through of the Determinations process. They also went through applications and discussed how to handle the cases.

Ms. Light worked with Hilary Goehausen reviewing cases. This led to the bucketing of the cases in May 2012. Ms. Light was responsible for coordination of the bucketing exercise. The cases were split up into 4 categories: approval, focused development, full development and probable denial.

Teams of 3 people were set up by Holly Paz to review all the advocacy cases. Two people from each team reviewed each case (blind review); one from Headquarters and one from Cincinnati. They completed worksheets on each case and sent them to Sharon. If both agreed on the same case, the approvals went to Quality Assurance for review. If the two reviewers disagreed, they would meet to discuss and create a third worksheet. There have been no cases that the two reviewers could not agree on. If they couldn't come to agreement, Ms. Light would make the final decision. This has not happened to date.

The definition of political intervention is a grey area. Most organizations are new to the exempt arena, so the cases are difficult to work. The vast majority of them do not say Tea Party.

Report Exhibits - Page 001202

2

She participated in the May 2012 training. There is no documentation. Nan Marks spoke first and then Holly Paz laid out the process established for the bucketing exercise. Judy Kindell discussed § 501(c)(4) issues.

While reviewing the cases it was noted that many have private benefit issues, not political issues. She selected cases with certain issues for the training to gain consensus on how to handle them. Suggestions on how to ask questions were discussed, then the team went through cases and discussed how to handle the issues. The next day, the bucketing of all the advocacy cases began.

The original advocacy team members not located in Cincinnati are no longer working on advocacy cases. They transferred their remaining cases to Cincinnati for assignment.

The first time Ms. Light heard about the BOLO was at the June 2011 EO Director briefing. There was discussion on changing the language in the BOLO at this briefing. In June 2012, private benefit was added to the BOLO definition.

She has always referred to these cases as advocacy cases, but prior to her involvement they were probably referred to as Tea Party cases. People understood that Tea Party referred to a range of issues, not the Tea Party specifically. The screeners used the BOLO, but she did not see any targeting of the Tea Party during her review of cases.

Going forward, the advocacy cases will continue to be bucketed using the 4 buckets set up in May 2012. Ron Bell is tracking the bucketing results and assigning the cases to the advocacy team. Each team member in Cincinnati works with someone in EO Technical on the cases.

8/2/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Judy Kindell, Technical Advisor to EO Director
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 11:00 am

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

26 U.S.C. § 6103

There were discussions on whether cases should stay in Cincinnati or be transferred to DC. There was an attempt to develop guidance by Hilary Goehausen. She asked Ms. Kindell and Sharon Light to review it. They felt it was too lawyerly and not a good roadmap for the Specialists. Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, also reviewed it and didn't feel it was useful.

In the Spring 2012, she again reviewed the guide sheet. Counsel had revised it, but it was never finalized. The next thing she hears about is all the media coverage of the development letters issued.

All of the issued advocacy development letters were reviewed by Sharon Light and Ms. Kindell to determine the types of questions that were asked. Each Specialist had his own list of questions that were used.

In May 2012, she participated in the training of the advocacy team and went through bucketing the cases. Each case was reviewed by two people. Quality Assurance looked at all the cases before approval.

The probable denial bucket cases are being worked by Ms. Kindell and Justin Lowe, EO Guidance. They are developing the denial letters, which are being reviewed by Tom Miller, EO

Report Exhibits - Page 001204

2

Rulings and Agreements. Once approved, the letters are returned to Cincinnati for issuance. This process will continue in the future.

Ms. Kindell believes the issue is candidate support, which is not a (c)(4) activity, but the organizations can participate in it. The cases involve the political realm and may act for the private benefit of one political party.

Ms. Kindell first learned about the Tea Party BOLO criteria after January 2012 from an email to Lois Lerner from Holly Paz. She is not aware how the cases were identified.

Ms. Kindell does not know who instructed Cincinnati to stop working the cases while guidance was being developed.

8/2/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Hilary Goehausen, EO Technical
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seideil, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: July 31, 2012

Time: 3:30 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

In April/May 2011, Ms. Goehausen started reviewing (c)(3) and (c)(4) cases for political activity and lobbying. The cases were transferred from Chip Hull as part of her training in the area. She did not provide assistance to Cincinnati at this time.

She was not part of developing the BOLO criteria, although she saw the BOLO mentioned in some case chronologies. She was contacted by Cincinnati with questions on certain issue and whether the organizations were complying with the regulations.

One of the first projects she was tasked with in July/August 2011 was to develop a guide sheet for Cincinnati to process the advocacy cases. She based it on issued guidance and regulations. She completed it in October/November 2011. She was not aware of any stoppage of casework while she was developing the guide sheet.

She never referred to the cases because she was not involved. She had no input to the June 2011 briefing paper. In September 2011, she was asked to help with the development of the advocacy cases. She reviewed the TEDS files and made recommendations for closure or additional questions to ask. She completed this in October 2011.

8/2/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: John Shafer, Determinations Screener Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 6, 2012/August 7, 2012

Time: 2:15 pm/2:30 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

John Shafer is the group manager of the screener group. [REDACTED]

26 U.S.C. § 6103

[REDACTED] Mr. Shafer raised the concern through his manager, Sharon Camarillo (retired). Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, elevated it to Holly Paz, Acting EO Technical Manager, in Washington, D.C. This was not the first case with similar political issues, but it is the [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] The concern is the application of the law consistently on all similar cases. Mr. Shafer has regular group meetings to ensure consistency in all case reviews.

Jack Koester is a GS 12 Screener. He has been in the screening group for 10 years. The screening group is staffed with all GS 12s and GS 13s volunteers. They can be rotated out if they are not happy with the work. Mr. Shafer can also transfer a non-performer from the group. The work is not assigned by subsection. Mr. Shafer commented that screeners become bored when reviewing the same type of application all the time. The screeners have told him they like switching between application types.

Mr. Shafer was not involved in the TEDS search completed to identify other cases similar to the [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED]

With approximately 80,000 applications received every year, Mr. Shafer cannot review all the screened applications completed by his group. He has three GS 13s that help him review the screened cases.

He does not remember when he first learned about the BOLO criteria. He commented that the BOLO is a convenient way to issue guidance. It is distributed by email by the group in charge of overseeing it. His screeners use the BOLO, as well as their experience, to identify advocacy cases. Mr. Shafer does not know how his screeners use the BOLO or whether it is the only criteria used for advocacy cases. He believes that the screeners did not use just Tea Party for the criteria. Political activity, whether legislative or candidate related, would make a difference in identifying advocacy cases. Agents would use activities and supporting documents to make a decision.

Report Exhibits - Page 001207

2

Screeners use worksheets to identify the issues and where the case should be assigned. The worksheet has boxes to check for the topics needing development, but does not show what group it should go to. Mr. Shafer is not sure what box would be checked for the advocacy cases. AM Seidell asked him to check for us.

Mr. Shafer did not have any concerns on the process for working the advocacy cases. He refers to them as advocacy cases.

At 2:30 pm on August 7th, we again spoke to Mr. Shafer, to ask some additional questions.

AM Seidell first asked about how cases are identified as advocacy are transferred correctly to the advocacy group for review. Mr. Shafer stated that the screeners update the case category in TEDS with advocacy.

AM Seidell then showed Mr. Shafer an email dated June 2, 2011 from him to Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, which documents the criteria used by the screeners to identify advocacy cases. (Auditor's Note: This criteria is very different than the criteria on the BOLO.) Mr. Shafer could not remember specifically where it came from. It probably came from his senior agent of 35 years, Gary Muthert. Mr. Shafer is not sure if this criteria was shared with the other screeners. It could have been discussed at his monthly group meetings. AM Seidell requested copies of the meeting minutes from February 2010 through the present.

cjm
8/8/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Liz Hofacre, former Determinations Specialist
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 6, 2012

Time: 3:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

In April 2010, her group manager, Joseph Herr, was assigned the emerging issues topic. Cases were assigned to Ms. Hofacre from the screeners. The criteria at the time for identifying cases was Tea Party, 9/12, Patriot, etc. Ms. Hofacre knew some screeners were doing word searches of the applications, such as "patriot" to identify the cases.

Ms. Hofacre was also involved in the initial BOLO development in August 2010. She worked with John Waddell (former TAG group manager), to develop the terrorist listing tab of the BOLO. The initial BOLO was reviewed by Steve Bowling, John Waddell, and possibly Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager. (Auditor's Note: Ms. Hofacre and the emerging issue topic was transferred to a different group in August 2010.) Ms. Hofacre received subsequent changes to the BOLO from her new manager, Steve Bowling. She did not know from whom he received the changes. In October 2010, Ms. Hofacre accepted a position in the Quality Assurance office.

Cases were referred to as Tea Party cases initially, but it changed to advocacy cases. Ms. Hofacre thought they were called Tea Party cases because the majority of the cases involved Tea Party organizations. They were considered high profile cases because there was a lot of media coverage on them. When Ms. Hofacre left for Quality Assurance, there were 40-50 cases.

Ms. Hofacre worked with EO Technical employees Chip Hull and Steve Grodnitzky on the cases. She faxed the case files to Chip. She developed some additional information letters and sent them to Chip for review. He would suggest wording changes and other questions to ask. Ms. Hofacre used some of the suggested questions.

Ms. Hofacre raised concerns with the turn-around time working with Mr. Hull. It took way too long for him to provide feedback to her. Sometimes she waited days or even weeks for a response. Ms. Hofacre never sent second development letters to the applicants. After the first responses were received, she faxed them to Mr. Hull, but never heard from him again. She worked around 40 cases with Mr. Hull. These were transferred to Ron Bell when Ms. Hofacre transferred to Quality Assurance. Up to 6 months ago, Ms. Hofacre was still receiving phone calls from applicants wanting to know the status of their applications.

Report Exhibits - Page 001209

2

Ms. Hofacre was never told to stop working the cases.

Ms. Hofacre was not influenced by anyone outside of the IRS when developing the BOLO criteria used to identify advocacy cases.

cjm
8/8/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Joseph Herr, former Determinations Group Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 6, 2012

Time: 4:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

The screeners were identifying cases at the same time the emerging issues group was being developed in 2010. The Determinations Manager decided that she wanted similar cases worked by the same group to ensure consistency. For example, if a group ruling was broken up, all the individual organizations would come in for their own exemption.

Screeners identified a pattern of cases and raised it as an emerging issue. His group triaged the cases. He assigned one employee, Liz Hofacre, to review the cases. Mr. Herr does not remember who decided his group would be responsible for emerging issues.

His understanding of the emerging issue was political activity, education activity, but doing it in a different way. Most lobbying organizations focus on one topic (e.g., environment). These organizations were involved in multiple advocacy issues.

Mr. Herr was not involved in the initial search for additional cases on TEDS once the issue was identified. He was also not involved in any tracking sheet developed for the cases.

Ms. Hofacre triaged the cases: applied an understanding of the law, determined if there were related organizations, researched existing precedent for the issues, and coordinated with EO Technical.

The BOLO gives the screeners the criteria to route cases to a particular group. Ms. Hofacre was responsible for maintaining the BOLO. She worked with Brenda Melahn, retired Area Manager. The BOLO included criteria where if an application was identified as Tea Party, it should be forwarded to Mr. Herr's group.

Report Exhibits - Page 001211

2

Mr. Herr does not recall any secondary screening done while he was overseeing the emerging issues. His group worked on a template and guidance for developing Tea Party cases. Around September 2010, the emerging issue topic was transferred to Steve Bowling's group. Ms. Hofacre and the maintenance of the BOLO were transferred to the new group as well. She worked with Chip Hull in EO Technical on the cases. Mr. Herr did not have any input after this.

Mr. Herr was part of a pilot: travelling manager. He had employees at six different posts of duty. The emerging issue was transferred to another group so the cases would be worked in one location.

Mr. Herr did not have any concerns about how the processing of the cases was completed. Determinations needs to get behind why there was an influx of the new type of cases. He did mention that the timeliness of EO Technical's response could have been better, but that is normal. EO is tasked with a lot of work and limited resources.

Cases were referred to as Tea Party cases, but later changed to advocacy. The Tea Party reference was used as an identifier. In tax law, the "party" usually refers to political activity.

Mr. Herr was not influenced in any way by anyone outside of the IRS when developing the criteria used to identify advocacy cases.

cjm
8/8/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Steve Bowling, Group Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 7, 2012

Time: 10:00 am

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Mr. Bowling inherited the maintenance of the BOLO list in late 2010. He receives BOLO updates and forwards them to the coordinator in his group. There have not been too many updates to the emerging issues list. The changes come from upper management.

He was not involved in the BOLO criteria development. The initial cases were transferred to his group, along with Liz Hofacre. The cases were put on hold by upper management while waiting for guidance from EO Technical. When asked who in upper management put a hold on the cases, Mr. Bowling suggested that it was Sharon Camarillo, Area Manager (retired). Mr. Bowling was not sure when work resumed on the cases. Ms. Hofacre transferred to Quality Assurance and Ron Bell became the coordinator in October/November 2010.

Mr. Bowling does not know when the tracking sheet for the advocacy cases was started. It must have been after he left the group. He was not involved in the initial BOLO criteria development. His group made a suggested change to the criteria in the end of 2011/beginning of 2012. The suggestion was forwarded to Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, for approval.

Mr. Bowling was not aware of the criteria for identifying advocacy cases in the John Shafer email.

Secondary screening was used to correct the bucketing of cases if it was determined not to be advocacy related. The case could stay in the group if the case related to another topic assigned to it. If not, the case would be put back into general inventory.

Report Exhibits - Page 001213

2

The advocacy team got together and developed a list of questions for consistency in the development letters to the advocacy organizations. They also referred to the draft advocacy guide sheet from EO Technical when developing the list of questions.

Mr. Bowling is not aware of the triage completed by EO Technical of all the advocacy cases. He does not know what was done with the results of the review.

In March 2012, the advocacy team was told to hold off on the cases until guidance was received from EO Technical.

Managers do not review development letters. Mr. Bowling reviews all closed cases. For TEDS cases, his review is documented by him updating the status code. This status code change alerts the processing section to issue the closing letter. If the case is worked on paper, Mr. Bowling initials the closing sheet.

Mr. Bowling monitors the age of inventory using a Business Objects report. It lists the group inventory as well as the inventory of individual agents. Each agent tracks his inventory and required follow-ups differently. It depends on his organizational skills. Some use reports from Business Objects, and others would use the TEDS system.

There has been changes in the advocacy group. Mr. Bowling is no longer the group manager. He left in April/May 2012. Ms. Hofacre left for Quality Assurance, and Ron Bell took over as coordinator. Due to the large volume of auto revocation cases Ron Bell was working, the coordinator role was transferred to Stephen Seok.

Advocacy cases are worked by senior agents. No new training was provided.

When the cases were first transferred to his group, they waited for guidance from EO Technical. It took too long to receive this guidance.

Mr. Bowling referred to the cases as advocacy cases, in particular political issues. Very few additional cases were received after the initial transfer from Liz Hofacre. Any cases that were received went to the coordinator, Ron Bell. Mr. Bowling was focused on the thousands of auto revocation cases at the time.

If applying for § 501(c)(3) status, organizations are not notified of the 270 day standard for processing applications in the letters received from EO.

Mr. Bowling was not influenced by anyone outside the IRS when developing BOLO criteria for the advocacy cases.

cjm
8/8/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Ron Bell, Senior Agent
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 7, 2012

Time: 11:00 am

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Mr. Bell was promoted in June 2010 and transferred to Group 7822. He was assigned to work the auto revocation applications. In October 2010 Liz Hofacre transferred to Quality Assurance and he took over the advocacy cases. Ms. Hofacre was working with EO Technical in Washington, D.C. on the cases. She told him not to send any more cases to EO Technical. She was waiting for guidance. Mr. Bell believes Ms. Hofacre and Mr. Bowling, group manager, told him not to work the cases when they were transferred to him. He does not remember if it was documented. If it was from Ms. Hofacre, it was verbally communicated. The cases from Ms. Hofacre were sitting in Mr. Bell's inventory. Any new advocacy cases received while waiting for EO Technical guidance were placed in a group dummy number waiting to be assigned to a Specialist.

Customers started calling Mr. Bell asking about the status of their applications. He would say they were under review. In November 2011, EO Technical guidance was received and he started working the cases. ~~Stephen Seok took over as coordinator of the advocacy issue.~~

Mr. Bell is the "scribe" for the BOLO listing. He receives changes from his manager and updates the listing. He took this duty over from Liz Hofacre after she left. The initial BOLO wording was already established when he received this responsibility. The emerging issue definition has changed a couple of times. There was discussion during a meeting in November/December 2011 with the group manager and Stephen Seok about the verbiage used to describe the advocacy emerging issue. Mr. Seok revised the wording and received approval from the group manager, Steve Bowling. Mr. Bell made the change in January 2012. He believes a BOLO change would need to be approved by the Area Manager. Mr. Bell did not create the BOLO iterations summary document we received. Mr. Bell will provide us with the various iterations of the BOLO file.

Report Exhibits - Page 001215

2

Although Mr. Bell had not seen the criteria for identifying the advocacy cases used in the June 2011 briefing, he commented that during secondary screening, he has seen cases with all of the criteria included.

Based upon the July 2011 BOLO criteria, screeners cast a wide net when identifying potential advocacy cases. Mr. Bell was tasked to perform a secondary screening of the cases to ensure they met the criteria for political advocacy in January 2012. Mr. Bowling wanted to get the cases moving. Mr. Bell used the BOLO criteria and completed Internet research to determine if the case was indeed an advocacy case. If he found references to the constitution, patriots or public policy issues, it would be assigned to the advocacy team. The BOLO was the primary criteria used. He did not complete a screening check sheet for this secondary screening. He made an entry in the Case Chronology Record. If the case did not meet the advocacy criteria, Mr. Bell would make a note in the Case Chronology Record and transfer it. In TEDS, the advocacy case category would be selected to transfer a case to the advocacy team (group 7822). On paper, he would write it on the outside of the case file.

Mr. Bell received an advocacy tracking sheet from Liz Hofacre in October 2010. During his secondary screening, Mr. Bell added cases to the tracking sheet if he deemed them acceptable for the advocacy team. He also received some cases from field agents working cases. Since the bucketing exercise in May 2012, Mr. Bell added some columns to the tracking sheet. They include which bucket the case was put into and whether a development letter was issued. Mr. Bell was not involved in the bucketing exercise completed in May 2012.

Mr. Bell was not involved in the development of template questions by the advocacy team. He is not developing advocacy cases. He is only responsible for the secondary screening. He has not had much interaction with Washington, D.C. on the advocacy cases. Mr. Bell did keep asking his group manager, Steve Bowling, about the guidance status from EO Technical. He felt there was a problem coming to an agreement on the questions to ask for these cases.

Mr. Bell had a concern with how long it took to receive guidance from EO Technical. He kept receiving phone calls from applicants wondering about their applications. When Determinations works any group of cases, consistency is always the main concern.

The cases were referred to as Tea Party cases as the emerging issue was developed. This was changed because of the sensitivity of the issue. In the past, the IRS was sued for another group of cases referred to as the 26 U.S.C. § 6103. They need to be careful about targeting groups.

He was not influenced by anyone outside of the IRS when developing criteria for the identification of advocacy cases.

cjm
8/9/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Tyler Chumney, Group Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 7, 2012

Time: 2:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

Mr. Chumney began as acting group 7822 manager in March 2012. He became aware of the advocacy issue in November 2011 as staff assistant to the Determinations Manager, Cindy Thomas. The issue was discussed at meetings, and he took the minutes.

Stephen Seok was coordinator of the advocacy issue and handled the day-to-day activities. He ensured the cases were controlled on the tracking sheet and stored in a locked file cabinet. If Mr. Chumney received any information regarding the advocacy, he would forward it to Mr. Seok.

Ron Bell was performing a secondary screening of the cases. He is a senior GS 13 agent. He looked for political advocacy. If he was unsure, he would ask Mr. Chumney for advice.

Group managers complete a "53 sheet" when reviewing cases for closure that are returned to the agent. It is called this because the case is in status 53 (returned to agent from manager). The sheet should be in the case file. Group managers also complete workload reviews.

Approved cases are transferred to the processing unit to issue the determinations letter and close the case on TEDS. The cases are put into status 37 by the manager. Only group managers or their designees can update a case to status 37 on TEDS. A closing worksheet is prepared by the agent. If the case was worked on paper, the agent completes Form 8670, which is initialed by the manager to document his review.

The BOB-J report from Business Objects is used to monitor the age of cases by the group manager. It breaks down the cases by agent and status. There is also a separate unassigned inventory report. The control date and grade of the case is used to assign the cases to an agent.

Report Exhibits - Page 001217

2

Employees from EO Technical came to Cincinnati in May 2012 to train the advocacy team.

Mr. Chumney was involved when the BOLO definition was updated in June 2012. He forwarded it to Ron Bell for updating the BOLO and issuing the change. A change in procedure was received for updating anything on the BOLO. A change needs to be approved by management. Mr. Chumney did not edit the definition. Mr. Chumney was not involved in the January 2012 BOLO definition change.

The May 2012 bucketing of cases was not done by anyone on the advocacy team. They wanted fresh eyes reviewing the cases. Sharon Light, Staff Assistant to EO Director, is overseeing the cases now.

Ron Bell is acting group manager for group 7822. Mr. Chumney returned to his staff assistant position on July 15, 2012. Mr. Bell assigns the cases and maintains the tracking sheet.

The advocacy team is now made up of specialists from other Cincinnati groups only. No one in group 7822 is reviewing advocacy cases.

cjm
8/9/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IA

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 7, 2012

Time: 3:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

[REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Gary Muthert completed a TEDS search to identify additional cases.

Determinations did not receive any feedback from EO Technical for a while. Ms. Thomas followed up every 30 days requesting a status update on guidance.

[REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103

Determinations was looking for template questions and letters from EO Technical, like it had received for other issues raised to them. Every case was being worked individually, but Determinations was looking for guidance on how to handle all the cases the same way. Ms. Thomas does not have any written request for EO Technical's assistance with the advocacy cases. There is no formal process to request initial assistance or for following up.

Ms. Thomas does not think the initial BOLO emails are saved anywhere. There was no approval process for the language used in the BOLO. Ms. Hofacre started the BOLO listing because too many emails were being sent to agents with things to look for during a case review. The BOLO consolidated all the information.

Report Exhibits - Page 001219

2

The Touch and Go (TAG) Unit had too many cases in its inventory. Ms. Thomas decided to break up the cases and assign them to other groups. The consistency cases (similar cases needed to be worked consistently) were transferred to Joseph Herr's group. These became the emerging issue cases. Ms. Hofacre was transferred from the TAG group to Mr. Herr's group.

Mr. Herr took a detail to EO Examinations, and Ms. Thomas realigned the Determinations groups. In August 2010, the emerging issues cases were transferred to Steve Bowling's group. Ms. Hofacre moved to this group at the same time.

In October 2010, Ms. Hofacre transferred to the Quality Assurance office and Ron Bell took over the advocacy cases. He worked on one case while waiting for guidance from EO Technical. Ms. Thomas does not know who told Mr. Bell to stop working on the cases until guidance was received – possibly EO Technical??

Ms. Thomas was not periodically briefed on the status of the advocacy issue cases. She did follow-up with EO Technical every 30 days to determine the status of the guidance.

EO Technical sent a guide sheet in November 2011. Ms. Thomas set up an advocacy team to review the cases. There were too many for one person to review. One person from almost every Determinations group was selected for the team. This provided each group a subject matter expert on advocacy issues. The team was selected; it was not made up of volunteers.

Ron Bell began completing a secondary screening on the advocacy cases. There was a large volume of cases being assigned to the advocacy group based on the BOLO criteria. However, many were lobbying issues, that did not meet the political advocacy threshold.

Determinations received Operational Assistance Requests from the Taxpayer Advocate Office on some of the advocacy cases. Ms. Thomas requested assistance from EO Technical on how to respond to the requests.

In July 2011, the BOLO criteria was changed after a briefing in June 2011 with the EO Director. EO Technical was involved in the wording change. The advocacy team changed the criteria later. Stephen Seok and Steven Bowling were involved. There was no approval process for changing the BOLO.

We showed Ms. Thomas the criteria email used for developing the June 2011 EO Director briefing. She thought that the screeners came up with this criteria after they identified the advocacy issue and prior to the BOLO issuance. Once the BOLO was issued, the screeners used the BOLO criteria for identifying advocacy cases.

EO Technical's Justin Lowe and Hilary Goehausen performed a triage of all the identified advocacy cases. Ms. Thomas did not think it was very helpful. She was unsure what the comments on the cases meant. They went back and forth a few times revising the comments. EO Technical only reviewed the information available on TEDS, so they did not want to commit to recommending closing a case based upon their review.

Report Exhibits - Page 001220

3

In November 2011, EO Technical issued a draft guide sheet to help work the advocacy cases. Ms. Thomas met with group manager Steve Bowling and Stephen Seok to review the triage results and guide sheet to try and figure out what to do with the cases. During this meeting, they discussed the development of an advocacy team to review the cases. Mr. Seok became coordinator of the team in December 2011.

When asked about any concerns about the development of the advocacy issues, Ms. Thomas stated that she should have raised the issue to Rob Choi, former Rulings and Agreements Director, when she was not getting timely assistance from EO Technical.

Determinations should also not have used the term Tea Party to refer to advocacy cases. They did not think about how it would look to outsiders. Tea Party was just used as a shorthand for political advocacy cases. Everyone in Determinations knew what was meant by it – ensure consistency in processing political advocacy cases.

Ms. Thomas was not reviewing suggested changes to the BOLO during this time. Managers would send changes to Steve Bowling, who would have the BOLO updated. If Mr. Bowling disagreed with an update, he would raise it to Ms. Thomas.

Ms. Thomas was not involved in the January 2012 change to the BOLO and did not approve it. Stephen Seok and Steve Bowling developed the change.

Section 501(c)(3) organizations are not informed of the 270 day standard for processing applications. The cycle time of a case begins on the control date (postmark date) and ends when the case is closed. It is a calendar day measurement.

cjm
8/9/12

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Gary Muthert, Determinations Specialist, Screener
Sharon Light, Technical Advisor, EO Director
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 15, 2012

Time: 2:45 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

Details:

26 U.S.C. § 6103 (Binder 1, pp.4-5) John Shafer, Screener
Manager, asked Mr. Muthert to complete research of the TEDS system to see if there were any 26 U.S.C. § 6103 more applications or similar entities like the 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Mr. Muthert began his § 6103 searches around March 1, 2010 and performed queries using various criteria, including Tea Party, Patriots, 9/12, and subsection (c)(4). He arranged the (c)(4) query results alphabetically and selected organizations that could be political based upon their names like 26 U.S.C. § 6103 26 U.S.C. § 6103 etc. During the first week, he identified 3-4 Tea Party organizations. Some organizations identified were § 501(c)(3) applications.

When Mr. Muthert was acting for John Shafer, he created a spreadsheet of 18 identified organizations on April 5, 2010. (Binder 1, pp. 10-11). He does not have any other documentation of the organizations he identified while researching TEDS. He continued performing searches a few times a week for 30-60 days. Once the Be On The Lookout (BOLO) listing was issued, he stopped completing searches. The BOLO never had the actual criteria used to identify the cases. Tea Party was a shorthand for anything political. He was not involved in the criteria included on the BOLO.

He identified around 30 applications during his searches. The applications were pulled out of general inventory.

AM Seidell asked about the criteria used in the EO Director's briefing paper that John Shafer provided to EO Technical. (PAG 38; Binder 1, pg. 38) Mr. Muthert responded that he probably gave Mr. Shafer the criteria. He sent an email to Mr. Shafer in March 2010 with the criteria he was using for his TEDS searches. Mr. Muthert does not have the email anymore.

Report Exhibits - Page 001222

2

Screeners complete a check sheet after reviewing each application. Mr. Muthert referred to it as a 51 sheet. He believes that a check sheet has been used for at least 5 years, and possibly 10 years. It was used prior to TEDS, but the sheet does not match the TEDS system. If the case is on TEDS, Mr. Muthert would select BOLO as the case category. He would assign the case to the correct group on TEDS. If the case is on paper, he would write BOLO on the outside of the case file. He may also select the political issues box on the check sheet and write BOLO next to it.

cjin
8/16/12

PSI-TIGTA-03-000711

Report Exhibits - Page 001223

DARRILL E. ISSA, CALIFORNIA
CHAIRMAN

DAN BURTON, INDIANA
JOHN L. MICA, FLORIDA
TODD RUSSELL PLATTIS, PENNSYLVANIA
MICHAEL R. TURNER, OHIO
PATRICK MCHEENAT, NORTH CAROLINA
JIM JOHNSON, OHIO
JASON CRAWFORD, UTAH
CONNIE HACK, FLORIDA
TIM WALSER, MICHIGAN
JAMES LAMKFOR, OREGON
JUSTIN AMARIE, MICHIGAN
JAN MARIE BLIZELLE, NEW YORK
PAUL A. COSSA, D.D.S., ARIZONA
KARL R. LAMBRADOR, OHIO
PATRICK MERRILL, PENNSYLVANIA
SCOTT INGRAM, N.D., TENNESSEE
JOE WALSH, ILLINOIS
TIMMY GOWDY, SOUTH CAROLINA
DENNIS A. ROSE, FLORIDA
FRANK C. GUNTAL, NEW HAMPSHIRE
BLAKE FAREWELL, TEXAS
MIKE KELLY, PENNSYLVANIA

LAWRENCE J. BRADY
STAFF DIRECTOR

ONE HUNDRED TWELFTH CONGRESS

Congress of the United States House of Representatives

COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND GOVERNMENT REFORM

2157 RAYBURN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING

WASHINGTON, DC 20515-6143

MANONEY 202/225-6074
MURPHY 202/225-6074
MURPHY 202/225-6081
<http://oversight.house.gov>

ELIJAH E. CLUMBERG, MARYLAND
RANKING MEMBER

EDOLPHUS TOWNES, NEW YORK
CAROLYN B. MALONEY, NEW YORK
ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON,
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
DENNIS J. KUCINICK, OHIO
JOHN F. TIERNEY, MASSACHUSETTS
WILL LACY CLAY, MISSOURI
STEPHEN F. LYNCH, MASSACHUSETTS
JIM COOPER, TENNESSEE
GERALD E. CONNOLLY, VIRGINIA
MIKE QUINLEY, ILLINOIS
DANNY K. DAVIS, ILLINOIS
BRUCE L. MURLEY, IOWA
PETER WELCH, VERMONT
JOHN A. YAMMOUTH, KENTUCKY
CHRISTOPHER E. MURPHY, CONNECTICUT
JACKIE SPEER, CALIFORNIA

June 28, 2012

The Honorable J. Russell George
Inspector General for Tax Administration
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
City Center Building
1401 H Street, N.W., Suite 469
Washington, D.C. 20005

Dear Mr. George:

Over the past several months, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) sent many organizations, operating under tax exempt status, lengthy and detailed questionnaires that many are equating to a campaign of intimidation.<sup>1</sup> While the IRS should provide appropriate scrutiny of organizations applying for tax exempt status, several experts suggest that these recent IRS questionnaires exceed appropriate scrutiny. For example, Marcus Owens, who ran the IRS's exempt organizations department for a decade, called the IRS initiative an "overreach."<sup>2</sup>

Moreover, the IRS must apply the same criteria for all organizations applying for tax exempt status. News reports, however, indicate that the IRS effort lacks balance, with conservative organizations being the target of the IRS's heightened scrutiny. Roll Call contacted several liberal groups and reported that none had received the recently-sent questionnaire:

[A] spokesman for Protect-YourCare, a 501(c)(4) set up to defend the new health care law, said the group has not received any kind of questionnaire from the IRS. Another liberal 501(c)(4) granted tax exempt status in May received only a modest six-part questionnaire.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Janie Lorber, "IRS Oversight Reignites Tea Party Ire: Agency's Already Controversial Role Is in Dispute After Questionnaires Sent to Conservative Groups," Roll Call, March 8, 2012; Susan Jones, "IRS Accused of 'Intimidation Campaign' Against Tea Party Groups," CNSNews.com, March 7, 2012.

<sup>2</sup> Janie Lorber, "IRS Oversight Reignites Tea Party Ire: Agency's Already Controversial Role Is in Dispute After Questionnaires Sent to Conservative Groups," Roll Call, March 8, 2012.

<sup>3</sup> Id.

Report Exhibits - Page 001224

The Honorable J. Russell George
June 28, 2012
Page 2

On March 8, 2012, Committee staff and Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) staff discussed potential problems with IRS's recent effort to increase scrutiny of organizations operating under 501(c)(4) status. We understand that because of our March meeting, TIGTA is conducting ongoing work to better understand this IRS initiative. We would greatly appreciate if you provided Committee staff periodic updates and a copy of TIGTA's final report on this matter.

Sincerely,

Darrell Issa
Chairman

Jim Jordan
Chairman
Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending

cc: The Honorable Elijah E. Cummings, Ranking Minority Member

The Honorable Dennis Kucinich, Ranking Minority Member
Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight, and Government Spending

INSPECTOR GENERAL
FOR TAX
ADMINISTRATION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005

July 11, 2012

The Honorable Jim Jordan
Chairman, Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs,
Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending
Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Jordan:

Thank you for your letter dated June 28, 2012, regarding concerns with the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) oversight of organizations applying for tax-exempt status. Your letter specifically mentioned questionnaires that the IRS has issued which may exceed appropriate scrutiny and a potential lack of balance in the use of criteria for reviewing organizations that are applying for tax-exempt status. We appreciate your interest in ensuring that the IRS has processes in place to effectively and fairly administer tax-exempt laws.

As stated in your letter, after our meeting with the Committee staff, our Office of Audit recently began work on this issue. We would be happy to provide a status update to the Subcommittee staff and provide a copy of our interim and final reports on the matter when they are issued.

Please contact me should you have any questions regarding this matter, or have your staff contact Mr. Matthew Sulphen, Counselor to the Inspector General, at (202) 927-7266.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "J. Russell George".

J. Russell George
Inspector General

Identical letter sent to:

The Honorable Darrell Issa
Chairman, Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform

INSPECTOR GENERAL
FOR TAX
ADMINISTRATION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20048

July 11, 2012

The Honorable Darrell Issa
Chairman, Committee on Oversight
and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Issa:

Thank you for your letter dated June 28, 2012, regarding concerns with the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) oversight of organizations applying for tax-exempt status. Your letter specifically mentioned questionnaires that the IRS has issued which may exceed appropriate scrutiny and a potential lack of balance in the use of criteria for reviewing organizations that are applying for tax-exempt status. We appreciate your interest in ensuring that the IRS has processes in place to effectively and fairly administer tax-exempt laws.

As stated in your letter, after our meeting with the Committee staff, our Office of Audit recently began work on this issue. We would be happy to provide a status update to the Subcommittee staff and provide a copy of our interim and final reports on the matter when they are issued.

Please contact me should you have any questions regarding this matter, or have your staff contact Mr. Matthew Sulphen, Counselor to the Inspector General, at (202) 927-7266.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "J. Russell George".

J. Russell George
Inspector General

Identical letter sent to:

The Honorable Jim Jordan
Chairman, Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs,
Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending

EO Email Review

16,691 Total Email Messages
5,617 Total Hits in 2,277 Emails/Documents

JOSEPH R. HERR - 3048 Emails

Keywords - Hits
Tea - 910
Patriots - 39
9/12 - 18
(c)(4) - 533

ELIZABETH L. HOFACRE - 3692 Emails

Keywords - Hits
Tea - 857
Patriots - 19
9/12 - 39
(c)(4) - 496

GARY A. MUTHERT - 281

Keywords - Hits
Tea - 323
Patriots - 1
9/12 - 2
(c)(4) - 476

JOHN H. SHAFER - 2593 Emails

Keywords - Hits
Tea - 392
Patriots - 19
9/12 - 16
(c)(4) - 233

CINDY M. THOMAS - 7077 Emails

Keywords - Hits
Tea - 872
Patriots - 6
9/12 - 42
(c)(4) - 324

Determinations Process Planning

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
David Fish, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: May 17, 2012

Time: 10:30 am

Subject: Details about the development of the June 2011 briefing document regarding the advocacy issue

---

Details:

We received a briefing document on May 16th that was provided to the EO Director as background for a meeting in June 2011 to discuss the emerging advocacy issue. This briefing paper stated that:

- EOD Screening has identified an increase in the number of (c)(3) and (c)(4) applications where organizations are advocating on issues related to government spending, taxes and similar matters. Often there is possible political intervention or excessive lobbying.
- EOD Screening identified this type of case as an emerging issue and began sending cases to a specific group if they meet any of the following criteria:
  - o "Tea Party," "Patriots" or "9/12 Project" is referenced in the case file
  - o Issues include government spending, government debt or taxes
  - o Education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live"
  - o Statements in the case file criticize how the country is being run
- Over 100 cases have been identified so far, a mix of (c)(3)s and (c)(4)s. Before this was identified as an emerging issue, two (c)(4) applications were approved. PA6.u

The specific criteria used to identify these types of cases concerned us because it included direct references to specific organizations and beliefs. As a result, we requested additional information from Ms. Paz. She suggested a meeting.

Report Exhibits - Page 001229

2

The briefing was developed by Tax Law Specialists in EO Technical and EO Guidance. Justin Lowe, EO Guidance, was the primary author. It was reviewed by Mike Seto, Acting Manager, EO Technical.

The criteria included in the briefing was developed by the manager of the emerging issues group in Cincinnati assigned to advocacy at the time the issue was identified (Group 7825) along with members from his group. The Be On The Lookout (BOLO) spreadsheet (PA6.v) included this criteria as an emerging issue when EO Determinations officially began using it in August 2010. Prior to the BOLO, emerging issues were communicated through emails. The emerging issue was transferred to Group 7822 in August 2010, and this group is still responsible today.

During the EO Director briefing in June 2011, concerns were raised over the language of the criteria. The Determinations Unit in Cincinnati was asked to revise the wording and the BOLO was updated in July 2011. The updated wording included lobbying, which § 501(c)(4) organizations are allowed to do without any limits. Ms. Paz will provide us a copy of this version of the BOLO. Many applications were being identified for the advocacy issue inappropriately based upon this new criteria. The BOLO was again updated to focus on political advocacy. (Note: Ms. Paz said that they were still unhappy with the wording of the criteria and are trying to improve it).

Initially, all the advocacy cases were worked by one person. In December 2011, a team was set up to review advocacy cases with an agent from each Determinations group. This was done to help spread knowledge of the area to all Determination groups. EO also provided additional contacts in EO Headquarters for the team working advocacy issues. Justin Lowe (Guidance) and Hilary Goehausen (Technical) were to help the team with any issues.

I asked for a breakdown of who were the executives during this whole process.

Holly Paz was Acting EO Technical in February 2010. She went on maternity leave until June 2010, when she resumed the acting position.

Rob Choi was Director, Rulings and Agreements until December 2010 (retired)

Holly Paz was Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements from January 2011 through September 2011.

David Fish was Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements from October 2011 through January 2012.

Holly Paz again acted as Director, Rulings and Agreements beginning in February 2012 until she was given the position permanently.

AM Seidell then turned to our concerns with the nature of the criteria in the briefing paper. Based upon this criteria, it appears the complaints being made in the media by certain groups are valid. In addition, it appears to contradict the testimony of the Commissioner before Congress. Ms. Paz agreed that the initial criteria was not a good way to identify advocacy cases. However, it is common to refer to certain groups by name for identification purposes in Determinations. For example, the "Occupy" and (b)(3);28 (b)(3);28 groups are listed specifically on the BOLO.

Report Exhibits - Page 001230

3

Ms. Paz indicated that even with this criteria, any questionable political activity by an organization would have still been identified by the screeners and forwarded to the advocacy group. They found no evidence of bias in the identification process of advocacy cases. The wording of the criteria was poor, but there was no malice.

AM Seidell explained that we will next discuss this issue with our Director. More than likely, an email will be sent to raise the issue immediately and get it on the table for discussion. We will be asking for more details on the events during the development of the advocacy issue and the BOLO.

cjm
5/2/12

Report Exhibits - Page 001231

Document: EO Director's responses to 3 questions asked by Director Paterson.

Purpose: To document the responses of the EO Director regarding the criteria for identifying advocacy cases.

Source: Lois Lerner, EO Director

1. To the best of your knowledge, did any individual or organization outside the IRS influence the creation of criteria targeting applications for tax exemption that mention: 1) the "Tea Party," "Patriots," or the "9/12 Project", 2) government spending, government debt or taxes, 3) education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live", or 4) criticizing how the country is being run?

No. To the best of my knowledge, no individual or organization outside the IRS influenced the creation of these criteria.

2. To the best of your knowledge, did IRS or Tax Exempt and Government Entities Division management sanction the use of criteria targeting applications for tax exemption that mention: 1) the "Tea Party," "Patriots," or the "9/12 Project", 2) government spending, government debt or taxes, 3) education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live", or 4) criticizing how the country is being run?

3. When did you become aware the IRS was targeting applications for tax exemption that mention: 1) the "Tea Party," "Patriots," or the "9/12 Project", 2) government spending, government debt or taxes, 3) education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live", or 4) criticizing how the country is being run?

In early 2010, EO Determinations witnessed an uptick in the number of applications for § 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4) status that contained indicators of potentially significant amounts of political campaign intervention ("advocacy organizations"). EO Determinations first became aware of this uptick in organizations that had been receiving media attention for purportedly seeking classification as § 501(c)(4) social welfare organizations but operating like § 527 political organizations. He alerted his manager of the potential "emerging issue."

26 U.S.C. § 5103

To ensure consistent treatment of applications, EO Determinations had long been alerting its specialists to emerging issues by sending emails describing particular issues or factual situations warranting additional review or coordinated processing. Because it was difficult to keep track of all of these separate email alerts, EO Determinations staff requested a consolidated list of all such alerts. EO Determinations was developing the Be On the Lookout (BOLO) list in early 2010. The BOLO, which is an Excel spreadsheet, provides a centralized source of regularly updated information to EO Determinations specialists about potentially abusive organizations or fraud issues, issues and cases requiring coordinated processing, emerging issues and issues for which to watch. The BOLO currently includes four tabs: (1) Potential Abusive, (2) Emerging Issues, (3) Coordinated Processing, and (4) Watch List.

Report Exhibits - Page 001232

The first BOLO list contained the following entry on the Emerging Issues tab: "These cases involve various local organizations in the Tea Party movement are applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4) [sic]." That description was added to the BOLO to help specialists identify cases involving potentially significant political campaign intervention for assignment to a particular Determinations group so that they could be consistently processed in accordance with advice provided by EO Technical. The language used on the BOLO was selected by Determinations specialists with the involvement of a front-line manager in EO Determinations. At this time, the language was not reviewed or approved by executive management.

As the number of advocacy cases grew, the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements wanted to ensure that EO Determinations was not being over-inclusive in identifying such cases (including organizations that were solely engaged in lobbying or policy education with no apparent political campaign intervention). In addition, in light of the diversity of applications selected under this "tea party" label (e.g., some had "tea party" in their name but others did not, some stated that they were affiliated with the "tea party" movement while others stated they were affiliated with the Democratic or Republican party, etc.), the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements sought clarification as to the criteria being used to identify these cases. In preparation for briefing me, the Acting Director, EO Rulings & Agreements asked the EO Determinations Program Manager what criteria Determinations was using to determine whether a case was a "tea party" case. Because the BOLO only contained a brief reference to "Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4)" in June 2011, the EO Determinations Program Manager asked the manager of the screening group what criteria were being used to label "tea party" cases ("Do the applications specify/state 'tea party'? If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?"). The manager of the screening group responded that, "The following are issues that could indicate a case to be considered a potential 'tea party' case and sent to Group 7822 for secondary screening. 1. 'Tea Party', 'Patriots' or '9/12 Project' is referenced in the case file. 2. Issues include government spending, government debt and taxes. 3. Educate the public through advocacy/legislative activities to make America a better place to live. 4. Statements in the case file that are critical of the how the country is being run."

Report Exhibits - Page 001233

As TIGTA's interviews with EO Determinations employees revealed, the BOLO description and the above-referenced list of criteria used by EO Determinations to determine which cases fell under the BOLO description were their shorthand way of referring to the group of advocacy cases rather than targeting any particular group. Applications that did not contain these terms, but that contained indicators of potentially significant political campaign intervention, were also referred to the group assigned to work such cases.

I first became aware that the BOLO referenced "tea party" organizations and EO Determinations was using the above criteria to determine what organizations met that description when I was briefed on these cases on June 29, 2011. I immediately directed that the BOLO be revised to eliminate the reference to "tea party" organizations and refer instead more generally to advocacy organizations. The BOLO was revised on July 11, 2011; the "Issue Name" was changed from "Tea Party" to "Advocacy Orgs", and the "Issue Description" was changed to "Organizations involved with political, lobbying, or advocacy for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4)."

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] They were trying to edit the description to avoid capturing these organizations. For my direction, the BOLO was updated on May 17, 2012. The separate entries for Occupy groups and [REDACTED] were deleted and the advocacy organization description was revised to read, "501(c)(3), 501(c)(4), 501(c)(6), and 501(c)(29) organizations with indicators of significant amounts of political campaign intervention (raising questions as to exempt purpose and/or expose private benefit). Note: advocacy action type issues (e.g., lobbying) that are currently listed on the Case Assignment Guide (CAG) do not meet this criteria."

At the same time that I directed the BOLO be revised, I also directed the Acting Director of EO Rulings & Agreements to implement procedures for updating the

Report Exhibits - Page 001234

BOLC that included executive-level approval. On May 17, 2012, the Acting Director of EO Rulings & Agreements issued a memorandum that set forth such procedures, which require that all additions and changes to the BOLC be approved by the manager of the emerging issues coordinator, the EO Determinations Program Manager, and the Director, Rulings & Agreements.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective 1A

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Stephen Seok, Senior Agent
Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: August 7, 2012

Time: 1:00 pm

Subject: Information on involvement in the advocacy emerging issue for timeline

---

Details:

In December 2011, Mr. Seok was transferred to Group 7822. The group manager, Steve Bowling, asked him to lead the advocacy team. He performed the following activities as team coordinator:

- Assigning cases to team members
- Holding meetings with the team
- Elevating issues/questions to group manager
- Discussing case development with team members
- Reviewing development letters and providing feedback
- Providing help to team if able; if not forward issue to group manager
- Working own advocacy bases
- Set up a small committee of advocacy team members to develop template questions for development letters

Template questions were developed with the aid of the guidance from EO Technical as well as development of their own questions. Two other advocacy team members and Mr. Seok developed the template questions. Once completed Mr. Seok sent the template questions to Mr. Bowling for review. The questions then were forwarded to Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, for review. This occurred in February/March 2012. (W/P Binder 1, pg. 94-107) The team also developed a template development letter and forwarded it to the group manager, but it was never used.

The tracking sheet was already in use when Mr. Seok became coordinator of the advocacy team. It would be populated with new cases after the secondary screening. Mr. Bowling would sign off the case as an approved advocacy case before it was added to the tracking sheet by Mr. Seok. He would document this secondary screening in the Case Chronology Record. If the case was not an advocacy case, it would be put back into general inventory.

Report Exhibits - Page 001236

2

Mr. Seok prepared status reports when he felt it was necessary, or when Mr. Bowling requested one. He had two team meetings during his time as coordinator. He only has meeting minutes for one of them. (w/p Binder 1, pg. 110)

When Mr. Seok took over as coordinator, Mr. Bell had 26 U.S.C. § 5103. The rest of the open cases were begun by Ms. Hofacre. Ms. Hofacre had sent development letters to the applicants. Most of the advocacy inventory was not in development when Mr. Seok took over. They were on hold while Mr. Bell was coordinator. The cases were started to be developed when the EO Technical guidance was received in November 2011.

Mr. Seok does not have any concerns with how the cases were processed. He always referred to the cases as advocacy cases.

He had input to the January 2012 BOLO criteria change. It was discussed during a meeting. The BOLO changes as issues arise during case reviews. Other types of cases may be identified as participating in political activities. For example, it started with Tea Party cases, but eventually included Occupy cases.

As of May 2012, Mr. Seok is no longer working on the advocacy cases.

He was not influenced by anyone outside the IRS when developing the BOLO criteria for identifying advocacy cases.

cjm
8/9/12

MEMORANDUM OF DISCUSSION
Audit # 201210022

DATE: 01/16/2013

TIME: 3:15-4:15 PM

SUBJECT/PURPOSE: Overall Concerns with Case Review Results

PRESENT: Lois Lerner Exempt Organizations (EO) function Director
Holly Paz EO function Rulings and Agreements Director
Troy Paterson TIGTA

SOURCE: Teleconference

NOTE: Prior to the meeting, Lois stated that she wanted to have a high-level meeting about case review results prior to her staff and the TIGTA audit team discussing the cases in detail. The following are highlights of the conversation.

- Lois: Lois stated she wanted to meet with me personally before meeting on the individual cases we provided to the IRS. Lois said that the EO function does not have a lot of issues with the shorter list that we gave the EO function of cases that did not go to the advocacy group and TIGTA believes should have. However, Lois said the EO function is having issues with the larger list of cases that went to the advocacy group and TIGTA believes should not have gone to the advocacy group. She stated she was not sure how many the EO function has reviewed so far. However, she believed it was around 60. She stated that the EO function only agreed with one case so far. Lois stated that TIGTA seems to be focused solely on what the application explicitly says regarding political campaign intervention. However, Lois stated that the EO function does not think it can look only at what an organization is calling "political campaign intervention". Many of the applications the IRS receives are not prepared by tax professionals and the preparers do not have a lot of experience with what information should be provided and may not understand the definition of "political campaign intervention" versus the definition of "issue advocacy" or what constitutes lobbying. Therefore, Lois stated that the EO function believes it must do due diligence to determine if what is being stated in the application is actually the case. For example, if an organization states that it will be doing a small amount of "political campaign intervention" and a lot of advocacy work, the EO function may look at the advocacy work and determine that it believes that work to be "political campaign intervention". Therefore, the EO function cannot just conduct a cursory review of what is on the application. Instead, it needs to know specifically what an organization is doing or plans to do. Troy: I stated that it was my understanding that the criteria were changed in 2011 to include political campaign intervention, lobbying, and advocacy. However, it had to be changed again because too many applications were going to the advocacy group. Lois: Lois stated that she wanted to clarify that. New criteria were put into place by National Office in July 2011. Unbeknownst to Lois and Holly, Lois stated the criteria were changed by EO function staff in Cincinnati because they believed the criteria were too broad. Lois stated that was not her view. Lois stated the criteria have since changed and the EO function has put controls in place to ensure it is not changed again without management knowing about it. Lois stated the EO function is focusing on political campaign intervention, but it must review applications closely to ensure that what new organizations are doing or plan to do is actually what it states on the application. In other words, we erred on the side of caution.
- Lois: Lois stated that there is often a fine line between what is and is not political campaign intervention. For example, Lois referred to the criteria we used in the case review regarding nonpartisan candidate forums/debates. Organizations may state in the application that they will conduct nonpartisan candidate forums, but we may find out that only party is invited. In that case, it would be political campaign intervention. Lois stated that it really came down to the facts and circumstances of each case. Lois then stated that she and Holly would look at the case review criteria we provided more closely, but upon glancing at the criteria, she had a few concerns. First, she asked where we got the criteria. I responded that the criteria regarding political campaign intervention came from a guide that was prepared by the EO function, which was based on revenue rulings. Second, she wanted to know where we came up with the 35 percent figure. I stated that we needed some figure to guide our case reviews, but that we were aware that no figure is stated in the statute. Lois stated that the EO function could not agree with the 35 percent figure, or any figure for that matter. She stated that the IRS has been vocal in the press that the figure being thrown around about keeping your political activities at 49 percent is wrong. She stated that the statute only says "primary purpose". It does not define primary purpose as a particular percentage of activity or dollars spent. I stated that TIGTA would not be publishing that figure in the report, but we needed some type of guidepost to help our case reviewers spot something that might potentially involve "significant" political campaign intervention. Lois stated that, again, the EO function might read an application that states that political campaign intervention involved 10 percent of an organization's activities, but would perform its own work to determine if activities the organization was not counting as political campaign intervention should be. Third, Lois asked about the criteria involving future activities. I stated that we had heard recommendations from the EO function that it could send cases to the ROO for future follow-up. Therefore, we were thinking that the IRS could not review something the organization states it "may" do in the future. Lois stated that she disagreed. She stated that most applications are for organizations that are not currently operating. Therefore, if the EO function did not review planned activities, most of its work would go away.

Report Exhibits - Page 001238

- Lois: Lois stated that the determinations unit is the best place to catch things before they go away. Examinations general happen after acts have already been committed and Lois stated that the IRS doesn't have the resources to be examining all the tax-exempt organizations that are out there. Her view is that the determinations process should be very detailed so the administrative record includes a very specific list of what the IRS agreed the organization can do now and in the future. In the future, if the organization does the opposite of what it said it would do, the EO function can retroactively revoke the organization to the date of the determination. If the administrative record is silent on a particular point, the EO function can only revoke the tax-exempt status of the organization going forward. Unfortunately, sometimes the EO function makes a mistake and states that it is permissible for a tax-exempt organization to do something. When the EO function finds that something was done wrong and the administrative record for the determination states the organization could do a specific activity, we do not penalize the organization. It was the EO function's mistake.
- Troy: I stated that I understood the points that Lois and Holly had made and I would need to consider them in light of the results of further discussions on the case review. Then, TIGTA will need to state whether it agrees, partially agrees, or fully disagrees with the IRS's views on our case reviews. Lois: Lois stated that she understood the difficulty TIGTA faces because this is one of the more complicated areas that the EO function must administer.
- Troy: I then stated I was still concerned that if the criteria is to look at any case that mentions advocacy, lobbying, or politics that most cases (specifically section 501(c)(4) cases) would go to the advocacy group and it would be overwhelmed. Lois: Lois stated that she might be overstating the IRS's view a bit. She stated that she believed that when TIGTA and IRS stated discussing specific cases that there would be more to it. For example, she believed that while an organization may specifically state that it was not or would not be conducting political campaign intervention, another part of the organization's package would state that the organization planned to put up election signs on its grounds. That could very well be political campaign intervention. Therefore, she thought that we would see contradictions in the application were a main reason why the EO function was disagreeing with TIGTA's results. Troy: I stated that TIGTA would really like to know about these contradictions. TIGTA reviewed more than just check boxes about whether political campaign intervention was occurring and we may have overlooked something. Lois: Lois asked Holly to add a column to the spreadsheet results TIGTA had provided with the reasons the IRS did not agree. Lois then asked if TIGTA could meet on Friday. I stated that we could. Therefore, Lois asked that Holly put this information together and get it to us before Friday so that we could use the document to guide the meeting. Lois stated that she would be present for the initial meeting on Friday due to the sensitivity of the issues being discussed. I stated that I would be in attendance also.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt
Status Involving Political Activity
Objective IIIC

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements
Judy Kindell, Senior Technical Advisor
Hilary Goehausen, EO Technical Troy Paterson, Audit Director
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: January 25, 2013

Time: 11:30 am

Subject: EO comments on exception cases

---

Details:

Ms. Paz stated that they have gone through a "chunk" of cases and wanted to discuss some issues with us. The following is the list of cases discussed and the issues involved.

IIIC Case exceptions that EO does not agree with:

26 U.S.C. § 6103

|  |
|--|
|  |
|--|

Report Exhibits - Page 001240

2

Ms. Paz then went through a few common issues that they saw during the case reviews completed so far.

- Candidates for office are on the Board of Directors. We may have handled this situation inconsistently with the IIIA review.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

- 501(c)(3) cases have a different threshold for political intervention.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

- 501(c)(3) organizations with a related 501(c)(4) organization – resource sharing agreement. Applications state separate activities, but need to look at the facts and circumstances.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Some applications have "code words" that raise a red flag. They include "mobilizing people", "increase accountability of government officials" and "leadership training". When organizations that use these types of vague descriptions are later audited, EO usually finds problems. Ms. Kindell stated that leadership training ends up being candidate training.

26 U.S.C. § 6103

26 U.S.C. § 6103

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Director Paterson commented that he thought if the activity was only a possibility in the future, that the bucketing recommended a referral to the ROO. Ms. Kindell agreed. If the case looks ok with only 501(c)(4) activities, but there may be some political intervention in the future, a ROO referral would be prepared. Some organizations are engaged in advocacy that does not violate election law, but may violate tax law. The organizations do not know the difference.

The conversation turned to what is next for this review. EO will send us their comments on the first 60 cases reviewed to date on Monday. We will go through them and select cases to discuss further with EO. AM Seidell and myself will go to DC to meet with EO next Thursday.

Director Paterson mentioned that we are on a tight timeline. TIGTA is supposed to brief the Hill in March, and we would like to provide EO with a draft copy of the report prior to the meeting. Ms. Paz appreciated the opportunity to review the report prior to the briefing.

AM Seidell asked if the criteria being used to review the exceptions is any advocacy. Ms. Paz stated that since there is no percentage test for the level of allowable political intervention, EO needs to look to see if what the organization is calling general advocacy is in fact political intervention. This requires additional information in many cases.

Director Paterson asked if EO agreed with any IIIC exceptions. Ms. Paz responded a couple.

Report Exhibits - Page 001241

Review of Internal Revenue Service's Process for Reviewing Applications for Tax Exemption by Potential 501(c)(4)-(6) Organizations Audit # 201210022

Memorandum of Discussion

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Participants: Cincinnati Submission Processing Center Walkthrough

Holly Paz, Acting Director, Rulings and Agreements (R&A) Office, Exempt Organizations (EO) Function, Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Cindy Thomas, Program Manager, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Sherry Whitaker, Manager, Submission Processing Programs, Business Systems Planning (BSP), TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Carol McCorkle, Program Manager, Receipt & Control Operations, Cincinnati Submission Processing, Wage and Investment (W&I) Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Jennifer Jett, Program Analyst, Operations Maintenance & Support, BSP Office, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Sharon Lasley, Program Analyst, Operations Maintenance & Support, BSP Office, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

EO Determination Unit -- John Weld Peck Federal Building

Holly Paz, Acting Director, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Cindy Thomas, Program Manager, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Ron Bell, Internal Revenue Agent, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Tyler Chumney, Acting Group Manager, Group 7822, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

John Shafer, Group Manager, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Nancy Heagney, Internal Revenue Agent, Determinations Unit, R&A Office, EO Function, TE/GE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Report Exhibits - Page 001242

— = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Tom Seidell, Audit Manager, TE/GE / Human Capital Programs, Management Services and Exempt Organizations (MSE) Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Cheryl Medina, Lead Auditor, TE/GE / Human Capital Programs, MSE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Michael McGovern, Auditor, TE/GE / Human Capital Programs, MSE Division

Telephone #: [REDACTED]

Date: May 1, 2012

Time: 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. Cincinnati Submission Processing Center
10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. John W. Peck Federal Building

Locations: Cincinnati Submission Processing Center
John W. Peck Federal Building (550 Main Street, Cincinnati, OH)

Purpose: To conduct a walkthrough to obtain an understanding of how the EO function's determination process operates when reviewing applications for tax exemption by potential 501(c)(4)-(6) organizations.

Details of Discussion

Note: Our walkthrough began at the Cincinnati Submissions Processing Center (CSPC) where the determination applications are received, and then we returned to the John W. Peck Federal Building to resume discussions related to the EO Determination Unit's processing activities related to the application packages.

CSPC Walkthrough

At the start of the CSPC walkthrough Ms. Whitaker provided the attendees a folder containing a number of documents to assist with understanding the processing of applications at the CSPC. These documents consisted of:

- A flowchart depicting TEDS front-end processing of EO determination applications.
- The projected and actual receipts and hours for EO determination applications and user fees for Fiscal Years 2011 through 2013.
- The number of EO and EP determination applications received at CSPC for FYs 2009 to 2012.
- An Application Identification Sheet (AIS), which enables the IRS to associate the additional correspondence or documents requested by the IRS with the organization's application case file to facilitate processing of the application.
- Form 8718, User Fee for Exempt Organization Determination Letter Request.
- Copy of blank Form 1023, Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Report Exhibits - Page 001243

Ms. Whitaker indicated that the process described below is the same for the processing of both Forms 1023 and 1024.

Guidelines for Processing Determination Applications and User Fees

Internal Revenue Manual (IRM) 3.45.1 contains the procedures for the processing of Employee Plan (EP) and EO determination applications and user fees.

Date Stamping of Determination Application

The postmark and IRS received dates are stamped on the bottom, front page of the determination application after the envelope containing the EO determination application is opened. Also, a Document Locator Number (DLN) is stamped on the determination application as well as Form 8718, User Fee for Exempt Organization Determination Letter Request. Applications are sorted by Form and then by remittance or non-remittance. Any remittances received are attached to the front of the package.

Document Preparation of Application Package

Document preparation entails verifying that all required information is available on the application. All notations/edits recorded during the document preparation phase are denoted in red ink. If any information is missing, research is completed to try and find it. If a payment voucher is not completed, one will be prepared and stamped with "Prepared by IRS" at the bottom.

The Power of Attorney (POA) form is also reviewed during the document preparation phase. If the POA is invalid, then the attorney does not receive any correspondence from the IRS related to the determination application. This POA is not added to the Centralized Authorization File.

Input of Application to LINUS Versus TEDS

IRM 3.45.1 identifies the criteria about whether a determination application package should be input to LINUS or TEDS. For instance, if an application contains an insufficient user fee or an outdated (obsolete) application is used to request a determination for tax-exempt status, then these types of circumstances will result in the application package being input to LINUS; otherwise, the application documents normally will be scanned into TEDS.

If an outdated (obsolete) determination application is received, the CSPC does not have the legal authority to reject the application. In this type of situation, the application is input to LINUS at the CSPC and a notice generated via LINUS. The generated notice is sent to the EO Determination Unit in downtown Cincinnati for mailing. If a new application is submitted to the Determination Unit as a result of the notice, then the application package is sent to the CSPC for initial processing.

CRX is the system used to generate acknowledgement letters for applications that have been input to TEDS.

Report Exhibits - Page 001244

Input of Determination Application User Fee into LINUS

Each application package is placed in a tub and routed to the EP/EO Determination User Fee Unit for processing of the remittance. Each tub contains about 30 application packages. The user fee, EIN, and organization name is input (data transcription) to LINUS. Form 8718, User Fee for Exempt Organization Determination Letter Request, should be included by the organization with each Form 1024 application. The Form 1023 application includes a payment voucher, so a separate form is not needed.

Scanning of Application into TEDS

After data entry of the applicable payment information into LINUS, the application package is placed in a cart for scanning into TEDS. The application packages awaiting scanning are batched in groups of five, with the earliest receipt date first. A "separator sheet" is used to segregate the various types of documents enclosed in the application package. If unscannable documentation is received with the determination application, such as a hard copy book or disk, then a checksheet is prepared and a note is written indicating the nature of the document that could not be scanned. The checksheet containing the notation is scanned, so that the determination specialist will be aware that the unscannable documentation is available. The separator sheets within each application package are not removed after scanning has been completed. A separator sheet is also placed between the batches when they are in the cart awaiting scanning.

A sign-out sheet is completed before removing a batch from the cart prior to scanning into TEDS. If the applicant establishes that the application merits expedite processing, or there are indications that it is a potential expedite, then it is flagged as an expedite in TEDS.

We were informed that amendments and foundation follow-up cases have not been input to TEDS. These cases are filed at the Federal Records Center.

As the application is being scanned, the employee can view the documents to look for any errors like a crooked image.

Data Completion

About 90 percent of available Form 1023 information is transcribed using the scanned documents displayed on the TEDS screen. This transcription is performed so that applicable information can be posted to the Master File.

If there is a problem with the application during the data completion stage, then the case is systemically sent to a classifier for research. Once resolved, the case is sent back systemically to complete the data transcription process.

In some instances TEDS will flag a document within the application package for a "manual ID" (manual review) because TEDS cannot properly read the scanned document to determine whether all required line items have been completed. For example, if there is a blank page as part of the scanned image, TEDS will flag it for human review. The employee will delete these pages.

Data Verification

A different employee from the one who completed the data transcription will verify the information. During the verification stage manual edit checks are performed for certain data originally transcribed during the Data Completion stage (e.g., DLN, postmark, and IRS received dates). The data verification is performed by manually inputting specific fields (EIN and DLN) to ensure it matches with what the initial transcriber input. This is referred to as a double-blind. Other transcribed fields are visually verified by comparing them to the scanned image of the application. This process is referred to as "double verification."

Processing Timeframes

Data completion and verification, including processing of the determination application payment, should be completed within six workdays. The application payment should be deposited within 72 hours.

Processing of Forms 1023 should be completed within 270 days from the postmark date. This benchmark is a statutory requirement of the Internal Revenue Code. The applicant can take legal action if a determination is not made within this timeframe.

Processing of Requested Supplemental Information

If a determination specialist requests additional information from an organization for an application that has already been input to TEDS, then the requested information should be sent by the organization directly to the CSPC where the documentation will be scanned, assuming the organization properly follows the mailing directions associated with the request for additional information. However, if the organization does not properly follow the mailing directions, but instead sends the requested documentation directly to the EO Determination Unit in Cincinnati, then the determination specialist will prepare an Additional Document Filing (ADF) sheet and send the received documentation to the CSPC for scanning. If one of the EO Determination field offices (e.g., Laguna Niguel) receives the organization's response to the request for additional information, then the additional documentation that is received is not scanned until case closure.

Responses to additional information requests can also be faxed to either the agent or CSPC. If the case is being worked on paper, then the additional information will not be scanned into TEDS.

Agents should print and include an Additional Information Sheet (AIS) with all additional information requests. This will have a barcode on it to help associate the documentation with the original application. Many times, the responder does not include the AIS with the additional information. If so, one will be printed and scanned into TEDS along with the additional documentation.

EO Determination Unit Processing Activities

Screening of EO Determination Applications

Most of the screeners are Grade 12, but there are also 3 Grade 13 screeners. The purpose of the screening process is to determine if the application package is complete to enable a determination about qualification for tax-exempt status. There is a checklist used during the screening process. A copy of the checklist will be provided to us.

On average about 35 percent of daily screened cases are closed on merit (i.e., sufficient information is available to make a determination). About 20 percent of daily screened cases require full development. The remaining 45 percent of daily screened cases consist of Accelerated and Intermediate Processing cases, both of which relate to applications that require research, clarifying minor procedural information, and/or securing missing items needed to make an application substantially complete before approving exemption.

A demonstration was provided using an actual Form 1023 application about how TEDS documents are screened. During this demonstration we were informed that individuals listed in Part V of Form 1023 are researched / queried on the Terrorist Listing during the screening process. Other things checked are the fundraising activities, incorporating date and the BOLO listing of emerging issues. The amount of contributions is also checked to ensure the correct user fee was paid. Under $10,000 in contributions results in a lower fee.

A secondary screening is conducted for certain types of cases, such as credit counseling and emerging issues. Mr. Chumney's group has been assigned responsibility for the screening of auto revocations and emerging issues. A case can be closed on merit during secondary screening.

At the conclusion of secondary screening a chronology entry is added to the Case Chronology Record (CCR) by the screener indicating the actions taken. Also, the case is updated to "74PC" status by the screener, so that the case file is systemically sent to the manager for review if it is ready to close.

As an aside, it was mentioned that non-disclosable documents, such as the CCR, are placed on the left, inside cover of the case file.

BOLO (Be on the Lookout) Spreadsheet

The BOLO spreadsheet, which is used throughout the determination process, is comprised of four worksheets: Watch List, Coordinated Processing, Emerging Issues, and Potential Abusive Transactions. Applications with issues that fall into one of these four categories are considered "specialty type cases." There are currently informal guidelines for the handling of these types of cases. The informal guidelines are in the process of being incorporated into the IRM. When a specialty type case is identified, a referral is sent to the appropriate group that has experience with the particular type of specialty case issue. Further action is suspended on the determination application until a response is received about how to proceed from the group that was referred the specialty case. A referral form is being developed.

Full Case Development Process

Report Exhibits - Page 001247

TEDS/EDS Status Code 51 denotes an unassigned case requiring full development; whereas, TEDS/EDS Status Code 52 denotes an assigned case requiring full development.

We were provided a handout of an actual Form 1024 application, including EO Letter 1312 (a.k.a., development letter for EO applications) that requested additional information from the organization to make a determination about the application for tax exempt status. Mr. Bell discussed his rationale (basis) for requesting each of the additional information items requested in Letter 1312. This discussion was very insightful and allowed us to clearly understand the basis for requesting each additional item of information from the applicant as a result of statements in the application that conflicted with researched information posted on the organization's website.

Audit Manager Seidell asked why it would be necessary for a determination specialist to request the names of an organization's contributors (several 501(c)(4) Tea Party organizations have indicated that the IRS is requesting contributor names as part of the determination process). Mr. Shafer responded that if an organization is receiving substantial funds from a candidate or Section 527 political organization, it could be an indicator that the organization is not meeting its primary operational purpose, adding that it "boils down to facts and circumstances in each case." The requirements of any grants received could also affect the determination decision. Mr. Shafer commented that an organization could expend most of its funds on political activities and still qualify as a (c)(4), adding that the political activities test is not limited to the dollars expended, but also includes an assessment of the nature of the organization's activities.

Future Year Follow-Up by Review of Operations (ROO)

Some approved determination applications are sent to the ROO function for future year follow-up to ensure that the organization is complying with its exempt purpose if there are some indicators / issues that the determination specialist deems warrant monitoring (follow-up) in future years once the organization has been operating for a reasonable period of time.

Preparer: Mike McGovern 05/03/2012

** AUDIT LOG Purpose – Capture Key Events ***

— = Redacted by the Permanent
 Subcommittee on Investigations

TIGTA OA: Process for Reviewing Applications for Tax Exemption
 Audit Code: 2012-10-022

| Date        | Initials | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 3/29/12     | CJM      | Director Paterson issued the following email to Legislative Affairs informing them of our audit: Joel, This e-mail is to inform you of an audit we plan to conduct of the IRS's process for reviewing applications for tax exemption by potential section 501(c)(4), 501(c)(5), and 501(c)(6) organizations, which will be included in our Fiscal Year 2013 Annual Audit Plan. Currently, we do not have an associated audit number. Once we receive a number, I will provide it to you. To develop an understanding of the controls in the area, we will be conducting a limited amount of planning to develop the appropriate scope for this audit. We will follow the established process of coordinating interviews and requests through the appropriate points of contact within the Tax Exempt and Government Entities Division's Exempt Organizations function. Once we have completed our planning, we will prepare and issue an engagement letter. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact me or the research team mentioned below. Troy Paterson       Audit Director       Phone: [REDACTED]       e-mail: troy.paterson@tigta.treas.gov Tom Seidell       Audit Manager       Phone: [REDACTED]       e-mail: thomas.seidell@tigta.treas.gov Cheryl Medina       Lead Auditor       Phone: [REDACTED]       e-mail: cheryl.medina@tigta.treas.gov |
| 4/30-5/2/12 | CJM      | AM Seidell and Auditors McGovern and Medina visited Cincinnati, OH for a walkthrough of the application process and to obtain information on the availability of data. PA1a PA1c PA1I                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 5/3/12      | CJM      | Requested data from TEDS and EDS to assist in planning: Hi Cindy, We would like to request some data from both the TEDS and EDS systems.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

Report Exhibits - Page 001249

| Date | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|      |        | We will refine are requests later; but for now we would like to familiarize ourselves with what is available using the criteria below. All the requested fields may not be available on one or both systems. From TEDS -- four Excel spreadsheets <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-We would like one spreadsheet with the total number of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) open cases, broken out by status code.</li> <li>-We would like one spreadsheet with the total number of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) closed cases beginning July 1, 2010 through the present, broken out by status code.</li> <li>-We would like a detailed listing of open Section 501(c)(4) cases with the following fields:</li> </ul>            TEDS Case Number           EDS Case Number           EIN           Case Type "I" - Initial           Subsection "04"           Current Status Code           Current Status Date           Postmark Date/Control Date           Employee ID Number           Group Number          <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-We would also like a detailed listing of Section 501(c)(4) cases closed beginning July 1, 2010 through the present using the same fields listed above.</li> </ul> We realize that not all cases are worked through completion in TEDS, but our understanding is that almost all cases are initially scanned into TEDS, so the volumes should be accurate, even if the status' are not up to date. We are also requesting similar data from EDS. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-We would like one spreadsheet with the total number of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) open cases, broken out by status code.</li> <li>-We would like one spreadsheet with the total number of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) closed cases beginning July 1, 2010 through the present, broken out by status code.</li> <li>-We would like a detailed listing of open Section 501(c)(4) cases with the following fields:</li> </ul>            TEDS Case Number           EDS Case Number           EIN           Case Type "I" - Initial           Subsection "04"          |

Page 2 of 41

Report Exhibits - Page 001250

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | Current Status CodeCurrent Status DatePostmark Date/Control DateEmployee ID NumberGroup Number -We would also like a detailed listing of Section 501(c)(4) cases closed beginning July 1, 2010 through the present using the same fields listed above. If any part of this request is not possible due to system limitations, please let me know. If at all possible, we really would appreciate receiving this data in the next week, to help us focus our review. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me or Tom. Thanks for your help. Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 5/8/12  | CJM    | Team meeting held by AM Seidel to discuss results of Cincinnati trip with new team member Evan Close. Went through Congressional concerns and developed areas for possible audit. Areas include selection bias, whether questions are reasonable, timeliness (standards), time for processing cases overall, and consistency of what was requested between types of organizations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 5/14/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, R&amp;A requesting EO responses to Congressional requests: Hi Holly, We would like to request the responses to other recent Congressional requests related to Exempt Organizations. We have identified the following requests: October 6, 2011, House Ways and Means, Charles BoustanyMarch 1, 2012, House Ways and Means, Charles Boustany (follow-up to October 6, 2011 request)February 16, 2012, SenateMarch 14, 2012, Senate In addition, the response you provided to us for the Representative Issa request stated that a supplemental response was still being prepared. Once this is completed, we are also requesting a copy of this response. Thanks for your help with this. Cheryl Medina |
| 5/15/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson held a team planning meeting in Stoneham to discuss the focus of this review. Initially, we went through the processing of applications based upon our visit to Cincinnati. We discussed what our scope for the audit should be based upon                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Report Exhibits - Page 001251

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | the information received. We decided to focus just on § 501(c)(4) organizations based upon the fact that only (c)(4) organizations have been identified as advocacy cases and that all the media attention has focused on (c)(4) organizations. Director Paterson is concerned with the timeliness of the advocacy cases. Some go back to 2009 and still are not closed. We may have to interview agents and managers to determine if there are any obstacles in the process. We then discussed the scope of the audit. Director Paterson sees us issuing an interim report and then a final report. We can split up the audit work into two parts: first sample for selection bias of advocacy cases by determining if all the identified advocacy cases should have been included and a second sample of cases not identified as advocacy and determine if they should have been included. The second part of the review would determine if the advocacy cases are predominantly of one political affiliation, whether the same questions are asked and whether they are appropriate. We would limit the review of questions to requests made after the draft guidance was issued in December 2011. We will probably be taking statistical samples of the non-advocacy cases and review 100% of the advocacy cases. We will use the same data for both parts of the review (interim and final). We will also document the process used to develop the advocacy emerging issue. The only outcomes we see now would be related to taxpayer burden. |
| 5/15/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz and Cindy Thomas: Holly/Cindy, I am just checking on the status of the remaining items we requested during our visit to Cincinnati. According to my records, we are still waiting for the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Sensitive Case Report for the review of cases by DC</li> <li>- Quality standards from TEGMS</li> <li>- EO Director briefing from June 2011</li> <li>- Sample of cases to begin familiarizing ourselves with the Determinations process</li> </ul> When do you think we will be getting this additional information?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 5/16/12 | CJM    | Received a briefing paper from Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A, for a meeting with Lois Lerner, Director, EO. PA6.u I raised concerns with AM Seidell on the criteria listed for identifying advocacy cases (bullet #2). He discussed it with Director Paterson and it was decided to send the following email to Holly Paz requesting some additional details: Hi Holly, We have a couple of questions on this briefing paper. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Who developed this briefing paper (where did it come from)?</li> <li>- How was the criteria used by screeners (bullet #2) developed? Who made this decision?</li> <li>- What decisions were made as a result of the briefing paper/meeting and were they</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Report Exhibits - Page 001252

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|---------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | documented? If so, please provide the documentation. (e.g., meeting minutes, memo to file, etc.) Any more details on how this briefing was developed and what resulted from it would be greatly appreciated. Thanks. Cheryl                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 5/17/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell and myself had a conference call with Holly Paz and David Fish, Rulings and Agreements, to discuss the briefing paper and our concerns with the criteria used to identify advocacy cases. PA6.u PA2.i                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 5/17/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell discussed our concern with the criteria used to identify advocacy cases with Director Paterson. PA6.u PA6.v The documentation received from the IRS indicates that Tea Party groups were being targeted. Director Paterson will discuss issue with Acting AIGA, Martin, to determine what we do with the information.                                                   |
| 5/18/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson discussed issue with Acting AIGA Martin. Decided that we should prepare an IRS Commissioner briefing on the issue, but not anything for public dissemination. PA2.m Briefing paper forwarded to Acting AIGA Martin.                                                                                                                                                              |
| 5/21/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements: Holly, I informed my Director (Troy Paterson) about the c3/c4 advocacy briefing paper and our discussion on Thursday. He will be briefing the Inspector General and told me he will contact Joseph Grant and Lois to let them know. Thanks Tom                                              |
| 5/22/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson held a conference call with Lois Lerner, EO Director, to discuss our concern with the criteria used to identify advocacy cases. PA2.n                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 5/23/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the following email to Legislative Affairs: Joel, As promised, we now have an audit number for our research into the IRS's process for reviewing application for tax exemption by potential 501(c)(4)-(6) organizations. The audit number is 201210022. If you have any questions, please let me know. Troy PatersonAudit DirectorPhone: 404-338-7476 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001253

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 5/24/12 | CJM    | I sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A regarding outstanding documentation: Hi Holly, I was just going through my list of requested documentation, and saw that there are a couple of outstanding items. We have not received the Sensitive Case Report for the cases reviewed by Headquarters. We also have not received the responses to the Congressional requests, but I believe you said Legislative Affairs would be providing them to us. Is there a contact for these responses? Thanks                                                                    |
| 5/24/12 | CJM    | Holly Paz response: Cheryl, Legislative Affairs actually sent me the responses to the Congressional requests yesterday. I tried to forward them on to you earlier this morning but it bounced back saying the file size is too big. I am going to break them up into separate emails and send on to you in a moment. Same for Sensitive Case Reports. Holly                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 5/29/12 | CJM    | Discussed statistical sample computations with AM Seidell. Since we already have concerns with the identification of advocacy cases being biased, we decided to use a high error rate in our sample computations. We will compute our samples using a 90 percent confidence level, 50 percent error rate, and 5 percent precision rate. We will also use May 31, 2012 as the cut-off date for obtaining the data to select our samples from. In addition, we will review 100 percent of the identified advocacy cases for bias and appropriateness of questions.                                           |
| 6/1/12  | CJM    | Director Paterson held WebEx Meeting to discuss draft audit plan with AM Seidell and myself. Went through the objectives and revised as deemed necessary. Discussed statistical samples – decided that we only need to look at closed merit/accelerated/intermediate processed cases. All cases with political issues are supposed to be sent to full development by the screeners, so open merit cases should not involve political activity. It was decided that we only need to use a 10 percent error rate for these cases. We will still use a 50 percent error rate for the full development sample. |
| 6/1/12  | CJM    | Sent the following email to Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, requesting updated Determination case information: Cindy, We would like to request an updated copy of the advocacy case tracking sheet used by the advocacy team. If possible, we are requesting the information through May 31, 2012.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Page 6 of 41

WP #
PSI-TIGTA-05-000914

Report Exhibits - Page 001254

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|---------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | Also, we would like an updated listing of open and closed Section 501(c)(4) cases from EDS. The following is the criteria for this request: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-We would like a spreadsheet with all Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) closed cases beginning May 1, 2010 through May 31, 2012.</li> <li>-We would also like a detailed listing of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) open cases.</li> </ul> Both listings should include the following fields: TEDS Case NumberEDS Case NumberEINOrganization NameCase Type "I" - Initial Subsection "04"Current Status CodeCurrent Status DatePostmark Date/Control DateEmployee ID NumberEmployee NameGroup NumberEmployee Post of Duty (if possible) If you have any questions, feel free to contact me or Tom Seidell. I will be out of the office next Monday and Tuesday. Thanks for your help. Cheryl MedinaTreasury Inspector General for Tax AdministrationPhone [REDACTED]Fax # 781-279-0336 |
| 6/11/12 | CJM    | Discussed case reviews with AM Seidell. We agreed that we will need a case analysis document for our review of advocacy cases to document our decision on whether questions were necessary to make a determination.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 6/13/12 | CJM    | Acting AIGA Martin held meeting to discuss draft audit plan. He wants to avoid the word bias and instead use inconsistency. He also wants to make the issue of timeliness more prominent by making it a separate objective and ensure we determine who knew what when and who made the decisions on the criteria changes throughout the emerging issue development. He would also like us to include the § 501(c)(3) cases that were identified as advocacy in our case reviews, so we will complete a 100 percent review of identified advocacy cases. He requested more background be added to the audit plan to explain the Determinations process.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 6/14/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements, and received a response:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Page 7 of 41

WP # _____
PSI-TIGTA-05-000915

Report Exhibits - Page 001255

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Thursday, June 14, 2012 2:34 PM To: Paz Holly O Subject: TIGTA Follow-up Question Hi Holly, I need to confirm something with you. Are the screeners only identifying advocacy cases related to political campaign intervention for the advocacy team? So, the advocacy team is not looking at lobbying or general advocacy cases; only political advocacy? Thanks, Cheryl Medina Response: That is correct. The screeners are looking for cases with indicators of significant amounts of political campaign intervention, not lobbying or issue advocacy. 501(c)(4)s can engage in an unlimited amount of lobbying germane to their exempt purpose. 501(c)(3)s can also engage in a certain amount of lobbying. In contrast, political campaign intervention cannot be a 501(c)(4) organization's primary activity and 501(c)(3)s are prohibited from engaging in campaign intervention. Thus, the advocacy team is focused on campaign intervention, not lobbying. |
| 6/14/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements and received an initial response: We will check and get back to you ASAP. <hr/> From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Thursday, June 14, 2012 3:09 PM To: Paz Holly O Subject: Verification of EDS Information Holly, We are unable to find four cases from the advocacy tracking sheet that are listed as 501(c)(4)s on the EDS data you provided us. We are hoping you can provide us with confirmation that the applications are controlled on the EDS. The cases do have EDS #'s so we are trying to determine why they are not on our EDS extract of 501(c)(4) applications. 26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Report Exhibits - Page 001256

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---------|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | Thanks for your help.Received response: PA1.s                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 6/20/12 | CJM    | Due to a timing difference between the scope of the EDS data we requested and the actual extract date, [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] We requested additional EDS data to ensure we received all applicable cases that were open as of May 31, 2012: Holly/Cindy, We would like to request some additional EDS data. This request includes closed 501(c)(4) Initial requests that were closed June 1st through June 5th. The data should include the same fields as our initial request. TEDS Case NumberEDS Case NumberEINOrganization NameCase Type "I" - InitialSubsection "04"Current Status CodeCurrent Status DatePostmark Date/Control DateEmployee ID NumberEmployee NameGroup NumberEmployee Post of Duty (if possible) Thanks for your help.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 6/20/12 | CJM    | Discussed which types of cases to include in our EDS universe for Objective IIIA with AM Seidell. Went through the status codes to determine which cases to include. AM decided on the following for the open cases: 51 (unassigned), 52 (assigned), 55 (waiting for closing approval), 53 (manager returned to specialist), 37 (group suspense — could include FTE cases that would be full development), 74 (awaiting managerial review (TEDS)), 58 (in transit), 31 (in review), 75 (group inventory), 57 (TEDS awaiting closure on EDS) and 32 (returned on review memo). The following are the status codes for the closed cases: [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] 11 (FTE) and 4 (withdrawn). Also received additional EDS data requested for June 1-5, 2012. Three cases appear to be full development cases [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] that were not on our original EDS data extract. The other status codes refer to merit closures (6 and 9) or returned incomplete (3). [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] Since we are not looking at |

Report Exhibits - Page 001257

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | open merit cases and incomplete applications would not have been sent for full development, we do not need to include them in our universe.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 6/22/12 | CJM    | Audit Plan approved. EA2.c Discussed with Director Paterson the possibility of requesting the merit closed case sample now before the engagement letter is issued. He does not have a problem with it. He suggested we put in the request that we have the facilities to ensure the data is protected.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 6/22/12 | CJM    | Requested the merit closed sample cases from Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager. Received the following reply from Ms. Thomas:Cheryl,I'm checking with my Processing Section to see whether they have any concerns with this. I'll get back with you early next week to let you know if they have any concerns and to let you know when you can expect to start receiving the cases.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 6/26/12 | CJM    | Received response from Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, regarding shipping the closed cases directly to us:Cheryl,For control purposes, the Processing Section prefers to request the cases be sent back to us and they'll forward the cases to you. They'll start requesting the cases right away and you should expect to start receiving some by next week.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 6/26/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell sent the following response to Cindy Thomas, Determinations Manager, regarding receipt of closed cases:Cindy,I understand the Processing Section's desire to control the cases, but in this instance I think the cases should be sent directly to us without going through the Determinations Unit. As you are aware, outside organizations have made allegations that the IRS targeted specific organizations and treated them unfairly. Due to the seriousness of these allegations and the definition used in the BOLO spreadsheet identifying specific organizations and issues they raise, I think the cases should be sent directly to us from the Federal Records Center.TomThomas F. SeidellAudit ManagerTIGTAPhone: [REDACTED] |
| 6/26/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell sent the following email to Lois Lerner, EO Director, to schedule an opening conference:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001258

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | Lois/Dawn, I'd like to schedule the opening conference for the subject audit. Our schedules are pretty open, so if you can get back to me with some dates/times I'd appreciate it. Thanks, Tom                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 6/26/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson spoke with Lois Lerner, EO Director, regarding our request for the closed cases being shipped directly to us from the Federal Records Center. She completely understands our position, but there may be an issue. If a FOIA request comes in, EO needs access to the cases. Also, Congressional committees that are involved in tax writing can request IRS files without § 6103 restrictions. She plans to speak with Joseph Grant, Acting Director, TEGE. Ms. Lerner later called Director Paterson again and told him that Dave Camp, Chairman House Ways and Means, has made a request for all closed determination cases, and the Determinations Office is currently making copies to fulfill this request.                                                                                                 |
| 6/27/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell held a team meeting to discuss the status of the review and assign objectives. Auditor Close will be working with us until October when he will begin the Fair Tax review. Objectives I and II will be assigned to me. Objective IIIA is assigned to Auditor McGovern; Objectives IIIC, IIID and the overall objective III summary are assigned to Auditor Close, and Objective IIIB is TBD, depending on when Objectives IIIA and IIIC are completed. We plan to issue an interim report after the completion of Objectives I-III. Objective IVA is assigned to me (501(c)(3) cases) and Auditor McGovern (501(c)(4) cases). Auditor McGovern will complete the overall objective summary. Once we begin receiving case files, we will get together and go through a few so everyone is on the same page.              |
| 6/27/12 | CJM    | Discussed scope period for case reviews with AM Seidell. Advocacy listing is through June 5, 2012 instead of the requested May 31, 2012. However,  26 U.S.C. § 6103  We will then decide to include them or not in our review.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 6/28/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell spoke with Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, to obtain more details on Rep. Camp's request for applications. He requested all § 501(c)(4) applications received in 2010 and 2011. Ms. Paz stated that this included around 4,440 applications. The Determinations Office has been photocopying for about a week now. (Auditor's Note: Many of our requested cases are included in Rep. Camp's request. This may delay us receiving cases. We can no longer receive the cases directly from the Federal Records Center, and will most likely have to copy the closed cases upfront instead of receiving the originals. In addition, if the Determinations Office is using its photocopying machines to fulfill Rep. Camp's request, then we will not be able to use them, further slowing the process for us.) |

Report Exhibits - Page 001259

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 6/28/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson held his third quarter meeting with EO Director Lois Lerner. Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, was also present. Discussed current situation with obtaining case files. PAG 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 7/2/12  | CJM    | AM Seidell and Director Paterson had teleconference with Holly Paz and Cindy Thomas, Rulings and Agreements, to discuss how we will get copies of our sampled cases. We previously sent them the listing of merit closed cases. They said 40 of them are in Cincinnati and they will make copies for us. Another 65 cases are either at the Federal Records Center or at the Processing Center. They cannot locate 15 of them right now, but are still looking. We will send them the rest of our sample case listings, but they will focus on locating and copying the closed ones first. They will make copies of all the cases and ship them to us, around 28 cases per box, so we do not need to go to Cincinnati. I will send the rest of the sampled case listings to them. AM Seidell would like Auditor Close to come up to Stoneham on July 16-17, so we can begin going through the cases together and determine how we will review them.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 7/2/12  | CJM    | Sent the following email-requesting the rest of our sampled cases: Cindy/Holly, Based upon your teleconference this morning with Tom and Troy, I am sending you the attached listings of sampled case we need copies of for our review. We have split up the EDS listings between open and closed, at least at the time the data was provided to us. Of course, I'm sure some things have changed. We identified the POD of the Agent assigned to the open cases based upon the Group Number you provided. We hope this makes locating them a little easier. We sorted the closed cases by TEDS number because we were told that is how they are filed, but some cases do not have a TEDS number. We also require 100 percent of the advocacy cases from the latest listing you provided us. I have attached the listing for your reference. No one will be in the office on Thursday or Friday this week, so it would be better if you do not ship any cases with a delivery date prior to July 9th (next Monday). If you have any questions, or need additional information from us, please let me know. Thank you for your help. Cheryl MedinaPAG 11 C.2.3 |
| 7/5/12  | CJM    | Held opening conference. PAG 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 7/9/12  | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A, requesting contact names: Holly, Attached please find our initial listing of "people" we wish to speak with for our                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

Report Exhibits - Page 001260

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | review. If there are others that you feel we need to speak with to completely understand the development of the advocacy issue, please include them in the contacts you provide us. A2.2 Also, during our opening conference, I jotted down that you were going to provide a listing of cases that were closed as part of the recent training given to Revenue Agents. I believe there are 41 cases that received a favorable determination. Thanks, and if you have any questions, feel free to contact me.    |
| 7/10/12 | CJM    | Received the merit closed cases. EO is still looking for four of 120 cases.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 7/11/12 | CJM    | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [redacted] I re-requested it from Karen Allen, who sent us the cases: Karen, Thanks for all the hard work it took to locate and copy these cases. I have just gone through them all to match them up with what we requested. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [redacted] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [redacted] If you need any additional information, please let me know. You can include this case in the next batch you send to us. We have a couple of case requests outstanding. Thanks again. |
| 7/12/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, requesting the latest response to a Congressional request: Hi Holly, The IRS received another Congressional request on June 18, 2012 from the Senate Finance Committee. We would like a copy of the IRS's response once it is completed. I have attached the request for your reference. Thanks. Cheryl MedinaPAS:cb                                                                                                        |

Report Exhibits - Page 001261

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|---------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7/13/12 | CJM    | Discussed what criteria we are going to use when reviewing cases with AM Seidell. It was decided that we will use what the Screeners should have used -- political campaign intervention. As we go through the first cases together next week, we will develop criteria for what we consider political campaign intervention. If we identify exception cases, the faulty criteria, such as the BOLO, will be the cause for the case not being identified or being incorrectly identified as an advocacy case.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 7/16/12 | CJM    | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Sent the following email requesting the correct case: Hi Karen, We received another box of cases on Friday. I'm not sure if you sent it or not, but thanks. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 7/16/12 | CJM    | Auditor Close traveled to Stoneham, so we could begin going through cases as a team and determine the best way to review them. AM Seidell and auditors, Medina, McGovern and Close reviewed several cases and determined how to review them. We went through the draft methodology for case reviews and the schedules developed to capture are review results, making changes. We developed the order for the workpapers in the case files. AM Seidell assigned Objective IIB cases to Auditor Close, and IIIA cases to Auditor McGovern. We have not receive any cases related to Objective IIIC to date. We also discussed the cases closed during a May 2012 training session. If Determinations decided that the additional questions originally asked were unnecessary and closed the case without receiving additional information, then we can conclude for Objective IV that the questions were not necessary, and we do not have to review the case to come to a conclusion. |
| 7/16/12 | CJM    | Sent the following request to Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A: Hi Holly, Just checking on the status of a couple of things with you. During the opening conference, we mentioned that we hoped to be in Cincinnati the week of July 30th, to speak with people involved with the advocacy issue. You were going to check on people's schedules for that week. I also sent you a listing of "people" we want to speak with. Have you been able to come up with a list of                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001262

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|---------|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | people we should speak with and determine if the week of July 30th works with people's schedules? Also, during our opening conference, we discussed our engagement letter request for all documentation, including emails, related to the decisions made regarding what to do about the increased volume of advocacy cases. When do you think we will receive this documentation? Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 7/17/12 | CJM    | Received response from Holly Paz on site visits. Attached is the list of closed advocacy cases you requested. I have inserted the names of the individuals meeting the criteria of your interview request into your potential interviewees document. I have now heard back as to schedules from most, but not all, of these individuals. A number of the Cincinnati folks (including Cindy, Joseph Herr and Liz Hofsore) are not available the week of 7/30. Moreover, Lois would like me to sit in on all the interviews so that we will be in the best position to respond to TIGTA's report and recommendations, and I am unable to travel to Cincinnati that week due to a teaching commitment Wednesday afternoon. It looks like the beginning of the week of 8/6 would be better for the Cincinnati interviews and the week of 7/30 would be better for DC interviews. Does that work for you? If so, as far as next steps, would you like us to reach out to people to set up specific interview times or will you reach out to them directly? If you'd like us to do it, for how long should we schedule each interview? In regard to the request in your engagement letter for all documents and correspondence related to EO's response to and decision-making process for addressing the increase in applications for tax-exempt status from organizations involving potential political advocacy issues, I have a few questions. Could we talk briefly by phone tomorrow? Thanks, Holly |
| 7/17/12 | CJM    | Auditor McGovern identified cases during his review for Objective IIIA  26 U.S.C. § 6103  Discussed with AM Seidell. We will use the Form 1023 information to complete this objective, if available, to determine if the case should have been forwarded to the advocacy team. In addition, Auditor McGovern identified that  26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001263

| Date             | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 26 U.S.C. § 6103 |        | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Discussed with AM Seidell and he wants us to request 26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|                  |        | We will do this on a weekly basis, as needed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 7/18/12          | CJM    | Received email from Holly Paz, Director R&A, regarding site visits. People in Cincinnati not available the week of 7/30, but people in DC are. Cincinnati is available the week of 8/6. Planning trip to DC for week of 7/30 and trip to Cincinnati week of 8/6. She also has questions on our request for documentation related to advocacy decisions and would like to talk about it. She will call me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 7/18/12          | CJM    | Spoke with Holly Paz, Director, R&amp;A. She wanted clarification on what types of documentation we are looking for. She questioned whether we wanted the specialists to send their decisions on the advocacy cases. I explained that we are trying to develop a timeline of actions taken during the whole development of the advocacy issue -- who made decisions and when -- more at a higher level than the Specialists. She commented that since we requested copies of the advocacy cases, she didn't think we wanted the case-related info for this request, but wanted to make sure she understood. We decided that she will ask people to look for documentation from January 2010 through May 2012. She is going to request it be sent to me by the middle of next week, so we have time to go through it before our meetings in DC. We discussed the May 2012 training in Cincinnati. Cases were not closed during the training. They used live cases to discuss how to ask questions for additional info without being too broad; Holly considered it a workshop. After the 1 1/2 day training, a team comprising EO Technical, EO Guidance and Determinations, completed a "bucket exercise" and went through every open advocacy case. Two people independently looked at each case and applied the training to it. If the two people agreed on how the case should be handled, it was put in one of three buckets: approved, minor development, or full development. They only looked for advocacy related issues, so each case was then assigned to a Specialist for review and closure to make sure the application included all required documentation, such as a signature or bylaws, etc. This review took several weeks. TEGE's new space does not have a separate security office like the old space. We will have to call Holly from the lobby and she can come down and get us. We will need a temporary access card to use the elevator, similar to their other space. There is no food or cafeteria in the building, so everyone has to go out at lunch. |
| 7/23/12          | CJM    | Emailed Holly Paz, Director R&A, to inform her that the week of August 6 th is good for us to visit Cincinnati. I also asked if she had set up anything for our DC trip next week.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 7/23/12          | CJM    | Sent the following email to Karen Allen, Records, requesting additional case files: Hello, Thanks so much for the cases last week. We are beginning to go through them and unfortunately, need some additional cases. The attached spreadsheet includes the information we need. Most of them are                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001264

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|---------|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 We plan to send you additional requests on a weekly basis, if needed, as we continue to go through the cases already provided to us. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me. Thanks for your help. 6.2.4, Additional Request Tab                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 7/23/12 | CJM    | Discussed case reviews with AM Seidell. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 AM Seidell thinks that we should request the Form 1023, because that is what the screener used for identifying political advocacy. This will mean requesting Form 1023 for about 40 percent of our completed cases to date. AM Seidell would like a count of the number of affected cases and will review some of them during our weekly meeting on 7/25/12.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 7/25/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell held first weekly team meeting to discuss progress of case reviews. Went through audit plan and discussed status of each objective. Objective I – began receiving emails yesterday related to activities for the timeline. Objective II – began reviewing emails from objective I. Objective IIIA – received 158 of 265 requested cases. Have reviewed around 90 cases to date. Objective IIIB – received 116 of 120 requested cases. Have reviewed around 40 cases to date. Discussed issue of cases originally filed with a Form 1023. AM Seidell decided that if we have a complete F1023 or 1024 in the case file and can make a determination on whether case should have been considered advocacy related, then we do not need to request the F1023. Only if there is not enough info do we need to obtain the F1023 to review. Discussed miscoded cases (cases on EDS as (c)(4)s and included in our sample), but application approved for a different section. Need to research IDRS to determine what code section the accounts have listed on the BMF.                                                                                                    |
| 7/26/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson held conference call with AM Seidell and myself to discuss sensitive questions we will ask of EO personnel during our site visits. We need to determine when people knew about the Tea Party criteria and whether they had any input to the criteria. We also need to ask if there was any outside influences that affected the criteria. We also discussed a need for a tailored opinion. EO has decided to accept only direct information as their request from the applicants. This law states that this additional information should remain part of the administrative record. Director Paterson agreed that we should get an opinion even though we understand EO's need not to disclose the direct information. We also discussed potential inconsistent treatment of taxpayers. Advocacy organizations were given an extra 60 days to respond to requests for additional information. Regular applicants were not given this extra time. Director Paterson does not think it is inconsistent treatment if the advocacy organizations were asked to provide a lot more information than a regular applicant. EO gave the extra time |

Page 17 of 41

Report Exhibits - Page 001265

| Date        | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|             |        | because it asked for too much information to begin with.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 7/30-8/1/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell and myself completed site visit in DC to perform interviews.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 8/1/12      | CJM    | Director Paterson visited Stonham and held audit team meetings. He first asked about the status of the case reviews - how many we requested and how many completed to date. We discussed the need for us to request other case files related to a Form 1023 application to be able to review the Form 1024 application. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 We discussed potential application processing issues that we need to keep in mind going forward, but we can't deal with during this review. AM Seidell gave a brief overview of our possible exception cases. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Are these cases supposed to go to the advocacy team, or were they considered ok by the screeners? We will have to compare the non-advocacy exception cases to the advocacy cases to determine what caused some cases to be selected but others not. AM Seidell and myself gave some details of our visit to Washington DC. Based upon how the case reviews are going and our need to request additional files to complete some reviews, Director Paterson does not want to set a due date for the interim report. |
| 8/2/12      | CJM    | Discussed the assignment of Objective IIC cases with AM Seidell. Recommended that the cases be split between Auditors Close and McGovern by code section - Close completes the (c)(3) cases, including the timeliness analysis, and McGovern completes the (c)(4) cases. McGovern will review the (c)(4) cases again for Objective IV. AM Seidell agreed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 8/6-8/8/12  | CJM    | AM Seidell and myself visited Cincinnati, OH to perform interviews.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 8/9/12      | CJM    | AM Seidell held weekly team meeting. We went through the audit plan, discussing the status of each objective. Auditors Close and McGovern have just about finished reviews of the cases received to date. AM Seidell and myself have completed the first round of interviews to develop the timeline of events for the advocacy issue. Hopefully, we will receive more cases next week. 26 U.S.C. § 6103 AM Seidell will speak with Director Paterson to determine if we need to replace the cases in our sample. Our 1/3 meeting with Director Paterson is scheduled for August 15th at 1:00. I need to complete a briefing document for the meeting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 8/9/12      | CJM    | AM Seidell spoke with Director Paterson about 26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 8/13/12     | CJM    | Scheduled a teleconference on 8/15/12, at 2:45 pm, with Gary Muthert, Determinations, to discuss his role in initially identifying Tea Party cases. Ms. Paz will also participate in the call.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 8/15/12     | CJM    | Director Paterson held 1/3 meeting. AM Seidell went through the briefing paper and                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

Report Exhibits - Page 001266

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | discussed the status of each objective. PAZ's Lack of management oversight appears to be one of the main causes of the problems found for processing the advocacy cases. We then went through the draft timeline of events I developed. A2J Director Paterson had several questions on the various entries. It was also agreed that we do not need the third column highlighting the officials involved. He will go through the timeline and start to select which entries we should include in an appendix to our report. Office of Audit agreed to brief the Government Oversight Sub-committee by September 2012. Director Paterson already discussed this with the new AIGA, Greg Kutz. We will also have to brief the IRS Commissioner before the sub-committee briefing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 8/16/12 | CJM    | Received response to my request for listing of organizations that were approved without providing additional requested information. Cheryl, Your understanding of the process post bucketing is correct. Unfortunately, I checked with Cindy and Sharon and we do not have a 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103. This can be determined based on review of the individual files, but there is no master list. Similarly, [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Holly From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Tuesday, August 14, 2012 1:37 PM To: Paz Holly O Subject: Bucketing Results Request Hi Holly, I am still getting through all the emails and documents you provided us. I have another request. After the bucketing in May 2012, it was determined that 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] If I understand what occurred, [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 You provided a recent tracking sheet that includes which bucket the cases fell into, but I am not sure if [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001267

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Thanks, Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 8/27/12 | CJM    | Discussed advocacy case review with AM Seidell. Most of the cases do not have the bucketing result sheets in the files. However, based upon the case tracking sheet, we know the results of the bucketing, and they sometime disagree with our review of the cases. I suggested we need to request all the bucketing sheets to determine why the particular recommendations were made and see if we missed something in the original case file. We will only consider comments made on the original application, and not any additional research completed by the bucketer. The initial screener would not have had the additional research to make his determination on whether the case should go to the advocacy group or not. AM Seidell reviewed a few advocacy cases and agreed we need the bucketing sheets. |
| 8/28/12 | CJM    | Contacted Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A, and requested all of the bucketing sheets. She has them all in electronic form, and will send them on a flash drive to me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 9/4/12  | CJM    | Sent the following email to Cindy Thomas, Manager, EO Determinations: Cindy, During our meeting in Cincinnati, you told us that you sent an email requesting the status of the guidance every 30 days. Do you still have those emails? If so, can you please forward them to me? Thanks. Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 9/4/12  | CJM    | Received response from Cindy Thomas, Manager, EO Determinations: I completed a cursory review of the folder that I set up and don't see them. I'll send you the ones I found that talk about status. Also, I'll ask Steve Bowling if he has any of the emails. He was the manager with oversight of these cases and he initiated an email to me asking the status and that prompted me to send the emails to Holly asking the status. NOTE: We weren't initially sending the emails asking for a status update --- only started doing that after things didn't seem to be moving. Then, we stopped sending the emails at some point --- I'm not sure when but my guess would be when Lois was brought in.                                                                                                    |
| 9/12/12 | CJM    | Greg Kutz, new MSE AIGA, held meeting with audit team, including Director Paterson, to discuss review. AM Seidell gave some background on the issue being reviewed. Then he began going through the objectives. Discussed our interviews of Headquarters and Field employees and the development of the timeline of events. Mr. Kutz asked if we can highlight cases (generically) in the report to show the delays that occurred. He also asked if we are checking for consistent questions between advocacy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

Report Exhibits - Page 001268

| Date       | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|            |        | and non-advocacy cases (we are not). Mr. Kutz wanted to know what we saw us reporting. We have to be very careful. Quantitative or factual information is safe to report. He questioned whether we know for sure that no one in Headquarters knew the Tea Party was being targeted prior to June 2011. He suggested we have the Office of Investigations conduct interviews, under oath, to determine who knew what when. It was decided to ask the IRS Commissioner during the September briefing when Headquarters knew about the criteria. Director Paterson will elevate this to the Acting DIGA. Mr. Kutz also asked how many applications were withdrawn and if we knew why the organizations withdrew them. I commented that [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] Mr. Kutz asked if we could contact the organizations to determine why they withdrew their applications. Mr. Kutz asked Director Paterson to contact his assistant to set up a Part 2 meeting to continue our discussion. Second meeting scheduled for October 1st.                                            |
| 9/13/12    | CJM    | AM Seidell held weekly team meeting. We discussed the status of the objectives. Objectives I and II are basically done barring any additional information being provided. Objective III is the case reviews. We still have not received 128 cases (IIIA 28, IIIB 3, IIIC 97). AM Seidell stated that if we do not receive a case, we will not replace it. It will be UTD. Similarly, if there is missing documentation from the case files that precludes us from reviewing the case, we will not replace it as well. If we do not have bucketing sheets for a case, we will re-request them. Once EO decides it has sent us all the cases, I will develop a listing of any cases we did not receive or have missing documentation one final time to attempt to receive them from EO.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 9/25/12    | CJM    | ALGA Kutz visited Stoneham. We had an audit team meeting with him, including Director Paterson via phone. EA2u                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 9/25-26/12 | CJM    | Auditor Close visited Stoneham. AM Seidell, Auditor Close and myself went through Close's completed § 501(c)(3) advocacy cases. AM Seidell commented that he needs to make sure the "why" we consider a case an exception or not is included in the auditor comments of the case review schedule. If there is any hint of political campaign intervention, we will consider the case ok for the advocacy group because (c)(3) organizations cannot participate at all in them. EO stopped work on the advocacy cases while developing the letter giving organizations that had not responded to a development letter 60 extra days to respond. Auditor Close asked how he should treat this hold time for his timeliness analysis. AM Seidell stated that this time should not negatively affect the organization. In some cases, [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] then the time needs to be backed out of the timeliness analysis. [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 [REDACTED] that the clock still runs. We went back and forth on this and AM Seidell decided we need a Counsel opinion on this issue. |
| 9/26/12    | CJM    | Auditor McGovern found an original page of a document in case file 184 for objective IIIC. I mailed it back to EO Determinations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001269

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|---------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 9/27/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements: Hi Holly, I need some clarification on the issuance of the 60-day extension letter. Were these letters issued to all organizations that had not responded to a development letter, or to just those that were already untimely in their responses to the requests for information? For example, if an organization still had 5 days of the 21-day response period to reply, would it have received a 60-day extension? Information in the emails you sent me indicate [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Thank you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 9/28/12 | CJM    | Received response from Holly Paz, Director, R&amp;A, re 60-day extensions: Cheryl, My apologies for the delayed response. I have been out sick the last two days. [REDACTED] 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Holly                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 10/3/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell held status meeting with team. Discussed Director Paterson's meetings with Acting TEGE Commissioner, Joseph Grant, and EO Director, Lois Lerner. He went over the shortened timeline with each of them and asked the about any outside influences and when did they know about the criteria used to identify advocacy cases. Mr. Grant will get back to Director Paterson. Ms. Lerner was not happy with the questions. She commented that the timeline was incomplete. Director Paterson sent her the full timeline for review. He also thinks we may use the full timeline as an appendix to the report. AM Seidell then asked for the various case counts -- received and reviewed, for the three samples. Auditor Close is supposed to move on to another project starting October 15, 2012. If he is close to completing his case analyses, AM Seidell hopes to keep him on a little longer. |

Report Exhibits - Page 001270

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|----------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 10/10/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell held status meeting with the team. Director Paterson and AIGA Kutz met with Acting Deputy IG McKenney to discuss briefing the Hill. McKenney stated there will be no briefings until we have finalized our conclusions. He would like us to ask EO directly who directed the use of the criteria for identifying advocacy cases. If we do not receive an adequate response, we will refer it to the Office of Investigations. There is a conference call with the IG tomorrow to brief him on the status of the audit as well. We have not received any comments on the timelines provided to the EO Director by Director Paterson. We then went over the status of the case reviews.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 10/15/12 | CJM    | Team held 2/3 meeting with Director Paterson. 22.2 Still have not received 15 cases and have around 10-12 cases for which we have requested additional documentation. Objectives I & II - on hold while waiting for feedback from Joseph Grant and Lois Lerner. Provided the timeline to Lois Lerner, but have not heard back. Also waiting for a response from Grant and Lerner on the 3 questions asked by Director Paterson. He will follow up with both of them. If we receive a response that no one knows who directed the use of the criteria for identifying advocacy cases, then we will refer the issue to OI. Director Paterson is also waiting to hear about the rescheduling of the IG meeting on the audit and he received agreement from AIGA Kutz that we will not brief IRS Commissioner Schulman, who is leaving, but will wait for Acting Commissioner Steven Miller. Objective IIIA - continue to review cases. Need to check for 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Auditor McGovern thinks there is missing information that we re-requested, but did not receive. Objective IIIB - for 3 missing cases, include the replacements for them, but we need to state in the report that we did not receive the originally sampled cases. IIIC - criteria we are using is political campaign intervention only. We need to break out exceptions - no political intervention, limited intervention, and only maybe in the future, but not now. Auditor McGovern mentioned the ROO referrals being recommended by the bucketers. I need to check the new IRM to see if this process is included, or if we need to make a recommendation. Auditor McGovern also mentioned that the bucketers only make recommendations. All the cases are quality reviewed, and there have been a few that changed the bucket recommendation. Director Paterson mentioned that Acting DIGA McKenney talked about whether the cases were approved in bucketing due to pressure to close the cases. We estimated that the case reviews will be initially completed by the end of October. Director Paterson is tentatively visiting Stoneham the week of 11/5 to review the exception cases. We also have to decide how we will get agreement to the facts from EO. With the large volume of exceptions, we may need to group them into similar scenarios and only discuss a sample with EO. EO may not agree to this. I asked about us issuing the interim report. Director Paterson doesn't think AIGA Kutz likes the idea. If we do not issue an interim report, we will need to do a lengthy addendum to the audit plan so we can complete objective IV. This may also provide EO ample time to review all the exceptions if it wants to. |
| 11/6/12  | CJM    | Director Paterson held team meeting during visit to Stoneham. Discussed Objective IV. It was decided that we will use the questions identified by EO as unnecessary to review the advocacy cases and determine if any unnecessary questions were asked. 22.4 Since EO completed this review for 166 cases, 22.5 we will complete the rest only. We will first review a 10 percent sample of the EO completed cases to verify                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

Report Exhibits - Page 001271

| Date      | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----------|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|           |        | their analysis. We will also need to determine if permanent procedures have been put in place so the targeted review of certain organizations does not reoccur. What corrective actions have been taken by EO? Director Paterson decided that we will not request any missing development letters from the case files. We will only review what we have received.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|           |        | We will need to submit an addendum to change to Objective IV. We also need to add a new objective (IIC) to include the 501(c)(3) analysis in the audit plan. We will add 6 weeks to the calendar days and 70 staff days. Holiday leave and the delay in receiving cases will be the reason. Director Paterson will also discuss a second addendum with AIGA Kutz for the time it takes to discuss the large number of exception cases with EO.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 11/6-8/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson visited Stoneham and reviewed some exception cases from Objectives IIIA, IIIB, and IIC.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 11/7/12   | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements, regarding EO's comments to the timeline:Holly,Thank you again for taking the time to review and provide feedback on the 3 questions we submitted and the long timeline. We have a few follow-up questions:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|           |        | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>In the response to questions 2 and 3, Lois states that the manager of the screening group responded that, "The following are issues that could indicate a case to be considered a potential 'tea party' case and sent to Group 7322 for secondary screening. 1. 'Tea Party', 'Patriots' or '9/12 Project' is referenced in the case file. 2. Issues include government spending, government debt and taxes. 3. Educate the public through advocacy/legislative activities to make America a better place to live. 4. Statements in the case file that are critical of the how the country is being run." Does this mean that the manager of the screening group developed this criteria? If not, who created the criteria? We're trying to determine if anyone in EO function management sanctioned the use of the criteria.</li> <li>On the May 14, 2012 entry on the timeline, the EO function changed the additional details column to read "Discovered in light of case files on what is characterized as 'tea parties' - activists; provided for on private address; covered out of an organization's social web page; in a meeting whether the person was engaged in political activity or not; received support from Tea Party that might would not fit anything and he requested that management consider they may not be worth the effort because it is complicated by the fact that there is no real definition of what is a tea party and it is unclear if providing the list within the meaning of the regulations. On the EO function management report the word 'that' is in italics and underlined in the first sentence."</li> <li>On the May 2012 entry on the timeline, the EO function deleted our wording that the EO Technical employees was reviewing all case files and closing letters prior to issuance. Our interview write-up states that case files were being reviewed and closing letters were being reviewed prior to issuance. Is this the case, or are only the development letters being reviewed?</li> </ol> |

Report Exhibits - Page 001272

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | As always, we appreciate the assistance and we look forward to your response. Troy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 11/8/12 | CJM    | After beginning sampling of EO review of advocacy cases for Objective IV, determined that we cannot rely on it. Auditor McGovern found errors in the review. D.2.5 Discussed with Director Paterson and Audit Manager Seidell. We will have to do a 100 percent review of the advocacy cases to determine if any questions identified by EO as unnecessary were asked.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 11/8/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements. Hi Holly, The attached document is the review completed by Judy Kindel to identify unnecessary questions being asked in the advocacy development letters. We have identified 4 cases (highlighted) that are not included on the May/June 2012 advocacy listing we are using in our review. What happened to these cases and why would they be removed from the tracking sheet? Are there any other cases that were removed from the advocacy listing? Why and how many? Thanks for any information you can provide. Cheryl D.2.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 11/9/12 | CJM    | Received response from Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements, to Director Paterson's email above: Troy, Please see answers to your follow-up questions below. Please let me know if you have any further questions or if you think a discussion would be helpful. Holly 1. In the response to questions 2 and 3, Lois states that the manager of the screening group responded that, "The following are issues that could indicate a case to be considered a potential 'tea party' case and sent to Group 7822 for secondary screening. 1. 'Tea Party', 'Patriots' or '9/12 Project' is referenced in the case file. 2. Issues include government spending, government debt and taxes. 3. Educate the public through advocacy/legislative activities to make America a better place to live. 4. Statements in the case file that are critical of the how the country is being run." Does this mean that the manager of the screening group developed this criteria? If not, who created the criteria? We're trying to determine if anyone in EO executive management sanctioned the use of the criteria. EO executive management did not sanction use of 1-4 above as criteria for identifying |

Report Exhibits - Page 001273

| Date | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|      |        | advocacy cases. Because the BOLO only contained a brief reference to "Organizations involved with the Tea Party movement applying for exemption under 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4)" in June 2011, I, as Acting Director of EO Rulings &amp; Agreements, sought clarification as to the criteria being used to identify these cases in light of the diversity of applications selected under this "tea party" label (e.g., some had "tea party" in their name but others did not, some stated that they were affiliated with the "tea party" movement while others stated they were affiliated with the Democratic or Republican party, etc.). My inquiry prompted the EO Determinations Program Manager to ask the manager of the screening group what criteria were being used to label "tea party" cases ("Do the applications specify/state 'tea party'? If not, how do we know applicant is involved with the tea party movement?"). We understand that the screening group manager asked his employees how they were applying the BOLO's short-hand reference to "tea party" and was told by his employees that they included organizations meeting any of criteria 1-4 above as falling within the BOLO's reference to "tea party" organizations. 2. On the May 14, 2012 entry on the timeline, the EO function changed the additional details column to read "Concluded, in light of case law on what is educational, that 'propaganda' activities should be [emphasis added] considered part of an organization's social welfare activities in analyzing whether it is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare." Earlier, you provided an e-mail from Tom Miller that states "I could not find anything, but my analysis is that propaganda activities should not be [emphasis added] included in an organization's activities that promote social welfare in analyzing whether it is primarily engaged in promoting the SW within the meaning of the regulations. Did the EO function inadvertently leave out the word 'not' in its feedback or are we misinterpreting Tom Miller's e-mail?" I am afraid that the wording of my question to Tom has contributed to the confusion. You can see I said we were seeing inflammatory talk, which I characterized as propaganda. "Propaganda," however, is a term with legal significance. So, Tom's email went on to discuss what constitutes "propaganda" versus what is "educational," for purposes of characterizing the inflammatory talk. He says that, "During the past several years, the EO has been observing a pattern of inflammatory talk, the use of inflammatory material in educational materials, and the use of inflammatory speech to promote a particular political position. This is not the case of the EO's current approach about the question for educational purposes of social welfare activities. It is to conduct the information talk in a neutral, 'propaganda' free way." "Educational" is a term with legal significance. The EO has observed a pattern of inflammatory talk, the use of inflammatory material in educational materials, and the use of inflammatory speech to promote a particular political position. This is not the case of the EO's current approach about the question for educational purposes of social welfare activities. It is to conduct the information talk in a neutral, "propaganda" free way. 3. On the May 2012 entry on the timeline, the EO function deleted our wording that the EO Technical employee was reviewing all case files and closing letters prior to issuance. Our interview write-up states that case files were being reviewed and closing letters were being reviewed prior to issuance. Is this the case, or are only the development letters being reviewed? EO Technical employees are reviewing all development letters to organizations in buckets 2 and 3 prior to issuance. Designated EO Technical employees are also available to answer questions the Determinations specialists may have after receiving responses to those development letters. While EO Technical employees are reviewing all development letters, typically on favorables, EO Technical does not review the closing letter itself because these |

Report Exhibits - Page 001274

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Reflected by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations |
|----------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
|          |        | are essentially form approval letters. All denial letters, however, are being closely coordinated between EO Technical and EO Determinations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                           |
| 11/9/12  | CJM    | Asked Audit Manager Seidell a question regarding the criteria for unnecessary questions. Q2.4 A question asking for resumes of directors, employees, etc. of the organization will be considered requesting information regarding employment other than for the organization (Criteria F) and will be deemed unnecessary.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                           |
| 11/14/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson replied to Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, regarding her response documented on 11/9/12 log note above:Holly,Thank you again for the follow-up responses. In response to question #3, you mention that EO function executive management did not sanction the use of the 1-4 criteria we listed in our original questions. You also mention that the EO function Determinations Program Manager asked for the criteria from the screener manager and the screener manager asked his employees for the specific criteria. To be clear, does this mean that the EO function Determinations Program Manager and screener manager were not aware of the specific criteria being used prior to employees providing the criteria in response to the screener manager's request? In other words, no one in the EO function management chain sanctioned the use of the criteria.Troy[REDACTED] |                                                           |
| 11/19/12 | CJM    | Sent email to Karen Allen, EO Determinations Records, and Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements:Hi Karen,We are still waiting for 5 case files and 1 additional request for missing documentation. I have attached a list. If we do not receive the cases by November 30 th , we will have to report that they could not be located for our review.Thanks.Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                           |
| 11/19/12 | CJM    | Audit team held meeting with Director Paterson and AIGA Kutz to discuss audit status. PAZ, Acting DIGA McKenney was unable to attend. We first discussed the timeline. AIGA Kutz suggested we explain that some cases were worked early on but never resolved. He agrees that the entire timeline will be good as an appendix to the report, but should put an abbreviated timeline in the body of the report. We should also include a criteria timeline to show when changes to the criteria took place, and that no manager knew of the criteria for 13 months. We then discussed the timeliness                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                           |

Report Exhibits - Page 001275

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|----------|--------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |        | of 501(c)(3) case processing. We should include a chart showing the distribution of cases by number of days. A possible recommendation would be to create a management report to notify them when a case is getting close to the 270-day time standard. We also can recommend improved form and instruction guidance on the 270-day standard. In the report background we need to explain the different subsections and what they can and can't do related to political campaign intervention. The law and the Treasury regulations related to political campaign intervention are different. We should find out how this happened and possibly recommend a change for consistency. AIGA Kutz would like a breakdown of our exceptions for Objectives III C and IV by Tea Party, 912, and Patriots for the report. To shorten the amount of time it will take to get the report out, AIGA Kutz would like us to create an outline for discussion prior to beginning writing the report. Also, we can start writing it while waiting for EO's agreement to the facts on the exception cases.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 11/19/12 | CJM    | Holly Paz, Director Rubings and Agreements, responded to Director Paterson's second request for clarification: Troy, Your reading of our response to question #1 is correct. The EO Determinations Program Manager and screener manager were not aware of the specific criteria being used prior to employees providing the criteria in response to the screener manager's request in June 2011. No one in the EO management chain sanctioned the use of the four criteria listed in your question #1 below. Holly From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA [mailto:Troy.Paterson@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Wednesday, November 14, 2012 10:01 AM To: Paz Holly O Cc: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; Lerner Lois G Subject: RE: Responses Holly, Thank you again for the follow-up responses. In response to question #1, you mention that EO function executive management did not sanction the use of the 1-4 criteria we listed in our original questions. You also mention that the EO function Determinations Program Manager asked for the criteria from the screener manager and the screener manager asked his employees for the specific criteria. To be clear, does this mean that the EO function Determinations Program Manager and screener manager were not aware of the specific criteria being used prior to employees providing the criteria in response to the screener manager's request? In other words, no one in the EO function management chain sanctioned the use of the criteria. |
| 11/19/12 | CJM    | Response to request of Holly Paz, Director R&A, about 4 cases removed from the advocacy tracking sheet:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Report Exhibits - Page 001276

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                  |
|----------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |        | Cheryl,26 U.S.C. § 610326 U.S.C. § 610326 U.S.C. § 6103Holly                                 |
| 11/19/12 | CJM    | Additional email from Holly Paz, Director R&A, on a 26 U.S.C. § 610326 U.S.C. § 610326 U.S.C. § 6103 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001277

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |        | 26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 11/29/12 | CJM    | Director Paterson, Audit Manager Seidell, and myself held first meeting to discuss the report and start drafting a report outline for review by AIGA Kutz. A few decisions were made. The subsection chart in the background needs to include a row on whether the organizations have to apply or notify the IRS. I need to ask for the number of applications received for c3-c6 for FY 2009-2012. Before we recommend that a management report identifying c3 applications approaching the 270-day standard for processing be developed, we need to find out if there is already one available. ASS.a ASS.b |
| 11/29/12 | CJM    | Received final available cases from Determinations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 11/30/12 | CJM    | Sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director R&AHi Holly,We would like to request some statistics on the number of applications received for Fiscal Years 2009-2012, broken out by fiscal year and subsection for 501(c)(3), (c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6) organizations.If you have any questions, please let me know. Thanks.Cheryl MedinaBA6.mr                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 12/5/12  | CJM    | Director Paterson, Audit Manager Seidell, and myself had second meeting to discuss report outline. ASS.d Good progress was made on the overall presentation of the                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Report Exhibits - Page 001278

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|---------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 12/7/12 | CJM    | results of our review and the outline was updated during the meeting. ASSE I need to make additional changes to the outline, so it can be discussed with AIGA Kutz. I received the following response email from Holly Paz, Director, R&amp;A: Bucketing occurs after screening. We have not yet determined how long we will continue to bucket cases identified in screening as advocacy cases. We have not implemented a bucketing process for other types of cases and do not have plans to do so at this time, but if, as we go forward, we see a need for such a process with other types of applications, we will implement it at that time. <hr/> From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Thursday, December 06, 2012 7:35 AM To: Paz Holly O Subject: Bucketing Review Questions Hi Holly, You stated that after the initial bucketing exercise of the existing advocacy cases was completed in May 2012, bucketing has continued on all new advocacy cases identified. When in the process does this occur (e.g., after screening?) and how long will you continue with bucketing? Have you or do you plan to implement this process for other types of applications? Thanks, Cheryl Medina |
| 12/7/12 | CJM    | I received the following response email from Holly Paz, Director, R&amp;A: The BOLO criteria for identifying advocacy cases have not changed since May 2012. <hr/> From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Thursday, December 06, 2012 9:31 AM To: Paz Holly O Subject: Another criteria question Holly, Sorry, but I just thought of another question. You changed the BOLO criteria in May 2012 when you issued the memo with new approval procedures. Is this still the criteria to identify political cases, or has it changed since May? If it has changed, can you send me the changes and what it is currently? Thanks, Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Report Exhibits - Page 001279

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|----------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 12/10/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell spoke with Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, about obtaining agreement to the facts for our Objectives IIIA, IIIB, IIIC, and IV exception cases. He sent the following email afterwards: Holly, Attached are the excel files containing the four analyses I mentioned during our phone conversation earlier today. I added a brief description below for each of the files. I also plan on forwarding another analysis on the number of cases that had developmental letter with unnecessary questions. I'm hoping we can get together the week of January 7th to discuss. If you have any questions please let me know. Attached files: IIIA -- all 501(c)(4) open/closed full development cases sample (Cases that we believe should have gone on advocacy listing). 6.2.3 IIIB -- all 501(c)(4) merit closed cases sample (Cases that we believe should have gone on advocacy listing). 6.2.7 IIIC -- advocacy cases (Cases that we believe did not contain indications of significant political campaign intervention (c4) or any (c3) and therefore should not have gone on advocacy listing). 6.4.6 IIC -- timeliness analysis of 501(c)(3) advocacy case processing (501c3 cases on advocacy listing when organization could have sued for declaratory judgment at some point while case was in process). 8.4.3 Thanks Tom |
| 12/12/12 | CJM    | AIGA Kurtz held message conference to discuss report outline with AM Seidell, Director Paterson, and myself. 8.5.9 The main question we need to answer is, did the IRS target certain groups and what was the impact if it did. The answer is Yes, the IRS did target because it didn't follow the regulations for identifying political organizations. We need to use the Condition, Criteria, Cause and Effect format to present an unbiased report. We will have two findings: did the IRS target and what was the effect of the targeting on the organizations. The effect finding will include the inconsistency case review results, the delays, and the unnecessary questions. AIGA Kurtz would like us to include clips for documents and charts/graphs throughout the report. He asked us to consider a delay timeline. He also asked if we know the status of the organizations that were held up for 13 months. We do not, but will request an updated advocacy tracking sheet to determine if any cases are still open. We also discussed the report title. It needs to be direct and respond to the allegations. I am to draft the report based upon this meeting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 12/14/12 | CJM    | Received the following email from Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A, regarding the exception cases:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Report Exhibits - Page 001280

| Date     | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |        | Tom, I skimmed through the attachments and am concerned about our ability to be ready for a meeting to discuss our thoughts in January as a number of our folks familiar with this area of the law will be starting to take use or lose leave soon and those folks have been tasked with working the open advocacy cases as quickly as possible. Could we possibly push the meeting back into February? Holly                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 12/20/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell held a conference call with Holly Paz, Director R&amp;A: Audit Manager Seidell spoke with Holly Paz regarding Ms. Paz's email that the EO function would not be able to discuss our case reviews (Objective III) until early February. I told Ms. Paz that Representative Issa's staffers were requesting a status briefing on the review and that we wanted to provide EO the opportunity to provide input to our case reviews before we brief Congress. I suggested that we discuss the 17 cases in the first two spreadsheets (IIIA and IIIB) the week of January 14 via conference call, and then following up in person to discuss the cases in Objective IIIC. Ms. Paz said she was more concerned about having enough time to review the Objective IIIC cases because that spreadsheet contained over 100 cases. Ms. Paz said she would discuss this option with the EO members reviewing the cases to see if it was doable and would get back to me by tomorrow. |
| 12/20/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements: Holly, Attached are the results of our audit tests to determine if developmental letters contained questions that were deemed unnecessary by EO. As we discussed, for criteria we used the list of 7 questions/areas identified as unnecessary by EO (Attachment 1) as well if the applicant received a subsequent letter from EO to disregard any previously asked questions. We would appreciate receiving any input you may have regarding the results of this test. I also look forward to hearing from you about our proposed schedule to discuss the results of our case reviews. Thanks Tom D.2.4 D.2.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 12/21/12 | CJM    | AM Seidell received the following email regarding discussing the exception cases with EO: From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov] Sent: Friday, December 21, 2012 12:12 PM                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Report Exhibits - Page 001281

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | To: Seidell, Thomas F TIGTA Subject: review of cases Tom, We discussed the timeline you and I spoke about yesterday and will try to have reviewed at least a sizeable number of the cases by the dates you mentioned. Our folks who will be doing the review are now out until the beginning of the year. We will update you as to the status of our review the end of the first week of January so we can set exact dates and times for our discussions. Holly                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 1/9/13  | CJM    | AM Seidell sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements, regarding EO's review of the exception cases: Hi Holly, I hope you had a nice holiday. I'm checking in to see how far along you are on the cases. Thanks Tom                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1/11/13 | CJM    | Briefing held with Acting DIGA, Mike McKenney, AIGA Kutz, Director Paterson, AM Seidell and myself. PAZff We first discussed the targeting of groups and the criteria used. We do not have the May 2010 email first issued citing Tea Party as the criteria. Acting DIGA McKenney commented that the IRS should be required by law, just like TIGTA, to retain all emails for a certain amount of time. We should ask EO Director Lois Lerner about this email. AIGA Kutz will ask TIGTA's CIO George Jakabcin about the retention requirements. We need to include in the report that in some cases, the application did not show any political campaign intervention, but it was found once the application was processed. AIGA Kutz mentioned that Senator Hatch is interested in the donor question, so we need to have this information ready. He also asked us what recommendations we plan to make. They include formalizing in the IRM the process for approving BOLO additions or changes, and the need for training. AIGA Kutz suggested we recommend expeditious processing of the old advocacy cases that are still open. The ones open longer than average. AIGA Kutz informed Acting DIGA McKenney that we still need to go through the exception cases with EO. Acting DIGA McKenney will brief IG George about this review. TIGTA will brief the Hill in March on this review. Senate Finance will want a briefing, too. |
| 1/14/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson received an email from EO Director Lois Lerner regarding our exception cases. 6.4.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 1/15/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson, AM Seidell, and myself discussed EO Director's email regarding exception cases. I researched the four cases mentioned to determine if we were inconsistent in our treatment of them. 26 U.S.C. § 6103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Report Exhibits - Page 001282

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | 26 U.S.C. § 6103 Director Paterson requested our methodology with the criteria we used to review the cases. He also requested an email from Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, that confirms only political advocacy should be reviewed. I forwarded both to him. AM Seidell suggested we make hotel reservations for the last week of January in DC to discuss the cases.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 1/15/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent Lois Lerner, EO Director, the criteria we used to identify our exception cases. C-4.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 1/15/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson had a conference call with EO Director and Director R&A, to discuss at a high level the case reviews. PAZ.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 1/24/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the following email and received a response regarding the May 2010 criteria email sent to Determinations Specialists: From: Paterson, Troy D TIGTA [mailto:Troy.Paterson@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Thursday, January 24, 2013 8:51 AM To: Paz Holly O Subject: E-Mail Retention Question Holly, Good morning, During a recent briefing, I mentioned that we do not have the original e-mail from May 2010 stating that "Tea Party" applications should be forwarded to a specific group for additional review. After thinking it through, I was wondering about the IRS's retention or backup policy regarding e-mails. Do you know who I could contact to find out if this e-mail may have been retained? Troy From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov] Sent: Friday, January 25, 2013 5:40 AM To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA Subject: RE: E-Mail Retention Question Troy, I have not dealt with this issue before and do not know who you would need to contact regarding this question. I will raise this up and try to identify the appropriate contact person. In the meantime, I will ask the folks in EO Determinations to search their electronic and paper files again to see if we can locate the email. Holly |

Report Exhibits - Page 001283

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1/25/13 | CJM    | Had conference call with EO to discuss its review of case exceptions. 6.4.10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 1/31/13 | CJM    | AM Seidell and myself traveled to DC to meet with EO and discuss exceptions. 6.4.15                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 1/31/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson, along with AIGA Kutz, briefed the IG on this audit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 1/31/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson received the following response from Holly Paz regarding the May 2010 email and IRS retention requirements: From: Paz Holly O (mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov) Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2013 5:15 AM To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA Cc: Lerner Lois G Subject: RE: E-Mail Retention Question Troy, I'm sorry we won't get to see you today. We have reached out to determine the appropriate contact regarding your question below and have been told that, if this data request is part of a Discovery, the coordination needs to go through Chief Counsel. The person to contact regarding a Discovery request is Glenn Melcher. His email address is Glenn.Melcher@irs.dhs.gov and his phone number is [REDACTED] Holly                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 1/31/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent a request to Glenn Melcher, IRS Counsel, regarding IRS email retention: Glenn, Good morning. My name is Troy Paterson and I work with the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration. Holly Paz within the Tax Exempt and Government Entities Division's Exempt Organizations (EO) function referred me to you for some assistance on one of our audits (the engagement letter is attached). During the audit, we were informed that an e-mail was sent in May 2010 by someone in the EO function's Determinations Unit in Cincinnati, Ohio to forward all "Tea Party" applications for additional review by a particular Determinations group. The EO function has not been able to locate this e-mail. Therefore, we would like to determine whether internal e-mails from May 2010 have been archived or retained in some manner. If so, how would we go about obtaining a copy of the e-mail? Any assistance you could provide would be appreciated. Troy Paterson Director, Tax Exempt and Government Entities/Human Capital Glenn Melcher read the email, but never responded. |

— = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001284

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|---------|--------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | From: Melcher, Glenn J [mailto:Glenn.J.Melcher@ircounsel.treps.gov] Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2013 8:31 AM To: Paterson, Troy D TIGTA Subject: Read: RE: E-Mail Retention Question Your message To: Melcher, Glenn J Subject: RE: E-Mail Retention Question Sent: Thursday, January 31, 2013 7:34:56 AM (UTC-05:00) Eastern Time (US &amp; Canada) was read on Thursday, January 31, 2013 8:31:06 AM (UTC-05:00) Eastern Time (US &amp; Canada). No further response was received.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 2/4/13  | CJM    | Director Paterson, AM Seidell and myself held conference call to discuss report message. Director Paterson briefed us on his meeting with the IG regarding this audit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 2/7/13  | CJM    | Director Paterson briefed AM Seidell and myself on meeting with AIGA Kutz. AIGA Kutz was interested in the status of the report, in particular the Highlights page. Director Paterson stated that he had written something, but due to size limitations, it is very general. We will also need to leave room for an office of audit comments section. AIGA Kutz then informed Director Paterson of a meeting with the Office of Investigations he had. Randy Silvis of OI used to work with the e-fraud team which has access to all IRS emails and can search for the May 2010 email we are trying to obtain. The search can be completed using key words and people's names. It was decided that AM Seidell and myself will develop a listing of people for certain time periods and criteria that we want to search. |
| 2/13/13 | CJM    | I sent the following email to Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements, requesting an estimated date for receiving EO's feedback on the rest of the exceptions. Hi Holly, I wanted to check on the review status of the rest of the exception cases (those related to cases not sent to the advocacy team) as well as the review of the timeliness and unnecessary question schedules we sent you. Do you have an estimate on when we will be receiving EO's comments? Thanks. Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 2/20/13 | CJM    | Sent request to Dr. Katz for our statistical sample projections. 5.2.11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 2/25/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the discussion draft to Acting DIGA, Mike McKenny, and Chief Counsel, Mike McCarthy, for review prior to issuance. Good morning, Greg mentioned that, due to the sensitivity of the attached report, he would                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Report Exhibits - Page 001285

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------|--------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | like for us to obtain your feedback before we issue a discussion draft report to the IRS. Therefore, I am attaching a copy of the report for your review. If you have any questions or would like to meet to discuss, please let me know. I look forward to hearing from you. Troy Paterson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 2/25/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the discussion draft to Tom Doni, Auditor, to review our outcome measures prior to issuance. Tom, Good afternoon. I hope all is well. I was hoping you could help us out. Attached is a report we have written regarding how the IRS processes tax-exempt applications from organizations that potentially are involved in political campaign intervention. Due to the sensitivity of this report, our AIGA has asked that Chief Counsel and the DIGA review the report before we issue it as a discussion draft. In addition, Greg thought it would be a good idea for the report to be reviewed from an outcome perspective so we don't potentially revise our position with the IRS on outcomes between discussion draft and draft. Could you please review and let us know what you think of how we present our outcomes and whether you identify any additional outcomes we should consider? I would appreciate it. If you have any questions or would like to discuss, please let me know. Troy               = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations             |
| 2/25/13 | CJM    | Tom Doni, Auditor, sent his response regarding our outcome measures: Hi Troy – I took a quick read through Appendix IV and the report body. Nothing jumped out at me as being out of line, and I did not see anything that you missed. If you have any other questions, let me know. Thanks, Tom                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 2/25/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the following email to Lois Lerner and Holly Paz regarding issues identified during our review, but did not make it into the report: Lois and Holly,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

Report Exhibits - Page 001286

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------|--------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | Good afternoon. There were a couple of minor issues that we uncovered during our audit that are not significant enough to be included in our upcoming report. However, I thought I would forward them to you for your consideration. 1. Issue #1 – Miscoded Cases: We selected two samples of Section 501 (c)(4) applications from an EDS download provided to us by the EO function. However, when we reviewed the sampled case files, 14 cases with subsection (c)(4) on the EDS were actually not related to 501(c)(4) organizations. The subsections were incorrect on the EDS. We performed IDRS research on the 14 cases and found that 11 are still miscoded as 501(c)(4) organizations on the EOBFMF as well.  26 U.S.C. § 6103  Attached is a listing of the 14 cases for your use. S.2.10 2. Issue #2 – Form 1023 Instructions: Organizations applying for 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status are afforded the right to sue the IRS for declaratory judgment if a determination decision is not made within 270 days. However, the instructions for completing the Form 1023 application do not mention this right. Many of the organizations applying for 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status are small organizations run by volunteers and may not be aware of other existing guidance regarding this right, e.g., Revenue Procedure 2012-09 or Publication 557. These organizations are more likely to rely on the Form 1023 instructions for guidance. In addition, development letters to 501(c)(3) organizations include statements about the organization possibly losing the right to sue if they do not respond to the request for information timely. This may confuse organizations if it is the first time they have heard of this right. In future revisions of the Form 1023 instructions, we would suggest the IRS consider including information on an organization's right to sue for declaratory judgment, as well as possibly a reference to the Internal Revenue Code, Publication 557, and/or the most current Revenue Procedure for further details. I hope this information is useful to you. Troy  — = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations  Lois Lerner, EO Director response: Thanks Troy—we'll look into this. Lois J. LernerDirector of Exempt Organizations |
| 2/27/13 | CJM    | Received the following response from Holly Paz, Director, Rulings and Agreements, regarding some loose ends: Please see answers below.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Report Exhibits - Page 001287

| Date    | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|         |        | From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov] Sent: Wednesday, February 27, 2013 7:59 AM To: Paz Holly O Subject: Follow-up questions Hi Holly, I have a couple of questions to close some gaps in our information. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Was the draft guidance provided to Determinations in November 2011 ever finalized? No. The decision was made to conduct training and do the bucketing instead given the facts and circumstances intensive analysis required by 501(c)(4).</li> <li>2. Have any 501(c)(3) advocacy organizations sued the IRS for declaratory judgment because it has taken more than 270 days to make a determination? Not to our knowledge.</li> </ol> Thanks for your help with these. Cheryl Medina                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 3/8/13  | CJM    | AIGA Kutz, Director Paterson, AM Seidell, and myself had a teleconference with TIGTA Counsel to discuss our report.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 3/11/13 | CJM    | Sent revised report to AIGA Kutz.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 3/19/13 | CJM    | Director Paterson sent a pre-discussion draft of the report to Lois Lerner, EO Director, and Holly Paz, Director Rulings and Agreements: Lois and Holly, Good afternoon. As mentioned previously, I am providing a copy of our report regarding applications to you while it is still in the process of being quality reviewed. I wanted to provide an early version so that you can have a little extra time to consider the issues in the report. I suspect that we will complete quality review by this time next week. Therefore, if you have any concerns that you would like us to consider before we issue the discussion draft, could you please provide them to us by COB Monday March 25th? If you wish, we can also schedule a meeting to discuss. Our first priority is any concerns you may have with the facts in the report, but we also will consider any other concerns that you may have. As always, if you have any questions or comments, please let me know. Troy Phone (Tuesday): [REDACTED] Phone (Monday, Wednesday-Friday): [REDACTED] |

Report Exhibits - Page 001288

| Date       | Author | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|            |        | ASSA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 3/21/13    | CJM    | EO Director, Lois Lerner, sent the following message regarding our pre-discussion draft:Holly and I have gone over the report and will try and incorporate our concerns into one document and get it to you by Monday. We also have some overall things we'd like to mention. Do you want to look at the comments first or should we just put some time on the calendar for Mon to have the chat?Lois J. LernerDirector of Exempt Organizations                                                                                                              |
| 3/22/13    | CJM    | Director Paterson sent the following email to schedule a meeting regarding the pre-discussion draft:Lois,Thank you for reviewing the report and offering to meet with us on Monday. Can you schedule a meeting for Monday morning to talk about your comments and concerns? Our executive, Greg Kutz, may be able to attend in person if he can work out the logistics. However, the rest of us will not be able to attend in person due to funding issues. Therefore, we will need a conference line also. I look forward to our discussion.Troy[REDACTED] |
| 4/17/13    | CJM    | Treasury Secretary Lew requested briefing from IG. Briefing held same day.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 04/22/2013 | TDP    | I reviewed this document and noted adequate documentation of supervision (involvement) by Acting AIGA Martin, AIGA Kutz, Director Paterson, and A/M Seidell.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 5/10/13    | CJM    | Received response from OI on search of IRS emails for identify of person who developed Tea Party criteria. PA2.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 5/10/13    | CJM    | IRS apologized for targeting Tea Party organizations in advance of our final report issuance.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 5/10/13    | CJM    | TIGTA held briefings with Hill staffers. Provided Appendix VI (criteria timeline) and VII (comprehensive timeline) from our report.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 5/13/13    | CJM    | Additional briefings held with several committee staffers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 5/13/13    | CJM    | House Ways and Means scheduled hearing for 5/17/13 at 9:00 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 5/14/13    | CJM    | Final Report issued.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

— = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Process for Reviewing Applications for Tax Exemption
Closing Conference

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Lois Lerner, Director Exempt Organizations
Meghan Biss, Technical Advisor
Greg Kutz, AIGA
Troy Paterson, Director
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor

Date: March 25, 2013

Time: 11:00 am

Subject: EO comments on pre-discussion draft report

---

Details:

Director Paterson provided EO a pre-discussion draft of the report for review. Lois Lerner provided written comments for a discussion. A56.w We went through the comments and the following are the main points made.

Comment 1: Although 501(c)(3) organizations are the majority of applications received, Ms. Lerner does not know what the total number of all other types of organizations combined is, so she does not think us saying most organizations are required to file is accurate.

Comment 2:

26 U.S.C. § 6103

Comment 3: We agree to change wording from actual to potential.

Comment 4: Ms. Lerner thinks the letters used the word expunged. Director Paterson asked if "destroyed" is ok because expunged may not be understood by everyone. She agreed.

Comment 7: Ms. Lerner wants more explanation of the application process.

Page 3: We need to determine the source of the figures cited by the Center for Responsive Politics. (Auditor's Note: The figures are from the Federal Election Commission. 2AL9)

Comment 9: Use of the term "political team" is inflammatory; the team is not just looking for political campaign intervention. It is referred to as the advocacy team because it is looking at all advocacy activities to make sure that social welfare is the primary activity. Ms. Lerner feels that the July 2011 criteria is what they should be reviewing: "Organizations involved with political, lobbying, or advocacy for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4)".

When a new issue is identified in Cincinnati (Determinations Unit), the EO Technical Unit requests a few cases to develop training. EOT sends development letters to the organizations, and some withdraw their applications. This requires additional cases to be requested from Determinations. All of this takes a while.

Director Paterson commented that the current criteria for identifying advocacy cases only refers to political campaign intervention and not all types of advocacy. Ms. Lerner stated that after the training in May 2012, the Specialists knew what political campaign intervention was, so changing the criteria to this was fine. The advocacy team is reviewing the applications for social welfare activities, not just political campaign intervention; all advocacy activities need to be considered.

Comment 10: Director Paterson asked how we should be referring to the various levels within the IRS. Ms. Lerner responded that at her level it would be the EO function or IRS; at Holly Paz's level it would be Rulings and Agreements; and at Cindy Thomas' level it would be Determinations.

Comment 11: Ms. Lerner is upset with the [26 U.S.C. § 6103] The report makes it appear that EO withheld information from us, which is not true. They have asked everyone, and no one knows who wrote the criteria. Mr. Kutz stated that someone has to know. Ms. Lerner stated that the staff put the BOLO together. She added that she has worked with TIGTA since 2001 and [26 U.S.C. § 6103]

26 U.S.C. §
6103

Comment 19: Organizations are required to file tax returns if they are denied tax-exempt status. If they have been in operation for 3 years and not filed an information return, if the organization is approved it will be automatically revoked.

Comment 21: Organizations must pay taxes retroactively if denied exemption.

Comment 23: The draft guidance was sent to Cincinnati for comment, not to use; training was provided instead of finalizing the guidance. There is a proposal to include 501(c)(4) guidance on the guidance plan for next year. This is not definite. Director Paterson commented that EO could respond to our recommendation to finalize the draft guidance with this action instead.

cjm
3/25/13

---

EXCERPT

---

---

TREASURY INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR TAX ADMINISTRATION

*Tax-Exempt Applications Were
Inappropriately Identified for Processing
Based on Organization Names and Values, but Corrective Actions Have Been Taken Ineffective Oversight Resulted in Delayed Processing of Tax-Exempt
Applications*

DRAFT

---

Phone Number : 202-622-6500
E mail Address : TIGTAcommunications@tigta.treas.gov
Website : <http://www.treasury.gov/tigta>

PSI-TIGTA-06-000686

DRAFT - Tax-Exempt Applications Were Inappropriately Identified for Processing Based on Organization Names and Values, but Corrective Actions Have Been Taken
Ineffective Oversight Resulted in Delayed Processing of Tax-Exempt Applications

We asked the Acting Commissioner, Tax-Exempt and Government Entities Division, the Director, EO function, and other EO function personnel if the criteria were influenced by any individual or organization outside the IRS. All of these officials informed us that the criteria were not influenced by any individual or organization outside the IRS. Instead, IRS management stated that the criteria were developed solely by the Determinations Unit without managerial approval. IRS management informed us that the inappropriate criteria were developed by the EO function-Determinations Unit for several reasons. The EO function developed and implemented inappropriate criteria due to ineffective oversight. For example, there was minimal management oversight or approval of the criteria before it was implemented. Also, EO function-Determinations Unit employees did not consider the public perception of using targeted, politically sensitive criteria when identifying these cases. In addition, staff, the criteria developed shows a lack of knowledge in the EO function-Determinations Unit of what activities are allowed by IRC § 501(c)(3) and IRC § 501(c)(4) social welfare organizations. Lastly, inappropriate criteria were allowed to be implemented because there was no management oversight or approval of its development. We note that there were no procedures in place to ensure that criteria developed by the Determinations Unit were approved by executive management.

EO function employees stated that they considered the "Tea Party" criterion as a shorthand term for all political cases. Whether the inappropriate criteria was shorthand for all political cases or not, developing and using criteria that focuses on organization names and values, instead of the activities permitted under the tax law, does not promote public confidence that tax-exempt laws are being adhered to impartially. In addition, the applications for those organizations that were identified for coordinated processing by the political team experienced additional delays and requests for unnecessary information that will be detailed later in this report.

Management Actions: Prior to July 2011, the EO function Director and the Acting Tax-Exempt and Government Entities Division Commissioner stated that they were not aware of the inappropriate processing criteria developed by the EO function-Determinations Unit. After being briefed on the criteria in June 2011, the EO function Director, EO function, immediately requested that the criteria be changed. In July 2011, the criteria were changed to focus on the activities of the organization. However, while this criteria was better than using organization names and values, it was subsequently changed by EO function-Determinations Unit employees in January 2012 without executive approval because they believed the July 2011 criteria were too broad. The January 2012 criteria again focused on the values of organizations, instead of the activities of organizations. After 8 months, the EO function-Determinations Unit employees learned that the criteria had been changed again by the EO function-Determinations Unit-the Director, Referrals and Agreements learned the criteria had been changed by the political team.

<sup>17</sup> Based on our review of other criteria, the use of organization names on the BOLO listing is not unique to political cases.

Comment [KGDT20]: How do you know this is this what they told us? Should we attach to IRS? (A) A screenshot is fine, ok.

Comment [KGDT21]: So we are saying all of this is local, what about HQ being unaware of what's going on in the field? (A) We have that info.

Comment [KGDT22]: Need to discuss whether the other 200 (100 tea party/50/12/patriot) and other 200 - how the "other 200" were selected? (A) We do not know. Either if it was a "Tea Party" or a "patriot" and so forth, any organization that was involved in political or social activities or the other 200 had something to do with the "patriot" or the "Tea Party". We could not determine either way. There is no direct supervision on the email page.

Comment [KGDT23]: Noting a factor, HQ was admitted they were unaware of what was going on for 17 months? (A) Yes, because the criteria was not communicated to the other 200.

Comment [KGDT24]: Were we OK with this? (A) Yes, the criteria was better than before, but HQ was not.

Comment [KGDT25]: Again, isn't this a finding of ineffective management, when was the change and how long was it around? What did it say? (A) It said how long the was around and that the criteria was inappropriate because it was not based on the criteria. It was not a finding of ineffective management, but it was a finding of ineffective management.

January 28, 2013

MEMORANDUM FOR THE OFFICE OF CHIEF COUNSEL

FROM: Assistant Inspector General for Audit (Management Services and Exempt Organizations)

SUBJECT: Request for Assistance Regarding Internal Revenue Code
Section 501(c)(4) and Treasury Regulation Section 1.501(c)(4)-1

In connection with our audit entitled Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax Exempt Status Involving Political Advocacy Issues (Audit # 201210022), we are requesting the Office of Chief Counsel's opinion on the interpretation of Internal Revenue Code (I.R.C.) Section (§) 501(c)(4) made in Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1.

Background

I.R.C. § 501 states that, "An organization described in subsection (c) or (d) or section 401(a) shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle unless such exemption is denied under section 502 or 503." Section 501(c)(4)(A) describes one type of organization included in this exemption as, "Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in a particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes."

Treasury Regulations were issued that provided further guidance on this I.R.C. § 501(c)(4). Treasury Regulation 1.501(c)(4)-1 states that, "An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements."

Appendices I and II include excerpts of I.R.C. § 501(c) and Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1.

|               | Initiator  | Progreader/Reviewer | Reviewer   | Reviewer | Reviewer | Reviewer | Reviewer | Reviewer |
|---------------|------------|-------------------------|------------|----------|----------|----------|----------|----------|
| Office Symbol | IG A:MSE   | IG A:MSE                | IG A:MSE   |          |          |          |          |          |
| Surname       | Medina     | Davis                   | Paterson   |          |          |          |          |          |
| Date          | 01/24/2013 | 1/24/13                 | 01/24/2013 |          |          |          |          |          |

Requested Counsel Opinion

It appears that the Treasury regulation contradicts the I.R.C. If an organization is required by law to operate exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, it's activities cannot be properly assessed using a lesser standard of primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community and still meet the requirements of the law. The standards of exclusively and primarily are not the same when measuring levels of activity.

We are requesting Counsel's opinion on the following:

Is there any history of the Department of the Treasury's interpretation of I.R.C. § 501(c)(4) when developing Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1, any tax committee notes, or any other documentation that could explain the Department of the Treasury's requirement of organizations to only be primarily engaged in promoting general welfare of the community instead of operating exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Thank you for your assistance. If you have any questions, please contact Audit Manager Thomas Seidell at (781) 438-2215.

I.R.C. § 501(c) Excerpt

Sec. 501. Exemption from tax on corporations, certain trusts, etc.

-STATUTE-

(a) Exemption from taxation

An organization described in subsection (c) or (d) or section 401(a) shall be exempt from taxation under this subtitle unless such exemption is denied under section 502 or 503.

(c) List of exempt organizations

The following organizations are referred to in subsection (a):

(4)(A) Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes.

Appendix II

Treasury Regulation 1.501(c)(4)-1 Excerpt

(a) Civic organizations—

(1) In general. A civic league or organization may be exempt as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) if—

- (i) It is not organized or operated for profit; and
- (ii) It is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

(2) Promotion of social welfare—(i) In general. An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. A social welfare organization will qualify for exemption as a charitable organization if it falls within the definition of charitable set forth in paragraph (d)(2) of §1.501(c)(3)–1 and is not an action organization as set forth in paragraph (c)(3) of §1.501(c)(3)–1.

| MEMORANDUM OF INTERVIEWOR ACTIVITY                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Type of Activity:<input type="checkbox"/> Personal Interview<input type="checkbox"/> Telephone Interview<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Records Review<input type="checkbox"/> Other | Date and Time:April 17, 2013 through May 3, 2013                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Activity or Interview of:Review of Electronic Mail in Support of theTreasury Inspector General forTax Administration, Office of Audit                                                        | Conducted by:Special Agent in ChargeJames S. JacksonElectronic Crimes and Intelligence DivisionLocation of Interview/Activity:TIGTA Headquarters1401 H Street, NW, Suite 469Washington, DC 20005 |
| Subject Matter/Remarks                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

On April 17, 2013, the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA), Office of Investigations (OI), Electronic Crimes and Intelligence Division (ECID), received a request from the TIGTA Office of Audit to retrieve and conduct a keyword search of the electronic mail for Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Employees JOSEPH R. HERR, ELIZABETH L. HOFACRE, GARY A. MUTHERT, JOHN H. SHAFER and CINDY M. THOMAS. ECID was requested to use the keywords "Tea" or "Patriots" or "9/12" or "(c)(4)", to identify any electronic mail messages sent or received between the staff of the IRS Office of Exempt Organizations (EO), Determination Unit, that directed the Determination Unit staff to hold or stop processing applications for tax exempt status.

On April 18, 2013, the electronic mailboxes and decryption certificates for HERR, HOFACRE, MUTHERT, SHAFER and THOMAS were received from the IRS, decrypted and exported to searchable format by ECID, Digital Forensics Support Group (DFS) Special Agent (SA) KEVIN TREBEL. An initial automated search conducted by DFS SA KEVIN HOLSTON for the above keywords resulted in over 5,500 hits.

Between April 18, 2013 through May 3, 2013, a manual search and review of the above decrypted and exported electronic mail messages was accomplished by ECID, Special Agent in Charge JAMES S. JACKSON. This review revealed that there was a lot of discussion between the employees identified above, as well as other EO employees on how to process "Tea Party" and other political organization's tax exempt applications. The search also revealed that there was a Be On the Lookout (BOLO) list specifically naming these groups; however, the e-mails indicated the organizations needed to be pulled because the group charged with reviewing these applications was not sure how to process them, not because they wanted to stall or hinder the application process. There was no indication from this electronic mail review that the pulling of these selected applications was politically motivated. The electronic mail traffic available indicated that there were unclear processing directions

|              |             |
|--------------|-------------|
| Case Number: | Case Title: |
|--------------|-------------|

MEMORANDUM OF INTERVIEW OR ACTIVITY (continuation sheet) and the group wanted to make sure they had guidance on processing the applications, so they pulled them in order to ensure they were all processed in a consistent manner.

|              |             |
|--------------|-------------|
| Case Number: | Case Title: |
|--------------|-------------|

Report Exhibits - Page 001299

Stuber, Laura (HSGAC)

---

From: Carter Thomas E TIGTA <Thomas.Carter@tigta.treas.gov>
Sent: Thursday, April 24, 2014 3:31 PM
To: Stuber, Laura (HSGAC)
Cc: Lueptow, Michael (HSGAC)
Subject: FW: HSGAC PSI questions

Hi Laura,

Here are Greg Kutz's answers. I also believe one of the documents in the last release (TIGTA Bates No. 01694) relates to this issue. Please let me know if you have any questions or need further assistance.

Thanks,
Tom

Thomas E. Carter
Acting Deputy Chief Counsel
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
1401 H. St NW, Room 414
Washington, DC 20005

(202) 927-0479 Office
(202) 622-3339 Fax

---

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, April 24, 2014 2:51 PM
To: Carter Thomas E TIGTA
Subject: RE: HSGAC PSI questions

We requested in February that OI review emails of certain individuals to determine whether they (OI) could identify an email that IRS had told us existed and then later said didn't, could be found. We also wanted to understand who had developed the inappropriate criteria. My letter was to Randy Silvis and that is who I primarily spoke to. We had a meeting in April with the IG to brief on the audit findings and OI was to brief on the status of request to review emails. At that point they expressed concerns about the scope of the email review, and I don't believe they had started pulling any emails at that point. I don't specifically recall Tim mentioning "fishing expedition" and my only reaction would be that we thought it would be prudent to look through emails for the reasons stated in the February referral letter. The ultimate resolution was to reduce the number of individuals whose emails were reviewed to a smaller number. I don't recall any disagreement since they had initially accepted the referral, but in the meeting the IG agreed that the emails should be reviewed before the report was issued. And they were.

Greg

---

From: Carter Thomas E TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, April 24, 2014 1:42 PM
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Subject: HSGAC PSI questions

Report Exhibits - Page 001300

Hi Greg,

Following up on our earlier conversation, I thought it might be better to get the answers in your own words to ensure accuracy and avoid me making any misrepresentations. Here are Laura's questions...

- 1) What is your reaction to Tim Camus describing OA's initial request for the "smoking gun" email as a "fishing expedition"
- 2) Describe any disagreement between OI and OA surrounding the OA request and how any disagreement was resolved.

If possible, I'd like to get this back to Laura by COB today. Please let me know if you have any questions or if you need more time.

Thanks,
Tom

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005

June 6, 2014

VIA ELECTRONIC AND FIRST CLASS MAIL

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
United States Senate
Russell Senate Office Bldg., Room SR-269
Washington, D.C. 20510-2202

Dear Senator Levin:

This is in response to your letter of May 28, 2014, regarding the Subcommittee's investigation into oversight by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of § 501(c)(4) groups that engage in campaign activity. As part of this investigation, the Subcommittee reviewed the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration's (TIGTA) audit report entitled, "Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax-Exempt Applications for Review," Audit Report No. 2013-10-053. You asked us to respond to five questions. Our responses to your questions follow:

1. Is it correct that the TIGTA audit found no evidence of political bias in how the IRS selected and reviewed 501(c)(4) applications filed by groups engaged in campaign intervention activities?

The Office of Audit asked the Acting Commissioner, Tax Exempt and Government Entities Division; the Exempt Organizations (EO) Director; and Determinations Unit personnel whether the inappropriate criteria were influenced by any individual or organization outside the IRS. We reported that, "all of these officials stated that the criteria were not influenced by any individual or organization outside the IRS." I also testified before Congress that TIGTA found no evidence of political bias during this audit. However, it is important to note that the matter is being further reviewed.

2. The TIGTA audit engagement letter stated the audit's "overall objective" was to examine the "consistency" of IRS actions in identifying and reviewing 501(c)(4) applications, including whether "conservative groups" experienced "inconsistent treatment." What conclusion did the TIGTA audit reach regarding whether conservative groups experienced inconsistent treatment by the IRS in comparison with liberal or progressive groups?

Report Exhibits - Page 001302

The Honorable Carl Levin
June 5, 2014
Page Two

TIGTA's engagement letter actually stated that the overall objective of the audit was "to assess the consistency of the EO function's identification and review of applications for tax-exempt status involving political advocacy issues." Our overall objective was not to determine whether conservative groups experienced inconsistent treatment. Appendix I of our report shows that we, "determined whether the actions taken by the EO function to identify applications for tax-exempt status of organizations potentially involved in political campaign intervention were consistent" by reviewing all 298 potential political cases identified as of May 2012 that IRS forwarded to their team of EO specialists, as well as statistical samples of applications that the IRS did not forward to its team of EO specialists. In all, we reviewed more than 600 cases to determine if the applications involving political advocacy issues received consistent treatment. Our report concludes that:

"The inappropriate and changing criteria may have led to inconsistent treatment of organizations applying for tax-exempt status. For example, we identified some organizations' applications with evidence of significant political campaign intervention that were not forwarded to the team of specialists for processing but should have been. We also identified applications that were forwarded to the team of specialists but did not have indications of significant political campaign intervention. All applications that were forwarded to the team of specialists experienced substantial delays in processing."

Our audit report does not include the terms "conservative," "liberal," or "progressive," and TIGTA did not make any characterizations of the political views of any organizations.

3. At a June 3, 2013 hearing before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government, in response to a question about whether TIGTA's audit had "found any political motivation in reviewing tax-exempt applications," you testified:

"But in the instance of the political activity matter, we did not uncover instances of groups that could readily be identified as being, you know, liberal, you know, for lack of a better term, that were treated in a manner that these Tea Party cases were."

Did you mean that the TIGTA audit uncovered instances where liberal groups were treated in a different manner than Tea Party groups? If so, please describe those instances and in what ways the liberal groups were treated differently.

Report Exhibits - Page 001303

The Honorable Carl Levin
June 5, 2014
Page Three

In the audit report, TIGTA did not characterize any organizations as liberal or conservative. Nor did we assess whether liberal groups were treated in a manner different than Tea Party groups. Our audit report used the terms Tea Party, 9/12, or Patriots because those were the terms the IRS represented it was using to select cases for further review for potential significant political campaign intervention. As stated in our audit report: "We identified some organizations' applications with evidence of significant political campaign intervention that were not forwarded to the team of specialists for processing but should have been. We also identified applications that were forwarded to the team of specialists but did not have indications of significant political campaign intervention."

In my testimony before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government, I was conveying that, in the audit report, we did not characterize the political views of any organizations. Many of the names of the organizations used terms not readily categorized on the political spectrum, and we did not identify any objective criteria that we could use to label these groups in a manner that meets government auditing standards.

4. Did the Be on the Look Out (BOLO) lists issued by the IRS ask IRS agents to be on the lookout for applications filed by progressive and liberal groups?

As we stated in our audit report, we did not review the use of other named organizations or terms on the BOLO listings to determine if their use was appropriate, nor did our audit make any characterizations of the political views of any organizations. During our audit, we used the "Emerging Issues" section of the BOLO listing, which the IRS informed us was the criteria it used to identify potential political campaign intervention cases during the time period covered by our audit. However, the term "Progressives" appears on the BOLO listing in a section labeled "Historical." This BOLO entry refers to § 501(c)(3) organizations. The three "Progressive" cases included in the 298 potential political cases that were forwarded to the team of specialists as of May 2012 were § 501(c)(4) organizations. While we have multiple sources of information corroborating the use of Tea Party and other related criteria we described in our report, including employee interviews, e-mails, and other documents, we found no indication in any of these sources that "Progressives" was a term used to refer cases for scrutiny for political campaign intervention during the time period covered by our audit.

Report Exhibits - Page 001304

The Honorable Carl Levin
June 5, 2014
Page Four

5. In his interview with the Subcommittee, Assistant Inspector General Gregory Kutz told the Subcommittee that all 501(c)(4) applications within the advocacy category of cases appeared to have received the same treatment by the IRS. Do you agree?

Based on the recollection of Mr. Kutz, the response of "same treatment" would have referred to the delays in processing and tracking by the IRS of these cases. Specifically, as stated in our audit report, all applications (including 89 applications for § 501(c)(3) status) that we reviewed that were forwarded to the IRS team of EO specialists experienced substantial delays in processing. In addition, all of the 298 potential political cases that we reviewed were recorded on a tracking sheet by the IRS. However, it is important to note that no two applications were treated exactly the same since the information provided by applicants in each application differed. For example, for 296 of these cases,<sup>1</sup> as of December 17, 2012, 108 applications had been approved, 28 were withdrawn by the applicant, none had been denied, and 160 cases were open from 206 to 1,138 calendar days (some crossing two election cycles). In addition, the IRS Determinations Unit sent applicants requests for information that we later (in whole or in part) determined to be unnecessary for 98 (58 percent) of 170 organizations that received additional information request letters.

We hope this information is helpful. If you or your staff has any questions, please contact me at (202) 622-6500, or Acting Deputy Inspector General for Audit Michael McKenney at (202) 622-5916.

Sincerely,

J. Russell George
Inspector General

cc: The Honorable John McCain
Ranking Minority Member
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

---

<sup>1</sup> By December 17, 2012, two cases were no longer being processed by the team of EO specialists.

Report Exhibits - Page 001305

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt Involving Political Advocacy Issues
#201210022
AIGA Briefing
September 12, 2012

Overall Objective:

Our overall objective is to assess the consistency of the Exempt Organizations function's identification and review of applications for tax-exempt status involving potential political advocacy issues.

Objective I – Assess the actions taken by the Exempt Organizations function in response to the increase in applications for tax-exempt status from organizations potentially involved in political advocacy activities.

Current Status:

- We have completed preliminary interviews with the main players in the development of the advocacy issue to ascertain actions taken.
- We have obtained numerous emails and documents related to the development of the advocacy issue.
- We have completed a draft timeline of events based upon the information we have obtained to date.

Work Scheduled:

- Perform additional interviews as necessary to gather all relevant information.
- Continue to develop the timeline if additional information is provided.
- Complete summaries for the objective.

Objective II – Determine whether changes to procedures and controls since May 2010 affected the timeliness of reviewing applications involving potential political advocacy issues.

Current Status:

- We have completed preliminary interviews with the main players in the development of the advocacy issue and determined that there were no outside influences when developing the criteria used to identify advocacy cases that led to delays in processing the cases.
- We have reviewed documentation related to the steps taken during the development of the advocacy emerging issue to determine if any actions delayed the review of the political advocacy applications. Delays identified include:
  - Lack of consistent management oversight.
  - Lack of a formal process to request assistance from EO Technical (Headquarters).
  - Untimely guidance provided to EO Determinations from EO Technical.

Work Scheduled:

Report Exhibits - Page 001306

- Complete summaries for the objective.

Objective III – Determine whether the actions taken by the Exempt Organizations function to identify applications for tax-exempt status of organizations with potential political advocacy issues were consistent.

Current Status:

- IIIA – EDS Full Development Cases
  - 173 out of 244 cases completed. We received another 36 cases that need to be reviewed.
  - 21 potential exceptions identified
  - 72 cases missing screener chronology
  - 21 cases missing specialist check sheet
  - 14 cases missing specialist chronology
  - 12 cases missing specialist narrative detailing justification for determination
  - 26 U.S.C. § 6103
- IIIB – Merit Closed Cases
  - 90 of 94 cases completed plus the extra sampled cases. We did not receive three of the initially sampled cases. (We have re-requested them. We also re-requested 1 additional case because the file was incomplete.)
  - 3 potential exceptions identified
  - 26 cases missing screener chronology
  - 34 cases missing specialist check sheet
  - 8 cases missing specialist chronology
  - 35 cases missing specialist narrative detailing justification for determination
- IIIC – Advocacy Cases
  - 116 out of 298 cases completed. We received another 75 cases that need to be reviewed.
  - 62 potential exceptions identified
  - 17 cases missing screener chronology
  - 12 cases missing specialist check sheet
  - 4 cases missing specialist chronology
  - 6 cases missing specialist narrative detailing justification for determination

Work Scheduled:

- Continue to review objective IIIA cases as the files are received.
- Continue to review objective IIIC cases as the files are received.
- Discuss results with EO once reviews completed.
- Complete summaries for the objective.

Objective IV – Determine whether the EO function consistently had a reasonable basis for requesting information from organizations seeking tax-exempt status involved in potential advocacy.

Report Exhibits - Page 001307

Current Status:

- We have not begun this objective.

Work Scheduled:

- Once we complete objective III, we will begin reviewing cases for this objective.
We will review the same cases obtained for Objective IIIC.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-exempt Status Involving Political Advocacy Cases Audit Status Meeting

MEMO OF CONTACT

Participants: Greg Kutz, AIGA
Troy Paterson, Director (via phone)
Tom Seidell, Audit Manager
Cheryl Medina, Senior Auditor
Michael McGovern, Auditor
Evan Close, Auditor

Date: September 25, 2012

Time: 10:00 am

Subject: Status of audit

---

Details:

AIGA Kutz began by informing us that TIGTA received an inquiry from Representative Issa on the status of our review. It was decided that TIGTA will respond that we are still in fieldwork.

AM Seidell went through the current status of the audit. We have completed a timeline of events after interviewing numerous EO employees and reviewing over 100 emails. AIGA Kutz commented that we don't know if we received all documentation.

AM Seidell then discussed our three samples for the case reviews. He explained what a § 501(c)(4) organization can and cannot do, including political campaign intervention, as long as it is not the primary activity of the organization, and furthers its exempt purpose. For § 501(c)(3) organizations, they cannot do any political campaign intervention. For the three samples, we are reviewing over 600 cases to determine if they were accurately identified for the advocacy group, based upon the information available to the screener. In Objective IV, we will review the questions to determine if any were unnecessary.

AIGA Kutz had an idea for a future review. Fake organizations could be approved for § 501(c)(3) status. Any charitable donations to the organizations are tax deductible, which affects the tax gap.

AM Seidell explained that according to the people we spoke to, the Headquarters office knew cases were being held, but did not know the criteria being used. However, we have emails that include references to Tea Party cases by Headquarters employees.

Report Exhibits - Page 001309

2

AIGA Kutz kept suggesting we put examples in the report of references to organizations and the delays in processing cases that took place. He suggested we check with Chief Counsel on whether we can generically refer to cases as examples without them being redacted in the report.

AIGA Kutz reviewed 26 U.S.C. § 6103
(b)(3); 26 U.S.C. 6103 He asked how many organizations received the donor information question. I stated that we have not looked at the questions yet, but IRS Headquarters reviewed many case files for the donor question and that I could give him a figure. (Auditor's Note: During a break in the meeting, I reviewed the Headquarters analysis of the questions asked and identified 29 organizations that received the donor question. AIGA Kutz asked how many of them were Tea party organizations. I identified eight Tea Party organizations that received the donor question. Binder 1, pp. 112-116)

We then discussed how we envision the report. AM Seidell explained that we planned on issuing an interim report and a final report for this review, similar to the filing season audits completed every year. The first report would cover the timeline of events and the identification of advocacy cases. The second report would include similar information, but would also include our analysis of the questions (Objective IV). AIGA Kutz did not think an interim report was a good idea. He suggested that the report needs to answer the crucial question of whether the IRS targeted Tea Party organizations. The answer is yes. We should also include the allegations made by the organizations.

Right now, no one has admitted to authorizing the criteria used to identify advocacy cases. It just ended up that way. AIGA Kutz thinks we need to ask the TEGE Commissioner who authorized the Tea Party criteria. Director Paterson has his quarterly meeting with the Commissioner tomorrow (9/26/12).

AM Seidell called Director Paterson to join the meeting. AIGA Kutz reiterated that he would like to get TEGE's official position on the criteria. Director Paterson agreed and suggested he could also ask the EO Director about this as well. AIGA Kutz thought this was a good idea. AIGA Kutz also wants to ask if the executives know that the organizations were asked to provide additional information, but later told it was not necessary.

Director Paterson mentioned the interim report we plan on issuing. It would include information on whether the IRS targeted Tea Party organizations, whether more liberal organizations were referred to the advocacy group. A discussion on how to word issues in the report was had. It was decided we need to state the facts - other organizations with political campaign intervention issues were not sent to the advocacy group (objective IIIA and IIIB). We cannot definitively identify liberal vs. conservative organizations, so we want to stay away from using "heated" jargon.

cjm
9/27/12

Report Exhibits - Page 001310

Anketell Margaret A TIGTA

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 19, 2012 7:28 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; McGovern Michael A TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Cc: Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Subject: JCT Report on Allegations of Bias Surrounding Applications for Tax Exemption and Examinations of Tax-Exempt Organizations

Cheryl, Mike, and Tom,

Proving that there is nothing new under the sun, here is a March 2000 report from the Joint Committee on Taxation regarding allegations that the IRS was biased when reviewing applications and conducting examinations of politically active organizations that were tax-exempt or applying to be tax-exempt. Sound familiar? I haven't read this yet, but I'm thinking we might be able to glean some bits of wisdom from an investigation that has already been down the path we are heading. Have fun!

Troy

— = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001311

Anketell Margaret A TIGTA

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 1:47 PM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

Russ,

I thought Russell was going to be briefed on these at the Senior Staff meeting today, but it looks like we're scheduling something for early next week. Assuming there are no objections next week, we will start planning the application side of the audit next week. Planning will start for the oversight of existing 501(c)(4)s review in about a month.

We lucked out that we have two teams that are in the process of issuing reports right now and they happen to be the teams with the most experience in the area!

Troy

[REDACTED]

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

---

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 1:42 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

When are you starting these if you do?

<< OLE Object: Picture (Device Independent Bitmap) >>

Russell P. Martin
Director - Electronic Tax Administration
Returns Processing and Account Services
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 1:34 PM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

Russ,

Nancy and I were up on the hill about a week and a half ago to discuss concerns one of the House Ways and Means subcommittees had with the way the IRS is processing requests for tax exemption from potential section 510(c)(4) organizations related to the Tea Party. Basically, the staffers we met with allege that the IRS has been sitting on requests for a long time and, during an election year, asking a massive amount of unreasonable questions before deciding on whether to grant tax exemption to Tea Party-related groups. At the same time, the IRS is getting a lot of heat from the Democrat side who allege that the IRS is not cracking down hard enough on organizations funneling money to super PACs that are masquerading as tax-exempt social welfare organizations (section 501(c)(4)) organizations). In response, we've decided to look at both sides of it (how the IRS is processing applications for tax exemption by potential 501(c)(4) organizations and how the IRS is overseeing 501(c)(4) organizations that are already in business and filing information returns).

Report Exhibits - Page 001312

This seems to crop up every election year when one side or the other believes either the IRS is overstepping its bounds or tax-exempts are being too politically active.

Troy
[REDACTED]

---

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 1:22 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

Hey Troy -- what is this in response to??? Sorry trying to get up to speed.

<< OLE Object: Picture (Device Independent Bitmap) >>

Russell P. Martin
Director - Electronic Tax Administration
Returns Processing and Account Services
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 12:44 PM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA; Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Cc: Casey Kenneth F TIGTA; Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

Mike,

Attached is the revised 501(c)(4) briefing paper. We have addressed your concern by stating that we will cancel one audit and delay another audit. A brief description of the canceled audit and delayed audit can be found in the footnote. If you need any additional information, please let me know.

Troy
[REDACTED]

<< File: IG Briefing Paper (501c4 Social Welfare Organizations).doc >>

---

From: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 22, 2012 8:56 AM
To: Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Cc: Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Casey Kenneth F TIGTA; Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: FW: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper
Importance: High

Report Exhibits - Page 001313

Hi Nancy,

Before I send this up to Matt, can Troy and you put under the Audit Project section what we have to give up doing to focus on these two audits. If you can be specific about which two audits in the plan will not be done and why we will not do them, it helps to show Russell that we have limited resources and have to give up other reviews that we had planned to do.

Thanks,

Mike

---

From: Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, March 21, 2012 8:45 PM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Cc: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: FW: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

Mike,

Based on our discussion last Tuesday in Atlanta, we are planning a two-phased audit reviewing the IRS's oversight of § 501(c)(4) organizations. The attached briefing document outlines the two phases as well as the recent media and congressional interest in this area.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Thanks,

Nancy

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, March 21, 2012 5:42 AM
To: Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Cc: Kisler Debra L TIGTA
Subject: RE: 501(c)(4) Briefing Paper

<< File: IG Briefing Paper (501c4 Social Welfare Organizations).doc >>

Report Exhibits - Page 001314

From: McGovern Michael A TIGTA
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Cc: Soudell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: RE: c4s
Date: Monday, March 26, 2012 8:47:03 AM

---

Ok. I was on the phone with Tom Hawkins. I'm going to begin referencing today, so the sooner we have the meeting the better.

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 26, 2012 8:40 AM
To: McGovern Michael A TIGTA
Subject: c4s

Tom called me this morning to say that Nancy has given Troy the ok to contact legislative affairs informing them of this review. We then can contact EO for a planning meeting. Tom would like to have a conference call later today for us to brainstorm on what info/questions we want to discuss with EO during planning. Put your thinking cap on.

Cheryl Medina
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Phone: 781-835-4278
Fax: 781-279-0336

Anketell Margaret A TIGTA

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, March 29, 2012 9:41 AM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; McGovern Michael A TIGTA; Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: Article on Determs

Here is the first article I've seen that actually compares letters from the IRS to both conservative and progressive groups -- letters ask similar questions.

Does the IRS really have it in for tea party groups?

By Teddy Wilson

Wednesday, March 28, 2012 at 5:19 am

Conservative activists and some Republican lawmakers are up in arms about what they describe as the Internal Revenue Service conducting a partisan and ideologically driven campaign against tea party groups around the country. They claim that progressive organizations are not experiencing the same level of scrutiny. However, some progressive groups say they have had similar experiences with the IRS, and at least one expert dismisses the notion that the government is engaged in an ideological witch hunt.

Tea party groups, as well as other non-profit organizations, can apply for tax-exempt status with the IRS. Under the 501(c) designation there are 28 different types of organizations that are exempt from paying some or all federal taxes. Typically, organizations like tea party groups will apply either for 501(c)3 or 501(c)4 status, depending on the organization's activities. One of the differences between the designations is that donations to a 501(c)3 are tax deductible and donations to a 501(c)4 are not.

In an interview with the Texas Independent, Toby Walker of the Waco Tea Party said that the group applied for 501(c)4 status by filing a 1024 form with the IRS in July of 2010. About a month later the group was informed that the IRS would take 90 days to inform it of an approval, a denial, or a request for more information. "The 90 days came and went," said Walker. "But on their web site it said that they were behind. We started calling and checking in, and they said they were backlogged."

Then on Feb. 7 of this year, the Waco Tea Party received a letter from the IRS asking for the answers to 20 questions. "Some of the questions were acceptable," said Walker. "We knew they were going to ask for more information, and we weren't surprised to get the letter. What surprised us were a number of the questions that did not pertain to the 1024."

"Red alert"

Walker specifically cited the seventeenth question as being a "red alert." The question asks if the group has a "close relationship with any candidate for public office or political party." The question also asks them to describe the relationship.

"I told our treasurer to find out what that means," said Walker. "When we called the IRS they said that close relationship is subjective and to send them the names, and they will let us know. What does that mean?"

"It was so onerous to answer," said Walker.

Report Exhibits - Page 001316

The letter asked for transcripts of the group's social media activities, including posts on Facebook and Twitter. It also requested transcripts of the group's online radio show. Walker said that the group was looking at significant costs for printing and shipping all of the documents required. "Just to do our Twitter account would be between 2,500 and 3,000 pages," said Walker.

Walker said that she knew that "left leaning groups" that filed the same year had been approved. While she did not name the specific groups, Walker referred to a March 8 Roll Call article. The article stated that "several liberal groups contacted by Roll Call did not report similar experiences."

The article specifically cited Protect Your Care, a 501(c)4 organization that describes its mission as providing a space to "champion the Affordable Care Act," as an organization that did not receive any such questionnaire letter from the IRS. Roll Call also said that one other unnamed liberal 501(c)4 organization was granted tax exempt status in May after receiving "only a modest six-part questionnaire."

Progressives get same treatment

However, interviews conducted by the Texas Independent with three different progressive organizations call into question charges that the IRS is engaged in ideological discrimination. Each organization reported varying degrees of interactions with the IRS, and the amount of time it took each to receive final approval also varied. However, two of the organizations did receive correspondence from the IRS requesting more information, and those letters included similar questions to those received by the Waco Tea Party.

In College Station, Texas, the Brazos Progressives, a coalition of progressive groups and businesses, originally filed for 501(c)3 status and, after being denied, filed for and received 501(c)4 status. Clean Elections Texas, an organization that seeks to build support for a public funding option for candidates seeking public office in Texas, filed for 501(c)4 status and said that they avoided requests for more information by being advised on what specific information the IRS was looking for on the 1024 forms.

A staff member of a progressive organization in Texas spoke with the Texas Independent on the condition of anonymity due to the fact that their organization is undergoing a similar review as the Waco Tea Party. The staff member said that while the organization's application for 501(c)3 and 501(c)4 status went through "fairly smoothly," the organization also had to answer extensive follow-up questions about its finances and mission.

"We received a questionnaire of around twenty questions," said a staff member. "The letter was looking for a deeper understanding of our organization. There were no questions that were that surprising. I think they [the questions] were just about really drilling into why we wanted to have a tax exempt status. It made us focus on what we are working on and what kind of great good agenda, not just a partisan agenda, we are working toward."

"The IRS is asking similar questions of organizations from all over the political spectrum."

The staff member, who said that he has worked for multiple 501(c)3 and 501(c)4 organizations during the Clinton, Bush, and Obama administrations, said that he has perceived no difference in how non-profits applying for tax-exempt status are treated. "When the IRS asks questions, then you answer them," said the staff member. "If you are upset with being upfront and clear about your organization, then maybe you shouldn't be filing for a 501(c)4 status."

A comparison of the letter from the IRS released by the Waco Tea Party and of a letter provided by the progressive Texas organization found that both are extensively detailed, asked similar questions, and were tailored to each organization. Both letters asked for copies of the organization's board meeting minutes and for copies of each organization's web sites. Questions also addressed specific concerns that the IRS had with each organization but, on the whole, did not appear to treat the organizations differently.

Report Exhibits - Page 001317

Marcus Owens, an attorney who represents non-profit organizations and has previously worked with the IRS, told the Texas Independent that the IRS is attempting to "get behind the rhetoric" of organizations that are interested in public policy.

"The IRS is asking similar questions of organizations from all over the political spectrum," said Owens. "The real issue for the IRS when it looks at organizations that apply for 501(c)4 status is whether or not they are social welfare organizations or something else. It's not whether or not they should be exempt or not, but which code section they should be exempt under."

While Owens did think that some of the questions were too broad and could have been worded better, he also said that groups applying for tax exempt status have options when questioned by the IRS.

"Fundamentally the IRS has a right ask the questions," said Owens. "However, the IRS is usually open to negotiating how much information you need to provide. What is clear is that this application process is normally not improved by public posturing. It is the task of the organization or the organization's representatives to add to the facts and make the case to the IRS."

Walker says that when the Waco Tea Party received the letter from the IRS, the group contacted its members, volunteers, and supporters. At no time did the group contact the IRS directly for clarification of the questions or to negotiate what information would be acceptable.

The Waco Tea Party also sought out the American Center for Law and Justice for legal advice and representation.

The ACLJ has taken up the cause of the Waco Tea Party and other tea party groups. The ACLJ describes itself as "committed to ensuring the ongoing viability of freedom and liberty in the United States and around the world." Founded in 1990 by television evangelist Pat Robertson, the group has gained notoriety for taking up conservative causes. These have included providing a legal defense for a public bus driver who was fired for refusing to take a woman to a Planned Parenthood clinic in Texas.

"When a branch of the fed government is violating citizens' rights, they need to be investigated and put into their constitutional box."

The ACLJ posted a petition on its web site to "Stop the IRS from Silencing the Tea Party." The petition claims that under the Obama Administration the IRS "appears to be conducting politically motivated investigations of tea party organizations nationwide." The petition characterizes the investigations as "bullying tactics" that are "designed to silence these organizations." The petition calls for the Speaker of the House and others to "provide IRS oversight." Other Republican lawmakers and candidates have joined in supporting these claims, and some have called for congressional investigations.

Rep. Flores gets involved

Republican Rep. Bill Flores (TX-17), whose district includes Waco, penned a letter to House Committee on Oversight on Government Reform Chairman Rep. Darrell Issa stating that he is "concerned that the IRS is targeting tea party organizations around the country." The letter requests that Issa's committee open an investigation into the issue and hold congressional hearings. Republican senators also sent a letter to Commissioner of the IRS Douglas Shulman, requesting a response to similar concerns and demanding that the agency hold further "demands for information."

Report Exhibits - Page 001318

The Waco Tea Party also taken to social media to make its case that it is being targetted by the IRS, characterizing it as a battle between the "IRS versus the tea party." Posting multiple status updates and links on Facebook and Twitter, the group has made the claim that you are "either with us or against us and the constitution." The group has also promoted the petition drive by the ALCJ, tweeting "defend the tea party from the IRS, sign the petition and call Congress."

Another recent tweet reads: "The left is trying to silence Rush, and the IRS is trying to silence the tea party."

Walker shares the desire for an investigation and hearings. "Yes there needs to be congressional hearings," she said. "When a branch of the fed government is violating citizens' rights, they need to be investigated and put into their constitutional box."

Waco Tea Party IRS Letter//

IRS Letter to Progressive Group//

Cheryl Medina
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Phone: 781-835-4278
Fax: 781-279-0336

Report Exhibits - Page 001319

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Jones Jeffrey M TIGTA
Subject: FW: Monthly Briefing Documents (May)
Date: Monday, May 21, 2012 10:11:01 AM
Attachments: 201210022-Commissioner Briefing Paper (Dated 05-30-2012)(7).doc
#201110027_CmrBriefingMay2012.doc
Text for IRS Commissioner Data Call to AIGA 10-10.doc

---

FYI

Russell P. Martin

Acting Assistant Inspector General for Audit

Management Services and Exempt Organizations

Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Office - 978-809-0296

---

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 21, 2012 10:11 AM
To: Begg Margaret E TIGTA
Subject: FW: Monthly Briefing Documents (May)

Peggy,

Below are the two suggestions from MSE. The one on the 501(c)(4) is the key briefing.

Thanks Russ

Russell P. Martin

Acting Assistant Inspector General for Audit

Management Services and Exempt Organizations

Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Office - 978-809-0296

---

From: Stephens Dorothy A TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 14, 2012 1:34 PM

RS-TIGTA-00-002000

TIGTA Bates No 006649

Report Exhibits - Page 001320

To: Begg Margaret E TIGTA; Duncan Alan R TIGTA; Martin Russell P TIGTA; McKenney Michael E TIGTA; Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Cc: Davis Estine H TIGTA
Subject: Monthly Briefing Documents (May)

Good afternoon, would you kindly send the briefing documents directly to the DIGA for the month of May and June.

Thank you for your assistance.

Dot

Monthly Commissioner Meeting

The MAY meeting with the IRS Commissioner is scheduled for MAY 30TH. The prep meeting with the Inspector General will be on MAY 22nd.

In order to prepare this month's briefing book, I need your respective suggestions for topics, as well as audits that you think Mike should discuss at the meeting. As in the past, please provide a briefing document on significant audits or any other audit issues or topics you would like discussed. If you would like to provide a copy of the discussion draft/draft report to supplement the briefing paper please feel free to do so.

Monthly Recovery Act Briefing Papers

Please update your monthly Recovery Act Briefing Papers as well.

For both the Commissioner Meeting Briefings and the Recovery Act Briefings, please use a new document for each audit you're highlighting. For your Recovery Act Briefing Papers, please include Recovery Act in the project title.

Please use the attached revised briefing paper template for both the Commissioner Meeting Briefing Papers and the Recovery Act Briefing Papers.
I would appreciate it if I could get your input by Friday, May 18th.

Thanks.

Report Exhibits - Page 001321

Process for Reviewing Applications for Tax Exemption Office of Audit Briefing Paper May 30, 2012

Audit Project or Report Number: 201210022

Objective: We are currently developing the appropriate scope for this audit, which will focus on the process used by the IRS when reviewing applications for tax-exempt status by § 501(c)(4) organizations.

Planned Discussion Draft Report Date: N/A

Planned Draft Report Date: N/A

Planned Final Report Date: N/A

Project/Report Description: On March 8, 2012, the Counselor to the Inspector General and Office of Audit representatives met with congressional staffers from the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. Congressional staff raised concerns with IRS reviews of applications for tax-exempt status by § 501(c)(4) Social Welfare organizations. Specifically, congressional staff were concerned that the IRS was targeting specific groups that had applied for tax exemption, e.g., Tea Party groups, and subjecting them to additional scrutiny based on their political views.

Program Information:

Organizations wishing to be recognized as tax-exempt may file applications with the IRS indicating their planned activities, as well as financial information. A determination is made on whether the organization qualifies for tax-exempt status. In some cases, additional information is requested from the organization before a determination decision is made.

Audit Status:

Due to the sensitivity of this issue, we are providing information identified during planning for this audit. We obtained documentation indicating that certain organizations' applications for tax-exempt status were targeted by the Exempt Organizations Determinations office based on the organizations' name or political beliefs. Additional audit work is needed to determine the extent, if any, of inconsistent treatment of these organizations applications for § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt status.

- o In February 2010, according to Exempt Organizations function officials, the Determinations office identified an increase in applications for § 501(c)(4) status where organizations were advocating issues relating to government spending, taxes, and similar matters.
- o As early as May 2010, according to documentation we were provided, Exempt Organizations function screeners were informed to identify applications by Tea Party groups for additional scrutiny.
- o In June 2011, the Exempt Organizations Director was informed the Determinations office was using criteria that specifically targeted applications that mention: 1) the "Tea Party," "Patriots," or the "9/12 Project", 2) government spending, government debt or taxes, 3) education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live", or 4) criticizing how the country is being run. As of June 2011, over 100 applications meeting this criterion had been identified and were forwarded to a specific group for processing.

Report Exhibits - Page 001322

Process for Reviewing Applications for Tax Exemption Office of Audit Briefing Paper May 30, 2012

- o In July 2011, subsequent to the briefing of the Exempt Organizations Director, the Exempt Organizations function changed the criterion for identifying these organizations to remove references to specific political groups or political issues. The criterion was changed to "organizations involved with political, lobbying, or advocacy for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4)".
- o As of January 2012, the criterion now reads "political action type organizations involved in limiting/expanding government, educating on the Constitution and Bill of Rights, social economic reform/movement."

Media Attention:

There have been numerous news articles with allegations of the IRS requesting extensive amounts of additional information from organizations applying for § 501(c)(4) tax-exempt status, including donor information, as part of its review of applications. Several accusations of bias towards conservative groups, particularly Tea Party organizations, have been made.

The Congress has shown increased interest in the IRS's treatment of § 501(c)(4) social welfare organizations, as well. Several members of Congress have requested the IRS investigate whether groups designated as social welfare organizations are improperly engaged in a substantial or even predominant amount of campaign activity. Several other requests from the Congress raised concerns about selective enforcement in the determinations process.

Report Exhibits - Page 001323

---

MEMORANDUM OF DISCUSSION

DATE: 05/22/2012

TIME: 10:50-11:30 AM

SUBJECT/PURPOSE: To document discussion of the IG briefing paper that we prepared on certain § 501(c)(4) applications being "targeted"

PRESENT: Lois Lerner                      Director, EO function
Troy Paterson                      TIGTA

SOURCE: Discussion via teleconference

---

NOTE: The following are highlights from my conversation with the EO function Director, Lois Lerner.

- Troy: I'm just calling to let you know that we will be raising an issue to our IG regarding § 501(c)(4) applications. We have received documentation showing that certain organizations (Tea Party, organizations criticizing how the country is being run) were targeted for additional scrutiny in part of the EO function. We do not know whether this led to inconsistent or improper treatment of these organizations and we will not know that until we conduct an audit. I believe we need to inform our IG because our front office has received congressional interest and external complaints that the IRS has been targeted specific groups as part of the application process. The reason I wanted to let you know this is because the IG may or may not discuss this at the upcoming IRS Commissioner meeting. Lois: I was expecting your call and I understand the issues, but I would probably characterize it differently.
- Troy: Let me fill you in on what I know and you can let me know if you think my understanding is incorrect and if you have any perspective to add. In the Spring of 2010, the IRS began receiving certain types of applications that it had not seen before. Therefore, the EO Rulings and Agreements organization put out e-mails to its screeners to target all "Tea Party" applications for additional review by a certain group. By June 2011, the criterion had been expanded to include other groups, such as Patriots and the 9/12 group, as well as groups that question how the country is being run. About 100 cases had been set aside by this time. It is my understanding that you were briefed on the criterion being used. As a result of the briefing, the criterion was changed to be more about the tax law and less about the specific groups or ideologies involved. We believe that the criterion should have been about issues with the tax law all along. We are aware that the criterion has changed since then and is still under revision. Is this correct? Lois: That is basically correct; however, I think I can fill in some gaps that will help you understand the situation better. It has been customary for the applications group in Cincinnati to document emerging issues through e-mails. However, we received complaints at a CPE that employees were receiving too much information via e-mail and there was no consolidated place where employees could go for this information. As a result, Cincinnati began consolidating information into what is called a BOLO (Be On the Lookout). In the Spring of 2010, the applications group began seeing a surge in applications that were very up front about political work the organizations would be conducting. It is not unusual for us to send cases to a specific group when we see an uptick of applications with the same issues. We like to have a specific group or set of people work the applications so that we are consistent in our determinations.
- Lois: Since our Cincinnati folks had never seen applications like the ones they were receiving, they contacted the TE/GE Division National Office to ask for guidance on how to proceed. At the time, I was only aware that there had been an uptick in the number of applications received that involved political activity. This is not unusual leading into an election year. I had not been informed of the specific criterion that was being used in the field. Our National Office asked to review several representative cases so that we could provide guidance on how the field should handle these cases. This is not unusual when there is not a lot of legal precedent in an area. Our National Office reviewed cases and drafted guidance for the field. However, I'm not sure if that guidance was used or whether it was used consistently because it was only in draft form. When I heard the criterion being used, I immediately asked that the criterion be changed. While I don't believe our folks in Cincinnati meant any malice, I was disappointed with the language used to describe the emerging issue. I would agree that the language should be more about the issues in the applications and not about particular groups that are applying for tax exemption. I believe that Cincinnati was just using shorthand to describe the cases and was not thinking about the impact of describing cases in a particular manner. Our work is much more out in the public and, while I believe the Cincinnati employees were just trying to find an easy way to describe the applications, our employees need to be cognizant of the fact that we need to make it clear that we do not select cases for additional determinations or examination work based on political affiliation. It should not enter into the conversation.

1

Report Exhibits - Page 001324

- Lois: As a result of the briefing you mentioned, we changed the criterion. I was later informed that the criterion we decided upon was so generic that it was catching too many applications. Therefore, the Cincinnati employees began changing the criterion to ease the situation. Once I heard about that, I began to put controls in place to ensure that any criterion that is established or edited is reviewed and approved at a higher level in the EO function organization. Troy: It is interesting that you say that because the audit team and I have spoken about the need for a control that would ensure a more broad-based approval than local level e-mails and spreadsheets. Lois: I believe that by the time you get to reporting on your audit that we will have already taken care of the issue. I believe you will also see that we have conducted training on the issue and we're moving forward on getting guidance into the IRM. You will also see some other actions that we are taking.
- Troy: Would you suggest that I contact Joseph Grant (Acting Commissioner, Tax Exempt and Government Entities) to let him know about the fact that we will be briefing our IG and he may brief the IRS Commissioner? Lois: I appreciate it, but I can inform him of our discussion. He is very well aware of the events that have led us to this point.

Report Exhibits - Page 001325

NOTE TO FILE: On March 8, 2012, the Counselor to the Inspector General (IG), Nancy Nakamura, and I met with congressional staffers (Chris, Teagan, Brian, and Kevin) from the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. The following are highlights from our discussion.

- Chris stated they had met with the IRS a couple of weeks ago.
- Chris asked what had changed that might explain the IRS's overly burdensome questions being asked of Tea Parties applying for 501(c)(4) tax exemption. I stated I wasn't sure because TIGTA's Office of Audit had not conducted an audit in the area recently. However, the recently issued Exempt Organizations Workplan discusses a new project on 501(c)(4) self-declarers and news articles have mentioned a companion application process. It may be part of this effort. Chris requested a copy of the Workplan. Since it is available publically, I stated that I could provide that documentation to the staffers through the Counselor to the IG.
- One of the other staffers asked if I could comment on whether or not the questions being asked of the Tea Parties were reasonable. I stated that I could not. One of the staffers read some of the questions and asked if I had heard these questions asked in previous projects. I responded that the previous projects we had audited did not relate to 501(c)(4) organizations; therefore, I could not compare the 501(c)(4) questions with questions I had seen in other projects. The staffers seemed to agree that the questions have gone over the line, especially questions asking for donor information and speakers that will speak in the distant future.
- Chris stated that he believed the IRS was trying to overburden the Tea Parties in hopes that they would give up, as many of these organizations are too small to handle the kind of requests that the IRS is issuing. Teagan stated that, if the IRS believes these organizations should not receive tax-exempt status, the IRS should go ahead and deny the applications instead of asking more questions.
- The staffers expressed concern that other organizations may not be receiving the same amount of scrutiny as the Tea Parties because of the Tea Party's beliefs.
- Chris asked if we would review the area if requested by Congress. The Counselor to the IG stated that it would depend on how the request was worded and whether the IG believed the work should be completed. Nancy suggested that, if the staffers wished to make a request through their representatives, the staffers should work with TIGTA on the wording prior to submission so we could ensure that the request was for something that Office of Audit could accomplish.
- Nancy then reviewed the concerns expressed by the staffers. The staffers are concerned that the IRS is biased in how it is processing 501(c)(4) applications from Tea Parties versus other organizations. The staffers are concerned about whether the questions being asked of potential 501(c)(4) organizations have gone over the line (e.g., requests for names of donors and future speakers). The staffers are also concerned about the application process for 501(c)(4)s. What is the IRS trying to achieve with the actions it is taking?
- Chris asked if the Office of Audit had received information from the IRS's Exempt Organizations function under 26 USC 7217 regarding top level Executive Branch officials requesting the IRS to examine or review certain organizations. Nancy and I stated that we had not received anything; however, I stated that the Office of Investigations may have received something the Office of Audit is not privy to. However, the Counselor to the IG stated that he had canvassed all functions within TIGTA and TIGTA has not received anything under 26 USC 7217 from the IRS. However, the Counselor to the IG stated that he would broaden the search by just using the general topic of the inquiry and not mentioning 26 USC 7217. According to Chris, the IRS responded that they had sent information over to the Office of Audit under 26 USC 7217. IRS officials would not state how many times they had done that. Instead, they responded that it was infrequently.

Report Exhibits - Page 001326

Terry Peterson

Report Exhibits - Page 001327

From: Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:21 AM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Subject: RE: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Thanks, Mike!

From: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:19 AM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA; Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA; Kutz Gregory D TIGTA Subject: FW: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Hello all,

This just went out and we are getting calls from the Hill. I know Counsel sent Greg suggestions for additional redactions. We probably need to speed up the release of this report. Greg can you give me a status on your folks' review?

Thanks,

Mike

From: Holmgren R David TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:06 AM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Subject: Fw: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Mike, this is a brilliant preemptive strike by the IRS; when we release next week it will be old news.
David
Sent from my BlackBerry

From: The Washington Post [mailto:newsletters@email.washingtonpost.com]
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 10:57 AM
To: Holmgren R David TIGTA
Subject: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Friday, May 10, 2013 10:56:26 AM

ational News Alert

IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

TIGTA Bates No. 007751

PSN-TIGTA-00-000362

file:///D:/...ra%20-%20IRS%20apologizes%20for%20inappropriately%20targeting%20conservative%20political%20groups%20(1121ara).txt[1/27/2014 1:53:54 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001328

The Internal Revenue Service is apologizing for inappropriately flagging conservative political groups for additional reviews during the 2012 election to see if they were violating their tax-exempt status.

Lois Lerner, who heads the IRS unit that oversees tax-exempt groups, said organizations that included the words "tea party" or "patriot" in their applications for tax-exempt status were singled out for additional reviews.

Lerner said the practice, initiated by low-level workers in Cincinnati, was wrong and she apologized while speaking at a conference in Washington.

Read more at:
http://www.washingtonpost.com/business/irs-apologizes-for-inappropriately-targeting-conservative-political-groups-in-2012-election/2013/05/10/5afe17b8-b980-11e2-b568-6917f6ac6d9d\_story.html

Unsubscribe
©2013 The Washington Post
1150 15th St NW Washington, DC 20071
Help & Contact Info
Privacy Policy

vid.holmgren@tigta.treas.gov

TIGTA Bates No. 007752

PSB-TTCTA-09-000368

file:///D:/...ra%20-%20IRS%20apologizes%20for%20inappropriately%20targeting%20conservative%20political%20groups%20(1121am).txt[1/27/2014 1:53:54 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001329

From: Hernandez Gladys M TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:25 AM
To: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Cc: McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: RE: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Smart strategy on their part. We also again reached out to Greg and copied OMP. Gladys

From: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:21 AM
To: Hernandez Gladys M TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA
Cc: Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: RE: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Thanks Gladys. I think this is an IRS pre-emptive strike. We have already received multiple emails from Issa's staffers and others. I have sent Mike McKenney, Nancy, and Greg an email asking the status of the review to Counsel's additional suggestions for redactions.

Mike

From: Hernandez Gladys M TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:14 AM
To: McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Cc: Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: FW: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

FYI

From: Jones Amy P TIGTA
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 11:07 AM
To: Hernandez Gladys M TIGTA
Subject: FW: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

From: The Washington Post [mailto:newsletters@email.washingtonpost.com]
Sent: Friday, May 10, 2013 10:56 AM
To: Jones Amy P TIGTA
Subject: [MARKETING]News Alert: IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

Friday, May 10, 2013 10:54:56 AM

TIGTA Bates No. 007791

PSL TIGTA-00-000402

file:///D:/...ez%20-%20IRS%20apologizes%20for%20inappropriately%20targeting%20conservative%20political%20groups%20(1125am).txt[1/27/2014 1:59:47 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001330

National News Alert

IRS apologizes for inappropriately targeting conservative political groups

The Internal Revenue Service is apologizing for inappropriately flagging conservative political groups for additional reviews during the 2012 election to see if they were violating their tax-exempt status.

Lois Lerner, who heads the IRS unit that oversees tax-exempt groups, said organizations that included the words "tea party" or "patriot" in their applications for tax-exempt status were singled out for additional reviews.

Lerner said the practice, initiated by low-level workers in Cincinnati, was wrong and she apologized while speaking at a conference in Washington.

Read more at:
http://www.washingtonpost.com/business/irs-apologizes-for-inappropriately-targeting-conservative-political-groups-in-2012-election/2013/05/10/5afef7b8-b980-11e2-b568-6917f6ac6d9d\_story.html

Unsubscribe
©2013 The Washington Post
1150 15th St NW Washington, DC 20071
Help & Contact Info
Privacy Policy

amy.jones@tigta.treas.gov

TIGTA Bates No. 007792

PSI-TIGTA-0000403

file:///D:/.../IRS%20apologizes%20for%20inappropriately%20targeting%20conservative%20political%20groups%20(1125am).txt[1/27/2014 1:59:47 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001331

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Sent: Sunday, May 12, 2013 7:55 PM
George J Russell TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA; Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Barnes David J TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA
Subject: Re: Communications Report 05-12-2013

Hi Russell,

I have not responded to any reporters this weekend. At this point I do not see the merit in engaging with reporters until we have something concrete to share, such as a date and time for a media briefing.

I am hopeful that TIGTA may be able to offer that tomorrow or Tuesday, and have suggested expedited disclosure review so that we can schedule briefings on the final report in an orderly fashion for congressionals and media as soon as possible. By jumping the gun with its public apology, the IRS created some confusion and inaccuracy about the nature of our report and findings, which we can set straight by releasing the final report without delay.

Should be an interesting week!

----- Original Message -----
From: George J Russell TIGTA
Sent: Sunday, May 12, 2013 05:04 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA; Barnes David J TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA; Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Subject: Re: Communications Report 05-12-2013

Karen:

Did you speak with the NY Times reporter who has reached out to me and others today?

----- Original Message -----
From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Sent: Sunday, May 12, 2013 04:23 PM
To: Barnes David J TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA; George J Russell TIGTA
Subject: Re: Communications Report 05-12-2013

Thanks for tracking these David. Nothing new to share at this time.

----- Original Message -----
From: Barnes David J TIGTA
Sent: Sunday, May 12, 2013 04:17 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: Communications Report 05-12-2013

The following media outlets inquired regarding TIGTA's audit of the IRS's handling of applications for tax-exempt status:

Wall Street Journal, New York Times and BNA Daily Tax Report.
David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

TIGTA Bates No. 007794

PSN-TIGTA-00-000485

file:///D:/...ew/20130512%20-%20Kraushaar%20to%20George%20-%20Re%20Communications%20Report%2005-12-2013%20(755pm).txt[1/27/2014 1:59:45 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001332

From: George J Russell TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 13, 2013 8:46 AM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Subject: Re: Cavuto Request

I agree with you.

----- Original Message -----
From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Sent: Monday, May 13, 2013 08:30 AM
To: George J Russell TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Subject: Fw: Cavuto Request

Good morning Russell,

This request came in last night. I recommend a strategy of politely declining until such time as we are ready to release our report. I think it is important that you be able to remain above the political fray until then.

Kindly let me know your thoughts when you can.

Karen

-- Original Message -----
From: Siegelheim, Matthew [mailto:Matthew.Siegelheim@foxbusiness.com]
Sent: Sunday, May 12, 2013 08:40 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: Cavuto Request

Hi Karen,

Hope you had a wonderful Mother's Day!

Would IG George be available to appear with Neil tomorrow on FBN to discuss the timeline involving the IRS and Tea Party?

Taping between 5:15-6pm et.

Matt

TIGTA Bates No. 007840

PSN-TIGTA-09-000451

file:///D:/...20Applications/e-mails/New/20130513%20-%20George%20to%20Kraushaar%20-%20Re%20Cavuto%20Request%20(846am).txt [1/27/2014 2:05:59 PM]

Report Exhibits - Page 001333

From: Kutz, Gregory D. TIGTA
To: Seldell, Thomas F. TIGTA; Paterson, Troy D. TIGTA
Subject: EO Draft
Date: Friday, March 08, 2013 4:15:20 PM

---

I thought we had a good meeting with Counsel today. I often find it useful to have internal debate and discussion on issues and other views. I know Mike McKenney has good perspective as he was on the Hill as a Subcommittee staff director on the Oversight committee. On the biggest issue as to whether we say the IRS targeted, I am fine with leaving the objectives as they are focused on the allegations and answering them without using the word "target" but describing clearly what they did. I think we are in agreement on "inappropriate" and it seems we can work through the other matters. Tom if Troy is out with his father please feel free to work directly with me on a revised version and hopefully getting this to IRS early next week for a "pre-discussion" draft.

Thankyou
Greg

Report Exhibits - Page 001334

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: RE: Well...
Date: Monday, March 11, 2013 6:58:00 AM

---

Tom and Cheryl,

I reviewed the revised report over the weekend and have some minor revisions throughout and a few questions. Fortunately, I believe it will not be difficult to make any needed changes and get this up to Greg today!

I have a meeting with Greg and the directors regarding testimony this morning. After that, we can get together and discuss.

Troy

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Friday, March 08, 2013 1:36 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: RE: Well...

Troy,

I made a feeble attempt at changing targeting and timing in the clean version of the report I was preparing. I don't know what else needs to be changed.

If we are going to keep targeting, we should make sure we are referring to the criteria, and not EO personnel.

Tom said he won't be available this afternoon because of his meeting with GSA.

Cheryl

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Friday, March 08, 2013 1:32 PM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: Well...

Tom and Cheryl,

I took off for lunch and tried to clear my head after the Counsel meeting. How do you think we should proceed?

Troy

Report Exhibits - Page 001335

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
To: Creswell Lori L TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt Applications Audit Report for your Review and Feedback
Date: Monday, March 18, 2013 3:11:00 PM

---

Let me know when you are in office some time with a few minutes to chat. I will share with you the discussion we had with IRS last week on the conference draft report (Beth Tucker, Pam LaRue and Acting Commissioner Chief of Staff).

Greg

---

From: Creswell Lori L TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 18, 2013 2:08 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Cc: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Carter Thomas E TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt Applications Audit Report for your Review and Feedback

Troy,

We wanted to thank you all for meeting with us to discuss Counsel's comments concerning the draft audit report pertaining to applications for tax-exempt status. We have reviewed the revised draft that you provided to our office last week and appreciate the changes that have been made to the draft report. We believe that the revisions address and/or resolve the comments and concerns that we have offered. At this time, we have no further comments to offer concerning this matter.

Thanks
Lori

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, March 13, 2013 10:57 AM
To: McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Creswell Lori L TIGTA
Cc: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt Applications Audit Report for your Review and Feedback

Mike and Lori,

Good morning. Thank you again for the assistance on our report regarding applications for tax-exempt status. Attached is a revised version of the report. We have incorporated, for the most part, the suggestions you provided below and in our subsequent conference call. Could you review one more time and let us know if you have any remaining concerns? We appreciate the help.

Troy Paterson
Director, Tax-Exempt and Government Entities/Human Capital
Phone: [REDACTED]
e-mail: troy.paterson@tigta.treas.gov

[REDACTED] - Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

PSI-TIGTA-10-000275

TIGTA Bates No. 008271

Report Exhibits - Page 001336

---

From: McCarthy Michael T TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, February 28, 2013 10:07 AM
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Cc: Creswell Lori L TIGTA; Carter Thomas E TIGTA; Hernandez Gladys M TIGTA
Subject: FW: Tax-Exempt Applications Audit Report for your Review and Feedback
Importance: High

Greg and Troy --

Thank you for forwarding the attached report to Counsel for comment. Having not been involved in the audit or having access to the audit work papers, our comments and concerns are premised solely upon the information in the written draft report.

According to the draft report, OA has concluded that the EO function "used inappropriate criteria that targeted Tea Party and other organizations applying for tax-exempt status based upon their names or values, instead of applications with indications of potential political campaign intervention (hereinafter referred to as political cases)."

As an initial concern, "targeted" has a connotation of improper motivation that does not seem to be supported by the information presented in the audit report. I think "selected" or even "singled out" would be more accurate. Also, it is not clear why exactly we find the criteria used were "inappropriate." Is it because specific names associated with political activity shouldn't be used as a criteria? That would seem to make it difficult for the IRS to identify potential political applications for referral to the specialized unit. If this is the rationale, the information in footnote 11, that the use of organization names occurs in non-political cases as well, seems like it needs more attention, since it suggests both that the IRS was not politically motivated in this case, and that our recommendation might need to be broader. Or are we saying it was inappropriate because the use of names was one-sided, i.e. name criteria included only certain types of groups seen as conservative, and names of other political groups with different policies should have also been included? If that is the rationale, do we have evidence that similarly situated groups from the left side of the political spectrum should have been included by name in the criteria, but were not? The later sections of the report seem to suggest this, but it is not clear.

The report also refers to one of the selection criteria as an organization's "values," which we don't think is an accurate word based on the examples given. I think these would be more accurately described as "policy positions" or "policy goals" or "political statements."

On pages 8-9 of the report, we offer statistical information purporting to determine whether the use of "inappropriate criteria resulted in organizations being treated inconsistently." However, the statistical information does not actually address the use of the "inappropriate criteria." Instead, it really focuses on whether the application had information concerning potential political activity and whether it should have been processed by the political team.

Report Exhibits - Page 001337

Starting on page 10 of the report, the report talks about applications not being "process[ed] timely due to ineffective management of political cases." The report does not identify what standard OA used to define "timely." While it is clear that processing took a long time, can we say it is not timely if there is no time limit for processing? Also, it appears that the lengthy delay results from a lengthy wait for a legal opinion, which appears to be the basis for OA's conclusion that it was "ineffective management." It is unclear however how waiting for an opinion equates to "ineffective management."

We hope that this helps highlight our substantive concerns with the draft report. If you would like to discuss further, please let me know.

Thanks,
Mike

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Monday, February 25, 2013 8:19 AM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA
Cc: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Davis Estine H TIGTA; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; McGovern Michael A TIGTA
Subject: Tax-Exempt Applications Audit Report for your Review and Feedback

Good morning,

Greg mentioned that, due to the sensitivity of the attached report, he would like for us to obtain your feedback before we issue a discussion draft report to the IRS. Therefore, I am attaching a copy of the report for your review. If you have any questions or would like to meet to discuss, please let me know. I look forward to hearing from you.

Troy Paterson
Director, Tax Exempt and Government Entities/Human Capital
Phone: [REDACTED]
e-mail: troy.paterson@tigta.treas.gov

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001338

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Subject: RE: EO Applications Report
Date: Tuesday, March 26, 2013 8:32:00 AM

---

Greg,

Sounds good...I will give you a call in your office at 11. Sorry, I wasn't able to meet with you earlier, but I needed to meet with the EO applications and the tax credit bond teams this morning to get things moving in the right direction.

Troy
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] - Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

---

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, March 26, 2013 8:30 AM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: RE: EO Applications Report

I am going into 2 hours or so of meetings. How about 11 am?

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, March 26, 2013 8:28 AM
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Subject: EO Applications Report

Greg,

Whenever you are ready, please give me a call at 404-338-7476 to discuss the meeting with Lois. I met with the team this morning and discussed a few extra changes that we thought were appropriate. However, there are 3 separate issues that Lois brought up that I think you and I need to discuss and decide how we are going to proceed.

1. Lois stated that the report read like it was politically motivated and there was no recognition about how difficult these cases were and the fact that there is no bright line test for making determinations on applications involving these issues.
2. Lois stated that the background of the report should be expanded to discuss how applications are processed (number of applications processed, screening process, 3 different outcomes of screening, more about full development cases and how they are assigned by grade, etc.).
3. Lois wanted us not to use the terms "political teams" and "political cases". In Lois' opinion, the IRS was not specifically looking for political campaign intervention.

Troy
[REDACTED]

Report Exhibits - Page 001339

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
To: Dori Thomas M TIGTA
Cc: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: RE: Audit # 2012100022 - Outcome Measure Review
Date: Monday, February 25, 2013 2:13:00 PM

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Tom,

Thanks. Everyone is a bit anxious about this report due to its subject matter. We appreciate you taking the time to see if we are on the track!

Troy

---

From: Dori Thomas M TIGTA
Sent: Monday, February 25, 2013 2:10 PM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Cc: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: RE: Audit # 2012100022 - Outcome Measure Review

Hi Troy — I took a quick read through Appendix IV and the report body. Nothing jumped out at me as being out of line, and I did not see anything that you missed. If you have any other questions, let me know.

Thanks,

Tom

---

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Monday, February 25, 2013 1:31 PM
To: Dori Thomas M TIGTA
Cc: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: Audit # 2012100022 - Outcome Measure Review

Tom,

Good afternoon. I hope all is well.

I was hoping you could help us out. Attached is a report we have written regarding how the IRS processes tax-exempt applications from organizations that potentially are involved in political campaign intervention. Due to the sensitivity of this report, our AIGA has asked that Chief Counsel and the DIGA review the report before we issue it as a discussion draft. In addition, Greg thought it would be a good idea for the report to be reviewed from an outcome perspective so we don't potentially revise our position with the IRS on outcomes between discussion draft and draft.

Could you please review and let us know what you think of how we present our outcomes and whether you identify any additional outcomes we should consider? I would appreciate it.

If you have any questions or would like to discuss, please let me know.

PSI-HQTA-11000652

TIGTA Bates No. 009498

Report Exhibits - Page 001340

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
To: Patterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter
Date: Wednesday, July 11, 2012 8:42:21 AM

---

FYI

From: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Sent: Friday, June 22, 2012 9:14 AM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA letter

So you recommend advising against such a letter?

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Sent: Friday, June 22, 2012 6:55 AM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA letter

Mike,

Not familiar with the process of providing regular updates on audits where we have not issued a report. Are we allowed to say what we are finding to outside stakeholders, such as staffers, without issuing a report?

I just signed the audit plan and Engagement Letter will be coming up for your review and signature. Below is an FYI for you on what we identified so far: (We will now be focusing on whether the identified applicants were treated inconsistently with applicants that did not relate to a Tea Party Organization)

The Exempt Organizations function's Determinations Office began seeing an increase in applications for tax-exempt status from organizations involved in potential political advocacy activities early in Calendar Year 2010. The following highlights the actions taken by the Exempt Organizations function once this increase was identified:

- In February 2010, according to Exempt Organizations function officials, the Determinations Office identified an increase in applications for IRC § 501(c)(4) status where organizations were advocating issues relating to government spending, taxes, and similar matters. This was identified as an emerging issue needing more scrutiny. The Group Manager responsible for initially screening applications notified the Headquarters Office about this potential emerging issue.
- As early as May 2010, according to documentation we were provided, Exempt Organizations function screeners were informed to identify applications from Tea Party groups for additional scrutiny. This documentation informed function screeners to forward any application related to the Tea Party to a certain Determinations Group for further review. The Group Manager initially assigned this emerging issue developed the criteria for identifying the applications.

Report Exhibits - Page 001341

In August 2010, this emerging issue was transferred to a different Determinations Group, which still has responsibility for it today.

- In June 2011, the Exempt Organizations Director was informed that the Determinations Office was using criteria that specifically targeted applications that mention: 1) the "Tea Party," "Patriots," or the "9/12 Project", 2) Government spending, Government debt or taxes, 3) education of the public by advocacy/lobbying to "make America a better place to live", or 4) criticizing how the country is being run. As of June 2011, the IRS indicated that over 100 applications meeting this criterion had been identified and were forwarded to a specific group for processing.
- In July 2011, subsequent to the Exempt Organizations Director being briefed on the targeting criteria being used to screen applications, the criterion for identifying these organizations was changed to remove references to specific political groups or political issues. The criterion was changed to "organizations involved with political, lobbying, or advocacy for exemption under 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(4)." References to these applications in IRS documentation were also changed from Tea Party to advocacy organizations.<sup>(11)</sup>
- In December 2011, draft guidance was provided by the Headquarters office to aid in reviewing advocacy cases. This guidance is currently being revised.
- As of January 2012, the criterion was changed to, "political action type organizations involved in limiting/expanding government, educating on the Constitution and Bill of Rights, social economic reform/movement." According to Exempt Organizations function management, this criterion is currently being revised.

---

From: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Russ, what do you think about this?

---

From: Sutphen Matthew S TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:27 PM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Mike,

Yesterday, I touched base with Chris Hixon and notified him that we just began working on our first 501(c)(4) audit. As you will see below, the Committee and Subcommittee would like to keep updated on our progress and for a copy of the final report. Chris has asked for our input on the letter.

I am not comfortable with the general, vague language of "regular updates." Maybe we can limit the scope and number of updates. Please review and provide me with any comments/edits you deem necessary.

Report Exhibits - Page 001342

Thank you!

Matthew

From: Hixon, Christopher [mailto:Christopher.Hixon@mail.house.gov]
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:04 PM
To: Sutphen Matthew S TIGTA
Cc: Blase, Brian
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Matt – good talking with you. Attached is a draft letter from Chairmen Issa and Jordan that we are considering sending.

Let us know any thoughts/comments you have on the draft – happy to work with you on the language.

Thanks,
Chris

111 The IRS defines advocacy as 1) political campaign intervention, 2) lobbying for specific legislation, and 3) general advocacy. For this emerging issue, the focus is on political campaign intervention.

Report Exhibits - Page 001343

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
To: McGovern Michael A TIGTA
Subject: RE: case review criteria
Date: Friday, July 13, 2012 9:06:00 AM

---

We are not using the BOLO at all. We are going to independently look for any indications of political campaign intervention activities by the organization. This is what should have been done, but wasn't. I told Tom we are going to have to come up with some common definition of political campaign intervention, so we are all using the same criteria. He agreed and said we should know it when we see it.

---

From: McGovern Michael A TIGTA
Sent: Friday, July 13, 2012 9:03 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: RE: case review criteria

I'm still confused—are we exclusively using the BOLO criteria?

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Sent: Friday, July 13, 2012 9:01 AM
To: McGovern Michael A TIGTA
Subject: case review criteria

I spoke with Tom this morning. He wanted a status update for this past week. I told him you and I discussed the case review and had a concern with what criteria we are going to use. We don't know what the Screeners used. After going back and forth, he decided that it doesn't matter what the Screeners did. We need to use what they should have been following, which is identifying any political campaign intervention activity. If we find any exceptions, we can use the BOLO or any other faulty criteria the Screeners were following as the cause. The focus is on the bad criteria used and if it caused cases to be missed or misidentified.

We will discuss in more detail next week when we are going through the cases, but thought I let you know the latest.

Cheryl Medina
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Phone #781-835-4278
Fax # 781-279-0336

Report Exhibits - Page 001344

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
To: Seidel Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA; McGovern Michael A TIGTA; Close Evan A TIGTA
Subject: Article on Political Advocacy
Date: Monday, July 23, 2012 8:58:00 AM

Tom, Cheryl, Mike, and Evan,

For your gee whiz, here's an article about political advocacy.

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Troy
[REDACTED]

Taxpayer Watchdog Calls on IRS to Probe Re-Branded Texas ACORN Branch
By Perry Chiaramonte
July 19, 2012

ACORN branches all over the country disbanded in disgrace in 2010, but have come back under new names.

The former Texas ACORN chapter has a new name and a scheme to collect donations and divert them for political use in a way that abuses tax laws governing charitable organizations, according to a Washington-based public interest group.

Cause of Action, a nonprofit taxpayer watchdog, charged in a letter to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration that the tax-exempt Texas Organizing Project (TOP), formed from the ashes of scandal-ridden ACORN, is using money funneled to it by a closely associated group called the Texas Organizing Project Education Fund for political activity.

The fund gave nearly 80 percent of its revenues -- approximately $640,000 -- to the advocacy group in 2010, leading Cause of Action officials to believe its reason for being is to raise charitable donations to send to TOP, which is permitted to fund political activity. TOP has used its website to solicit support for Mary Ann Perez, a Democrat running for state representative.

"Cause of Action is asking the IRS to investigate these groups for potential abuses of their tax exempt status."

- Dan Epstein, Cause of Action

"Fiscal sponsorship [has allowed TOP and TOP ED] to use a loophole in the tax code to engage in improper political activities under the radar of the IRS," Dan Epstein, executive director of Cause of Action, said to FoxNews.com. "Cause of Action is asking the IRS to investigate these groups for potential abuses of their tax-exempt status, and to hold them accountable for any violations they find."

Report Exhibits - Page 001345

"Texas Organizing Project Education Fund is abusing this privilege by not sponsoring an individual educational project, but rather sponsoring an entire political entity, the Texas Organizing Project. TOP ED should suffer tax penalties for essentially existing as a channel through which money is being directed to a political organization, but the IRS is either intentionally overlooking this abuse, or is unaware of it," Epstein added.

This marks the third such investigation that the watchdog group has called for accusing other re-branded ACORN branches of being engaged in similar activities.

"While fiscal sponsorships are legal, it is not legal for a 501(c)(3) organization, such as TOP ED, to give any money to an organization that engages in political activity, without triggering various tax consequences," reads the letter signed by senior counsel for Cause of Action.

Click here to view the full letter

The public advocacy watchdog group also claims in the letter that TOP and TOP ED are an example of former state chapters of ACORN re-branding themselves in the wake of controversies that led to the national parent group shutting down in 2010. Cause of Action claims the defunct non-profit instructed "its affiliates to funnel tax-deductible and/or taxpayer dollars to ACORN over a 40-year period."

"After ACORN became subject to public scrutiny, and eventually filed for bankruptcy, it re-branded many of its state chapters in order that those organizations could continue pursuing ACORN's goals," Cause of Action officials said. "TOP is the reconstituted ACORN in Texas."

Officials for TOP and TOP ED did not return repeated calls for comment.

Spokesmen for both the IRS and Treasury Inspector General declined to comment on the letter or any resulting investigation.

Report Exhibits - Page 001346

From: Paz Holly O
To: Scidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW:
Date: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 4:58:57 PM
Attachments: BOLO Spreadsheet 06162012.xls
BOLO Spreadsheet 06162512.xls
BOLO Spreadsheet 071012.xls
BOLO Spreadsheet 071112.xls
BOLO Spreadsheet 062512.xls

---

From: Bell Ronald D
Sent: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 3:47 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject:

5 BOLO's

Report Exhibits - Page 001347

From: Paz Holly O
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: BOLO Alert
Date: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 4:52:20 PM
Attachments: Copy of Combined Spreadsheet TAG 8 12 10.xls
Importance: Low

---

---

From: Bell Ronald D
Sent: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 3:38 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: FW: BOLO Alert
Importance: Low

---

---

From: Hofacre Elizabeth L
Sent: Thursday, August 12, 2010 10:19 AM
To: &TEGE:EO:RA All Ees
Subject: BOLO Alert
Importance: Low

---

All,

Enclosed is the combined spreadsheet with an additional issue (#13) under the BOLO Tab.

Thanks,
Liz Hofacre

TEGE EOD Emerging Issues Coordinator
[REDACTED]

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001348

From: Paz Holly Q
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA; Medina Cheryl I TIGTA
Subject: FW: BOLO ALERT
Date: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 4:55:38 PM
Attachments: BOLO Spreadsheet 12 13 10 (2).xlsx

---

---

From: Bell Ronald D
Sent: Wednesday, August 08, 2012 3:41 PM
To: Paz Holly Q
Subject: FW: BOLO ALERT

---

From: Bell Ronald D
Sent: Monday, December 13, 2010 10:07 AM
To: &TEGE:EO:RA Determ Ees
Subject: BOLO ALERT

Issue #15 has been identified and closed as of 12/13/10. Attached is the latest BOLO Spreadsheet revised 12/13/10.

Note: Issues numbers are found in column D of the attached spreadsheet.

Ron Bell
BOLO Coordinator
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001349

From: Paterson Troy D. TIGTA
To: Martin Russell P. TIGTA
Subject: Discussion with Greg
Date: Tuesday, August 14, 2012 12:50:00 PM

---

Russ,

Greg called me this morning to introduce himself. We talked about Atlanta, where the 3 groups in our directorate are located, and the type of work we do (tax exempt, human capital, and equity/diversity/inclusion). He also asked if there was anything "big" going on that he should know about right away. I told him that the biggest thing on the horizon in our directorate had to do with a commitment we made to meet with congressional staff before September 30th on the political advocacy applications job. I gave him some background on the job and suggested that we would need to get together and determine the timing of the briefing and what we would like to discuss. He agreed that this would be something we would need to plan in advance due to the political sensitivity of the issue and the fact that we are in fieldwork.

I just thought I would let you know about our conversation in case Greg mentions something when you meet with him on Wednesday. I wanted to make sure he doesn't surprise you with some high-level knowledge about a project you have not briefed him on yet.

Troy

 = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001350

From: Paz Holly O
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: RE: Bucketing Results Request
Date: Thursday, August 16, 2012 10:23:47 AM

---

Cheryl,

Your understanding of the process post-buckering is correct. Unfortunately, I checked with Cindy and Sharon, and we do not have a list of the applicants who were approved without the additional information originally requested. This can be determined based on review of the individual files, but there is no master list. Similarly, there is no list of the organizations who were sent the letter indicating that the donor information was expunged from the file. My understanding is that that letter has only been sent in one or two cases as most organizations did not provide this information.

Holly

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, August 14, 2012 1:37 PM
To: Paz Holly O
Subject: Bucketing Results Request

Hi Holly,

I am still getting through all the emails and documents you provided us. I have another request. After the bucketing in May 2012, it was determined that some organizations could be approved without the additional requested information. If I understand what occurred, each organization received a phone call informing them that the additional information was not necessary, and their application was approved. A special determination letter with an additional paragraph reiterating what was said during the phone call was sent. Do you have a list of organizations that fall into this scenario?

You provided a recent tracking sheet that includes which bucket the cases fell into, but I am not sure if every organization in bucket 1 on the sheet did not respond to the request for information and received the special determination letter. Did some of the bucket 1 cases previously respond, and the team determined the organizations could be approved? I am looking for just the ones that didn't respond, but were approved anyway.

Also, do you have a list of organizations that received the letter regarding destroying the donor information they provided at the request of the Specialists?

Thanks.

Cheryl Medina
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Phone #781-835-4278
Fax # 781-279-0336

Report Exhibits - Page 001351

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA request - updated case data
Date: Monday, June 11, 2012 8:31:00 AM
Attachments: 501c4 Cases for TIGTA(1).xls
Advocacy Case Tracking Sheet 06052012.xls
Importance: High

---

From: Paz Holly O [mailto:Holly.O.Paz@irs.gov]
Sent: Monday, June 11, 2012 7:01 AM
To: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Cc: Thomas Cindy M
Subject: FW: TIGTA request - updated case data
Importance: High

Cheryl,

Attached are the spreadsheets you requested. Attachment 1 includes the updated tracking sheet information.

Attachment 2 includes the open and closed case listings requested. Tab 1 contains the open case listing and tab 2 contains the closed cases. NOTE: The Employee ID Number was requested, but that information is not in EDS. Instead, the EDS specialist number was included. Also, the POD was requested. While there is a POD field in EDS, it is not utilized.

Holly

---

From: Medina Cheryl J TIGTA [mailto:Cheryl.Medina@tigta.treas.gov]
Sent: Friday, June 01, 2012 3:11 PM
To: Thomas Cindy M
Cc: Paz Holly O; Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA request - updated case data

Cindy,

We would like to request an updated copy of the advocacy case tracking sheet used by the advocacy team. If possible, we are requesting the information through May 31, 2012.

Also, we would like an updated listing of open and closed Section 501(c)(4) cases from EDS. The following is the criteria for this request:

- We would like a spreadsheet with all Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) closed cases beginning May 1, 2010 through May 31, 2012.
- We would also like a detailed listing of Case Type "I" Section 501(c)(4) open cases.

Both listings should include the following fields:

TEDS Case Number

Report Exhibits - Page 001352

EDS Case Number
EIN
Organization Name
Case Type "I" - Initial
Subsection "04"
Current Status Code
Current Status Date
Postmark Date/Control Date
Employee ID Number
Employee Name
Group Number
Employee Post of Duty (if possible)

If you have any questions, feel free to contact me or Tom Seidell. I will be out of the office next Monday and Tuesday. Thanks for your help.

Cheryl Medina
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Phone # 781-835-4278
Fax # 781-279-0336

Report Exhibits - Page 001353

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA letter
Date: Friday, June 22, 2012 6:49:34 AM

---

Thanks

From: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Sent: Friday, June 22, 2012 6:48 AM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA letter

Russ,

Hmm...I've never provided regular updates on audits where we have not issued a report. Are we allowed to say what we are finding to outside stakeholders, such as staffers, without issuing a report? I've never heard of us doing that before. From our previous meeting with Mr. Hixon and other staffers, I'm certain the first question in the first meeting will be "Have you found any indications that the IRS is targeting Tea Party groups?". If we are not prepared to provide an answer to that question without issuing a report, I think we should limit the request to providing a briefing on the scope of our review and providing a copy of the final report.

Troy

[REDACTED]

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

From: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Sent: Friday, June 22, 2012 6:35 AM
To: Paterson Troy D TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Troy,

Let me know if you have any concerns.

From: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Martin Russell P TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Russ, what do you think about this?

From: Sulphen Matthew S TIGTA
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:27 PM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Mike,

Yesterday, I touched base with Chris Hixon and notified him that we just began working on our first

Report Exhibits - Page 001354

501(c)(4) audit. As you will see below, the Committee and Subcommittee would like to kept updated on our progress and for a copy of the final report. Chris has asked for our input on the letter.

I am not comfortable with the general, vague language of "regular updates." Maybe we can limit the scope and number of updates. Please review and provide me with any comments/edits you deem necessary.

Thank you!

Matthew

---

From: Hixon, Christopher [<mailto:Christopher.Hixon@mail.house.gov>]
Sent: Thursday, June 21, 2012 4:04 PM
To: Sutphen Matthew S TIGTA
Cc: Blase, Brian
Subject: FW: TIGTA letter

Matt — good talking with you. Attached is a draft letter from Chairmen Issa and Jordan that we are considering sending.

Let us know any thoughts/comments you have on the draft -- happy to work with you on the language.

Thanks,
Chris

Report Exhibits - Page 001355

From: Lerner, Lois G
To: ATEGE-EO All Exs
Subject: FW: Executive Announcement
Date: Monday, April 23, 2012 1:53:03 PM

---

Join me in officially welcoming Holly Paz as the permanent EO Director Rulings and Agreements!

Lois G. Lerner

Director of Exempt Organizations

---

From: Barczak Kim E
Sent: Monday, April 23, 2012 10:44 AM
To: &&Executives All
Cc: &Senior Exec Team Schedulers; &HCO Exec Services; Marx Michelle Subject: Executive Announcement

This message is being sent on behalf of Joseph H. Grant, Acting Commissioner, Tax Exempt/Government Entities (TE/GE) Division:

I am pleased to announce the selection of Holly O. Paz as the Director of Exempt Organizations (EO) Rulings and Agreements (R&A). She has been acting as the Director of EO R&A for some time now. Holly began her career with the IRS as an attorney-advisor in the Taxpayer Advocate Service. She joined TE/GE Exempt Organizations, Rulings and Agreements in June 2008 where she served as manager of EO Guidance, and manager of EO Technical. Prior to joining the IRS, Holly spent eight years as an attorney in private practice focusing on exempt organizations. She represented a diverse array of educational organizations, religious organizations, public charities, private foundations, social welfare organizations, and trade associations. Holly provided advice to such organizations regarding lobbying and political activities, private foundation rules, executive compensation, and unrelated business income tax.

Please join me in congratulating Holly and wishing her well in her new assignment.

Thank you.

Kim E. Barczak
Director, Executive Services
[REDACTED]

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001356

From: George J Russell TIGTA
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Cc: Raschlatore Michael S TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA In the News March 26, 2012 (revised)
Date: Monday, March 26, 2012 3:54:00 PM

---

Thanks Karen. The message was actually meant for Michael R., but keep your eyes open too.

J. Russell George

Inspector General

Treasury Inspector General for

Tax Administration

---

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 26, 2012 3:54 PM
To: George J Russell TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA In the News March 26, 2012 (revised)

Will do.

---

From: George J Russell TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 26, 2012 3:53 PM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: RE: TIGTA In the News March 26, 2012 (revised)

Keep an eye out for the letter referenced in the second story. Make sure the mailroom knows to get it to me.

J. Russell George

Inspector General

Treasury Inspector General for

Tax Administration

---

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Sent: Monday, March 26, 2012 11:14 AM
To: &TIGTA All Executives; Bennett Voneka S TIGTA; Barnes David J TIGTA; Donnan Jennifer Y TIGTA; Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA; Raschlatore Michael S TIGTA; McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; Polsfoot Thomas F TIGTA; Riley Kevin P TIGTA; Sutphen Matthew S TIGTA; Thomas Calvin A TIGTA; Venson Sheila M TIGTA
Subject: TIGTA In the News March 26, 2012 (revised)

<< OLE Object: Picture (Device Independent Bitmap) >>

March 26, 2012

-
- > Federal Computer Week: IGs, IRS, SSA and DHS Lose Billions in Improper Payments
  - > CNS News: Mark Levin Asks IG to Probe Possible IRS Misconduct in Dealing With Tea Party
  - > Tax Prof.Com IRS Error Rate Results in $14-$17 Billion/Year in Erroneous EITC

Report Exhibits - Page 001357

Payments

---

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

CNS News

Sunday, March 25, 2012

Mark Levin Asks IG to Probe Possible IRS Misconduct in Dealing with Tea Party

(CNSNews.com) - Landmark Legal Foundation sent a letter on Friday to the Treasury Department's Inspector General for Tax Administration requesting an investigation to determine whether officials with the Internal Revenue Service have engaged in misconduct in dealing with applications from Tea Party groups seeking tax-exempt status under section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

"Landmark Legal Foundation requests an immediate investigation into possible misconduct by the Internal Revenue Service's Exempt Organization (EO) Division that calls into question the integrity of federal tax administration and IRS programs," said the letter signed by Landmark President Mark Levin.

"Recent media reports indicate that the EO Division is using inappropriate and intimidating investigation tactics in the administration of applications for exempt status submitted by organizations associated with the Tea Party movement," Levin wrote.

As CNSNews.com reported earlier this month, the American Center for Law and Justice, which says it represents nearly 20 Tea Party organizations nationwide, put out a statement on March 7 complaining about what it perceived to be improper treatment of Tea Party groups by the IRS.

"This appears to be a coordinated attempt to intimidate Tea Party organizations by demanding information that is outside the scope of legitimate inquiry and violates the First Amendment," ACLJ Chief Counsel Jay Sekulow said in a statement.

"These organizations have followed the law and applied for tax exempt status for their activities as Americans have done for decades," Sekulow said. "The problem here is the IRS has gone beyond legitimate inquiries and is demanding that these organizations answer questions that actually violate the First Amendment rights of our clients."

"This intimidation campaign is as onerous as what the IRS did to the NAACP in the 1950's and is simply unacceptable," said Sekulow. "We will aggressively defend our clients and are prepared to take the IRS to court if necessary."

In his letter to the inspector general, Landmark's Levin said that the types of inquiries the IRS was making of Tea Party groups were inappropriate.

"The information demanded in many cases goes far beyond the appropriate level of inquiry regarding the religious, charitable and/or educational activities of a tax exempt entity," said Levin.

"The inquiries are not relevant to these permitted activities," Levin wrote. "Inquiries extend to organizational policy positions and priorities, personal and political affiliations, and associations of staff, board members and even family members of staff and board members."

"Finally," said Levin, "reports that Tea Party-related organizations are being singled out for the IRS's intrusive inquiries raises serious questions about the propriety of the personnel involved in the evaluation of tax exemption applications."

Landmark Legal Foundation also asked the inspector general to "determine whether the relevant IRS employees are acting at the direction of politically motivated superiors."

The Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration provides "independent oversight of IRS activities."

Report Exhibits - Page 001359

Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

---

Report Exhibits - Page 001360

From: Simhan Matthew S TIGTA
To: George J Russell TIGTA
Cc: McCarthy Michael T TIGTA; McKeeney Michael E TIGTA; Camus Timothy P TIGTA; Holmgren R David TIGTA; Begg Margaret E TIGTA; Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA; Raschiatore Michael S TIGTA; Nakamura Nancy A TIGTA; Jakabcsin George J TIGTA; Venson Sheila M TIGTA
Subject: Congressional Update
Date: Friday, April 19, 2013 5:13:53 PM
Attachments: Correspondence - Incoming 7506 2010-04-08 Letter to TIGTA (2).pdf

CONGRESSIONAL UPDATE
FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 2013

New Requests:

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Updates:

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Upcoming Hearings/Briefings:

Redacted by the
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

- Christopher Hixon, majority staffer for HOCR, expressed an interest in having an advanced briefing on OA's upcoming tax-exempt audit report. He too said that Chairman Issa may be interested in holding a hearing. As a reminder, this report was initiated as a result of meeting with the committee staff last spring, and Chairman Issa sent a follow-up letter expressing his interest in the matter.

Report Exhibits - Page 001361

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
To: George J Russell TIGTA
Subject: Re: Greetings to you From [REDACTED]
Date: Tuesday, October 23, 2012 10:22:23 PM given the highly sensitive nature of this ongoing audit (politically active non-profits) a more in depth discussion would be useful for you. Mike R is planning to discuss rescheduling with you

---

---

From: George J Russell TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, October 23, 2012 06:17 PM
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Subject: RE: Greetings to you From [REDACTED]

Thanks. Do we still need to meet on that issue?

---

From: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, October 23, 2012 4:39 PM
To: George J Russell TIGTA
Subject: Greetings to you From [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] called me today to do a reference check on a former employee [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Greg

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001362

McKenney Michael E TIGTA

From: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, May 08, 2013 10:13 AM
To: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA (Gregory.Kutz@tigta.treas.gov)
Subject: RE: Final Report 201210022 -- Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax Exempt Applications for Review

Greg, why is it that we don't say that this review was performed at the request of the Chairman of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee?

From: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, May 08, 2013 9:18 AM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Cc: Kutz Gregory D TIGTA; Anderson John E TIGTA; Davis Estine H TIGTA; Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Medina Cheryl J TIGTA
Subject: FW: Final Report 201210022 -- Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax Exempt Applications for Review

Mike,

The revised final report is attached. We made the two changes you wanted and the report is ready to go.

Tom

Tom Seidell
Audit Manager

Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

From: Anderson John E TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, May 08, 2013 8:10 AM
To: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Cc: Paterson Troy D TIGTA; Davis Estine H TIGTA; McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Subject: FW: Final Report 201210022 -- Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax Exempt Applications for Review

Hi Tom -- no, the final report package is with Mike McKenney. The files are attached if you need to make changes to the footnotes. When you do, please send to Mike with a cc to me so that I have the current version. Thanks.

From: Seidell Thomas F TIGTA
Sent: Wednesday, May 08, 2013 8:07 AM
To: Anderson John E TIGTA
Subject: Final Report 201210022

John,

Troy send the final package up to OMP on Monday, but we need to change two footnotes. Do you guys still have the report?

Report Exhibits - Page 001363

Thanks
Tom

From: Anderson John E TIGTA
Sent: Tuesday, May 07, 2013 5:40 PM
To: McKenney Michael E TIGTA
Cc: Jones Jeffrey M TIGTA
Subject: Final Report 201210022 -- Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax Exempt Applications for Review

Hi Mike,

Attached is the final audit report, Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax-Exempt Applications for Review. The corresponding Highlights document is also attached. I understand a press release has already been drafted for this report.

TIGTA initiated this audit based on concerns expressed by members of Congress. The overall objective of this audit was to determine whether allegations were founded that the IRS: 1) targeted specific groups applying for tax-exempt status, 2) delayed processing of targeted groups' applications, and 3) requested unnecessary information from targeted groups.

TIGTA determined that the IRS used inappropriate criteria that identified for review Tea Party and other organizations applying for tax-exempt status based upon their names or policy positions instead of indications of potential political campaign intervention. Ineffective management: 1) allowed inappropriate criteria to be developed and stay in place for more than 18 months, 2) resulted in substantial delays in processing certain applications, and 3) allowed unnecessary information requests to be issued.

Although the processing of some applications with potential significant political campaign intervention was started soon after receipt, no work was completed on the majority of these applications for 13 months. This was due to delays in receiving assistance from the Exempt Organizations function Headquarters office. For the 296 total political campaign intervention applications TIGTA reviewed as of December 17, 2012, 108 had been approved, 28 were withdrawn by the applicant, none had been denied, and 160 were open from 206 to 1,138 calendar days (some for more than three years and crossing two election cycles).

More than 20 months after the initial case was identified, processing the cases began in earnest. Many organizations received requests for additional information from the IRS that included unnecessary, burdensome questions (e.g., lists of past and future donors). The IRS later informed some organizations that they did not need to provide the information that was previously requested. IRS officials stated that any donor information received in response to a request from its Determinations Unit was later destroyed.

TIGTA recommended that the IRS finalize the interim actions taken, better document the reasons why applications potentially involving political campaign intervention are chosen for review, develop a process to track requests for assistance, develop and publish guidance, develop and provide training to employees before each election cycle, expeditiously resolve remaining political campaign intervention cases (some of which have been in process for three years), and request that social welfare activity guidance be developed by the Department of the Treasury.

Report Exhibits - Page 001364

In their response to the report, IRS officials agreed with seven of our nine recommendations and proposed alternative corrective actions for two of our recommendations. TIGTA does not agree that the alternative corrective actions will accomplish the intent of the recommendations and continues to believe that the IRS should better document the reasons why applications potentially involving political campaign intervention are chosen for review and develop and publish guidance.

John Anderson
Audit Manager – Office of Management and Policy
Office [REDACTED]
Telework [REDACTED]

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001365

From: Barnes, David J TIGTA
To: Kraushaar, Karen G TIGTA
Subject: Fw: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings
Date: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 7:26:33 PM

---

David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]

---

From: Bernie Becker [mailto:bbecker@thehill.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 07:25 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Barnes, David J TIGTA
Subject: Re: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings

Again: did you all know of BOLOs listing liberal groups when you wrote the audit?

On Tue, Jun 25, 2013 at 6:10 PM, Bernie Becker <bbecker@thehill.com> wrote:
That makes some sense. You're not really directly answering whether you knew about liberal groups being on the BOLOs though. I get that you knew other BOLOs existed, and that it wasn't part of the request.

Sent from my iPhone

On Jun 25, 2013, at 17:58, Barnes, David J TIGTA <David.Barnes@tigta.treas.gov> wrote:

We acknowledged that we had identified other issues that we beyond the scope of our audit.

Think of an audit like writing a story. At some point, you need to quit reporting and start writing. If you find something that doesn't quite fit in the story, you mention it to get it on the record but focus on it.
That make sense?

---

What is Rep. Camp saying about this?

David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]

---

From: Bernie Becker [mailto:bbecker@thehill.com]

Report Exhibits - Page 001366

Sent: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 05:47 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: Re: Fw: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings

-----Thanks, David-----

Just to be clear: You only focused on Tea Party groups because that was what the person who asked for the audit – i.e., Issa – requested. So, if you had found reason to believe that groups outside of the Tea Party were also singled out by the IRS for partisan reasons, you would not have pursued that any further.

And that is sort of standard operating procedure for the IG when an audit is requested. That all sound about right?

On Tue, Jun 25, 2013 at 5:36 PM, Barnes David J TIGTA
<David.Barnes@tigta.treas.gov> wrote:

Bernie:

Here's some additional background, for attribution to a TIGTA spokesperson:

TIGTA was asked to narrowly focus on Tea Party organizations. On page 6 of our report we acknowledge the existence of other BOLOs. We did not review the use, disposition, purpose or content of the other BOLOs. That was outside the scope of our audit.

Hope this helps.

From: Bernie Becker (<mailto:bbecker@thehill.com>)
Sent: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 3:58 PM

To: Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: Re: Fw: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings

-----Do-you-know-when?-----

For example, I still have some questions about the statement you sent yesterday. You appear to be saying that the progressive term on the BOLO wasn't used to select cases dealing with potential campaign intervention. Is that because the progressive groups appear to be seeking c3 status on the BOLO? The fact they weren't on the emerging issues tab?

Report Exhibits - Page 001367

Any guidance is appreciated...

On Tue, Jun 25, 2013 at 2:23 PM, Barnes David J TIGTA
<David.Barnes@tigta.treas.gov> wrote:

Bernie:
I'll get back to you on this.

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]

From: Bernie Becker (<mailto:bbecker@thehill.com>)
Sent: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 1:46 PM

To: Barnes David J TIGTA

Subject: Re: Fw: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings

Thanks for this. Are you guys going to have a specific response to the Levin letter any time soon? Or more specific information on any steps forward for you guys?

On Mon, Jun 24, 2013 at 6:47 PM, Barnes David J TIGTA
<David.Barnes@tigta.treas.gov> wrote:

David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration

Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]

From: Barnes David J TIGTA

Report Exhibits - Page 001368

Sent: Monday, June 24, 2013 05:17 PM Eastern Standard Time
To: Barnes David J TIGTA
Subject: TIGTA Statement on "Be On the Look Out" Listings

For attribution to a TIGTA spokesperson:

"TIGTA's audit focused on the criteria the IRS used to select cases for expanded review for potential political campaign intervention. The "Be On the Look Out" listings discussed in our report were the ones used to refer cases for this type of scrutiny.

On page 6 of the report, we noted that the IRS had other criteria used to refer cases for other types of processing, some of which also used the names of organizations. For example, the IRS had lookouts for indicators of known fraud schemes, so they could be referred to the group that handled those issues.

As we continue our review, we have identified other criteria that use names and policy positions to refer cases. Although these criteria were not used to select cases for review of potential political campaign intervention, we are reviewing whether these criteria led to expanded scrutiny for other reasons, and why these criteria were implemented. Because many of these involve specific taxpayers, we cannot provide further information at this time, but have advised the IRS and Congressional committees authorized to receive tax information of our review."

— = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

David Barnes
Public Affairs Liaison
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]

Report Exhibits - Page 001369

From: Kraushaar, Karen G TIGTA
To: sainstein@huffingtonpost.com
Subject: Response to your inquiry
Date: Tuesday, June 25, 2013 5:27:00 PM

Hi Sam,

Please see below.

Questions:

1. Can TIGTA comment on the fact that the lead auditor assigned to the exempt organization audit was previously relieved from his position at the GAO because of a faulty report he did on for-profit colleges. I've confirmed as much through various press accounts. I would like to get your reaction to the concerns that some might have over his role in the IRS project in light of this episode

TIGTA response: "TIGTA's rigorous review process insures the integrity of all our work. Our audit reports, in addition to being conducted in conformance with government auditing standards, are subjected to extensive review."

2. Can TIGTA clarify why its report never mentioned that progressive groups were on the BOLO. They were listed on the same forms as Tea Party groups (as the House Democrat-released docs reveal). So it's impossible that investigators didn't see them. Perhaps the directive from the House Oversight Committee was very defined: only look at the targeting of conservative groups. TIGTA response: Yes, we were asked to narrowly focus on Tea Party organizations. But if that is the case, isn't it worthwhile context to include that progressive groups were screened? TIGTA response: On page 6 of our report we acknowledge the existence of other BOLOs. Perhaps the type of screening applied to each was different. If so, I'd love an explanation. TIGTA response: We did not review the use, disposition, purpose or content of the other BOLOs. That was outside the scope of our audit. Or perhaps you felt restricted in your ability to talk about it. I noticed that in the IG's testimony he alluded to other groups being targeted without mentioning names. But in that case, I'm unclear as to what type of proprietary tax information would have been revealed had you disclosed in the report that progressive groups were targeted. TIGTA response: Section 6103 of Title 26 forbids us from revealing any confidential taxpayer information, including taxpayer names.

If you still would like to discuss this further, David Barnes and I are both around tomorrow.

Thanks and have a good evening,

Karen Kraushaar
Director of Communications
Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration
1401 H Street, N.W. Suite 469
Washington, D.C. 20005
Office: [REDACTED]
Cell: [REDACTED]
Karen.Kraushaar@tigta.irs.gov

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Report Exhibits - Page 001370

From: Hicks, Josh
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: Re: Tax-Exempt audit objective
Date: Thursday, June 27, 2013 1:23:15 PM

---

Are you saying you want to retroactively put your last response -- about "not accurate" -- on background?

Regarding yesterday's questions, I am indeed still hoping for answers.

Sent from my iPhone

On Jun 27, 2013, at 12:59 PM, "Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA" <Karen.Kraushaar@tigta.treas.gov> wrote:

Josh, I am only speaking on background today, not for attribution.

Regrettably, erroneous information was provided to my office. It happens.

There is a lot of confusion out there about this whole matter, especially about the BOLOs. I am still working on getting you responses to the questions you sent us yesterday. Do you still want those?

Karen

---

From: Hicks, Josh [mailto:josh.hicks@washpost.com]
Sent: Thursday, June 27, 2013 12:39 PM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Did you say TIGTA was "asked by House Oversight Chairman Darrell Issa (R-Calif.) 'to narrowly focus on Tea Party organizations.'" as the Hill put it.

If so, what was the context of that statement, and how did the Hill misuse it, in your opinion?

Josh Hicks
Washington Post
Desk: [REDACTED]
josh.hicks@washpost.com
Twitter: @reporter_hicks

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

<http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/federal-eye/>

---

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA [mailto:Karen.Kraushaar@tigta.treas.gov]
Sent: Thursday, June 27, 2013 12:31 PM
To: Hicks, Josh
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Report Exhibits - Page 001371

Yes Josh thanks. The statements attributed to me in The Hill are not accurate.

Several members of Congress shared their concerns about Tea Party organizations with TIGTA. However, the focus of our audit was on the IRS's consistency in its identification and review of applications for tax-exempt status involving potential political advocacy issues.

Thanks ...there is a lot of confusion out there!

From: Hicks, Josh [mailto:josh.hicks@washpost.com]
Sent: Thursday, June 27, 2013 12:09 PM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Hey, Karen. Following up on this for the story we're planning to run tomorrow: Do you dispute any of the quotes the Hill newspaper attributed to you in the article we discussed?

<http://thehill.com/blogs/on-the-money/domestic-taxes/307813-irs-ig-says-audit-limited-to-tea-party-groups>

If not, do you have any issues with the Hill's framing of your remarks?

Josh Hicks
Washington Post
Desk: [REDACTED]
josh.hicks@washpost.com
Twitter: @reporter_hicks

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

<http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/federal-eye/>

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA [mailto:Karen.Kraushaar@tigta.treas.gov]
Sent: Wednesday, June 26, 2013 6:01 PM
To: Hicks, Josh
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Hi Josh,

Some members of Congress did express concern about the way Tea Party organizations were being treated, but our audit is as stated below.

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt Status Involving Political Advocacy Issues (FY 2012 – Work in Process – Audit Number: 201210022) Audit Objective: Assess the consistency of the EO function's identification and review of applications for tax-exempt status involving potential political advocacy issues.

Report Exhibits - Page 001372

Hope this helps. Thanks!

From: Hicks, Josh (<mailto:josh.hicks@washpost.com>)
Sent: Wednesday, June 26, 2013 5:54 PM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Subject: RE: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Thanks for all this. The picture has become clearer, but we're going to hold off on the story until we have more information about the BOLO tabs and what they each mean.

As for now, it appears as though the focus of the audit was on the "emerging issues" criteria, which arose after court decisions opened the door for a new type of tax-exemption candidate. The terms such as "progressive" and "medical marijuana" came from separate BOLO categories, as you and Mike pointed out this morning.

Very important question: Why did you tell the Hill newspaper that Issa had asked TIGTA to "narrowly focus on tea party organizations"? Seems like the audit actually focused on emerging issues cases. We'll need to address that in this article.

<http://thehill.com/blogs/on-the-money/domestic-taxes/307813-irs-ig-says-audit-limited-to-tea-party-groups>

Josh Hicks
Washington Post
Desk: [REDACTED]
josh.hicks@washpost.com
Twitter: @reporter_hicks

[REDACTED] = Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

<http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/federal-eye/>

From: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA (<mailto:Karen.Kraushaar@tigta.treas.gov>)
Sent: Wednesday, June 26, 2013 5:39 PM
To: Kraushaar Karen G TIGTA
Cc: Phillips Michael R TIGTA
Subject: Tax-Exempt audit objective

Here is the accurate description of our audit report, in our annual audit plan:

Consistency in Identifying and Reviewing Applications for Tax-Exempt Status Involving Political Advocacy Issues (FY 2012 – Work in Process – Audit Number: 201210022) Audit Objective: Assess the consistency of the EO function's identification and review of applications for tax-exempt status involving potential political advocacy issues.

Please refer to this. While members of Congress expressed their concerns about Tea Party organizations, this is the accurate description of the audit. Let me know any questions, Thanks!

Report Exhibits - Page 001373

Report Exhibits - Page 001374

The following is correspondence between the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations and the Internal Revenue Service, March 2012 - March 2013:

1. Subcommittee letter of March 30, 2012;
IRS response of June 4, 2012 (PSI-IRS-02-000001-026).
2. Senator Levin letter of June 13, 2012;
IRS response of July 13, 2012 (PSI-IRS-03-000001-002).
3. Subcommittee letter of July 27, 2012;
IRS response of August 24, 2012 (PSI-IRS-04-000001-008).
4. Subcommittee letter of August 31, 2012;
IRS response of September 14, 2012 (PSI-IRS-05-000001-004).
5. Subcommittee letter of September 27, 2012;
IRS response of October 17, 2012 (PSI-IRS-06-000001-003).
6. Subcommittee letter of October 23, 2012;
IRS response of November 23, 2012 (PSI-IRS-07-000001-119).
7. Subcommittee letter of January 4, 2013;
IRS response of March 15, 2013 (PSI-IRS-08-000001-108).

COMMITTEE ON
HOMELAND SECURITY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

March 30, 2012

VIA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL (Floyd.Williams@IRS.gov)

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
1111 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20224

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

Some entities claiming tax-exempt status as social welfare organizations under 26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4) appear to be engaged in political activities more appropriate for political organizations claiming tax-exempt status under 26 U.S.C. §527. Because of the urgency of the issues involved in this matter, please provide the following information by April 20, 2012.

- (1) Are entities seeking tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) required to submit an application to the IRS for review and approval, or can they hold themselves out as having that tax-exempt status without filing an application or undergoing IRS review?
- (2) For entities that submit an application for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4), please indicate:
  - (a) the approximate average number of days between the date on which an entity submits an application for 501(c)(4) tax-exempt status and the date on which that application is approved or denied;
  - (b) if it is not provided on a routine basis, approximately what percentage of such applicants receive an IRS questionnaire seeking information about any political activities, and how the IRS determines whether and when to send that questionnaire; and
  - (c) approximately how many days after an application is filed that questionnaire is typically sent.
- (3) A 1997 letter from the IRS denying tax-exempt status to the National Policy Forum, copy attached, made public in connection with a Senate investigation into federal election campaigns, indicates that the IRS based its denial on the fact that the organization was engaged in partisan political activity, stating that "partisan political activity does not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4)," and "benefit[s] select individuals or groups, instead of the community as a whole."

Is it still the position of the IRS that a 501(c)(4) organization cannot engage in any partisan political activity, even as a secondary activity?

- (4) Is it the position of the IRS that an entity claiming tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) can engage in nonpartisan political activity as a secondary activity, and that political activity can consume up to 49% of the entity's expenditures and resources?
- (5) A Treasury regulation applicable to 501(c)(4) organizations states: "The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office." Treas.Reg. §1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii). Would the IRS generally view it as a violation of that regulation if a 501(c)(4) organization:
  - (a) made a cash contribution to a political organization which is tax-exempt under Section 527 and functions as a campaign committee to elect a particular candidate to public office?
  - (b) made a cash contribution to a political action committee which was established under the Federal Election Campaign Act (FEC Act) and which routinely makes cash contributions to campaign committees, each of which was established to elect a particular candidate to public office?
  - (c) made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which makes independent expenditures on behalf of or in opposition to one or more candidates for public office?
  - (d) made a cash contribution to a national political party which engages in partisan political campaigns to elect multiple candidates from the same political party to public office?
  - (e) made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which is engaged in partisan political activity, but does not campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any particular candidate for public office?
  - (f) made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which is engaged in nonpartisan political activity and does not campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any particular candidate for public office?
- (6) Would the IRS generally view it as a violation of Treasury Regulation §1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii), if a 501(c)(4) organization were to coordinate its political activities with a campaign committee, political action committee, or national political party?
Please explain.

Report Exhibits - Page 001377

3

- (7) I understand that some persons have petitioned the Treasury Department to clarify or revise Treasury Regulation §1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii). Please indicate whether the IRS plans to engage in such a rulemaking, whether it would first solicit comments on what should be included in that rulemaking, and whether or when any such rulemaking effort has been scheduled to begin.
- (8) If the IRS were to deny an entity's request to be treated as tax exempt under Section 501(c)(4), would the IRS automatically apply corporate income taxes to that entity or would it allow the entity to apply for tax-exempt status on other grounds?
- (9) If the IRS were to determine that an entity was impermissibly participating in partisan political activity, does the IRS have unilateral authority to reclassify it as a Section 527 political organization instead of a Section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization?
- (10) If an entity were denied tax-exempt status by the IRS under Section 501(c)(4), how would past contributions and income earned on those funds generally be treated under the tax code?
- (11) What considerations does the IRS use to determine when an entity that is denied tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) should be subject to a penalty? What penalties are available and how are they calculated?
- (12) Please provide a copy of the standard questionnaire that the IRS sends to entities claiming tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) to obtain information about their political activities. In addition, please provide any written guidance provided to IRS agents regarding the issue of political activity in connection with Section 501(c)(4).
- (13) Please indicate how many letter rulings have been issued by the IRS since January 1, 2007, to deny or revoke the tax-exempt status of an organization under Section 501(c)(4) due to involvement with partisan or nonpartisan political activity. If the IRS has issued 10 or less such letter rulings, please provide copies of all such letters. If the IRS has issued more than 10 such letter rulings, please provide a sample containing discussions of the widest variety of issues related to the denial of tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) due to partisan or nonpartisan political activity.

Thank you for your assistance on this matter. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Kaye Meier of my staff at kaye\_meier@levin.senate.gov or 202/224-9110.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

June 4, 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Senate Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Senator Levin:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated March 30, 2012, requesting information about the tax-exempt sector. We appreciate your interest and support of the IRS efforts in the administration of the tax law as it applies to tax-exempt organizations. This response follows the telephone conversation held with your staff on May 4, 2012.

Question 1. Are entities seeking tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) required to submit an application to the IRS for review and approval, or can they hold themselves out as having tax-exempt status without filing an application or undergoing IRS review?

The law allows section 501(c)(4) organizations to hold themselves out as tax-exempt. Organizations also can apply for IRS recognition as tax-exempt. Whether an organization is self-declared under section 501(c)(4) or has been determined by the IRS to meet the requirements of section 501(c)(4), the organization must file Form 990 annual information returns.

Question 2.

To assist in responding to your specific sub-questions, we are providing background information about our system for processing applications for tax-exempt status, as well as the statutory disclosure rules that govern public inspection of IRS documents relating to tax-exempt organizations.

Application Process

All applications for tax-exempt status, including applications for status under section 501(c)(4), are filed with a centralized IRS Submission Processing Center, which enters the applications into the EP/EO Determination System and processes the attached user fees. The application is then sent to the Exempt Organizations ("EO") Determinations office in Cincinnati, Ohio for initial technical screening.

This technical screening is conducted by experienced revenue agents who review the applications and, based on that review, separate the applications into the following four categories:

- Applications that can be approved immediately based on the completeness of the application and the information submitted;
- Applications that need only minor additional required information in the file in order to approve the application;
- Applications that do not contain the information needed to be considered substantially complete; and
- Applications that require further development by an agent in order to determine whether the application meets the requirements for tax-exempt status.

Organizations whose applications fall into the fourth category are sent letters informing them that more development of their application is needed, and that they will be contacted once their application has been assigned to a revenue agent. The applications are sent to unassigned inventory, where they are held until a revenue agent with the appropriate level of experience for the issues involved in the matter is available to further develop the case.<sup>1</sup>

Once the case is assigned, the revenue agent notifies the organization and reviews the application. Based upon established precedent and the facts and circumstances set forth in the application, the revenue agent requests additional information and documentation to complete the file pertaining to the exempt status application materials<sup>2</sup> (the so-called "administrative record") and makes a determination. Where an application for exemption presents issues that require further development to complete the application record, the revenue agent engages in a back and forth dialogue with the organization in order to obtain the needed information. This back and forth dialogue helps applicants better understand the requirements for exemption and what is needed to meet them, and allows the IRS to obtain all the information relevant to the determination.

<sup>1</sup> Enclosure A describes the criteria used to determine the appropriate level of experience.

<sup>2</sup> The application for recognition of tax exempt status, any papers submitted in support of the application, and any letter or other document issued by the IRS with respect to the application. See IRC § 6104(a), (d)(5).

Report Exhibits - Page 001380

3

Tools are available to promote consistent handling of full development cases. For example, in situations where there are a number of cases involving similar issues (such as credit counseling organizations, down payment assistance organizations, organizations that were automatically revoked and are seeking retroactive reinstatement, and most recently, advocacy organizations), the IRS will assign cases to designated employees to promote consistency. Additionally, in these cases, EO Technical (an office of higher graded specialists in Exempt Organizations), in consultation with the IRS Office of Chief Counsel, may develop educational materials to assist the revenue agents in issue spotting and crafting questions to develop cases consistently.

It is important to develop a complete administrative record for the application. Because the administrative record must either support exemption or denial, it is important for the record to be complete. If the application is approved, not only is the administrative record made publicly available (with certain limited exceptions outlined below), but organizations that act as described in the administrative record have reliance on the IRS determination. If the application is denied, the organization may seek review from the Office of Appeals. The Appeals Office, which is independent of Exempt Organizations, reviews the complete administrative record and makes its own independent determination of whether the organization meets the requirements for tax-exempt status. It is to the organization's benefit to have all of its materials in the file in the event EO Determinations denies exemption and the organization seeks Appeals review. If, based on the information in the administrative record, the Appeals Office decides the organization meets the requirements for tax-exempt status, the application will be approved. If the Appeals Office agrees that the application should be denied, the organization may challenge its non-exempt status by paying any tax owed as a taxable entity, and seeking a refund in federal court.

In those cases where the application raises issues for which there is no established published precedent or for which non-uniformity may exist, EO Determinations may refer the application to EO Technical. In EO Technical, the applications are reviewed by tax law specialists whose job is to interpret and provide guidance on the law and who work closely with IRS Chief Counsel attorneys on the issues.

Similar to the process in EO Determinations, EO Technical tax law specialists develop cases based on the facts and circumstances of the issues in the specific application. EO Technical staff engages in a back and forth dialogue with the organization in order to obtain the information needed to complete the administrative record. If, upon review of all of the information submitted, it appears that an organization does not meet the requirements for tax-exempt status, a proposed denial explaining the reasons the organization does not meet the requirements is issued. The organization is then entitled to a "conference of right" where it may provide additional information. Following the conference of right, a final determination is issued. If the application is approved, the administrative record is made publicly available, and if the organization acts as described in the application record, it has reliance on the IRS determination. If the application is denied, the applicant may challenge its non-exempt status by paying any tax owed as a taxable entity, and seeking a refund in federal court.

Statutory Disclosure Rules

Public disclosure regarding tax exempt organization filings is principally governed by sections 6103, 6104 and 6110 of the Internal Revenue Code. Generally, section 6103 of the Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized by a provision of the Code. Section 6104 of the Code requires the IRS to make certain materials available for public inspection, including an organization's approved application for recognition of tax exemption and Form 990 annual information returns.<sup>3</sup> If the IRS approves an organization's application for tax-exempt status, section 6104(a) requires that the application and supporting materials be made available for public inspection. The only exception to that requirement is found in section 6104(a)(1)(D), which exempts from disclosure information that the IRS determines relates to any "trade secret, patent, process, style of work, or apparatus of the organization" that would adversely affect the organization or information that could adversely affect national defense.

The long-standing statutory requirements regarding exemption applications, including Form 1024, are separate from those requiring public availability of Form 990 annual information returns, which are contained in section 6104(b). Under section 6104(b), Form 990 annual information returns are also subject to public inspection, with the sole exception of donor information contained in Schedule B of the Form 990. The withholding of names and addresses of donors from public disclosure applies only to Form 990; this exception does not extend to information obtained from Form 1024 and supporting materials.<sup>4</sup>

In light of the statutory requirement to make approved applications public, organizations are notified that information they provide will be available for public inspection on page two of the Form 1024 instructions. This notice is reiterated in any development letters sent to the organizations. The administrative record of approved applications, including the application, supporting documents and correspondence between the applicant and the IRS are available upon request.

Under section 6110 of the Code, if the IRS ultimately denies the application for recognition of tax-exempt status, the denial letter and background information will be open to public inspection, with certain identifying and other information redacted.

---

<sup>3</sup> The disclosure rules have been in place since 1958, and the legislative history provided the following rationale for public disclosure of exemption applications: "[t]he committee believes that making these applications available to the public will provide substantial additional aid to the Internal Revenue Service in determining whether organizations are actually operating in the manner in which they have stated in their applications for exemption." H.R. Rep. No. 85-262, at 41-42 (1957). In 1987, Congress added what is now section 6104(d) to the Code, that requires organizations to make their returns available to the public, and in 1996 extended this rule to application materials.

<sup>4</sup> The withholding exception does not apply to donor information for organizations that file Form 990-PF or to those section 527 organizations that are required to file Form 990 or 990-EZ.

Report Exhibits - Page 001382

5

For entities that submit an application for tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4), please indicate:

- (a) the approximate average number of days between the date on which an entity submits an application for 501(c)(4) tax-exempt status and the date on which the application is approved or denied;

The average case processing time for determination cases closed in FY2011 was 104 days. However, it is difficult to predict how long it will take to fully process any specific application. Case processing time can vary greatly depending on a number of factors, including whether the case can be closed through technical screening or requires full development, the availability of an agent with the appropriate experience level to fully develop the application, the particular issues and individualized facts and circumstances presented in the application, the back and forth dialogue between the revenue agent and the applicant to fully develop the application, and whether a case is transferred to EO Technical.

- (b) if it is not provided on a routine basis, approximately what percentage of such applicants receive an IRS questionnaire seeking information about any political activities, and how the IRS determines whether and when to send that questionnaire; and

We understand that the reference in your letter to "questionnaire" is intended to relate to development letters the IRS sends to organizations in the ordinary course of the application process to obtain the information as the IRS deems necessary to make a determination whether the organization meets the legal requirements for tax-exempt status. There is no standard questionnaire used in the determinations process seeking information about political activities.

The IRS contacts the organization and solicits additional information when the organization does not provide sufficient information in response to the questions on the Form 1024 to make a determination or if issues are raised by the application. When an application needs further development, the case is assigned to a revenue agent with the appropriate level of experience for the issues involved in the application.

The general procedures for requesting additional information to develop an application are included in section 7.20.2 of the Internal Revenue Manual. Although there is a template letter that describes the general information on the case development process, the letter does not, and could not, specify the information to be requested from any particular organization because of the broad range of possible facts. Enclosure B is a copy of the template letter.

The amount and nature of development necessary to process an application to ensure that the legal requirements of tax-exemption are satisfied depends on several factors, which include the comprehensiveness of the information provided in the application and the issues raised by the application. Consequently, revenue agents prepare individualized questions and requests for documents relevant to the application, which are attached to the above described general template letter. With certain types of applications where the issues are similar or more complex, EO Technical, in coordination with Chief Counsel, may develop educational materials to assist the revenue agents in issue spotting and crafting questions to develop those cases consistently.

The revenue agent uses sound reasoning based on tax law training and his or her experience to review the application and identify the additional information needed to make a proper determination regarding the organization's exempt status. The revenue agent prepares individualized questions and requests for documents based on the facts and circumstances set forth in the particular application.

The below chart provides the total number of applications closed for FY 2008-2011,<sup>5</sup> as well as preliminary information for part of 2012.<sup>6</sup> The below chart provides the percentage of all exemption applications closed each year through the technical screening process (i.e., no development letters sent).

|                                                               | Fiscal Year |        |        |        |        |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|--------|--------|--------|--------|
|                                                               | 2008        | 2009   | 2010   | 2011   | 2012   |
| Total number of applications closed                           | 84,220      | 77,305 | 65,590 | 61,004 | 28,570 |
| Percentage of applications closed through technical screening | 59%         | 57%    | 56%    | 60%    | 70%    |

Although we are able to produce the number of cases closed during this time period that received development letters, our systems do not track the specific types of questions asked in the development letters for these cases. Therefore, manual review of each file would be necessary to determine the particular organization and the development letters sent.

<sup>5</sup> Reports of the IRS data requested are created and published by Statistics of Income (SOI) Division. The IRS Data Book provides information on IRS activities conducted during a fiscal year period (October 1 through September 30). Data Book information is updated annually. This SOI data is from IRS Data Book, Table 24, Closures of Applications for Tax-Exempt Status, by Organization Type and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2008 (and subsequent fiscal years 2009-2011) at <http://www.irs.gov/taxstats/index.html>. This data reflects all case closures for the Exempt Organizations Determinations function. These include not only initial applications for tax-exempt status, but also other determinations, such as public charity and private foundation status determinations, advance approval of scholarship grant procedures, and group determinations of tax-exempt status.

<sup>6</sup> The data for FY 2012 reflects the preliminary information available through the second quarter from October 1, 2011 through March 30, 2012. SOI Data Book information is updated annually, with the complete FY 2012 information expected in March 2013.

(c) approximately how many days after an application is filed that questionnaire is typically sent.

As mentioned above, organizations whose applications fall into the fourth category are sent letters informing them that more development of their application is needed, and that they will be contacted once their application has been assigned to a revenue agent. The applications are sent to unassigned inventory, where they are held until a revenue agent with the appropriate level of experience for the issues involved in the matter is available to further develop the case. Once the case is assigned, the revenue agent notifies the organization and reviews the application.

Based upon the established precedent and the facts and circumstances set forth in the application, the revenue agent will request additional information and documentation to complete the file. If applicable, the revenue agent will coordinate with EO Technical and Chief Counsel to develop requests for information to be issued to the organization. For all of these reasons, it is difficult to predict the time frame between the filing of an application for tax-exemption and the issuance of a development letter.

Question 3. A 1997 letter from the IRS denying tax-exempt status to the National Policy Forum, copy attached, made public in connection with a Senate investigation into federal election campaigns, indicates that the IRS based its denial on the fact that the organization was engaged in partisan political activity, stating that "partisan political activity does not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4)," and "benefit[s] select individuals or groups, instead of the community as a whole." Is it still the position of the IRS that a 501(c)(4) organization cannot engage in any partisan political activity, even as a secondary activity?

As noted above, section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision in the Internal Revenue Code. Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax exempt status and supporting materials only after the organization has been recognized as exempt. Under section 6110 of the Code, if the IRS ultimately denies the application for recognition of tax-exempt status, the denial letter is subject to public inspection, with identifying and other information redacted, to assist the public in understanding the IRS' reasoning while also protecting the identity of the organization. Although you reference what appears to be a proposed denial letter that may have been made available publicly by sources other than the IRS, IRS Disclosure Counsel has advised that section 6103 continues to apply and we are legally prohibited from discussing taxpayer information.<sup>7</sup> However, we are able to respond to your question generally.

To qualify for exemption as a social welfare organization described in section 501(c)(4), <sup>7</sup> Section 6103(f) of the Code sets forth the means by which congressional committees may obtain access to return and return information (that is not otherwise made publicly available under sections 6104 and 6110). We are available to discuss these rules in more detail with your staff.

the organization must be primarily engaged in the promotion of social welfare, not organized or operated for profit, and the net earnings of which do not inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.<sup>8</sup> The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.<sup>9</sup> Nevertheless, a section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization can engage in political activities as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare.<sup>10</sup> The regulations do not impose a complete ban on political activity by section 501(c)(4) organizations.<sup>11</sup> Whether an organization meets the requirements of section 501(c)(4) depends upon all of the facts and circumstances of the particular applicant, and no one factor is determinative.

A revenue agent must first determine whether activities undertaken by the organization primarily further an exempt purpose. If the organization is engaged in some activities that do not promote social welfare, then the agent must review the scope of the activities to determine whether, based on all the facts and circumstances, the organization's exempt activities are the primary activities. If the application is unclear or not sufficiently detailed as to whether the primary activity conducted by the organization is exempt social welfare activity, the revenue agent will need to follow-up on this issue in a development letter.

It is also important to note that section 6110(k)(3) provides that determination letters (including both proposed and final letters) may not be used or cited as precedent. Determination letters are based on the specific facts and circumstances of the applicant.

Question 4. Is it the position of the IRS that an entity claiming tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(4) can engage in nonpartisan political activity as a secondary activity, and that political activity can consume up to 49% of the entity's expenditures and resources.

To determine whether an organization operates primarily for the promotion of social welfare, the courts and the IRS consider all the facts and circumstances, including but not limited to the organization's stated purposes, expenditures, principal source of revenue, number of employees and volunteers, and time and effort.<sup>12</sup> The IRS has taken no position on a fixed percentage or any one factor in precedential guidance.

<sup>8</sup> IRC § 501(c)(4); Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1.

<sup>9</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(iii).

<sup>10</sup> Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332.

<sup>11</sup> Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332.

<sup>12</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2) (No percentage test established). Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259 (Principal source of income does not determine an organization's primary activity under § 501(c)(4); all the facts and circumstances are considered). See, generally Haswell v. United States, 500 F.2d 1133, 1142, 1147 (Cl. Ct. 1974) ("A percentage test . . . is not appropriate. Such a test obscures the complexity of balancing the organization's activities in relation to its objectives and circumstances in the context of the totality of the organization."). See, Contracting Plumbers v. United States, 488 F.2d 684, 686 (2d Cir. 1973) (multiple factors relevant in applying this standard, including formative history, stated purposes, and actual operations). See generally Seasongood v. Commissioner, 227 F.2d 907, 909, 912 (6th Cir. 1955) (expenditures, employees, and organization's time and effort considered).

Question 5. A Treasury regulation applicable to 501(c)(4) organizations states: "The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office." Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii). Would the IRS generally view it as a violation of that regulation if a 501(c)(4) organization:

- (a) Made a cash contribution to a political organization which is tax-exempt under Section 527 and functions as a campaign committee to elect a particular candidate to public office?
- (b) Made a cash contribution to a political action committee which was established under the Federal Election Campaign Act (FEC Act) and which routinely makes cash contributions to campaign committees, each of which was established to elect a particular candidate to public office?
- (c) Made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which makes independent expenditures on behalf of or in opposition to one or more candidates for public office?
- (d) Made a cash contribution to a national political party which engages in partisan political campaigns to elect multiple candidates from the same political party to public office?
- (e) Made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which is engaged in partisan political activity, but does not campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any particular candidate for public office?
- (f) Made a cash contribution to a political action committee or Section 527 political organization which is engaged in nonpartisan political activity and does not campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any particular candidate for public office?

As noted previously, a section 501(c)(4) organization may directly or indirectly participate or intervene in a political campaign as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Treasury regulations provide that promotion of social welfare does not include certain activities, including political campaign intervention.<sup>13</sup> This regulation does not prohibit a section 501(c)(4) organization from engaging in such activity. Rather, the political campaign intervention activity does not count towards the organization's exempt activities that promote social welfare. Therefore, if the organization engages in such activity, it has "violated" no rule under the regulations. As discussed, all facts and circumstances are relevant in determining whether the requirements for tax exemption are ultimately satisfied.

The same legal requirements apply in each of the facts patterns articulated in your questions. With respect to each of the fact patterns that you specify, while depending on the facts and circumstances, political activity would not be for a social welfare purpose, the organization does not violate any Internal Revenue Code rule applicable to section 501(c)(4) organizations if it engages in such activity. All the facts and circumstances need to be considered to determine whether this activity affects the section 501(c)(4) organization's tax-exempt status.<sup>14</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii).

Question 6. Would the IRS generally view it as a violation of Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii), if a 501(c)(4) organization were to coordinate its political activities with a campaign committee, political action committee, or national political party? Please explain.

As stated, section 501(c)(4) organizations may engage in some political campaign activity provided that such intervention, along with other activity that does not promote social welfare, does not constitute the organization's primary activities. The tax law does not explicitly prohibit a section 501(c)(4) organization from coordinating political activity.

However, such coordination could raise issues of primary activity, inurement or private benefit. Thus, for example, if an organization's activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party or any other private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole, the organization is not operated primarily to promote social welfare. Accordingly, conferring a sufficient amount of private benefit on select individuals will preclude exemption under section 501(c)(4) if that private benefit is the primary activity of the organization.<sup>15</sup>

Question 7. I understand that some persons have petitioned the Treasury Department to clarify or revise Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii). Please indicate whether the IRS plans to engage in such a rulemaking, whether it would first solicit comments on what should be included in that rulemaking, and whether or when any such rulemaking effort has been scheduled to begin.

The IRS, in collaboration with the Treasury Department's Office of Tax Policy ("Treasury"), annually develops a list of the guidance that Treasury and the IRS intend to work on during the upcoming guidance plan year. Certain types of guidance are issued in proposed form to allow an opportunity for public comment.

The IRS is aware of the current public interest in this issue and will seriously consider any proposed changes. Treasury and the IRS have not yet established the list of the guidance that Treasury and the IRS intend to work on from July 1, 2012, through June 30, 2013. The selection of items for the 2012-2013 Guidance Priority List will be made in collaboration with Treasury after review and evaluation of comments received.

<sup>14</sup> Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259. See also, e.g., Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp. v. U.S., 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973) (There are multiple factors relevant in applying this standard, including formative history, stated purposes, and actual operations). Note that tax may apply in certain cases under Internal Revenue Code section 527(f).

<sup>15</sup> IRC § 501(c)(4); Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1. See Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp. v. U.S., 488 F.2d 684, 687 (2d Cir. 1973) (Organization was not primarily devoted to the common good when it provided substantial and different benefits to both the public and its private members). American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053, 1078 (1989), a section 501(c)(3) case, held that an organization was not operated exclusively for exempt purposes when it conferred substantial private benefits on a political party and its candidates.

Question 8. If the IRS were to deny an entity's request to be treated as tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(4), would the IRS automatically apply corporate income taxes to that entity or would it allow the entity to apply for tax-exempt status on other grounds?

When a section 501(c)(4) organization receives a final determination letter denying its application for tax-exempt status, the letter advises the organization that it must file Federal income tax returns for the years listed in the letter within 30 days of the issuance of the denial letter, unless the organization requests an extension of time to file. Enclosure C is a copy of this standard final denial letter.

If the revenue agent assigned to the case believes that the organization may not meet the requirements of a section 501(c)(4) organization, but may meet the requirements of another tax-exempt provision, the issue of whether the organization wants to be considered for exemption under that other provision could be discussed with the organization through development letters prior to the final resolution of the application. If the organization indicates that it does not want to proceed under the other provision and continues to pursue section 501(c)(4) exemption, the IRS would deny the application and the organization would be treated as a taxable entity.

Please note that some organizations withdraw their application for exemption when they learn that a denial is forthcoming. Others do not formally withdraw, but do not respond to requests for information necessary to develop their applications. After additional failed attempts to get the information from the applicant, those applications are closed as "failure to establish."

Question 9. If the IRS were to determine that an entity was impermissibly participating in partisan political activity, does the IRS have unilateral authority to reclassify it as a Section 527 political organization instead of a Section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization?

Whether an organization fails to qualify under section 501(c)(4) does not determine whether it is a political organization under section 527. Section 527 applies to a party, committee, or other organization that is organized and operated primarily for the purpose of accepting contributions or making expenditures for an exempt function (as defined in section 527(e)(2)). Subject to certain exceptions, to be tax-exempt under section 527, a political organization is required to give notice electronically to the Service.<sup>16</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Section 527(i)(1), Rev. Rul. 2003-49, 2003-1 C.B. 903. Section 527 also provides for the taxation of certain organizations that do not provide notice to the IRS. IRC § 527(f), (i)(4).

As noted above, if the revenue agent assigned to the case believes that the organization may not meet the requirements of a section 501(c)(4) organization, but may meet the requirements of another tax-exempt provision, the issue of whether the organization wants to be considered for exemption under that other provision could be discussed with the organization through development letters prior to the final resolution of the application. If the organization indicates that it does not want to proceed under the other provision and continues to pursue section 501(c)(4) exemption, the IRS would deny the application and the organization would be treated as a taxable entity.

Question 10. If an entity were denied tax-exempt status by the IRS under Section 501(c)(4), how would past contributions and income earned on those funds generally be treated under the tax code?

If an organization is denied tax-exempt status, the organization is a taxable entity as of the date the organization originated. The final adverse determination letter states that the organization is required to file Federal income tax returns, generally a Form 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax. The tax treatment of the organization's contributions and other income is determined under normal rules of Subtitle A.

Question 11. What considerations does the IRS use to determine when an entity that is denied tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) should be subject to a penalty? What penalties are available and how are they calculated?

There is no penalty specifically applicable to an organization as a result of a denial of tax-exempt status. An organization that is denied tax-exempt status is advised in the final denial letter that it has 30 days from the final denial letter to either file its income tax returns or request additional time to file the taxable returns. If the organization timely filed Form 990 annual returns during the period of time that the application for tax-exempt status was pending and timely files its taxable returns once tax-exemption is denied, the organization will not be subject to penalties. If the organization does not timely file taxable returns, the organization may be subject to failure to file or failure to pay penalties under section 6651 of the Code.

The failure to file penalty under section 6651(a)(1) of the Code, is calculated at a rate of 5 percent of the amount required to be shown as tax on the return if the failure to file is for not more than 1 month, with an additional 5 percent for each additional month or fraction thereof that the failure to file continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate.

The failure to pay tax penalty under section 6651(a)(2) of the Code, is calculated at a rate of 0.5 percent of the amount of the tax shown on the return if the failure to pay is for not more than 1 month, with an additional 0.5 percent for each additional month or fraction thereof that the failure to pay continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate.

Penalties assessed may be abated if the organization can show that the failure to file or failure to pay was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.<sup>17</sup>

Question 12. Please provide a copy of the standard questionnaire that the IRS sends to entities claiming tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) to obtain information about their political activities. In addition, please provide any written guidance provided to IRS agents regarding the issue of political activity in connection with Section 501(c)(4).

There is no standard questionnaire used to obtain information about political activities. Although there is a template development letter that describes the general information on the case development process, the letter does not specify the information to be requested from any particular organization. Enclosure B is a copy of the template letter. The amount and type of development necessary to process a section 501(c)(4) application to ensure that the legal requirements of tax-exemption are satisfied depends on several factors, which include the comprehensiveness of the information provided in the application and the issues raised by the application. Consequently, revenue agents prepare individualized questions and requests for documents relevant to the application, which are then attached to the above described general template letter.

In connection with recent cases, EO Technical prepared a draft educational guide sheet on the issue of political activity for section 501(c)(4) applications that was shared for comment with some employees in EO Determinations. That guide sheet was neither mandated nor finalized.

Question 13. Please indicate how many letter rulings have been issued by the IRS since January 1, 2007, to deny or revoke the tax-exempt status of an organization under Section 501(c)(4) due to involvement with partisan or nonpartisan political activity. If the IRS has issued 10 or less such letter rulings, please provide copies of all such letters. If the IRS has issued more than 10 such letter rulings, please provide a sample containing discussions of the widest variety of issues related to the denial of tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) due to partisan or nonpartisan political activity.

Preliminarily, as previously stated, section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision of the Internal Revenue Code. Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax-exempt status and supporting materials only after the organization has been recognized as exempt. Under section 6110 of the Code, if the IRS ultimately denies the application for recognition of tax-exempt status, the denial letter and background information is subject to public inspection, with identifying and other information redacted, to assist the public understand the IRS reasoning while also protecting the identity of the organization.

---

<sup>17</sup> IRC § 6651(a)

Report Exhibits - Page 001391

14

The application process for tax-exempt status does not involve the revocation of tax-exemption; rather, it only concerns the denial of applications. IRS data on the denial of applications is kept in reports published by the IRS Statistics of Income (SOI) Division. The Data Book provides information on IRS activities conducted during a fiscal year period (October 1 through September 30). We have attached these reports as Enclosures D-1 through D-5. For your convenience, however, we are replicating the total number of determination denials for section 501(c)(4) organizations for FY 2007-2012 in the chart below.

Note that the number of denials does not reflect a full picture of applications not approved. Some organizations withdraw their application for exemption when they learn that a denial is forthcoming. Others do not formally withdraw, but do not respond to requests for information necessary to develop their applications. After additional failed attempts to get the information, those applications are closed as "failure to establish."

| Fiscal Year        | The Number of Social Welfare Organization Applications that were Denied |
|--------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2007               | 8                                                                       |
| 2008               | *                                                                       |
| 2009               | 3                                                                       |
| 2010               | 3                                                                       |
| 2011               | 6                                                                       |
| 2012 <sup>18</sup> | 6                                                                       |

* Fewer than 3

Please note that although IRS automated systems track the numbers of applications closed as denied, they do not track the names of the applicant organizations or the reasons for the denials. Absent manual review of the files, we are unable to state whether any of these denials were issued due to involvement with partisan or nonpartisan political activity.

<sup>18</sup> The data for FY 2012 reflects the preliminary information available for October 1, 2011 through April 11, 2012. SOI Data Book information is updated annually, with the complete FY 2012 information expected in March 2013.

Report Exhibits - Page 001392

- 5

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barre at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Steven T. Miller".

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement

Enclosures

EXEMPT ORGANIZATION DETERMINATIONS CASE ASSIGNMENT GUIDE CASE GRADING CRITERIA

| CASE COMPLEXITY FACTORS             | GRADE LEVEL DISTINCTIONS                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                     | GS-11                                                                                                                                                                   | GS-12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | GS-13                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Analysis of Application      | Application is basic; facts regarding nature and purpose are easily discernible. Private benefit/inurement issues unlikely but possible.                                | Application is complex and facts must be determined through analysis and questioning of applicant. Private benefit/inurement issues possible.                                                                                                                                           | Application is extremely complex (e.g. involves inurement, private benefit, related entities) and significant additional documentation is required of applicant.                                                                                                                                |
| Factual Complexity of Issues | Issues are of average complexity and sensitivity. Established case development methods and procedures are usually adequate.                                             | Issues may be sensitive or involve controversy. Case development methods and procedures must be adapted to case.                                                                                                                                                                        | Case development methods and procedures must be adapted to unique situations. Issues are novel and unusual and involve the largest and most complex EO's                                                                                                                                        |
| Application of Tax Law       | Tax laws are in most cases applicable but occasionally involve unusual interpretation and application.                                                                  | Tax laws are not always directly applicable. Research and analysis are required to establish proper interpretation and use of precedents.                                                                                                                                               | Tax laws or other legal issues involve points of law without precedent or with conflicting precedents. Research and analysis are necessary to establish significant similarities with related issues.                                                                                           |
| Interpersonal Skills         | Contacts are with representatives of applicants, organization members and contributors. Tact and diplomacy are required to resolve and elicit information and problems. | Contacts are with a variety of EO representatives and officers of considerable prominence in the community including accountants and legal representatives. Considerable tact and skillful negotiations are necessary since issues discussed are sometimes controversial and sensitive. | Contacts are with officials of very large or prominent organizations and persons with national reputations in business, legal and accounting circles and others of outstanding political, social or economic influence. Considerable tact and discretion are required for resolution of issues. |
| Impact of Work               | Determination decision may impact other organizations, applicant's sole source of income may be from donations, and, the likelihood of media attention is limited.      | Determination decision may affect larger organizations of regional or national stature; applicant's income is from a variety of sources, and media attention is likely.                                                                                                                 | Determination decision may impact other organizations nationwide; applicant has significant resources and determination decision may have significant social and economic implications with recurring effects in prior or subsequent tax years; and, widespread media attention is probable.    |

Revised November 26, 2002

PSH-RS-02-000016

Report Exhibits - Page 001394

Internal Revenue Service
P.O. Box 2508
Cincinnati, OH 45201

Department of the Treasury

Date: *

*
*
*
*

Employer Identification Number:

XX-XXXXXX

Person to Contact - Group #:

Specialist Name - XXXX

ID# XXXXXXX

Contact Telephone Numbers:

XXX-XXX-XXXX Phone

XXX-XXX-XXXX Fax (859-669-3783 for TEDS)

Cases)

Response Due Date:

.

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need more information before we can complete our consideration of your application for exemption. Please provide the information requested on the enclosed Information Request by the response due date shown above. Your response must be signed by an authorized person or an officer whose name is listed on your application. Also, the information you submit should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this information, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the information contains all the relevant facts relating to the request for the information, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

If we approve your application for exemption, we will be required by law to make the application and the information that you submit in response to this letter available for public inspection. Please ensure that your response doesn't include unnecessary personal identifying information, such as bank account numbers or Social Security numbers, that could result in identity theft or other adverse consequences if publicly disclosed. If you have any questions about the public inspection of your application or other documents, please call the person whose name and telephone number are shown above.

To facilitate processing of your application, please attach a copy of this letter and the enclosed Application Identification Sheet to your response and all correspondence related to your application. This will enable us to quickly and accurately associate the additional documents with your case file. Also, please note the following important response submission information:

- Please don't fax and mail your response. Faxing and mailing your response will result in unnecessary delays in processing your application. Each piece of correspondence submitted (whether fax or mail) must be processed, assigned, and reviewed by an EO Determinations specialist.
- Please don't fax your response multiple times. Faxing your response multiple times will delay the processing of your application for the reasons noted above.

Report Exhibits - Page 001395

2

Name
EIN

- Please don't call to verify receipt of your response without allowing for adequate processing time. It takes a minimum of three workdays to process your faxed or mailed response from the day it is received.

If we don't hear from you by the response due date shown above, we will assume you no longer want us to consider your application for exemption and will close your case. As a result, the Internal Revenue Service will treat you as a taxable entity. If we receive the information after the response due date, we may ask you to send us a new application.

*****DELETE IF NOT A 501(c)(3) APPLICATION*****

In addition, if you don't respond to the information request by the due date, we will conclude that you have not taken all reasonable steps to complete your application for exemption. Under Internal Revenue Code section 7428(b)(2), you must show that you have taken all the reasonable steps to obtain your exemption letter under IRS procedures in a timely manner and exhausted your administrative remedies before you can pursue a declaratory judgment. Accordingly, if you fail to timely provide the information we need to enable us to act on your application, you may lose your rights to a declaratory judgment under Code section 7428.

*****DELETE IF NO POWER OF ATTORNEY*****

We have sent a copy of this letter to your representative as indicated in Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative.

*****

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Specialist Name
Exempt Organizations Specialist

Enclosure: Information Request
Application Identification Sheet

Letter 1312 (Rev. 05-2011)

Additional Information Requested:

PSI-IRS-02-000018

Report Exhibits - Page 001396

3

Name
EIN

PLEASE DIRECT ALL CORRESPONDENCE REGARDING YOUR CASE TO:

Selective:

(EDS Cases)

US Mail:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
P. O. Box 2508
Cincinnati, OH 45201
ATT: Specialist Name
Room XXXX
Group XXXX

Street Address for Delivery Service:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
550 Main St. Federal Bldg.
Cincinnati, OH 45202
ATT: Specialist Name
Room XXXX
Group XXXX

(TEDS Cases)

US Mail:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
P. O. Box 12192
Covington, KY 41012-0192

Street Address for Delivery Service:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
201 Rivercenter Blvd
ATTN: Extracting Stop 312
Covington, KY 41011

Report Exhibits - Page 001397

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date:

Contact Person: (Specialist Name)

Identification Number: (Specialist ID #)

Contact Number: (Specialist Phone #)

Employer Identification Number:

Form Required To Be Filed:

Tax Years:

Third Party Communication

Date:

Category:

Comment [B1]: Review this section if you do not have a Third Party Communication.

Dear Applicant:

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax as an organization described in Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3). Recently, we sent you a letter in response to your application that proposed an adverse determination. The letter explained the facts, law and rationale, and gave you 30 days to file a protest. Since we did not receive a protest within the requisite 30 days, the proposed adverse determination is now final.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, you should follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Letter 4340 (05-11)-2005
Catalog Number 476252

PSI-IRS-02-000020

Report Exhibits - Page 001398

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Letter 4040 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 476352

PSI-IRS-02-000021

Report Exhibits - Page 001399

Table 24. Tax-Exempt Organization and Other Entity Applications or Disposals, by Type of Organization and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2007

| Type of organization,Internal Revenue Code section      | Totalapplicationsor disposals |               |              |               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|
|                                                             | (1)                                   | (2)           | (3)          | (4)           |
| Tax-exempt organizations and other entities, total   | 91,742                         | 72,869 | 1,828 | 17,245 |
| Section 501 (c) by subsection, total [2]             | 91,699                         | 72,856 | 1,628 | 17,205 |
| (1) Corporations organized under Act of Congress            | 4                                     | 0             | 0            | 0             |
| (2) Title-holding corporations                              | 158                                   | 111           | 0            | 0             |
| (3) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations [3]    | 85,771                                | 68,270        | 1,607        | 15,896        |
| (4) Social welfare organizations                            | 1,867                                 | 1,394         | 0            | 455           |
| (5) Labor and agriculture organizations                     | 233                                   | 189           | 0            | 45            |
| (6) Business leagues                                        | 1,815                                 | 1,470         | 0            | 229           |
| (7) Social and recreation clubs                             | 1,036                                 | 711           | 0            | 0             |
| (8) Fraternal beneficiary societies                         | 25                                    | 16            | 0            | 0             |
| (9) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations           | 355                                   | 283           | 0            | 87            |
| (10) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies               | 44                                    | 27            | 0            | 23            |
| (12) Benevolent life insurance associations                 | 116                                   | 94            | 0            | 22            |
| (13) Cemetery companies                                     | 174                                   | 156           | 0            | 18            |
| (14) State-chartered credit unions                          | 10                                    | 7             | 0            | 3             |
| (15) Mutual insurance companies                             | 0                                     | 21            | 0            | 0             |
| (17) Supplemental unemployment benefit trusts               | 0                                     | 3             | 0            | 3             |
| (19) War veterans' organizations                            | 131                                   | 90            | 0            | 32            |
| (20) Holding companies for pensions and other entities      | 106                                   | 101           | 0            | 5             |
| Section 501 (a) Religious and apostolic associations | 5                              | 5      | 0     | 0      |
| Section 521 Farmers' cooperatives                    | 28                             | 8      | 0     | 20     |
| Nonexempt charitable trusts                          | 20                             | 0      | 0     | 20     |

0—Not shown to avoid disclosure about specific taxpayers. However, data are included in the appropriate totals.

[1] Includes applications withdrawn by the organizations, applications which failed to provide the required information, incomplete applications, IRS refusals to rule on applications, applications forwarded to other than the IRS National Office, IRS correction disposals, and others.

[2] No applications were filed for teachers' retirement funds [section 501(c)(11)]; contributions to finance crop operations [section 501(c)(16)]; employee-funded pension trusts [section 501(c)(18)]; black lung trusts [section 501(c)(21)]; multiemployer pension plans [section 501(c)(22)]; veterans' associations founded prior to 1860 [section 501(c)(23)]; trusts described in section 4049 of the Employee Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) [section 501(c)(24)]; State-sponsored high-risk health insurance organizations [section 501(c)(26)]; and State-sponsored workers' compensation reinsurance organizations [section 501(c)(27)].

[3] Includes private foundations. Not all Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3) organizations are required to apply for recognition of tax exemption, including churches, integrated auxiliaries, subordinate units, and conventions or associations of churches.

SOURCE: Tax-Exempt and Government Entities: Exempt Organizations, Rulings and Agreements, Determinations. SEIT EO,RA,D.

Table 24. Closures of Applications for Tax-Exempt Status, by Organization Type and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2008 (Revised March 2011)

| Type of organization,Internal Revenue Code section        | Applications for tax-exempt status (1) |                 |                    |                  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|-----------------|--------------------|------------------|
|                                                               | Total(1)                           | Approved(2) | Disapproved(3) | Other (2)(4) |
| Tax-exempt organizations and other entities, total (3) | 84,220                          | 60,937   | 1,242       | 12,021    |
| Section 501 (c) for subsidiaries, total                | 84,100                          | 60,943   | 1,240       | 12,987    |
| (1) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations (4)      | 114                                    | 93              | 0                  | 21               |
| (2) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations (4)      | 79,107                                 | 65,761          | 1,221              | 12,125           |
| (3) Social welfare organizations                              | 1,422                                  | 1,302           | 0                  | 0                |
| (4) Labor and agriculture organizations                       | 259                                    | 235             | 0                  | 24               |
| (5) Business leagues                                          | 1,477                                  | 1,289           | 0                  | 175              |
| (6) Business leagues                                          | 534                                    | 567             | 0                  | 0                |
| (7) Social and recreation clubs                               | 23                                     | 11              | 0                  | 0                |
| (8) Fraternal beneficiary societies                           | 249                                    | 137             | 0                  | 49               |
| (9) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations             | 43                                     | 19              | 0                  | 0                |
| (10) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies                 | 15                                     | 6               | 0                  | 0                |
| (11) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies                 | 155                                    | 146             | 0                  | 29               |
| (12) Cemetery companies                                       | 8                                      | 5               | 0                  | 3                |
| (13) Shareholder stock units                                  | 29                                     | 15              | 0                  | 0                |
| (14) Mutual insurance companies                               | 4                                      | 4               | 0                  | 0                |
| (15) Mutual insurance companies                               | 129                                    | 131             | 0                  | 27               |
| (16) Insurance companies                                      | 150                                    | 130             | 0                  | 0                |
| (17) Insurance companies                                      | 26                                     | 0               | 0                  | 0                |
| (18) Insurance companies                                      | 14                                     | 0               | 0                  | 0                |
| Section 521 Farmers' cooperatives                      | 14                              | 0        | 0           | 0         |

Notes: (1) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status, regardless of whether they were approved or disapproved. (2) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved. (3) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were disapproved. (4) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (5) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (6) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (7) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (8) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (9) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (10) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (11) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (12) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (13) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (14) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (15) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (16) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (17) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (18) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved.

(1) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status, regardless of whether they were approved or disapproved. (2) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved. (3) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were disapproved. (4) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (5) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (6) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (7) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (8) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (9) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (10) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (11) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (12) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (13) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (14) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (15) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (16) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (17) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (18) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved.

(2) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status, regardless of whether they were approved or disapproved. (3) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved. (4) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were disapproved. (5) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (6) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (7) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (8) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (9) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (10) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (11) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (12) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (13) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (14) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (15) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (16) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (17) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (18) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved.

(3) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status, regardless of whether they were approved or disapproved. (4) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved. (5) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were disapproved. (6) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (7) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (8) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (9) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (10) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (11) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (12) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (13) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (14) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (15) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (16) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (17) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (18) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved.

(4) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status, regardless of whether they were approved or disapproved. (5) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved. (6) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were disapproved. (7) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (8) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (9) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (10) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (11) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (12) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (13) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (14) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (15) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (16) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (17) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved. (18) Includes all applications for tax-exempt status that were approved or disapproved.

NOTE: Revised March 2011 to correct errors attributed to a transition in reporting systems.

SOURCE: Tax-Exempt and Government Entities, Bureau of Economic Analysis.

Table 24. Closures of Applications for Tax-Exempt Status, by Organization Type and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2009 (Revised March 2011)

| Type of organization                                                 | Total         | Approved      | Disapproved | Other [2]     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|---------------|-------------|---------------|
| Internal Revenue Code section                                        | (1)           | (2)           | (3)         | (4)           |
| Tax-exempt organizations and other entities, total [3]        | 77,305 | 62,459 | 486  | 14,360 |
| Section 501 (c) by subsection, total                          | 77,221 | 62,392 | 480  | 14,349 |
| (1) Corporations organized under an act of Congress                  | 6             | 0             | 0           | 4             |
| (2) Title holding corporations                                       | 137           | 117           | 0           | 25            |
| (3) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations [4]             | 70,824        | 56,243        | 472         | 13,209        |
| (4) Social welfare organizations                                     | 1,922         | 1,207         | 3           | 417           |
| (5) Labor and agriculture organizations                              | 691           | 543           | 0           | 58            |
| (6) Business leagues                                                 | 1,060         | 1,745         | 0           | 0             |
| (7) Social and recreation clubs                                      | 1,115         | 849           | 0           | 0             |
| (8) Fraternal beneficiary societies                                  | 15            | 5             | 0           | 11            |
| (9) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations                    | 257           | 210           | 0           | 3             |
| (10) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies                        | 45            | 25            | 0           | 20            |
| (11) Beneficial life insurance associations                          | 76            | 36            | 0           | 15            |
| (12) Cemetery companies                                              | 209           | 194           | 0           | 15            |
| (13) State-chartered credit unions                                   | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (14) Mutual insurance companies                                      | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (15) Supplemental unemployment benefit funds                         | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (16) War veterans organizations                                      | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (17) Non-veterans organizations                                      | 173           | 142           | 0           | 32            |
| (18) Holding companies for pension and other entities                | 62            | 55            | 0           | 7             |
| (19) State-sponsored workers' compensation reinsurance organizations | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (20) Religious and apostolic associations                            | 0             | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| Part (d) Religious and apostolic associations                 | 59     | 55     | 0    | 4      |
| Section 521 Farmers' cooperatives                             | 13     | 7      | 0    | 6      |
| Nonexempt charitable trusts                                   | 12     | 5      | 0    | 7      |

[1] Reflects all applications for the Internal Revenue Code sections 501(c)(1), corporations for foreign operations (section 501(c)(16)), employee benefit pension trusts (section 501(c)(18)), and other trusts (section 501(c)(21)), multiple employer plans (section 501(c)(22)), veterans' organizations (section 501(c)(26)), and other trusts (section 501(c)(27)). Trusts described in section 501(c)(18) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) (section 501(c)(18)(A) and (B)) and trusts described in section 501(c)(21) of the Internal Revenue Code (section 501(c)(21)(A) and (B)) are included in the total number of applications.

[2] Includes applications withdrawn by the organization, applications that did not provide the required information, incomplete applications, IRS review, and group determinations of tax-exempt status.

[3] Includes applications forwarded to other than the Washington, DC office, IRS correction requests, and others.

[4] No applications were filed for teachers' retirement funds (section 501(c)(13)), corporations for foreign operations (section 501(c)(16)), employee benefit pension trusts (section 501(c)(18)), and other trusts (section 501(c)(21)), multiple employer plans (section 501(c)(22)), veterans' organizations (section 501(c)(26)), and other trusts (section 501(c)(27)). Trusts described in section 501(c)(18) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) (section 501(c)(18)(A) and (B)) and trusts described in section 501(c)(21) of the Internal Revenue Code (section 501(c)(21)(A) and (B)) are included in the total number of applications.

[5] Section 501(c)(20) was repealed effective June 20, 1992.

[6] Includes private foundations. Not all Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3) organizations are required to apply for recognition of tax exemption.

[7] Includes churches, integrated auxiliaries, subordinate units, and conventions or associations of churches.

NOTE: Revised March 2011 to correct errors attributed to a transition in reporting systems.

SOURCE: Tax-Exempt and Government Entities, Exempt Organizations

Report Exhibits - Page 001402

Table 24. Closures of Applications for Tax-Exempt Status, by Organization Type and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2010

| Type of organization,Internal Revenue Code section        | Applications for tax-exempt status [1] |               |             |               |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|---------------|
|                                                               | Total                                  | Approved      | Disapproved | Other [2]     |
|                                                               | (1)                                    | (2)           | (3)         | (4)           |
| Tax-exempt organizations and other entities, total [3] | 65,590                          | 53,893 | 517  | 11,380 |
| Section 501 (c) by subsection, total                   | 65,548                          | 53,868 | 517  | 11,363 |
| (1) Corporations organized under an Act of Congress           | 6                                      | 3             | 0           | 0             |
| (2) Title-holding corporations                                | 156                                    | 117           | 0           | 39            |
| (3) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations [4]      | 59,945                                 | 48,834        | 500         | 10,511        |
| (4) Social welfare organizations                              | 1,747                                  | 1,447         | 3           | 297           |
| (5) Labor and agriculture organizations                       | 310                                    | 273           | 0           | 37            |
| (6) Business leagues                                          | 1,895                                  | 1,514         | 6           | 180           |
| (7) Social and recreation clubs                               | 264                                    | 710           | 0           | 0             |
| (8) Fraternal beneficiary societies                           | 16                                     | 11            | 0           | 5             |
| (9) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations             | 37                                     | 18            | 0           | 0             |
| (10) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies                 | 77                                     | 60            | 0           | 17            |
| (12) Benevolent life insurance associations                   | 155                                    | 148           | 0           | 7             |
| (13) Cemetery companies                                       | 16                                     | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (14) State-chartered credit unions                            | 16                                     | 8             | 4           | 4             |
| (15) Mutual insurance companies                               | 5                                      | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| (16) War veterans' organizations                              | 164                                    | 135           | 0           | 29            |
| (25) Holding companies for pensions and other entities        | 177                                    | 151           | 0           | 26            |
| (26) State-sponsored high risk health insurance organizations | 0                                      | 0             | 0           | 0             |
| Section 501 (d) Religious and apostolic associations   | 14                              | 0      | 0    | 0      |
| Section 521 Farmers' cooperatives                      | 23                              | 0      | 0    | 0      |
| Nonexempt charitable trusts                            | 5                               | 0      | 0    | 5      |

0=Not shown to avoid disclosure of specific taxpayer data. However, data are included in the appropriate totals, when possible.

[1] Reflects all case closures for the Exempt Organizations Determinations function. These include not only initial applications for tax-exempt status, but also other determinations, such as public charity and private foundation status determinations, advance approval of scholarship grant procedures, and group determinations of tax-exempt status.

[2] Includes applications withdrawn by the organization, applications that did not provide the required information, incomplete applications, IRS refusals to rule on applications, applications forwarded to other than the Washington, DC office, IRS correction proposals, and others.

[3] No applications were filed for teachers' retirement funds (section 501(c)(11)), corporations to finance crop operations (section 501(c)(16)), employee funded pension trusts (section 501(c)(18)), black lung trusts (section 501(c)(21)), multiemployer pension plans (section 501(c)(22)), veterans' associations founded prior to 1980 (section 501(c)(23)), trusts described in section 4040 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) (section 501(c)(24)), State-sponsored workers' compensation reinsurance organizations (section 501(c)(27)), and the National Railroad Retirement Investment Trust (section 501(c)(28)). Tax-exempt status for legal services organizations (section 501(c)(29)) was revoked effective June 20, 1992.

[4] Includes private foundations. Not all Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3) organizations are required to apply for recognition of tax exemption, including churches, integrated auxiliaries, subordinate units, and conventions or associations of churches.

SOURCE: Tax-Exempt and Government Entities, Exempt Organizations.

Report Exhibits - Page 001403

Table 24. Closures of Applications for Tax-Exempt Status, by Organization Type and Internal Revenue Code Section, Fiscal Year 2011

| Type of organization,Internal Revenue Code section                   | Closures of applications for tax-exempt status [1] |               |             |              |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|--------------|
|                                                                          | Total                                              | Approved [2]  | Disapproved | Other [2, 3] |
|                                                                          | (1)                                                | (2)           | (3)         | (4)          |
| Tax-exempt organizations and other entities, total [4]            | 61,004                                      | 54,713 | 217  | 6,074 |
| Section 501(c) by subsection, total                               | 60,980                                      | 54,701 | 217  | 6,062 |
| (1) Corporations organized under an act of Congress                      | 4                                                  | 4             | 0           | 0            |
| (2) Title-holding corporations                                           | 92                                                 | 81            | 0           | 11           |
| (3) Religious, charitable, and similar organizations [5]                 | 55,319                                             | 49,077        | 205         | 5,437        |
| (4) Social welfare organizations                                         | 1,777                                              | 1,559         | 0           | 212          |
| (5) Labor and agricultural organizations                                 | 294                                                | 268           | 0           | 26           |
| (6) Business leagues                                                     | 1,655                                              | 1,542         | 4           | 109          |
| (7) Social and recreation clubs                                          | 1,012                                              | 855           | 0           | 157          |
| (9) Fraternal beneficiary societies                                      | 38                                                 | 32            | 0           | 7            |
| (9) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations                        | 153                                                | 123           | 0           | 30           |
| (10) Domestic fraternal beneficiary societies                            | 49                                                 | 41            | 0           | 8            |
| (12) Benevolent life insurance associations                              | 91                                                 | 81            | 0           | 10           |
| (13) Cemetery companies                                                  | 282                                                | 257           | 0           | 15           |
| (14) State-chartered credit unions                                       | 5                                                  | 4             | 0           | 1            |
| (15) Mutual insurance companies                                          | 13                                                 | 4             | 0           | 9            |
| (17) Supplemental unemployment benefit trusts                            | 4                                                  | 4             | 0           | 0            |
| (19) War veterans' organizations                                         | 177                                                | 153           | 0           | 24           |
| (25) Holding companies for persons and other entities                    | 17                                                 | 14            | 0           | 3            |
| (27) State-subsidized workers' compensation or reinsurance organizations | 0                                                  | 0             | 0           | 0            |
| Section 501(d) Religious and apostolic associations               | 13                                          | 6      | 0    | 7     |
| Section 521 Farmers' cooperatives                                 | 5                                           | 4      | 0    | 1     |
| Nonexempt charitable trusts                                       | 6                                           | 4      | 0    | 2     |

0 = Not shown to avoid disclosure of specific taxpayer data. However, data are included in the appropriate totals, when possible.

[1] Reflects all case closures for the Exempt Organizations Determinations function. These include not only initial applications for tax-exempt status, but also other determinations, such as public charity and private foundation status determinations, advance approval of scholarship grant procedures, and group determinations of tax-exempt status.

[2] Beginning with fiscal year 2010, IRS initiated a revised application procedure that allows additional time for application closures. Therefore, fewer applications are "closed" in the "Other" category and more applications are reported in the "Approved" category.

[3] Includes applications withdrawn by the organization; applications that do not provide the required information; incomplete applications; IRS refusal to rule on applications; applications forwarded to other than the Washington, DC, office; IRS correction disclosures; and others.

[4] No applications were filed for teachers' retirement funds (section 501(c)(11)), corporations to finance crop operations (section 501(c)(16)), employee-funded pension trusts (section 501(c)(18)), black lung trusts (section 501(c)(21)), multiemployer pension plans (section 501(c)(22)), veterans' associations founded prior to 1950 (section 501(c)(23)), trusts described in section 4049 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) (section 501(c)(24)), state-sponsored high-risk health insurance organizations (section 501(c)(26)), and the National Railroad Retirement Investment Trust (section 501(c)(28)). Tax-exempt status for legal services organizations (section 501(c)(29)) was revoked effective June 20, 1997.

[5] Includes private foundations. For all Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3) organizations are required to apply for recognition of tax exemption, including churches, integrated auxiliaries, subordinate units, and conventions or associations of churches.

SOURCE: Tax-Exempt and Government Entities, Exempt Organizations.

CARL LEVIN
EDWARDS

United States Senate
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-2000

June 13, 2012

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
10th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20004

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

Thank you for the June 4, 2012, response by Steven Miller, Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement, to my March 30, 2012, letter. Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(4) organizations are increasingly active in partisan political campaigns. These organizations, working in conjunction with independent expenditure committees, or "Super PACs" that can raise unlimited amounts of money from individuals, corporations and unions, are able to avoid revealing their funding sources by hiding behind their tax-exempt status. This trend of using our tax code to limit campaign disclosure is deeply troubling.

A 1997 letter from the IRS denying tax-exempt status to the National Policy Forum, which was included in my March 30 letter, indicates that the IRS based its denial on the fact that the organization was engaged in partisan political activity, stating that "partisan political activity does not promote social welfare as defined in section 501 (c)(4)," and that the applicant "benefit[s] select individuals or groups, instead of the community as a whole."

The June 4 response from Mr. Miller has a somewhat weaker interpretation, as follows:

"To qualify for exemption as a social welfare organization described in section 501 (c)(4), the organization must be primarily engaged in the promotion of social welfare, not organized or operated for profit, and the net earnings of which do not inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individuals. The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. Nevertheless, a section 501 (c)(4) social welfare organization can engage in political activities as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare."

At a minimum, under either the 1997 letter or Mr. Miller's interpretation, a message needs to be sent to Section 501(c)(4) entities on an urgent basis to ensure they understand that any political activities they undertake must constitute a secondary and not the primary activity of their organization. To make that message crystal clear, I urge the IRS to remind all 501(c)(4)

Report Exhibits - Page 001405

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
June 13, 2012
Page Two

organizations about their obligation to observe that restriction on their activities if they want to retain their tax exempt status.

I hope you will do that within the next 30 days. Please let me know what your decision is. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Kaye Meier of my staff at kaye\_meier@levin.senate.gov or 202-224-9110. Thanks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Carl Levin". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Carl Levin

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20544

JUL 13 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Levin:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated June 13, 2012, requesting the IRS to remind section 501(c)(4) organizations regarding the limitations of engaging in non-exempt political activities. We appreciate your interest on this issue. The IRS recognizes the importance of outreach and educational materials to ensure that section 501(c)(4) organizations are aware of the requirements under the tax law.

The IRS takes steps to continually inform organizations of their responsibilities as social welfare organizations to help them avoid jeopardizing their tax-exempt status. For those seeking information on the requirements for section 501(c)(4) tax exempt status, we provide educational materials and published resources on our website at www.irs.gov/charities, including the responsibilities and limitations of these organizations. For instance, the web-page with general information on Social Welfare Organizations contains the following narrative with web links to educational resources:

The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. However, a section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization may engage in some political activities, so long as that is not its primary activity.

However, any expenditure it makes for political activities may be subject to tax under section 527(f). For further information regarding political and lobbying activities of section 501(c) organizations, see Election Year Issues, Political Campaign and Lobbying Activities of IRC 501(c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6) Organizations, and Revenue Ruling 2004-6.

Enclosed are print-outs of some of the aforementioned publicly-accessible pages on social welfare organizations and political activity limitations on the IRS website. These informative web-pages are regularly updated.

The IRS also addresses the issue of political activities during the application process.

Report Exhibits - Page 001407

2

In Form 1024, Application for Recognition of Exemption under Section 501(a), under Schedule B: Organizations Described in Section 501(c)(4), the first question touches on the issue of political activity, and the Form Instructions references Publication 557, Tax-Exempt Status for Your Organization, which also addresses political activity under the chapter that includes specific information on section 501(c)(4) organizations. For instance, page 51 of Pub. 557, specifically states:

Political activity. Promoting social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. However, if you submit proof that your organization is organized exclusively to promote social welfare, it can obtain exemption even if it participates legally in some political activity on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. See the discussion in chapter 2 under Political Campaign Income Tax Return.

When an applicant is recognized as tax-exempt, the IRS sends an approved determination letter, along with an educational booklet, Publication 4221-NC, Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations (Other than 501(c)(2) Public Charities and Private Foundations), about the various tax law requirements applicable to section 501(c)(4) organizations. This booklet contains useful information to ensure organizations understand their responsibilities under the tax law, including activities that may jeopardize exempt status and the limitations on political activities.

We also address the issue of political activities in the Forms 990 and 990-EZ, the annual information returns filed by tax-exempt organizations under section 501(c)(4). Organizations that engage in direct or indirect political campaign activities are required to complete a separate schedule (Schedule C).

As the above illustrates, the IRS actively educates section 501(c)(4) organizations at multiple stages in their development about their responsibilities under the tax law. We believe this approach is the appropriate method by which to educate organizations on their responsibilities.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barre at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Harter
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosures (2)

JOSEPH A. LUBIANO, CONSULTANT, LUBIANO &
CAMP, LEONE, MONTGOMERY
DANIEL S. ADAMS, HENSON
THOMAS R. LAWRENCE, DELAWARE
NATHAN L. PETER, ARIZONA
MURIEL L. LANGAN, CALIFORNIA
CLYDE MCQUEEN, KANSAS
JOHN SCOTT, MISSOURI
NATHANIEL PLAZA, FLORIDA
JUDITH M. COLLINS, MAINE
JUDITH M. COLLINS, MAINE
JOSEPH F. BROWN, MASSACHUSETTS
JOHN P. GALT, ARIZONA
RICHARD G. WILSON, ARIZONA
JOHN P. GALT, ARIZONA
JOHN P. GALT, ARIZONA
JOHN P. GALT, ARIZONA

United States Senate

COMMITTEE ON
HOMELAND SECURITY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

July 27, 2012

VIA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL: (Catherine.M.Barre@irs.gov)

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
10th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20004

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

I am writing to express my concern about how the IRS interprets the law regarding the extent to which 501(c)(4) "social welfare" organizations can engage in partisan political activity. The July 13, 2012 response by Lois G. Lerner, Director of Exempt Organizations, to my June 13, 2012 letter was unsatisfactory.

In the response, Ms. Lerner stated that "The IRS takes steps to continually inform organizations of their responsibilities as social welfare organization to help them avoid jeopardizing their tax-exempt status," and "actively educates section 501(c)(4) organizations at multiple states in their development about their responsibilities under the tax law." [Emphasis added.]

Her discussion does not describe an IRS initiative to "continually inform" or "actively educate." Rather, it shows the IRS is passively making some information available once a 501(c)(4) entity is already in existence. Further, her discussion of the explanatory materials available to the public, and the materials themselves, are confusing. This leads to a predictable result: organizations are using Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(4) to gain tax exempt status while engaging in partisan political campaigns. There is an absurd tangle of vague and contradictory materials that the IRS provides. Making the problem worse is that the IRS knows there is a problem because of the public nature of the activity, but has failed to address it.

First, the law.

26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4) states that "Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in a particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes" are exempt from taxation.<sup>1</sup> [Emphasis added.] Merriam-Webster defines "exclusively" as "single, sole; whole; undivided." Therefore, it would appear that the law prevents entities that organize under Section 501(c)(4) from any activity that is not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare or an association of employees.

<sup>1</sup> 26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4).

Report Exhibits - Page 001409

Consistent with the law is a 1997 letter from the IRS denying tax-exempt status to a group called the National Policy Forum. The letter indicates that the IRS based its denial on the fact that the organization was engaged in partisan political activity, stating that "partisan political activity does not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4)," and that the applicant "benefit[s] select individuals or groups, instead of the community as a whole."<sup>2</sup>

One part of Internal Revenue Service Publication 557 in its guidance states, consistent with the law, that:

"If your organization is not organized for profit and will be operated only to promote social welfare to benefit the community, you should file Form 1024 to apply for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(c)(4)."<sup>3</sup> [Emphasis added.]

Another part of Internal Revenue Service Publication 557 starts off by agreeing with the law and states, "Promoting social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office."<sup>4</sup> The IRS is accurately and clearly stating, in some places at least, that "social welfare" advocacy does not include campaigning for or against a candidate or candidates.

So far, so good - - until that same Publication 557 states: "However, if you submit proof that your organization is organized exclusively to promote social welfare, it can obtain an exemption [from taxes] even if it participates legally in some political activity on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office."<sup>5</sup>

That language seems inconsistent with the other referenced parts of Publication 557 (as well as being inconsistent with law and precedent), unless it means that the exemption isn't available for the political activity portion funded by 501(c)(4) receipts.

Further, an IRS regulation that interprets Section 501(c)(4) states that, "An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community."<sup>6</sup> [Emphasis added.]

So the IRS regulation says the law's requirement of "exclusively" really means "primarily," something very different from "exclusively."

The IRS webpage cites an internal training article which states:

"'[S]ocial welfare' is inherently an abstruse concept that continues to defy precise definition. Careful case-by-case analyses and close judgments are still required."<sup>7</sup> [Emphasis added.]

Fair enough.

<sup>2</sup> Internal Revenue Service letter to the National Policy Forum, February 21, 1997.

<sup>3</sup> Publication 557 (Rev. October 2011), pg. 51.

<sup>4</sup> Id.

<sup>5</sup> Id.

<sup>6</sup> Treasury Regulations, Subchapter A, Sec. 1.501(c)(4)-1.

<sup>7</sup> <http://www.irs.gov/charities/nonprofits/article/0,,id=156372,00.html>.

Report Exhibits - Page 001410

In its Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations, the IRS gives direction regarding how to make a case-by-case evaluation whether a communication is political.<sup>8</sup> That Guide says that the following factors indicate that an advocacy communication is political campaign activity:

- The communication identifies a candidate for public office;
- The timing of the communication coincides with an electoral campaign;
- The communication targets voters in a particular election;
- The communication identifies the candidate's position on the public policy issue that is the subject of the communication;
- The position of the candidate on the public policy issue has been raised as distinguishing the candidate from others in the campaign, either in the communication itself or in other public communications; and
- The communication is not part of an ongoing series of substantially similar advocacy communications by the organization on the same issue.

The guide further lays out the factors that indicate when an advocacy communication is not political campaign activity:

- The absence of any one or more of the factors listed above;
- The communication identifies specific legislation, or a specific event outside the control of the organization, that the organization hopes to influence;
- The timing of the communication coincides with a specific event outside the control of the organization that the organization hopes to influence, such as a legislative vote or other major legislative action (for example, a hearing before a legislative committee on the issue that is the subject of the communication);
- The communication identifies the candidate solely as a government official who is in a position to act on the public policy issue in connection with the specific event (such as a legislator who is eligible to vote on the legislation); and
- The communication identifies the candidate solely in the list of key or principal sponsors of the legislation that is the subject of the communication.

It is clear from the application of those factors that what is going on in the U.S. with certain 501(c)(4) organizations in their television advertisements are political campaign activities.

Below are two transcripts of advertisements that were put on television by 501(c)(4) organizations. As you can see, the subject of Advertisement #1 is a Democratic Senator, and the subject of Advertisement #2 is a Republican Senator. This is not a partisan issue.

Television Advertisement #1:

"It's time to play: Who is the biggest supporter of the Obama agenda in Ohio. It's Sherrod Brown. Brown backed Obama's agenda a whopping 95 percent of the time. He voted for budget busting ObamaCare that adds $700 billion to the deficit. For Obama's $453 billion tax increase. And even supported cap-and-trade which could have cost Ohio over 100,000 jobs. Tell Sherrod Brown, for real job growth, stop spending and cut the debt. Support the new majority agenda at newmajorityagenda.org."

<sup>8</sup> Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations, pgs. 4-5.

Report Exhibits - Page 001411

Television Advertisement #2:

"Before Wall Street gave him $200,000 in campaign cash. ... Before he voted to let bank CEOs take millions in taxpayer funded bonuses. ... Dean Heller was a stockbroker. No wonder he voted against Wall Street reform; against holding the big banks accountable. Heller even voted to risk your Social Security here, in the stock market. Dean Heller: he votes like he still works for Wall Street, and that's bad for you."

Those ads, and so many like them, clearly fit the factors the IRS has laid out in its guide for what constitutes a political campaign activity. The advertisements make no pretense at nonpartisanship; they are blatantly and aggressively partisan communications.

Entities that file under Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code and take advantage of its tax exemption benefits should have to make a choice: either lose their exempt status (and pay taxes) or eliminate the partisan political activity.

The IRS needs to immediately review the activities of 501(c)(4) entities engaging in running partisan political ads or giving funds to Section 527 organizations that run such ads. The IRS needs to advise 501(c)(4) entities of the law in this area and the factors it will look at in reviewing 501(c)(4) status and tax exemption issues.

Please provide me with the following information no later than August 10, 2012:

1. How can the IRS interpret the explicit language in 26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4), which provides that 501(c)(4) entities must operate "exclusively" for the promotion of social welfare, to allow any tax exempt partisan political activity by 501(c)(4) organizations?
2. Since partisan political activity does not meet the IRS definition of "promoting social welfare," how can an organization that participates in any partisan political activity be "organized exclusively to promote social welfare?"
3. The Exempt Organizations 2011 Annual Report and 2012 Work Plan states: "As in any election year, EO will continue its work to enforce the rules relating to political campaigns and campaign expenditures. In FY 2012, EO will combine what it has learned from past projects on political activities with new information gleaned from the redesigned Form 990 to focus its examination resources on serious allegations of impermissible political intervention."<sup>9</sup>
  - a. Typically, how long after a complaint to the IRS does a compliance review begin?
  - b. What approximate time does it take to review the complaint?
  - c. How many persons are involved in the enforcement of the 501(c)(4) rules?
4. The Exempt Organizations 2011 Annual Report and 2012 Work Plan states that 501(c)(4) organizations "can declare themselves tax-exempt without seeking a determination from the

---

<sup>9</sup> Exempt Organizations 2011 Annual Report and 2012 Work Plan, pg. 8.

Report Exhibits - Page 001412

IRS. EO will review organizations to ensure that they have classified themselves correctly and that they are complying with applicable rules.”<sup>10</sup>

- a. Why does the IRS allow 501(c)(4) organizations to self-declare?
- b. When an organization “self declares” as a 501(c)(4) organization, how does the IRS get notice and how long does it take the IRS to conduct the review to ensure that that organization has classified itself correctly?

5. The IRS Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations states:

“When a 501(c)(4), (5) or (6) organization’s communication explicitly advocates the election or defeat of an individual to public office, the communication is considered political campaign activity. A tax-exempt organization that makes expenditures for political campaign activities shall be subject to tax in an amount equal to its net investment income for the year or the aggregate amount expended on political campaign activities during the year, whichever is less.”<sup>11</sup>

- a. How does the IRS keep track of these explicit communications and ensure that the organization pays this tax?
- b. What is the reason for the requirement that the tax will be based on “whichever is less” between its net investment income for the year or the aggregate amount expended on political campaign activities?
- c. What tax would an organization have to pay if it spends all of its income on political advertising (therefore it has NO net investment income)?

6. Ms. Lerner’s letter quotes the IRS webpage on Social Welfare Organizations:

“The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. However, a section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization may engage in some political activities, so long as that is not its primary activity. However, any expenditure it makes for political activities may be subject to tax under section 527(f).” [Emphasis added.]

- a. What is the statutory basis of the language that allows 501(c)(4) organizations to engage in some political activities?
- b. How does the IRS keep track of these political activities and ensure that the organization pays the tax under section 527(f)?

7. In her July 13 letter, Ms. Lerner states that the IRS also addresses the issue of political activities in the Forms 990 and 990-EZ.

Are Forms 990 and 990-EZ made public? If so, where can they be accessed?

8. Internal Revenue Service Publication 557 states that, if a 501(c)(4) entity can “submit proof that [the] organization is organized exclusively to promote social welfare, it can obtain an exemption even if it participates legally in some political activity on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office."<sup>12</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Id.
<sup>11</sup> Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations, pgs. 3-4.

Report Exhibits - Page 001413

Have the following 501(c)(4) organizations a) applied for: and if so, b) received the described exemption for political activity from the IRS?

- a. Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
- b. Priorities U.S.A.
- c. Americans Elect
- d. American Action Network
- e. Americans for Prosperity
- f. American Future Fund
- g. Americans for Tax Reform
- h. 60 Plus Association
- i. Patriot Majority USA
- j. Club for Growth
- k. Citizens for a Working America Inc.
- l. Susan B. Anthony List

9. Have you reminded 501(c)(4)s which publicly seem to be operating in the partisan political arena as to the factors you will consider in determining whether they are engaging in partisan political activity? If not, why not?

I have enclosed a copy of Ms. Lerner's letter. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Kaye Meier of my staff at kaye\_meier@levin.senate.gov or 202/224-9110. Again, it is urgent that I receive your answers by August 10, 2012.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

cc: Dr. Tom Coburn
Ms. Lois G. Lerner

---

<sup>12</sup> Publication 557 (Rev. October 2011), pg. 51.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

August 24, 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Senate Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Senator Levin:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated July 27, 2012, requesting additional information about section 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements the previous responses dated June 4, 2012 and July 13, 2012, and addresses the additional questions raised in your recent letter.

Question 1. How can the IRS interpret the explicit language in 26 U.S.C. §501(c)(4), which provides that 501(c)(4) entities must operate "exclusively" for the promotion of social welfare, to allow any tax exempt partisan political activity by 501(c)(4) organizations?

We note that the current regulation has been in place for over 50 years. Moreover, unlike Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3), which specifically provides that organizations may "not participate in, or intervene in . . . any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office.", section 501(c)(4) does not contain a specific rule or limitation on political campaign intervention by social welfare organizations.

Question 2. Since partisan political activity does not meet the IRS definition of "promoting social welfare," how can an organization that participates in any partisan political activity be "organized exclusively to promote social welfare?"

As stated above, long standing Treasury Regulations have interpreted "exclusively" as used in section 501(c)(4) to mean primarily. Treasury Regulation § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i), promulgated in 1959, provides: "An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community." Applying this Treasury Regulation, Revenue Ruling 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare."

Report Exhibits - Page 001415

2

Question 3. The Exempt Organizations 2011 Annual Report and 2012 Work Plan states: "As in any election year, EO will continue its work to enforce the rules relating to political campaigns and campaign expenditures. In FY 2012, EO will combine what it has learned from past projects on political activities with new information gleaned from the redesigned Form 990 to focus its examination resources on serious allegations of impermissible political intervention."

- a. Typically, how long after a complaint to the IRS does a compliance review begin?
- b. What approximate time does it take to review the complaint?

The IRS routinely receives examination referrals from a variety of sources including the public, media, Members of Congress or their staff, and has a long standing process for handling referrals so that they receive an impartial, independent review from career employees. When the IRS receives a referral about a particular organization, it is promptly forwarded to the Classification unit of the Exempt Organizations (EO) Examination office in Dallas, Texas. Pursuant to IRM 4.75.5.4(1), within 30 days of receiving the referral, the Classification staff begins evaluating whether the referral has examination potential, should be considered in a future year, needs additional information to make a decision, or falls within the categories of matters that are referred for EO Referral Committee review.<sup>1</sup> Although IRM 4.75.5.4(1) sets a goal of 90 days to complete reviews of referrals, the time it takes to fully review a particular referral varies, depending on such factors as the issues involved and the availability of relevant information (i.e. organization's Forms 990, external sources such as media reports, internet searches, etc.).

In those cases in which the IRS needs additional information about the subject of a referral that is not readily available, such as its Form 990 that has not been filed yet for the tax year at issue, Classification may suspend classifying the referral and places it in the follow-up category until the additional information is available. Once the additional information is received, reviewed, and supports the referral being classified as having examination potential, the referral is sent to unassigned inventory, until a revenue agent with the appropriate level of experience for the issues involved in the matter is available to conduct an examination.

Once in inventory, there are numerous factors that can affect how long it takes to complete the examination process. While it is difficult to predict how long any single examination will take, for cases closed in FY 2011, the average time it took to close a case was 210 days.

- c. How many persons are involved in the enforcement of the 501(c)(4) rules?

<sup>1</sup> Pursuant IRM 4.75.5(4), cases forwarded for Committee review include those: containing evidence or allegations of political or lobbying activities; involving sensitive information submitted by an elected official or a Member of Congress (or Congressional staff); or involving other factors indicating that review by the EO Referral Committee would be desirable for reasons of fairness or integrity.

Report Exhibits - Page 001416

3

The Exempt Organizations (EO) function is responsible for the enforcement of section 501(c)(4) statutory rules and regulations as well as those applicable to all other types of tax-exempt organizations.

For FY 2011, the total number of EO staff was 889. Other than the 14 employees in the Director's office, the three EO offices are staffed as follows:

- Rulings and Agreements (R &A), which includes EO Determinations and EO Technical, ensures organizations meet legal requirements during the application or private letter ruling process, and through guidance. In FY 2011, R&A had 332 employees.
- EO Examinations (Exam) is comprised of various units, including the Classification unit, the EO Compliance Unit, and the Review of Operations unit. Exam develops processes to identify areas of noncompliance, develops corrective strategies, and coordinates with other EO functions to ensure compliance, so that organizations maintain their exempt status. In FY 2011, Exam had 531 employees.
- EO Customer Education and Outreach (CE&O) coordinates, assists and supports the development of educational materials and outreach efforts for organizations to understand their responsibilities under the tax law. In FY 2011, CE&O had a staff of 12 employees.

The employees in these functions are responsible for the regulation of all types of tax-exempt organizations, including section 501(c)(4) organizations.

Question 4. The Exempt Organizations 2011 Annual Report and 2012 Work Plan states that 501(c)(4) organizations "can declare themselves tax-exempt without seeking a determination from the IRS. EO will review organizations to ensure that they have classified themselves correctly and that they are complying with applicable rules."

a. Why does the IRS allow 501(c)(4) organizations to self-declare?

The Internal Revenue Code expressly provides that certain tax-exempt organizations must give notice to the IRS, by filing an application for exemption, in order to claim tax-exempt status. The Internal Revenue Code does not require an organization to provide notice to the IRS to be treated as described in section 501(c)(4). By contrast, for example, Section 508 generally requires an organization to provide notice to the IRS before it will be treated as described in section 501(c)(3).

b. When an organization "self declares" as a 501(c)(4) organization, how does the IRS get notice and how long does it take the IRS to conduct the review to ensure that the organization has classified itself correctly?

As with other tax exempt organizations, organizations claiming to be tax-exempt under section 501(c)(4) generally are required to file a Form 990<sup>2</sup> on an annual basis.<sup>3</sup>

The Exempt Organizations office of the IRS is responsible for the compliance of over one million organizations with diverse goals and purposes. In order to ensure the highest degree of compliance with tax law while working with limited resources, EO maintains a robust and multi-faceted post-filing compliance program that conducts reviews of exempt organizations in various ways, such as:

- Review of Operations (ROO) reviews: Because a ROO review is not an audit, the ROO carries out its post-filing compliance work without contacting taxpayers. Instead, the ROO looks at an organization's Form 990, website, and other publicly available information to see what it is doing and whether it continues to be organized and operated for tax-exempt purposes. If it appears from a ROO review that an organization may not be compliant, the organization is referred for examination.
- Compliance checks: In a compliance check, IRS contacts taxpayers by letter when we discover an apparent error on a taxpayer's return or wish to obtain further information or clarification. A compliance check is an efficient and effective way to maintain a compliance presence without an examination. We also use compliance check questionnaires to study specific parts of the tax-exempt community or specific cross-sector practices.
- Examinations: Examinations, also known as audits, are authorized under Section 7602 of the Code. For exempt organizations, an examination determines an organization's continued qualification for tax-exempt status. We conduct two different types of examinations: correspondence and field.

Because the IRS cannot review every existing organization in every tax year, we use the review techniques described above to maximize our coverage of the tax exempt sector in both our general program work and our project work. The project work, which results from our strategic planning process, is designed to focus on specific areas affecting the EO sector and to direct more effective use of our resources in the effort to strengthen compliance and improve tax administration. Described in the EO 2012 Work Plan, the sections 501(c)(4), (5) and (6) Self-Declarers is one such project. This project focuses on organizations that hold themselves out as being tax-exempt rather than seeking IRS recognition of their exempt status.

Question 5. The IRS Compliance Guide for Tax-Exempt Organizations states:

<sup>2</sup> Reference to the Form 990 includes the entire applicable Form 990-series annual information returns, such as Forms 990, 990-EZ, 990-PF, and 990-N e-postcard.

<sup>3</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.6033-1(a)(1).

"When a 501(c)(4), (5) or (6) organization's communication explicitly advocates the election or defeat of an individual to public office, the communication is considered political campaign activity. A tax-exempt organization that makes expenditures for political campaign activities shall be subject to tax in an amount equal to its net investment income for the year or the aggregate amount expended on political campaign activities during the year, whichever is less."

- a. How does the IRS keep track of these explicit communications and ensure that the organization pays this tax?

Tax-exempt organizations filing Forms 990 or 990-EZ are required to report political activities. Organizations that engage in direct or indirect political campaign activities are also required to complete Schedule C of Form 990 or 990-EZ. Organizations subject to tax under section 527(f) are required to comply with the statutory reporting and payment rules. The IRS also receives referrals regarding such activities from a variety of sources that are handled through an impartial, independent review. See the response to question 3 for the description on the IRS referral process.

- b. What is the reason for the requirement that the tax will be based on "whichever is less" between its net investment income for the year or the aggregate amount expended on political campaign activities?

The statute under section 527(f) explicitly states that a 501(c) organization is subject to its tax based on "an amount equal to the lesser of – (A) the net investment income of such organization for the taxable year, or (B) the aggregate amount expended during the taxable year for such an exempt function."

- c. What tax would an organization have to pay if it spends all its income on political advertising (therefore it has NO net investment income)?

Under the statute cited above, an organization that otherwise meets the requirements of section 501(c)(4) social welfare tax-exempt status, which spends all its income on political advertising and has no net investment income would not owe any tax under section 527(f). It may however, through such spending (and depending on the otherwise applicable facts of the case), no longer qualify as an organization that is tax-exempt under section 501(c)(4) .

Question 6. Ms. Lerner's letter quotes the IRS webpage on Social Welfare Organizations:

"The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. However, a section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization may engage in some political activities, so long as that is not its primary activity. However, any expenditure it makes for political activities may be subject to tax under section 527(f). [Emphasis added.]

Report Exhibits - Page 001419

6

- a. What is the statutory basis of the language that allows 501(c)(4) organizations to engage in some political activities?

Please see responses to questions 1 and 2, above.

- b. How does the IRS keep track of these political activities and ensure that the organization pays the tax under section 527(f)?

Section 501(c)(4) organizations filing Forms 990 or 990-EZ are required to report political activities. Organizations that engage in direct or indirect political campaign activities are also required to complete Schedule C of Form 990 or 990-EZ. Organizations subject to tax under section 527(f) are required to comply with the statutory reporting and payment rules. The IRS also receives referrals regarding such activities from a variety of sources that are handled through an impartial, independent review. See the response to question 3 for the description on the IRS referral process.

Question 7. In her July 13 letter, Ms. Lerner states that the IRS also addresses the issue of political activities in the Forms 990 and 990-EZ.

Are Forms 990 and 990-EZ made public? If so, where can they be accessed?

Yes, Forms 990 and 990-EZ are made public. Tax-exempt organizations are required to make their returns widely available for public inspection.<sup>4</sup> Organizations are required to allow the public to inspect the Forms 990, 990-EZ, 990-N, and 990-PF they have filed with the IRS for their three most recent tax years.<sup>5</sup> Exempt organizations also are required to provide copies of these information returns when requested, or make them available on the Internet.<sup>6</sup> The annual information returns also are available from the IRS,<sup>7</sup> as well as from third-party sources that post them on their websites.

Question 8. Internal Revenue Services Publication 557 states that, if a 501(c)(4) entity can "submit proof that [the] organization is organized exclusively to promote social welfare, it can obtain an exemption even if it participates legally in some political activity on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office."

Have the following 501(c)(4) organizations a) applied for; and if so, b) received the described exemption for political activity from the IRS?

- a. Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
b. Priorities U.S.A.

<sup>4</sup> IRC § 6104(d); Treas. Reg. §§ 301.6104(d)-1 and -2.

<sup>5</sup> IRC § 6104(d)(2); Treas. Reg. § 301.6104(d)-1(a).

<sup>6</sup> IRC § 6104(d)(1); Treas. Reg. § 301.6104(d)-2.

<sup>7</sup> IRC § 6104(b); Treas. Reg. § 301.6104(b)-1. Due to disclosure laws, an organization must submit Form 4506-A, Request for Public Inspection or Copy of Exempt or Political Organization IRS Form, to the IRS office indicated on the form or accompanying instructions.

- c. Americans Elect
- d. American Action Network
- e. Americans for Prosperity
- f. American Future Fund
- g. Americans for Tax Reform
- h. 60 Plus Association
- i. Patriot Majority USA
- j. Club for Growth
- k. Citizens for a Working America Inc.
- l. Susan B. Anthony List

Initially, to clarify, section 501(c)(4) organizations do not receive "exemption for political activity." Rather, organizations are recognized under section 501(c)(4) as tax-exempt when they demonstrate that they plan to be primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. If they meet that standard, the fact that they engage in other activities that do not promote social welfare, such as political campaign intervention, will not preclude recognition of their tax-exempt status. Whether an organization meets the statutory and regulatory requirements of section 501(c)(4) depends upon all of the facts and circumstances, and no one factor is determinative.

As discussed in our response to you dated June 4, 2012, section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision in the Internal Revenue Code. The IRS cannot legally disclose whether the organizations on your list have applied for tax exemption (unless and until such application is approved). Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax exempt status only after the organization has been recognized as exempt.

Searching the names exactly as provided, our records show that the following organizations have been recognized by the IRS as tax exempt under section 501(c)(4).

Americans For Prosperity
American Future Fund
60 Plus Association
Patriot Majority USA
Citizens for a Working America Inc.

With respect to the other organizations for which you inquired, we will be able to determine if they have been recognized by the IRS as tax-exempt with additional information, such as an address or EIN, that specifically identifies the organization. Organizations often have similar names or maintain multiple chapters with variations of the same name. With respect to many of the other organizations you identified, numerous organizations in our records have very similar names. IRS staff can work with your staff in identifying the specific organizations for which you are interested. IRS staff is also available to assist your staff to navigate searchable databases on the IRS public website. As previously discussed, information on organizations with applications currently pending legally cannot be provided unless and until the application is approved. Please note that organizations that hold themselves out as tax-exempt without IRS recognition and organizations that have pending applications for recognition are required to file annual returns/notices.

Report Exhibits - Page 001421

8

Question 9. Have you reminded 501(c)(4)s which publicly seem to be operating in the partisan political arena as to the factors you will consider in determining whether they are engaging in partisan political activity? If not, why not?

As described in the July 13, 2012 response, the IRS takes several steps to continually educate organizations of the requirements under the tax law and inform them of their responsibilities to avoid jeopardizing their tax-exempt status. We believe these steps ensure the IRS administers the nation's tax laws in a fair and impartial manner.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barre at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner
for Services and Enforcement

JOSEPH J. HARRIS, EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN
CAROL ANN KOTCHICK
DAVID L. KAPLAN, MAJOR
THOMAS S. KUMPER, CLERK
ARTHUR L. FRYER, ASSISTANT
KIMBERLY L. LARSEN, CLERK
CLARE MCKENNA, CLERK
ANDY T. MILLER, CLERK
ALAN J. BROWN, ALASKA
SUSANNE KEDDIE, MAJOR
TIMOTHY L. DALLA-POGA
SCOTT A. BROWN, ASSISTANT
JOHN M. CARL, ASSISTANT
RON SCHWARTZ, CLERK
PAUL PORTMAN, MAJOR
JAMES L. KENTON
JAMES M. KENTON
MICHAEL H. HARRIS, STAFF DIRECTOR
MICHAEL J. BROWN, STAFF DIRECTOR

United States Senate

COMMITTEE ON
HOMELAND SECURITY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

August 31, 2012

The Honorable Douglas H. Shulman
Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
10th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20004

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

Thank you for the August 24, 2012 response by Steven T. Miller, Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement, to my July 27, 2012 letter.

I find it unacceptable that the IRS appears to be passively standing by while organizations that hold themselves out to be "social welfare" organizations clearly ignore the tax code with no apparent consequences.

Frankly, the response that "long standing Treasury Regulations have interpreted 'exclusively' as used in section 501(c)(4) to mean 'primarily'" and the argument that "section 501(c)(4) does not contain a specific rule or limitation on political campaign intervention by social welfare organizations" are not persuasive. The word "exclusively" as written in the statute is clear and speaks for itself. Its clarity is not diminished because the section does not mimic words in another section, which words are also clear.

As a follow-up to your letter, I would like to know the following:

1. If the IRS determines that an organization that has been given 501(c)(4) status has not engaged primarily in social welfare activities, but instead was primarily engaged in activity within the scope of section 527, what are the consequences for the organization? What are the consequences for such an organization having not filed timely Forms 8871 and 8872? Must they file such forms after the fact? What taxes would be due? Will contributions that already have been made to that organization be taxable to that organization?

Report Exhibits - Page 001423

2

2. How many 501(c)(4) organizations which appear to be primarily engaged in political activity have been notified by the IRA within the last 6 months that they may be in violation of the law?

It is urgent that I receive your answers promptly, and no later than September 10, please.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Carl Levin".

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

cc: Dr. Tom Coburn
Mr. Steven T. Miller

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

September 14, 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Senate Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Senator Levin:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated August 31, 2012, requesting additional information about section 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements the previous responses dated June 4, 2012, July 13, 2012 and August 24, 2012, and addresses the additional questions raised in your recent letter.

Question 1. If the IRS determines that an organization that has been given 501(c)(4) status has not engaged primarily in social welfare activities, but instead was primarily engaged in activity within the scope of section 527, what are the consequences for the organization? What are the consequences for such an organization having not filed timely Forms 8871 and 8872? Must they file such forms after the fact? What taxes will be due? Will contributions that already have been made to that organization be taxable to that organization?

If an IRS audit or examination concludes that a section 501(c)(4) organization does not engage primarily in social welfare activities, the IRS may revoke the tax-exempt status of that organization. If the tax-exempt status is revoked, the organization is a taxable entity effective, in general, as of the first day of the tax year under examination. The organization is required to file Federal income tax returns, generally a Form 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax. The tax treatment of the organization's contributions and other income is determined under normal rules of Subtitle A.

Whether an organization no longer qualifies to be tax-exempt under section 501(c)(4) does not determine whether it is a political organization under section 527. Section 527(e)(1) defines a political organization as a party, committee, or other organization that is organized and operated primarily for the purpose of directly or indirectly accepting contributions or making expenditures for an exempt function (as defined in § 527(e)(2)). If an organization meets this definition, then its tax status is determined under section 527.

Subject to certain exceptions, to be tax-exempt under section 527,<sup>1</sup> a political organization is required to give notice electronically to the Service.<sup>2</sup> The required notice form is Form 8871, Political Organization Notice of Section 527 Status. To be tax-exempt, the political organization must file Form 8871 within 24 hours after the date on which it was established. If the organization has a material change in any of the information reported on Form 8871, it must file an amended Form 8871 within 30 days of the material change to maintain its tax-exempt status. When the organization terminates its existence, it must file a final Form 8871 within 30 days of termination.<sup>3</sup>

An organization that is required to file Form 8871, but fails to file on a timely basis, will not be treated as a tax-exempt political organization for any period before the date Form 8871 is filed.<sup>4</sup> The taxable income of the organization for any period in which it failed to file Form 8871 (or, in the case of a material change, the period beginning with the date of the material change and ending on the date it satisfies the notice requirement) is subject to tax and must be reported on the annual income tax return Form 1120-POL.<sup>5</sup> The tax is computed by multiplying the organization's taxable income by the highest federal corporate tax rate,<sup>6</sup> currently 35 percent. For purposes of computing its taxable income for any period, the organization includes its exempt function income (including contributions received, membership dues, and political fundraising receipts), minus any deductions directly connected with the production of that income,<sup>7</sup> but may not deduct its exempt function expenditures for the period.<sup>8</sup>

Generally, tax-exempt political organizations that have, or expect to have, contributions or expenditures exceeding $25,000 during a calendar year are required to file Form 8872, Political Organization Report of Contributions and Expenditures, beginning with the first month or quarter during the calendar year in which they accept contributions or make expenditures.<sup>9</sup> A tax-exempt political organization subject to the periodic reporting requirement may choose to file Form 8872 on a monthly basis or on a quarterly/semiannual basis, but it must file on the same basis for the entire calendar year. In addition, tax-exempt political organizations that make

<sup>1</sup> Tax-exempt political organizations generally are subject to tax on the excess of their gross income (excluding any exempt function income) over allowable deductions that are directly connected with the production of the gross income (excluding exempt function income). IRC § 527(c).

<sup>2</sup> IRC § 527(i)(1)(A), (i)(5), (i)(6); Rev. Rul. 2003-49, 2003-1 C. B. 903.

<sup>3</sup> IRC § 527(i)(2).

<sup>4</sup> IRC § 527(i)(1)(B).

<sup>5</sup> IRC § 527(i)(4). A political organization, whether or not tax-exempt, that has taxable income in excess of the $100 specific deduction allowed under § 527 is required to file an annual income tax return on Form 1120-POL, U.S. Income Tax Return for Certain Political Organizations. IRC § 6012(a)(6); Rev. Rul. 2003-49.

<sup>6</sup> IRC § 527(b); Rev. Rul. 2003-49.

<sup>7</sup> IRC § 527(i)(4); Rev. Rul. 2003-49.

<sup>8</sup> IRC § 162(e) denies a deduction for political campaign expenditures.

<sup>9</sup> IRC § 527(j); Rev. Rul. 2003-49. All tax-exempt political organizations are subject to the reporting requirements of IRC § 527(j), except for those political organizations described in § 527(j)(5).

contributions or expenditures with respect to an election for federal office (as defined in § 527(j)(6)) may be required to file pre-election reports for that election.<sup>10</sup>

A tax-exempt political organization that does not timely file the required Form 8872, or that fails to include the information required on the Form 8872, must pay an amount calculated by multiplying the amount of contributions and expenditures that are not disclosed by the highest federal corporate tax rate,<sup>11</sup> currently 35 percent.

Question 2. How many 501(c)(4) organizations which appear to be primarily engaged in political activity have been notified by the IRS within the last 6 months that they may be in violation of the law?

When the IRS examines a section 501(c)(4) organization, the objective of the audit is to determine whether that organization qualifies for tax-exempt status as a social welfare organization. As discussed in our June 4, 2012 response to your March 30, 2012 letter, that determination looks to whether the organization is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare, not organized or operated for profit, and the net earnings of which do not inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual. The examination looks at the activities engaged in during the complete taxable year at issue. Although the promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office, a section 501(c)(4) social welfare organization can engage in political activities as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare.

If the IRS believes that an organization does not meet the requirements under section 501(c)(4), the IRS notifies the organization of its intention to revoke the organization's exempt status, explaining the law and reasons for the proposed revocation. The organization has 30 days from the date of that letter to protest or appeal the determination before a final revocation letter is issued to the organization.

During the past six months, no notices of proposed or final revocation were issued to section 501(c)(4) organizations. Note that the IRS currently has more than 70 ongoing examinations of section 501(c)(4) organizations (this includes examinations for a variety of issues, some of which include whether the organization is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare). It is also important to note that the Service also maintains a determination process to review the operations of an organization to determine whether it should be recognized as tax exempt. In this area, we also review compliance with the legal requirements, including whether an organization is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. There are currently more than 1,600 organizations in the determination process seeking recognition as a section 501(c)(4) organization. The level of political activity is an issue in a number of these determination cases.

<sup>10</sup> IRC § 527(j)(2)(A)(i)(II); Rev. Rul. 2003-49.

<sup>11</sup> IRC § 527(j)(1).

Report Exhibits - Page 001427

4

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barre at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "S. T. Miller".

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner
for Services and Enforcement

VLA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL (Catherine.M.Barre@irs.gov)

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

As a follow-up to that letter, please provide me with the following:

- "Has the organization spent or does it plan to spend any money attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election or appointment of any person to any Federal, state, or local public office to an office in a political organization? If "Yes," explain in detail and list the amounts spent or to be spent in each case."

- 1) Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
- 2) Priorities U.S.A.
- 3) Americans for Prosperity
- 4) Patriot Majority USA

2. In the IRS response of August 24, 2012, Mr. Miller stated that an address would be needed in order for the IRS to tell us whether or not an organization has been recognized by the IRS as tax-exempt. I have provided address information on several organizations below, as well as verbatim statements from these organizations' websites regarding their 501(c)(4) status.

Report Exhibits - Page 001429

For each organization, please let me know if the IRS has recognized it as tax-exempt.

| Organization Name:                      | Organization Address:                                 | Organization Website Address:                                                       | Organization's statement on 501(c)(4) status:                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies | P.O. Box 34413Washington, DC 20043                | http://www.crossroadsgps.org/           | "Crossroads GPS is organized as a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code."                                                                                  |
| Priorities U.S.A.                       | 1718 M Street NW #264Washington, DC 20036-4504    | http://www.prioritiesusa.org/           | "Priorities USA is a 501(c)(4) organization dedicated to mobilizing Americans to preserve, protect and promote the middle class, and to ensure opportunity and freedom for the next generation." |
| Americans for Prosperity                | 2111 Wilson Blvd.Suite 350Arlington, VA 22202 | http://americansforprosperity.org/ | "Americans for Prosperity is a 501 (c) (4) entity under the IRS code. Contributions or gifts to Americans for Prosperity are not tax deductible."                                                |
| Patriot Majority USA                    | 1717 Rhode Island Avenue, NWWashington, DC 20036  | http://patriotmajority.org/               | "Patriot Majority USA is a 501(c)(4) with the primary purpose of encouraging a discussion of economic issues in the United States."                                                              |

For your information, I am enclosing a copy my recent Congressional Record statement regarding the Internal Revenue Service and its treatment of 501(c)(4) organizations. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Kaye Meier of my staff at kaye\_meier@levin.senate.gov or 202/224-9110. Please provide this information by October 9, 2012.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Enclosure

Report Exhibits - Page 001430

cc: Dr. Tom Coburn
Ranking Member
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Mr. Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement
Internal Revenue Service

Report Exhibits - Page 001431

Attachments Excluded

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

October 17, 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated September 27, 2012, requesting additional information about section 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements the previous responses dated June 4, 2012, July 13, 2012, August 24, 2012, and September 14, 2012, and addresses the additional questions raised in your recent letter.

Question 1. Question #15 on the IRS Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(a) states:

"Has the organization spent or does it plan to spend any money attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election or appointment of any person to any Federal, state, or local public office to an office in a political organization? If "Yes," explain in detail and list the amounts spent or to be spent in each case."

a. For the following organizations please forward copies of the responses to Question #15:

- 1) Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
- 2) Priorities U.S.A
- 3) Americans for Prosperity
- 4) Patriot Majority USA

b. Please provide with each answer the explanatory "detail" and the lists of the "amounts spent or to be spent in each case" referred to in Question #15.

As discussed in our previous responses dated June 4, 2012, and August 24, 2012, the IRS cannot legally disclose whether the organizations on your list have applied for tax exemption unless and until such application is approved. Section 6104(a) of the Internal Revenue Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax exempt status only after the organization has been recognized as exempt.

PS:IRS-06-000001

Report Exhibits - Page 001432

2

Enclosed are the publicly available portions of the application file for Patriot Majority USA [EIN 45-0710294].

Our records indicate a favorable determination letter was also issued to Americans for Prosperity [EIN 75-3149958] in October 2004. However, due to issues related to an electronic conversion process undertaken a number of years ago, we have not yet been able to locate our copy of the application file.<sup>1</sup>

Question 2. In the IRS response of August 24, 2012, Mr. Miller stated that an address would be needed in order for the IRS to tell us whether or not an organization has been recognized by the IRS as tax-exempt. I have provided address information on several organizations below, as well as verbatim statements from these organizations' websites regarding their 501(c)(4) status.

For each organization, please let me know if the IRS has recognized it as tax-exempt.

| Organization Name                       | Organization Address                                     | Organization Website Address                                                      | Organization's statement on 501(c)(4) status                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies | 210, Box 34143Washington, DC20053                | http://www.crossroadsusa.org           | "Crossroads (IRS) is organized as a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code."                                                                              |
| Priorities U.S.A.                       | 1718 M Street NW#254Washington, DC20036-1364 | http://www.prioritiesusa.org           | "Priorities USA is a 501(c)(4) organization dedicated to mobilizing Americans to protect, protect and promote the public good, and to ensure opportunity and freedom for the next generation." |
| Americans for Prosperity                | 2111 Wilson Blvd.Suite 350Arlington, VA 22202    | http://www.americanprosperity.org | "Americans for Prosperity is a 501(c)(4) entity under the IRS code. Contributions eligible to Americans for Prosperity are not tax deductible."                                                |
| Patriot Majority USA                    | 1711 Rhode Island Avenue, NWWashington, DC20036  | http://patriotmajority.org               | "Patriot Majority U.S.A. is a 501(c)(4) with the primary purpose of encouraging and assisting of citizens to focus in the United States."                                                      |

As stated in our previous response to you dated August 24, 2012, our records show that Americans for Prosperity and Patriot Majority USA have been recognized by the IRS as tax exempt under section 501(c)(4). With respect to Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies and Priorities U.S.A., we have no record of an approved application for these organizations.

<sup>1</sup> In addition to public availability from the IRS, section 6104(d) of the Internal Revenue Code requires that the organization make its application for tax-exemption available for public inspection.

Report Exhibits - Page 001433

3

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barre at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner
for Services and Enforcement

COMMITTEE ON
HOMELAND SECURITY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

VIA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL. (Catherine.M.Barre@IRS.gov)

Dear Commissioner Shulman:

I am in receipt of the October 17, 2012, response from Mr. Miller to my letter of September 27, 2012.

In the June 4, 2012, response that I received from the IRS, your agency provided the following guidance:

“The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. Nevertheless, a section 501 (c)(4) social welfare organization can engage in political activities as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. The regulations do not impose a complete ban on political activity by section 501 (c)(4) organizations. Whether an organization meets the requirements of section 501 (c)(4) depends upon all of the facts and circumstances of the particular applicant, and no one factor is determinative.” [6/4/12 IRS response, pg. 8]

I have indicated previously that I believe this guidance misinterprets the law because the law says that the organization must be operated "exclusively" for the promotion of social welfare. However, accepting the IRS interpretation as accurate for the purposes of this letter, please provide the following information:

1. The October 17, 2012, letter from the IRS indicates that it is unable to locate the application submitted by Americans for Prosperity (EIN 75-3148958) for tax exempt status under Section 501(c)(4). Has the IRS asked Americans for Prosperity for a copy of its application? If so, please provide a copy of the response from Americans for Prosperity.
2. Has the IRS examined whether or not the following 501(c)(4) organizations are engaged primarily in the promotion of social welfare? Please indicate yes or no, and, if yes, whether the examination is still pending.

Report Exhibits - Page 001435

2

- a. Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
- b. Priorities U.S.A.
- c. Americans for Prosperity
- d. Patriot Majority USA

3. In my letter of March 30, 2012, I asked the IRS to indicate how many letter rulings have been issued by the IRS since January 1, 2007, to deny or revoke the tax-exempt status of an organization under Section 501(c)(4) due to involvement with political activity. I further requested that, if the IRS had issued 10 or less such letter rulings, the IRS provide copies of all such letters. Mr. Miller responded that, "The application process for tax-exempt status does not involve the revocation of tax exemption; rather, it only concerns the denial of applications." He did not provide copies of the denials of applications he referred to.

Please provide the documentation requested in my March 30, 2012, letter.

4. In August 2012, I asked the IRS to indicate "how many 501(c)(4) organizations which appear to be primarily engaged in political activity have been notified by the IRS within the last 6 months that they may be in violation of the law." Mr. Miller responded that, "During the past six months, no notices of proposed or final revocation were issued to section 501(c)(4) organizations."
- a. How many notices of proposed or final revocation have been issued since January 1, 2007? If the IRS has issued 10 or less such letter rulings, please provide copies of all such letters.
  - b. Since January 1, 2007, how many 501(c)(4) organizations have been examined by the IRS to determine if they are engaged in political activity in amounts which exceed IRS guidelines?

Thank you for your assistance. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Kaye Meier of my staff at kaye\_meier@levin.senate.gov or 202/224-9110. Please provide this information by November 9, 2012.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

cc: The Honorable Tom Coburn, MD
Ranking Minority Member
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

November 23, 2012

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman, Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Senate Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20515

Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am responding to your letter to Commissioner Shulman dated October 23, 2012, requesting additional information about section 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements our previous responses dated June 4, 2012, July 13, 2012, August 24, 2012, September 14, 2012, and October 17, 2012, and addresses the additional questions raised in your recent letter.

Question 1. The October 17, 2012, letter from the IRS indicates that it is unable to locate the application submitted by Americans for Prosperity [REDACTED] for tax exempt status under section 501(c)(4). Has the IRS asked Americans for Prosperity for a copy of its application? If so, please provide a copy of the response from Americans for Prosperity.

We have not asked Americans for Prosperity for a copy of its application. As indicated in our responses dated June 4, 2012, and October 17, 2012, section 6104(d) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code) requires tax exempt organizations to make certain documents, including applications for exemptions, available for public inspection. Any individual may request copies of applications for exemption and determination letters directly from the organizations. Under the Code, if an organization has filed an application for tax-exemption and we have approved the application, the exempt status application materials shall be made available by such organization for inspection upon request of any individual.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Section 6104(d) of the Code.

Question 2. Has the IRS examined whether or not the following 501(c)(4) organizations are engaged primarily in the promotion of social welfare? Please indicate yes or no, and, if yes, whether the examination is still pending.

- a. Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies
- b. Priorities U.S.A
- c. Americans for Prosperity
- d. Patriot Majority USA

As previously stated in our response dated June 4, 2012, section 6103 of the Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers, including whether they are under investigation or examination, unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision of the Code.<sup>2</sup> Thus, we are legally prohibited from disclosing information related to examination activity.

Question 3. In my letter of March 30, 2012, I asked the IRS to indicate how many letter rulings have been issued by the IRS since January 1, 2007, to deny or revoke the tax-exempt status of an organization under section 501(c)(4) due to involvement with political activity. I further requested that, if the IRS had issued 10 or less such letter rulings, the IRS provide copies of all such letters. Mr. Miller responded that, "The application process for tax-exempt status does not involve the revocation of tax exemption; rather, it only concerns the denial of applications." He did not provide copies of the denials of applications he referred to.

Please provide the documentation requested in my March 30, 2012, letter.

As previously stated, section 6103 of the Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless some provision of the Code authorizes the disclosure. Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax-exempt status and supporting materials only after the organization has been recognized as exempt. Under section 6110 of the Code, if we ultimately deny the application for recognition of tax-exempt status, the denial letter and background information is subject to public inspection, with identifying and other information redacted, to help the public understand our reasoning while also protecting the identity of the organization.

<sup>2</sup> Section 6103(f) of the Code sets forth the means by which congressional committees may obtain access to return and return information (that is not otherwise made publicly available under sections 6104 and 6110). We are available to discuss these rules in more detail with your staff.

Since January 1, 2007, we have issued ten adverse determinations to section 501(c)(4) applicants. We concluded that the organizations did not primarily operate for the promotion of social welfare. Generally, they were primarily engaged in activities that benefited private individuals and interests, and/or constituted direct and indirect political campaign intervention on behalf of, or in opposition to, candidates for public office. I am enclosing redacted determination letters denying section 501(c)(4) tax exempt status to the ten organizations. Note, however, that the number of adverse determinations does not represent the number of organizations that applied, but were not granted tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(4). Some organizations withdraw their application for exemption when they learn that a denial is forthcoming. Others do not formally withdraw, but do not respond to requests for information necessary to develop their applications. After additional failed attempts to get the information from the applicant, we close those applications as "failure to establish."

Question 4. In August 2012, I asked the IRS to indicate "how many 501(c)(4) organizations which appear to be primarily engaged in political activity have been notified by the IRS within the last 6 months that they may be in violation of the law." Mr. Miller responded that, "During the past six months, no notices of proposed or final revocation were issued to section 501(c)(4) organizations."

- a. How many notices of proposed or final revocation have been issued since January 1, 2007? If the IRS has issued 10 or less such letter rulings, please provide copies of all such letters.

We have issued 42 revocation notices to section 501(c)(4) organizations since January 1, 2007. These organizations were revoked for failing to meet the requirements under section 501(c)(4). In addition to the 42 revocations, we issued 18 organizations written advisories noting irregularities, which if left unchanged, posed a risk to the organizations of possible loss of their tax-exempt status under section 501(c)(4).

- b. Since January 1, 2007, how many 501(c)(4) organizations have been examined by the IRS to determine if they are engaged in political activity in amounts which exceed IRS guidelines?

As discussed in prior responses, when we examine a section 501(c)(4) organization, the objective of the audit is to determine whether that organization qualifies for tax-exempt status as a social welfare organization. As discussed in our June 4, 2012, response, we have taken no position on a fixed percentage or any one factor in precedential guidance. To determine whether an organization operates primarily for the promotion of social welfare, the courts and the IRS consider all the facts and circumstances, including, but not limited to, the organization's stated purposes, expenditures, principal source of revenue, number of employees and volunteers, and time and effort.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Treasury Regulation section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2) (No percentage test established). Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-

1

C.B. 259 (Principal source of income does not determine an organization's primary activity under section 501(c)(4); all the facts and circumstances are considered). See, generally Haswell v. United States, 500

From January 1, 2007, through September 2012, we have examined 643 section 501(c)(4) organizations to determine whether they are primarily engaged in social welfare activities. We analyzed a variety of issues during these examinations, including, where relevant, the level of political activity.

Of the 643 organizations examined, the Principal Issue Codes (PIC codes) in our system indicate political activity was one of the issues explored in the examination of 22 section 501(c)(4) organizations. We use PIC codes to capture the issues on which an IRS agent spent time during an examination or that resulted in a change, and we enter them as part of the closing process of a case. Although currently 96 PIC codes exist, agents may only report the top four PIC codes. The determination of which PIC codes are applicable to a particular case is a judgment the agent makes. Please note that although PIC codes are a tool to identify issues and trends, PIC codes do not cover all issues in a case. Therefore, without a manual review of the case files, we cannot definitively conclude whether we examined an organization to determine the level of political activity.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barré, Director, Legislative Affairs, at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner
for Services and Enforcement

Enclosures (10)

---

F.2d 1133, 1142, 1147 (Cl. Ct. 1974) ("A percentage test ... is not appropriate. Such a test obscures the complexity of balancing the organization's activities in relation to its objectives and circumstances in the context of the totality of the organization."). See, Contracting Plumbers v. United States, 488 F.2d 684, 686 (2d Cir. 1973) (multiple factors relevant in applying this standard, including formative history, stated purposes, and actual operations). See generally Seasongood V. Commissioner, 227 F.2d 907, 909, 912 (6th Cir. 1955) (expenditures, employees, and organization's time and effort considered).

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 200833021
Release Date: 8/15/2008

Date: May 20, 2008

U.I.L. 501.04-03

SE:T:EO:RA:T:3

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Form Required To Be Filed:
1120
Tax Years:
ALL

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reason(s): You were not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Your activities primarily constituted direct and indirect participation in political campaigns on behalf of, or in opposition to, candidates for public office.

In a letter dated January 17, 2008, you submitted a copy of the minutes of the meeting of your Board of Directors dated September 17, 2007, which approved your dissolution effective September 30, 2007. A statement of your dissolution was filed with your state on September 14, 2007.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001441

-2-

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Robert Choi
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Report Exhibits - Page 001442

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

U.I.L. 501.04-03 No Third Party Contacts

July 31, 2000

Contact Person:

ID Number:

Telephone Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Legend:

X =
Year 1 =
State 1 =
State 2 =
W =
Seminar =
Newsletter =
Conference =

A =

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(4). Based upon all of the materials you have submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Accordingly, we have concluded that you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4).

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

The information you have provided for our consideration of your application for recognition of exemption indicates that you were incorporated on Year 1, as a nonprofit organization under the laws of the State 1. You were formed for purposes that include the following: to educate, inform and mobilize Ws to become active in the public arena in support of causes which reflect W values; and to uphold, propagate, and disseminate by all lawful means W principles and values.

You entered into an affiliation agreement with X, a national organization based in State 2. X's

Report Exhibits - Page 001443

Page 2

five-fold mission is to--

Under the affiliation agreement, X has granted you a charter pursuant to which you shall represent X in State 1 and shall be known as the said state affiliate of X. The agreement further grants you a non-exclusive, revocable license to use X's name, logo, and any and all trademarks or service marks that X owns during the agreement. In addition, the affiliation agreement consists of the following provisions:

1. You shall incorporate as a nonprofit corporation and apply for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code; copies of your corporate charter, bylaws and exemption application will be provided to X.
2. You shall adopt bylaws which will be substantially in the form of, or consistent with, the bylaws of X. Any amendments to your bylaws shall be sent to X for review and approval with your agreement not to adopt any amendments not approved by X.
3. You may organize and recognize local X chapters in State 1, provided you enter into an affiliation agreement with each local chapter and each such agreement is approved by X. Once a quarter, you shall provide X with the names and addresses of each local chapter, as well as the names, addresses, and phone numbers of the leader in each local chapter.
4. A portion of X's annual net revenues shall be segregated as a state project fund from which you may request funds for special projects from time to time. These funds may be distributed throughout the course of the year and must be requested in writing.
5. You may send mailings to certain X proprietary mailing lists for a reasonable computer and label/tape charge. X shall assist you in preparing mailings to these lists.
6. X shall provide you with a list of activities on X's database for you to use for fund-raising purposes.
7. X shall conduct for you regular workshops to teach fund-raising and organizing skills for state leadership.
8. X will schedule at least one leadership school per calendar year in your state, to be sponsored by you that includes audio tapes, instructional manual, and all related materials; you are responsible for recruiting at least 75 paid registrants, while the national office shall provide all materials, audio and video tapes, a national or regional instructor, and one mailing from the national office to promote and publicize the school.
9. X will work with you to hold at least one major fund-raising event per calendar year to be attended by A (as schedule permits) and/or other nationally recognized individuals;

Report Exhibits - Page 001444

Page 3

10. X will provide you with access with to its flagship publication, W. You will be able to place a four-page insert into all copies of W mailed to all X members in State 1.

11. X shall provide state and local leaders with a regular update of events in the nation's capital. This update will be provided free of charge to state and chapter leaders with fax machines.

12. X shall provide you with voter education material specific to your state. Congressional scorecards will be provided at cost, and federal voter guides will be provided free of charge.

Your activities include the development of county chapters, distribution of voter guides, organizing and conducting training seminars, publishing and distributing monthly newsletters and updates on legislation, and lobbying activities.

You have been involved in the formation and development of county chapters in State 1. In the Local Chapter Chairman's Handbook, a manual published and provided to you by X in providing step-by-step instruction on how to develop a successful chapter, states in Chapter 1 –

The goals of a chapter are to:

The X handbook refers to the neighborhoods as "precincts," and it states "...the ultimate goal of X is to have ten identified activists in every precinct in America. Neighborhoods (precincts) are crucial. In order to effectively organize your county, you must organize neighborhoods. Establishing a coordinator in each neighborhood will very effectively give you political control over your county and ultimately, your state." The X precinct organization plan consists of getting neighborhood helpers to follow three simple steps: identify, inform and mobilize voters.

You distribute voter guides for federal, state, and local elections. The voter guides are distributed to voters prior to Election Day for their use on that day. The voter guides for elections on the federal level were prepared by X. You prepare the voter guides for elections on state and local levels. The format of the voter guides includes the names and pictures of the Democratic and Republican candidates for various elective offices. Beneath each candidate's name and picture is the candidate's position on each of a list of selected issues. The Voter Guides indicate that most candidates were shown with a response of either "Opposes" or "Supports" to the selected issue, while many candidates were shown to have "No Response" or "Undecided" to most of the issues. The selected issues included:

Report Exhibits - Page 001445

Page 4

The voter guides state in very small print that, "[t]his voter guide is provided for educational purposes only and is not to be construed as an endorsement of any candidate or political party." However, X's training materials called the X, under the heading states --

The year marked the emergence of X onto the national political scene....

As the election year went into full swing, X began distributing nonpartisan voter guides in churches nationwide. X's voter education efforts led to the largest turnout of voters in modern history with exit polls showing that 24 percent of all voters were self-identified. The results of such voter turnout were remarkable; an estimated candidates ran for school board, city council, state legislature, and percent won. X's commitment to the movement was now set in stone.

X's activity in the election year proved that X was a major player in the political arena. X distributed voter guides during the presidential and other primaries as well as voter guides in churches during the general election.

You also conduct a seminar called W Seminar. The seminar uses training manuals produced and supplied by X. In his foreword to the training manual, A states the following:

You also publish State 1 Newsletter, a monthly newsletter consisting of two pages updating members primarily on chapter meetings and events, status of legislation, and the political scene. The and issues included information regarding the "Conference," an annual conference conducted by X that features speeches by prominent members of the Party.

You also engage in lobbying activities. You distribute materials urging members and others in supporting or defeating certain issue legislation. A training manual published by X, which you use in your training seminars, contains the following information on the topic of the basic lobbying that X and you, as one of its affiliates, implement:

Report Exhibits - Page 001446

Page 5

LEGAL ANALYSIS:

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption from Federal income taxes under section 501(a) for organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Whether an organization is "primarily" engaged in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances test. The regulation states:

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-(a)(2)(i).

Section 1.501(c)(4)-(a)(2)(ii) of the regulations provides that political campaign activities do not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4). The regulations under section 501(c)(4) clearly distinguish between acceptable social welfare activities such as lobbying and unacceptable activities such as political campaign intervention. The regulation states:

The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-(a)(2)(ii).

In order for an organization to engage in political campaign activities, there generally must be a candidate for public office on whose behalf or against whom the activity or intervention occurs. Section 1.501(c)(3)-(c)(3)(iii) of the regulations states that the "term 'candidate for public office' means an individual who offers himself, or is proposed by others, as a contestant for an elective public office." In Rev. Rul. 76-456, 1976-2 C.B. 151, the organization at issue was formed for the purpose of elevating the standards of ethics in the conduct of campaigns for election to public office at the national, state and local levels, and had disseminated information concerning general campaign practices. The organization proposed a code of fair campaign practices, but did not solicit the signing or endorsement of the code by candidates for political office. We concluded that this did not constitute political intervention since the organization's activities only allowed citizens to increase their knowledge and understanding of election processes and participate more effectively in their selection of government officials, without any candidates even mentioned. At the same time we modified Rev. Rul. 66-258, 1966-2 C.B. 213, which was an identical organization except that it did solicit the signing or endorsement of its code of fair campaign practices by candidates for political office. We concluded that the latter organization was engaged in political intervention and therefore was not exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. (Because these Rev. Ruls. contain a section 501(c)(3) analysis which prohibits all political campaign activities, the activities should be considered in absolute terms. However, for purposes of section 501(c)(4), we are determining whether political intervention is the primary activity of the organization.)

Whether an organization is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances determination. Relevant factors include the manner in which the organization's activities are conducted; resources used in conducting such activities, such as buildings and equipment; the time devoted to activities (by volunteers as well as employees); the purposes furthered by various activities; and the amount of funds received from and devoted to particular activities. See, e.g., Rev. Rul. 74-361, 1974-2 C.B. 159 (volunteer fire company that provides recreational facilities for members is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare where providing facilities primarily furthers exempt purposes); Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259 (organization's principal source of income is not sole factor in determining whether it is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare). In Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, we concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." The corollary to this is that if an organization's primary activities do not promote social welfare but are direct or indirect political intervention, the organization is not exempt under section 501(c)(4). The key is to determine the character of the organization's primary activities by looking at all of the facts and circumstances.

Page 6

1. Precinct Organization:

Your activities with regard to recruitment of people to become active in local politics at the precinct level appear to be identical to the recruitment and organization that takes place in a political party. The Leadership School trains people to work in campaigns, and political involvement and get-out-the-vote activities are advocated in order to intervene and influence elections. Your focus is on getting people to become candidates and activists. While organizing down to the precinct or neighborhood level has enabled you to mobilize some limited legislative grassroots campaigns, this organizational basis has primarily been used to mobilize targeted voters to get to the polls on election day. It has also been used to identify and encourage to run for local office. From your inception, you have been part of X's precinct organization intended to facilitate intervention in the political process at every level of government. As stated above, it is also evident that you were interested in legislation and lobbying activities. However, after a careful review of the materials presented, it is apparent that the lobbying activities were secondary to political intervention. You primarily engage in activities intended to intervene in the political process and to influence the elections of those candidates who reflected your views. Your emphasis is focused on activities which were designed to result in the election of to public office at every level of government. Using the facts and circumstances test, we conclude that your precinct organizational basis was implemented primarily to intervene in political campaigns.

2. Voter Guides:

An organization which publishes and distributes candidate questionnaire results in the form of voter guides must demonstrate neutrality in order for the voter guides to be considered educational. A facts and circumstances test is utilized to determine whether activities involving voter guides are educational or whether they are political campaign activities. In Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154, examples are given as to the factors which should be considered when applying a facts and circumstances test. The factors which are indications that the activities are educational are as follows: 1) the publication reports on a neutral group of elected officials or candidates such as all members of Congress or all candidates for a particular office, 2) the publication reports elected officials' or candidates' views or their voting records on a wide range of subjects, 3) the publication includes no editorial opinion on the elected officials or candidates, or on their views, 4) the publication does not indicate approval of elected officials or candidates in the contents or structure of the publication, and 5) the organization makes the publication generally available to the public.

After looking at your voter guides, several patterns emerge. First, as mentioned above, the candidates regularly have "No Response" or "Undecided" listed after all or part of the issues, whereas very few candidates were listed without a complete list of "Opposes" or "Supports" underneath their name and picture. Second, the issues chosen seem to have a direct correlation to the desired response from X's preferred candidate, or conversely to portray a candidate as against issues. While these factors are not explicit endorsements of candidates, the lack of responses from candidates and the wording and choice of issues to create a particular response along party lines is significant. In addition, the general nature of and approach taken with respect to the issues covered leads to responses which are arguably inaccurate. Additionally, the summary descriptions are so vague that they do not adequately cover any of the issues. Finally, the voter guides do not report on a neutral group of candidates as required by Rev. Rul. 78-248. The voter guides list the names of a neutral group of candidates, but they fully report the positions of only some of the candidates and almost all of the positions of the candidates. This reporting is so heavily weighted toward the Party as to not constitute reporting on a neutral group of candidates.

Report Exhibits - Page 001448

Page 7

In our view, the voter guides are heavily weighted in favor of the candidates, especially those incumbents endorsed on the congressional scorecards. We conclude that these voter guides cannot be considered nonpartisan educational materials within the intent of the law. Inaccurate and/or incomplete information does not constitute education. The targeted distribution of the scorecards and voter guides also indicates that these publications are not nonpartisan educational activities. These documents were distributed to previously identified and individuals. The voter guides would have only limited educational value to anyone wishing to know the positions of candidates or to compare the positions of and candidates, since such a large percentage of candidates did not have their positions listed in the voter guides. In addition, the possible distortion of the candidate's position when translating a vote on legislation to a summary description is an additional factor we have considered in determining that the voter guides constitute political intervention. Based on all the available information, we conclude that the voter guides are not nonpartisan and constitute intervention in political campaigns.

3. Lobbying Activities:

Lobbying activities were considered in Rev. Rul. 68-656, 1968-2 C.B. 216, to not only be an acceptable activity for an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, but to constitute activities that promote social welfare. Rev. Rul. 68-656 provides that seeking favorable legislation is recognized by the section 501(c)(4) regulations as a permissible means of attaining social welfare goals. Additionally, Rev. Rul. 71-530, 1971-2 C.B. 237, concludes that an organization described in section 501(c)(4) may have lobbying as its only activity. A facts and circumstances test is to be used in determining whether an organization's activities primarily constitute political intervention or whether those activities constitute lobbying or educational activities. After reviewing all of the facts and circumstances presented in the administrative file as discussed above, we have concluded that your primary emphasis and primary activities constituted direct and indirect political intervention. While you engage in extensive lobbying activities, they are by no means your primary activity. Your first and primary emphasis is on getting people elected to public office. The administrative record contains a wealth of information regarding your organizational structure and activities relating to candidate recruitment. There is only, secondarily, an emphasis on lobbying and educational activities. Your organizational thrust is to organize at the neighborhood or precinct level in order to get elected to local offices; only secondarily is this precinct level organization utilized to influence legislation.

Accordingly, after looking at all of the facts and circumstances, we have concluded that your lobbying activity was not your primary activity.

Page 8

CONCLUSION REGARDING YOUR PRIMARY ACTIVITY:

The emphasis throughout your materials is on electing to office people in order to impact legislation and policy as insiders. The overwhelming majority of the evidence in the administrative record, and thus the facts and circumstances in this case, denotes an organization that is intent upon intervening in political campaigns. The precinct organizational structure allows you to implement your policies as more and more are elected to office. While lobbying is usually mentioned, and we recognize that lobbying activities are being pursued, those activities are not your primary activity. An analysis of all of the facts and circumstances contained in the administrative file leads us to the conclusion that your primary activity constitutes political intervention.

CONCLUSION:

Based upon the materials submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Therefore, you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you should submit a statement of your views to this office, with a full explanation of your reasoning. This statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date of this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Practices Requirements.

If we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and a copy will be forwarded to the Ohio Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) office. Thereafter, any questions about your federal income tax status should be directed to that office, either by calling 877-829-5500 (a toll free number) or sending correspondence to: Internal Revenue Service, TE/GE Customer Service, P.O. Box 2508, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: T:EO:RA:T:3, Room 6137
1111 Constitution Ave, NW
Washington, D.C. 20224

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Harper, Jr.

~~Report Exhibits - Page 001450~~

Page 9

Manager, Exempt Organizations
Technical Group 3

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

U.I.L. 501.04-03 No Third Party Contacts

Release Number: 200836033
Release Date: 9/5/08
Date: June 12, 2008

Contact Person:
Identification Number:
Contact Number:
Employer Identification Number:
Form Required To Be Filed:
1120
Tax Years:

Dear

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reasons: You were not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Your activities primarily constituted direct and indirect participation in political campaigns on behalf of, or in opposition to, candidates for public office.

In a letter dated January 18, 2008, you indicated to have ceased conducting activities with no intention of reactivating because of our adverse ruling and have dissolved. We issued an initial adverse ruling on your exemption application on July 27, 2000.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. We amended the proposed adverse determination letter that was issued on July 27, 2000, by inserting a legend to delete identifying information for purposes of disclosure compliance under section 6110. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your

Report Exhibits - Page 001452

-2-

Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at 1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Robert Choi
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Report Exhibits - Page 001453

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224
July 27, 2000

U.I.L. No 501.04-03 Third Party Contacts

Contact Person:

ID Number:

Telephone Number:

Fax:

Employer Identification Number:

Legend:

X =

Date 1 =

Date 2 =

State 1 =

State 2 =

W =

A =

Handbook =

Dear Applicant:

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(4). Based upon all of the materials you have submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Accordingly, we have concluded that you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4).

Page 2

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

The information you have provided for our consideration of your application for recognition of exemption indicates that you were incorporated on Date 1, as a nonprofit organization under the provisions of the State 1 Revised Statutes annotated, Chapter . Your articles of incorporation provide that your purposes are as follows:

1. to educate, inform and mobilize W to become active in the political arena in support of causes which reflect W values, and to uphold, propagate, and disseminate by all lawful means W principles and values;
2. to urge the public to contact members of local, state, and federal legislative and regulatory bodies for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation to bring about betterment and the general welfare;
3. to aid the election of W candidates at the state and local level who promote Biblical values; and
4. to engage in any and all lawful activities incidental to the foregoing purposes.

On Date 2, you entered into an affiliation agreement with X, a national organization based in State 2. Pursuant to this agreement, you have become the state affiliate of X in the State of State 1. In part, the affiliation agreement consists of the following provisions:

1. You will clearly indicate on your stationery and other informational materials that you are the state affiliate of X, which will not grant state affiliation status to any other organization in State 1;
2. One-fourth of the state's counties and two-thirds of the Congressional Districts shall have functioning chapters and chairmen by a specified date; you will provide rosters of county and district officers on a quarterly basis to X;
3. You shall incorporate as a nonprofit corporation and apply for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code; copies of your corporate charter, bylaws and exemption application will be provided to X;
4. You shall provide an audited financial statement to X on an annual basis;
5. Any advertisement or public relations effort using the X name will be sent to X national headquarters for approval prior to its use, including print advertisements, radio or television spots, newsletters, press releases, brochures, or voter guides.

Report Exhibits - Page 001455

Page 3

6. You may send mailings to certain X proprietary mailing lists for a reasonable computer and label/tape charge;
7. X field staff will assist you in establishing X county chapters or appointing Congressional District coordinators;
8. X will schedule at least one leadership school per calendar year in your state, to be sponsored by you that includes audio tapes, instructional manual, and all related materials; you are responsible for recruiting at least 35 paid registrants, while the national office shall provide all materials, audio and video tapes, a national or regional instructor, and one mailing from the national office to promote and publicize the school;
9. X will work with you to hold at least one major fund-raising event per calendar year to be attended by A (as schedule permits) and/or other nationally recognized individuals;
10. A portion of X annual net revenues shall be segregated as a state project fund from which you may request funds for special projects; these funds shall be distributed on a quarterly basis and may be requested with an application form provided by X;
11. You will send a camera-ready insert of state news to X from time to time for publication in the W ;
12. X will provide production quality television and radio spots for broadcast on local television or radio by you;
13. You assume full liability for your own activities and programs; you indemnify X against liability; no principal and agent relationship is created; and, you and your chapters may not represent to third parties that you are acting on behalf of X unless specifically authorized in writing or as outlined in this agreement;
14. If you violate this agreement, X may immediately terminate it; and,
15. Both you and X may suspend the agreement upon providing 90 days notice in writing.

You solicit memberships, and one of the brochures you distribute for that purpose asks, "Isn't it about time we became informed & politically involved citizens in State 1?" The brochure describes you to the public as follows:

We are a non-partisan issue-oriented organization designed to mobilize pro-family citizens for effective political action.

Page 4

This grassroots coalition of Protestants, Catholics, and Jews, is working to make government and the media responsive to our reasonable concerns. Our goal is to speak with a united voice on public policy matters that preserve our freedoms and improve our nation and our communities. We work together because we understand resisting the tide of immorality and intolerant secularism is more important than (sic) our theological, racial, or cultural differences.

Our five-fold mission, in conjunction with our state and national organizations, is to:

1. Inform pro-family voters about timely issues and pending legislation;
2. Train leaders for effective social and political action;
3. Speak out in the public arena and in the media;
4. Represent pro-family voters before local councils, school boards, and the state legislature;
5. Protest anti-religious biases and defend the legal rights of W.

We distribute Congressional Scorecards to educate Americans on their representatives' votes, and Voter Guides to provide voters with candidates' positions on issues. We are also expanding our membership, developing leadership, and organizing by neighborhoods.

We serve pro-family citizens by providing a local grassroots organization to channel your political efforts. We will cooperate and work with local churches by helping them establish Political Awareness Committees formed with the approval of, and under the supervision of, their church's leadership. It is through networking with concerned citizens and people of faith that information is distributed enabling our collective voice to be heard. Your participation increases our influence to effect political change. You may choose your level of involvement from being kept informed to helping organize the state.

We are not exclusive, extremist, radical or intolerant. We are mainstream Americans who have a right to representation and a responsibility in self-government.

Your activities include the development of county chapters, organizing and conducting training seminars, distribution of legislative scorecards, publishing and distributing monthly newsletters and updates on legislation, conducting conferences, and lobbying activities.

Page 5

You have been involved in the formation and development of county chapters and neighborhood communities in the state of State 1. This formation of neighborhood communities is along the X's plan of establishing precinct organizations. The X precinct organization plan consists of getting neighborhood helpers to follow three simple steps: identify, inform, and mobilize voters.

You conduct surveys for identification and mobilization of voters. Your voter identification method follows Abraham Lincoln's four rules for winning elections:

1. Obtain a complete list of voters,
2. Determine how they will vote,
3. Contact the favorable voters, and
4. Get them to the polls on election day

Your voter identification points out that Lincoln's four rules are the foundation of modern grassroots politics. The most effective element in influencing the public policy of a city, county or state is electing quality candidates to office.

You distribute voter guides timed to coincide with the elections. The voter guides are directed at different geographic areas of State 1, and cover specific elections. The format of the voter guides includes the names and pictures of the Democratic and Republican candidates for various elective offices. Beneath each candidate's name and picture is the candidate's position on each of a list of selected issues. Your Voter Guide for the state Governor and Congressional District elections show Republican candidates with a response of either "Opposes" or "Supports" to the selected issue, and the Democratic candidates were shown to have "No Response" to most of the issues. The selected issues on the election for Governor included:

Establishment of a State Income Tax
Abortion on Demand
Parental Notification for Abortion by Minors
Parental Choice in Education (Vouchers)
Banning Ownership of Legal Firearms
Condom Distribution in Public Schools
Outcome-Based Education
Special Rights for Homosexuals
Term Limits
Compulsory Union Dues for Employment

Page 6

The voter guides state in very small print the following:

Paid for and authorized by X, of State 2. X is a pro-family action organization. This voter guide is provided for educational purposes only and is not to be construed as an endorsement of any candidate or political party.

However, X produced training materials called the X Handbook, under the heading "Political Victory," states --

The year . . . marked the emergence of X onto the national political scene....

As the . . . election year went into full swing, X began distributing 40 million nonpartisan voter guides in . . . nationwide. X's voter education efforts led to the largest turnout of . . . voters in modern history with exit polls showing that 24 percent of all voters were self-identified . . . . The results of such pro-family voter turnout were remarkable; an estimated 500 pro-family candidates ran for school board, city council, state legislature, and 40 percent won. X's commitment to the . . . movement was now set in stone.

X's activity in the 1996 election year proved that X was a major player in the political arena. X distributed 20 million voter guides during the presidential and other primaries as well as 45 million voter guides in . . . during the general election.

You also distribute congressional scorecards. The scorecards are prepared by X for distribution to voters during elections through its state affiliates. The scorecard is a compilation of voting records of all incumbent members of Congress with respect to issues on which X has taken a position. The scorecard shows how each Senator and Representative voted on each of the selected issues with a rating of either "++" or "--" and a percentage score. The scorecard states that "++" indicates that the legislator voted or announced in favor of X position, and "--" indicates that the legislator voted or announced against X position. A score of 100% means that the legislator supported X position on every vote. A score of 0% means the legislator never supported a X position.

The X Congressional Scorecard . . . Election Year Edition you distributed shows the names of Republican legislators in capital letters as compared to names of all Democratic legislators in lower case letters. In addition, while many and only Republican legislators garnered a score of 100%, many and only Democratic legislators garnered a score of 0%.

Page 7

The issues chosen for the State 1 legislators in the X Congressional Scorecard Election Year Edition included the following: Family Tax Relief, Balanced Budget Amendment, Partial Birth Abortion, Promoting Homosexuality, Pornography on the Internet, Line-Item Veto, and Welfare Reform.

You conducted a seminar called X Seminar. Your flyer advertised the seminar with the headlines, "

l." The seminar is described in the material as given by America's sharpest political strategists and is a crash course on:

- Why people of faith should be involved in politics;
- How to organize your neighborhood and ward;
- Influencing public policy at all levels of government;
- The biblical basis for political involvement; and,
- How to effectively lobby elected officials.

The seminar uses training manuals produced and supplied by X. In his foreword to the training manual, A states the following:

Our Seminar is designed to give you a hands-on-working knowledge of the essential nuts and bolts of grassroots political activism. You will learn valuable insights into: becoming a X liaison to your church; setting up a neighborhood organization; identifying pro-family voters; and learning how, "[a]ll politics is local."

You publish State 1 W, a news supplement inserted in the magazine called W. The bi-monthly magazine is published by X and distributed through its affiliates.

You also engage in lobbying activities. You distribute materials urging members and others in supporting or defeating certain conservative-issue legislation. The manual published by X, which you use in your training seminars, contains the following information on the topic of the basic lobbying that X and you, as one of its affiliates, implement:

The game of politics and lobbying operates no differently. In November 1994, we saw X teams all across the country work together to ensure those pro-family conservative values were represented in Congress. During that same election cycle, not one pro-life incumbent lost a seat in Congress, and a new tide of pro-family legislators rolled onto the shores of Capitol Hill because X team members played their parts.

Page 8

LEGAL ANALYSIS:

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption from Federal income taxes under section 501(a) for organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Whether an organization is "primarily" engaged in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances test. The regulation states:

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(i).

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(ii) of the regulations provides that political campaign activities do not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4). The regulations under section 501(c)(4) clearly distinguish between acceptable social welfare activities such as lobbying and unacceptable activities such as political campaign intervention. The regulation states:

The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(ii).

In order for an organization to engage in political campaign activities, there generally must be a candidate for public office on whose behalf or against whom the activity or intervention occurs. Section 1.501(c)(3)-l(c)(3)(iii) of the regulations states that the "term 'candidate for public office' means an individual who offers himself, or is proposed by others, as a contestant for an elective public office." In Rev. Rul. 76-456, 1976-2 C.B. 151, the organization at issue was formed for the purpose of elevating the standards of ethics in the conduct of campaigns for election to public office at the national, state and local levels, and had disseminated information concerning general campaign practices. The organization proposed a code of fair campaign practices, but did not solicit the signing or endorsement of the code by candidates for political office. We concluded that this did not constitute political intervention since the organization's activities only allowed citizens to increase their knowledge and understanding of election processes and participate more effectively in their selection of government officials, without any candidates even mentioned. At the same time we modified Rev. Rul. 66-258, 1966-2 C.B. 213, which was an identical organization except that it did solicit the signing or endorsement of its code of fair campaign practices by candidates for political office. We concluded that the latter organization was engaged in political intervention and therefore was not exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. (Because these Rev. Ruls. contain a section 501(c)(3) analysis which prohibits all political campaign activities, the activities should be considered in absolute terms. However, for purposes of section 501(c)(4), we are determining whether political intervention is the primary activity of the organization.)

Page 9

Whether an organization is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances determination. Relevant factors include the manner in which the organization's activities are conducted; resources used in conducting such activities, such as buildings and equipment; the time devoted to activities (by volunteers as well as employees); the purposes furthered by various activities; and the amount of funds received from and devoted to particular activities. See, e.g., Rev. Rul. 74-361, 1974-2 C.B. 159 (volunteer fire company that provides recreational facilities for members is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare where providing facilities primarily furthers exempt purposes); Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259 (organization's principal source of income is not sole factor in determining whether it is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare). In Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, we concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." The corollary to this is that if an organization's primary activities do not promote social welfare but are direct or indirect political intervention, the organization is not exempt under section 501(c)(4). The key is to determine the character of the organization's primary activities by looking at all of the facts and circumstances.

1. Precinct Organization:

Your activities with regard to recruitment of people to become active in local politics at the precinct level appear to be identical to the recruitment and organization that takes place in a political party. Your training seminars train people to work in campaigns and political involvement and get-out-the-vote activities are advocated in order to intervene and influence elections. Your focus is on getting people to become candidates and activists. While organizing down to the precinct or neighborhood level has enabled you to mobilize some limited legislative grassroots campaigns, this organizational basis has primarily been used to mobilize targeted conservative voters to get to the polls on election day. It has also been used to identify and encourage religious conservatives to run for local office. From your inception, you have been part of X's precinct organization intended to facilitate intervention in the political process at every level of government. As stated above, it is also evident that you were interested in legislation and lobbying activities. However, after a careful review of the materials presented, it is apparent that the lobbying activities were secondary to political intervention. You primarily engage in activities intended to intervene in the political process and to influence the elections of those Republican conservative candidates who reflected your views. Your emphasis is focused on activities that were designed to result in the election of religious conservatives to public office at every level of government. Using the facts and circumstances test, we conclude that your precinct organizational basis was implemented primarily to intervene in political campaigns.

Page 10

2. Congressional Scorecards:

In defining political campaign activity, Rev. Rul. 67-368, 1967-2 C.B. 194, states that rating candidates as average, good, or excellent using qualifications such as education and experience, even on a nonpartisan basis, is an intervention on behalf of those candidates favorably rated and in opposition to those less favorably rated for purposes of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. See The Association of the Bar of the City of New York v. Commissioner, 858 F.2d 876 (2d Cir. 1988), cert. denied 490 U.S. 1030 (1989). However, in Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178, we concluded that publishing the voting records of all incumbent members of Congress on selected legislative issues soon after the close of each congressional session, along with an expression of the organization's position on the issues, were not political campaign activities. We set forth several factors which were considered when ruling that the publication and distribution of the voting records were not political intervention. Those factors included: 1) voting records of all incumbents were presented, 2) candidates for reelection were not identified, 3) no comment was made on an individual's overall qualifications for public office, 4) no statements expressly or impliedly endorsed or rejected any incumbent as a candidate for public office, 5) no comparison of incumbents with other candidates, 6) the organization pointed out the inherent limitations of judging the qualifications of an incumbent on the basis of the selected votes by stating the need to consider other unrecorded matters, and 7) no attempt was made to time the date of publication to coincide with an election. Another factor considered relevant was that the organization did not distribute the voting records widely. Again, a facts and circumstances test was utilized to determine whether the publication was political intervention.

Distinguishing factors between your scorecards and the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 include the following: 1) your scorecards were distributed to a large number of religious conservatives, while the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 were only distributed to a few people, 2) the names of Republicans were shown in all capital letters with the highest percentage scores in the scorecard, which gives prominence and arguably an endorsement to those legislators, while there was no such distinction in the documents at issue in the revenue ruling, 3) the legislator's "score" was indicated based upon agreement/disagreement with your issues, 4) the scorecards were published and distributed to coincide with the national and state elections. We also believe that the limited distribution in Rev. Rul. 80-282 was an important factor in the conclusion that an intervention did not occur. Your scorecards were very widely distributed among religious conservatives. Your targeted yet wide distribution of the congressional scorecards differs substantially with the factual situation in Rev. Rul. 80-282. Rev. Rul. 80-282 sets forth a facts and circumstances test. Therefore, after carefully considering all the facts and circumstances we conclude that the scorecards constitute political intervention.

Page 11

3. Voter Guides:

An organization that publishes and distributes candidate questionnaire results in the form of voter guides must demonstrate neutrality in order for the voter guides to be considered educational. A facts and circumstances test is utilized to determine whether activities involving voter guides are educational or whether they are political campaign activities. In Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154, examples are given as to the factors that should be considered when applying a facts and circumstances test. The factors which are indications that the activities are educational are as follows: 1) the publication reports on a neutral group of elected officials or candidates such as all members of Congress or all candidates for a particular office, 2) the publication reports elected officials' or candidates' views or their voting records on a wide range of subjects, 3) the publication includes no editorial opinion on the elected officials or candidates, or on their views, 4) the publication does not indicate approval of elected officials or candidates in the contents or structure of the publication, and 5) the organization makes the publication generally available to the public.

After looking at your voter guides, several patterns emerge. First, as mentioned above, the Democratic candidates regularly have "No Response" listed after all or part of the issues, whereas very few Republican candidates were listed without a complete list of "Opposes" or "Supports" underneath their name and picture. Second, the issues chosen for each District seem to have a direct correlation to the desired response from your preferred Republican candidate, or conversely to portray a Democratic candidate as against your issues. While these factors are not explicit endorsements of candidates, the lack of responses from Democratic candidates and the wording and choice of issues to create a particular response along party lines is significant. In addition, the general nature of and approach taken with respect to the issues covered leads to responses that are arguably inaccurate. Additionally, the summary descriptions are so vague that they do not adequately cover any of the issues. Finally, the voter guides do not report on a neutral group of candidates as required by Rev. Rul. 78-248. The voter guides list the names of a neutral group of candidates, but they fully report the positions of only some of the Democratic candidates and almost all of the positions of the Republican candidates. This reporting is so heavily weighted toward the Republican Party as to not constitute reporting on a neutral group of candidates.

Page 12

In our view, the voter guides are heavily weighted in favor of the Republican candidates, especially those Republican incumbents endorsed on the congressional scorecards. We conclude that these voter guides cannot be considered nonpartisan educational materials within the intent of the law. Inaccurate and/or incomplete information does not constitute education. The targeted distribution of the scorecards and voter guides also indicates that these publications are not nonpartisan educational activities. These documents were distributed to previously identified conservative churches and conservative individuals. The voter guides would have only limited educational value to anyone wishing to know the positions of Democratic candidates or to compare the positions of Democratic and Republican candidates, since such a large percentage of Democratic candidates did not have their positions listed in the voter guides. Also, the possible distortion of the candidate's position when translating a vote on legislation to a summary description is an additional factor we have considered in determining that the voter guides constitute political intervention. Based on all the available information, we conclude that the voter guides are not nonpartisan and constitute intervention in political campaigns.

4. Lobbying Activities:

Lobbying activities were considered in Rev. Rul. 68-656, 1968-2 C.B. 216, to not only be an acceptable activity for an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, but to constitute activities that promote social welfare. Rev. Rul. 68-656 provides that seeking favorable legislation is recognized by the section 501(c)(4) regulations as a permissible means of attaining social welfare goals. Additionally, Rev. Rul. 71-530, 1971-2 C.B. 237, concludes that an organization described in section 501(c)(4) may have lobbying as its only activity. A facts and circumstances test is to be used in determining whether an organization's activities primarily constitute political intervention or whether those activities constitute lobbying or educational activities. After reviewing all of the facts and circumstances presented in the administrative file as discussed above, we have concluded that your primary emphasis and primary activities constituted direct and indirect political intervention. While you engage in extensive lobbying activities, they are by no means your primary activity. Your first and primary emphasis is on getting people elected to public office. The administrative record contains a wealth of information regarding your organizational structure and activities relating to candidate recruitment. There is only, secondarily, an emphasis on lobbying and educational activities. Your organizational thrust is to organize at the neighborhood or precinct level in order to get religious conservatives elected to local offices; only secondarily is this precinct level organization utilized to influence legislation.

Accordingly, after looking at all of the facts and circumstances, we have concluded that your lobbying activity was not your primary activity.

Page 13

CONCLUSION REGARDING YOUR PRIMARY ACTIVITY:

The emphasis throughout your materials is on electing to office "family friendly" people in order to impact legislation and policy as insiders. The overwhelming majority of the evidence in the administrative record, and thus the facts and circumstances in this case, denotes an organization that is intent upon intervening in political campaigns. The precinct organizational structure allows you to implement your policies as more and more religious conservatives are elected to office. While lobbying is usually mentioned, and we recognize that lobbying activities are being pursued, those activities are not your primary activity. An analysis of all of the facts and circumstances contained in the administrative file leads us to the conclusion that your primary activity constitutes political intervention.

CONCLUSION:

Based upon the materials submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Therefore, you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you should submit a statement of your views to this office, with a full explanation of your reasoning. This statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date of this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Practices Requirements.

If we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and a copy will be forwarded to the Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) office. Thereafter, any questions about your federal income tax status should be directed to that office, either by calling (a toll free number) or sending correspondence to: Internal Revenue Service, TE/GE Customer Service.

Report Exhibits - Page 001466

Page 14

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: T:EO:RA:T:3, Room 6137
1111 Constitution Ave, NW
Washington, D.C. 20224

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Harper, Jr.
Manager, Exempt Organizations
Technical Group 3

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 200843033
Release Date: 10/24/2008
Date: July 31, 2008
U.I.L. 501.04-03

Contact Person:
Identification Number:
Contact Number:
Employer Identification Number:
Form Required To Be Filed:
1120
Tax Years:
ALL
S.T.E.O.R.A.T:2

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reasons: You were not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Your activities primarily constituted direct and indirect participation in political campaigns on behalf of, or in opposition to, candidates for public office.

On , 2008, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, your authorized representative, informed us that you decided not to pursue exemption under section 501(c)(4) and that we close the case.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. We amended the proposed adverse determination letter that was issued on July 27, 2000, by inserting a legend to delete identifying information for purposes of disclosure compliance under section 6110. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

Report Exhibits - Page 001468

-2-

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at 1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Robert Choi
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Report Exhibits - Page 001469

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

U.I.L. 501.04-03 No Third Party Contacts

July 25, 2000

Contact Person:

ID Number:

Telephone Number:

Fax:

Employer Identification Number:

Legend:

W =

X =

Y =

A =

B =

Date 1 =

Date 2 =

Date 3 =

Date 4 =

Date 5 =

Year 1 =

State 1 =

State 2 =

State 3 =

Seminar =

Newsletter 1 =

Newsletter 2 =

Page 2

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(4). Based upon all of the materials you have submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Accordingly, we have concluded that you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4).

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

The information submitted indicates that you were incorporated on Date 1. Your Articles of Incorporation state that your principal purpose is to encourage active citizenship among people professing the W faith. Your other purposes are as follows: to support and uphold values and moral principles that accord with the Holy Bible; to defend religious freedom; to enunciate an interpretation of the United States Constitution which is in accordance with the original intention of the framers of the United States Constitution; and, to promulgate and teach concern for the sanctity of life, traditional family values, an economic system which fosters individual self-reliance, opposition to tyranny, and faith in God.

On Date 2, you entered into an affiliation agreement with X, a national organization based in State 1. X was created in Year 1 and its five-fold mission is to:

- Represent the pro-family point of view before local councils, state legislatures, and Congress.
- Speak out in the public arena and in the media.
- Train leaders for effective social and political action.
- Inform pro-family voters about timely issues and legislation.
- Protest anti-W bigotry and defend the rights of people of faith.

Pursuant to the affiliation agreement, you have become the state affiliate of X in the State 2. In part, the affiliation agreement consists of the following provisions:

Report Exhibits - Page 001471

Page 3

1. You shall clearly indicate on your stationery and other informational materials that you are the state affiliate of X, which will not grant state affiliation status to any other organization in State 2;
2. One-fourth of the state's counties and two-thirds of the congressional districts shall have functioning chapters and chairmen by a specified date; you will provide rosters of county and district officers on a quarterly basis to X;
3. You shall incorporate as a nonprofit corporation and apply for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code; copies of your corporate charter, bylaws and exemption application will be provided to X;
4. You shall provide an audited financial statement to X on an annual basis;
5. Any advertisement or public relations effort using X's name will be sent to X national headquarters for approval prior to its use, including print advertisements, radio or television spots, newsletters, press releases, brochures, or voter guides.
6. You may send mailings to certain X proprietary mailing lists for a reasonable computer and label/tape charge.
7. X field staff shall assist you in establishing X county chapters or appointing Congressional District coordinators.
8. X shall schedule at least one leadership school per calendar year in your state, to be sponsored by you that includes audio tapes, instructional manual, and all related materials; you are responsible for recruiting at least 35 paid registrants, while the national office shall provide all materials, audio and video tapes, a national or regional instructor, and one mailing from the national office to promote and publicize the school;
9. X shall work with you to hold at least one major fund-raising event per calendar year to be attended by A (as schedule permits) and/or other nationally recognized individuals;
10. A portion of X annual net revenues shall be segregated as a state project fund from which you may request funds for special projects; these funds shall be distributed on a quarterly basis and may be requested with an application form provided by X;
11. You will send a camera-ready insert of state news to X from time to time for publication in the ;

Page 4

12. X shall provide production quality television and radio spots for broadcast on local television or radio by you; and

13. You shall assume full liability for your own activities and programs; you shall indemnify X against liability; no principal and agent relationship is created; and, you and your chapters may not represent to third parties that you are acting on behalf of X unless specifically authorized in writing or as outlined in this agreement.

Your activities include developing county chapters, organizing and conducting training seminars, distributing legislative scorecards, publishing and distributing monthly newsletters and updates on legislation, conducting conferences, and lobbying activities.

You have been involved in the formation and development of county chapters in the State 2 toward achieving the goal of X as a "precinct" organization. The manual called "The Plan," which is distributed by X in assisting the establishment of chapters, states, "How well you implement this plan will determine how quickly we establish X as a major force in American politics." The manual indicates X's short term goal is to establish a working X chapter. The long term goals are as follow:

- A. Have 10 trained activists in every precinct.
- B. Have a church coordinator in each conservative church.
- C. Canvass each registered voter to determine their concerns and values.
- D. Develop an information network to educate on issues and candidates.
- E. Train W to be effective leaders in the social and political area.

X's precinct organization plan urges members to follow three simple steps: to identify, inform and mobilize voters. You conduct surveys for identification and mobilization of voters. Your voter identification brochure, which is prepared by, and which you receive from X, follows Abraham Lincoln's four rules for winning elections:

- 1. Obtain a complete list of voters
- 2. Determine how they will vote
- 3. Contact the favorable voters
- 4. Get them to the polls on election day

You distribute voter guides that are directed at different geographic areas within State 2, and cover the Presidential, Congressional and state races. The format of the voter guides includes the names and pictures of the Democratic and Republican candidates for various elective offices. The distribution of the voter guides is timed to coincide with specific elections. Beneath each candidate's name and picture is the candidate's position on a list of selected issues. All Republican candidates were shown with a response of either "Opposes" or "Supports" to the selected issues. On the other hand, some Democratic candidates were shown to have "DNR," which stands for "Did Not Respond," or "Undecided" to many of the issues. The selected issues on the "96 X Voter Guide Presidential Election" included:

Page 5

- Balanced Budget Amendment
- 15% Federal Income Tax Cut
- Banning Partial Birth Abortion
- Taxpayer Funding of Abortion
- Voluntary Prayer in Public Schools
- Public and Private School Choice
- Goal 2000/Outcome-Based Education
- Homosexuals in the Military
- Term Limits for Congress
- FDA Regulation of Tobacco

You distribute the voter guides to members and constituents. The voter guides state in small print that "[t]he information provided herein is for the purpose of voter education and is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate." However, your training material, Seminar, at page 6, states the following:

In Date 3, X distributed 500,000 voter guides in cooperation with minority groups and the Catholic Archdiocese in the State 3 City School Board races. As a result, an estimated 63 percent of pro-family candidates won and conservatives gained ground in even the most liberal districts. Due to the concerted efforts of X state and local chapters, conservatives are enjoying victories of this nature all across America.

Moreover, your publication Newsletter 1, Date 4 issue, clarified the primary objectives and importance of your voter guides in the following statement:

As the primary voter education project of X, the Voter Guides have made a significant impact on State 2 politics. In the past four years alone, Y has distributed over 4 million Voter Guides -- and we have seen the difference the Voter Guides can make in electing conservative representatives across the state.

You also distribute legislative scorecards, a compilation of voting records of all incumbent members of the State 2 legislature with respect to issues on which you and X have taken a position. The scorecard shows how each member of the State 2 Senate and the State 2 House of Representatives voted or announced on each of the selected issues with a rating of either "+" or "-" and a percentage score. The scorecard states that "+" indicates that the legislator voted or announced in favor of the X position, and "-" indicates that the legislator voted or announced against the X position. A legislator who is rated "+" on all issues is scored 100 percent to indicate that the legislator supported the X position on key issues on every vote cast during his or her current term in office.

Page 6

Your 1997 State 2 Voter's Legislative Scorecard shows many 100 percent scores given to Republican legislators, and no 100 percent scores given to Democratic legislators. In the State 2 Senate scorecard, Republican senators' scores ranged from a high of 100% to a low of 78%, while Democratic senators' scores ranged from a high of 89% to a low of 33%. In the State 2 House of Representatives, Republican representatives' scores ranged from a high of 100% to a low of 55%, while Democratic representatives' scores ranged from a high of 82% to a low of 18%.

The issues chosen for the State 2 House of Representatives were substantially similar to those of the State 2 Senate and included the following:

- Partial-Birth Abortion Ban
- Defense of Marriage Act
- American Heritage History Amendment
- Woman's Right To Know Act
- Full Service School Based Clinics/Contraceptives in School
- Faith-Based Programs in Prison
- Scholarships for Adopted Foster Children
- Vehicular Homicide for Death of Unborn Child
- Funding to Communist Vietnam

You conduct leadership training or seminars called Seminars. The seminar uses training manuals produced and supplied by X. In his foreword in the training manual, A states --

Our Seminar is designed to give you a hands-on-working knowledge of the essential nuts and bolts of grassroots political activism. You will learn valuable insights into: becoming a X liaison to your church; setting up a neighborhood organization; identifying pro-family voters; and learning how "All politics is local."

You also engage in lobbying activities. You distribute materials urging members and others in supporting or defeating certain legislation. The "Seminar Manual," a manual published by X which you use in your training seminars, contains the following information on the topic of the basic lobbying that X and you, as one of its affiliates, implement:

Report Exhibits - Page 001475

Page 7

The game of politics and lobbying operates no differently. In November 1994, we saw X teams all across the country work together to ensure those pro-family conservative values were represented in Congress. During that same election cycle, not one pro-life incumbent lost a seat in Congress, and a new tide of pro-family legislators rolled onto the shores of Capitol Hill because X team members played their parts.

You publish Newsletter 1, a four-page news supplement inserted in _____, a bi-monthly magazine published by X and distributed through its affiliates. You also publish Newsletter 2, a monthly newsletter updating members on various legislative bills and the political scene.

In Newsletter 1, Date 5 issue, your executive director wrote an article titled "Religion and Politics Do mix...indeed they MUST mix!" and stated the following:

The old-age advice that religion and politics don't mix is the very reason American is in the "mess" it's in today! From the day the Supreme Court thumbed its nose at Almighty God by throwing out Bible reading and prayer in school, America has reaped a harvest of crime, teen suicide, illegitimacy, divorce, and a scourge of other symptoms of societal breakdown.

Yet, in spite of continual increase of these social indicators, the liberals still contend that that the worst thing to happen to State 2 is for B, a man of faith, to become Speaker of the State 2 House of Representatives. Unfortunately, history reminds us the greatest reformist movements including the abolitionist movement to end slavery, the suffrage movement to give women the right to vote, and the civil rights movement to give people of color equal opportunity can all be traced back to the churches and synagogues of America. Religion and people of faith are not what's wrong with America, they are what's right with America.

Therefore, we must continue our work to elect men and women of character and faith to our government, and add two very important endeavors: prayer and fasting for the spiritual reawakening in America, and active compassion for the less fortunate.

LEGAL ANALYSIS:

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption from Federal income taxes under section 501(a) for organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Whether an organization is "primarily" engaged in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances test. The regulation states:

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i).

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) of the regulations provides that political campaign activities do not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4). The regulations under section 501(c)(4) clearly distinguish between acceptable social welfare activities such as lobbying and unacceptable activities such as political campaign intervention. The regulation states:

The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii).

In order for an organization to engage in political campaign activities, there generally must be a candidate for public office on whose behalf or against whom the activity or intervention occurs. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(3)(iii) of the regulations states that the "term 'candidate for public office' means an individual who offers himself, or is proposed by others, as a contestant for an elective public office." In Rev. Rul. 76-456, 1976-2 C.B. 151, the organization at issue was formed for the purpose of elevating the standards of ethics in the conduct of campaigns for election to public office at the national, state and local levels, and had disseminated information concerning general campaign practices. The organization proposed a code of fair campaign practices, but did not solicit the signing or endorsement of the code by candidates for political office.

Page 9

We concluded that this did not constitute political intervention since the organization's activities only allowed citizens to increase their knowledge and understanding of election processes and participate more effectively in their selection of government officials, without any candidates even mentioned. At the same time we modified Rev. Rul. 66-258, 1966-2 C.B. 213, which was an identical organization except that it did solicit the signing or endorsement of its code of fair campaign practices by candidates for political office. We concluded that the latter organization was engaged in political intervention and therefore was not exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. (Because these Rev. Ruls. contain a section 501(c)(3) analysis which prohibits all political campaign activities, the activities should be considered in absolute terms. However, for purposes of section 501(c)(4), we are determining whether political intervention is the primary activity of the organization.)

Whether an organization is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances determination. Relevant factors include the manner in which the organization's activities are conducted; resources used in conducting such activities, such as buildings and equipment; the time devoted to activities (by volunteers as well as employees); the purposes furthered by various activities; and the amount of funds received from and devoted to particular activities. See, e.g., Rev. Rul. 74-361, 1974-2 C.B. 159 (volunteer fire company that provides recreational facilities for members is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare where providing facilities primarily furthers exempt purposes); Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259 (organization's principal source of income is not sole factor in determining whether it is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare). In Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, we concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." The corollary to this is that if an organization's primary activities do not promote social welfare but are direct or indirect political intervention, the organization is not exempt under section 501(c)(4). The key is to determine the character of the organization's primary activities by looking at all of the facts and circumstances.

1. Precinct Organization:

Your activities with regard to recruitment of people to become active in local politics at the precinct level appear to be identical to the recruitment and organization that takes place in a political party. Your leadership seminars train people to work in campaigns, and political involvement and get-out-the-vote activities are advocated in order to intervene and influence elections. Your focus is on getting people to become candidates and activists. While organizing down to the precinct or neighborhood level has enabled you to mobilize some limited legislative grassroots campaigns, this organizational basis has primarily been used to mobilize targeted conservative voters to get to the polls on election day. It has also been used to identify and encourage religious conservatives to run for local office. From your inception, you have been part of X's precinct organization intended to facilitate intervention in the political process at every level of government. As stated above, it is also evident that you were interested in legislation and lobbying activities. However, after a careful review of the materials presented, it is apparent that the lobbying activities were secondary to political intervention. You primarily engage in activities intended to intervene in the political process and to influence the elections of those Republican conservative candidates who reflected your views. Your emphasis is focused on activities which were designed to result in the election of religious conservatives to public office at every level of government. Using the facts and circumstances test, we conclude that your precinct organizational basis was implemented primarily to intervene in political campaigns.

Page 10

2. Legislative Scorecards:

In defining political campaign activity, Rev. Rul. 67-368, 1967-2 C.B. 194, states that rating candidates as average, good, or excellent using qualifications such as education and experience, even on a nonpartisan basis, is an intervention on behalf of those candidates favorably rated and in opposition to those less favorably rated for purposes of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. See The Association of the Bar of the City of New York v. Commissioner, 858 F.2d 876 (2d Cir. 1988), cert. denied 490 U.S. 1030 (1989). However, in Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178, we concluded that publishing the voting records of all incumbent members of Congress on selected legislative issues soon after the close of each congressional session, along with an expression of the organization's position on the issues, were not political campaign activities. We set forth several factors which were considered when ruling that the publication and distribution of the voting records were not political intervention. Those factors included: 1) voting records of all incumbents were presented, 2) candidates for reelection were not identified, 3) no comment was made on an individual's overall qualifications for public office, 4) no statements expressly or impliedly endorsed or rejected any incumbent as a candidate for public office, 5) no comparison of incumbents with other candidates, 6) the organization pointed out the inherent limitations of judging the qualifications of an incumbent on the basis of the selected votes by stating the need to consider other unrecorded matters, and 7) no attempt was made to time the date of publication to coincide with an election. Another factor considered relevant was that the organization did not distribute the voting records widely. Again, a facts and circumstances test was utilized to determine whether the publication was political intervention.

Distinguishing factors between your scorecards and the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 include the following: 1) your scorecards were distributed to a large number of religious conservatives, while the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 were only distributed to a few people, 2) the legislator's "score" was indicated based upon agreement/disagreement with your issues, and 3) the scorecards were published and distributed to coincide with the national and state elections. We also believe that the limited distribution in Rev. Rul. 80-282 was an important factor in the conclusion that an intervention did not occur. Your scorecards were very widely distributed among religious conservatives. Your targeted yet wide distribution of the congressional scorecards differs substantially with the factual situation in Rev. Rul. 80-282. Rev. Rul. 80-282 sets forth a facts and circumstances test. Therefore, after carefully considering all the facts and circumstances we conclude that the scorecards constitute political intervention.

Page 11

3. Voter Guides:

An organization which publishes and distributes candidate questionnaire results in the form of voter guides must demonstrate neutrality in order for the voter guides to be considered educational. A facts and circumstances test is utilized to determine whether activities involving voter guides are educational or whether they are political campaign activities. In Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154, examples are given as to the factors which should be considered when applying a facts and circumstances test. The factors which are indications that the activities are educational are as follows: 1) the publication reports on a neutral group of elected officials or candidates such as all members of Congress or all candidates for a particular office, 2) the publication reports elected officials' or candidates' views or their voting records on a wide range of subjects, 3) the publication includes no editorial opinion on the elected officials or candidates, or on their views, 4) the publication does not indicate approval of elected officials or candidates in the contents or structure of the publication, and 5) the organization makes the publication generally available to the public.

After looking at your voter guides, several patterns emerge. First, as mentioned above, the Democratic candidates regularly have "No Response" listed after many of the issues, whereas very few Republican candidates were listed without a complete list of "Opposes" or "Supports" underneath their name and picture. Second, the issues chosen seem to have a direct correlation to the desired response from X's preferred Republican candidate, or conversely to portray a Democratic candidate as against X's positions. While these factors are not explicit endorsements of candidates, the lack of responses from Democratic candidates and the wording and choice of issues to create a particular response along party lines is significant. Also, the general nature of and approach taken with respect to the issues covered leads to responses which are arguably inaccurate. Additionally, the summary descriptions are so vague that they do not adequately cover any of the issues. Finally, the voter guides do not report on a neutral group of candidates as required by Rev. Rul. 78-248. The voter guides list the names of a neutral group of candidates, but they fully report the positions of only some of the Democratic candidates and almost all of the positions of the Republican candidates. This reporting is so heavily weighted toward the Republican Party as to not constitute reporting on a neutral group of candidates.

Page 12

In our view, the voter guides are heavily weighted in favor of the Republican candidates, especially those Republican incumbents endorsed on the congressional scorecards. We conclude that these voter guides cannot be considered nonpartisan educational materials within the intent of the law. Inaccurate and/or incomplete information does not constitute education. The targeted distribution of the scorecards and voter guides also indicates that these publications are not nonpartisan educational activities. These documents were distributed to previously identified conservative churches and conservative individuals. The voter guides would have only limited educational value to anyone wishing to know the positions of Democratic candidates or to compare the positions of Democratic and Republican candidates, since such a large percentage of Democratic candidates did not have their positions listed in the voter guides. Also, the possible distortion of the candidate's position when translating a vote on legislation to a summary description is an additional factor we have considered in determining that the voter guides constitute political intervention. Based on all the available information, we conclude that the voter guides are not nonpartisan and constitute intervention in political campaigns.

4. Lobbying Activities:

Lobbying activities were considered in Rev. Rul. 68-656, 1968-2 C.B. 216, to not only be an acceptable activity for an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, but to constitute activities that promote social welfare. Rev. Rul. 68-656 provides that seeking favorable legislation is recognized by the section 501(c)(4) regulations as a permissible means of attaining social welfare goals. Additionally, Rev. Rul. 71-530, 1971-2 C.B. 237, concludes that an organization described in section 501(c)(4) may have lobbying as its only activity. A facts and circumstances test is to be used in determining whether an organization's activities primarily constitute political intervention or whether those activities constitute lobbying or educational activities. After reviewing all of the facts and circumstances presented in the administrative file as discussed above, we have concluded that your primary emphasis and primary activities constituted direct and indirect political intervention. While you engage in extensive lobbying activities, they are by no means your primary activity. Your first and primary emphasis is on getting people elected to public office. The administrative record contains a wealth of information regarding your organizational structure and activities relating to candidate recruitment. There is only, secondarily, an emphasis on lobbying and educational activities. Your organizational thrust is to organize at the neighborhood or precinct level in order to get religious conservatives elected to local offices; only secondarily is this precinct level organization utilized to influence legislation.

Page 13

Accordingly, after looking at all of the facts and circumstances, we have concluded that your lobbying activity was not your primary activity.

CONCLUSION REGARDING YOUR PRIMARY ACTIVITY:

The emphasis throughout your materials is on electing to office "family friendly" people in order to impact legislation and policy as insiders. The overwhelming majority of the evidence in the administrative record, and thus the facts and circumstances in this case, denotes an organization that is intent upon intervening in political campaigns. The precinct organizational structure allows you to implement your policies as more and more religious conservatives are elected to office. While lobbying is usually mentioned, and we recognize that lobbying activities are being pursued, those activities are not your primary activity. An analysis of all of the facts and circumstances contained in the administrative file leads us to the conclusion that your primary activity constitutes political intervention.

CONCLUSION:

Based upon the materials submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Therefore, you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you should submit a statement of your views to this office, with a full explanation of your reasoning. This statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date of this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Practices Requirements.

If we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and a copy will be forwarded to the Ohio Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) office. Thereafter, any questions about your federal income tax status should be directed to that office, either by calling 877-829-5500 (a toll free number) or sending correspondence to: Internal Revenue Service, TE/GE Customer Service, P.O. Box 2508, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

Report Exhibits - Page 001482

Page 14

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: T:EO:RA:T:3, Room 6137
1111 Constitution Ave, NW
Washington, D.C. 20224

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Harper, Jr.
Manager, Exempt Organizations
Technical Group 3

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 200903080
Release Date: 1/16/2009

Date: 10/22/08

U.I.L. 501.04-03

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Form Required To Be Filed:
1120
Tax Years:
ALL

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reasons: You were not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare. Your activities primarily constituted direct and indirect participation in political campaigns on behalf of, or in opposition to, candidates for public office.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. We amended the proposed adverse determination letter that was issued on July 25, 2000, by inserting a legend to delete identifying information for purposes of disclosure compliance under section 6110. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001484

-2-

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Robert Choi
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Report Exhibits - Page 001485

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

U.I.L. 501.04-03

July 25, 2000

Contact Person:

ID Number:

Telephone Number:

Fax:

Employer Identification Number:

Legend:

W =

X =

A =

Date 1 =

Date 2 =

Date 3 =

Date 4 =

Year 1 =

Year 2 =

State 1 =

State 2 =

State 3 =

Magazine =

Seminar =

Newsletter =

Conference =

Page 2

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in section 501(c)(4). Based upon all of the materials you have submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Accordingly, we have concluded that you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4).

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

The information you have provided for our consideration of your application for recognition of exemption indicates that you were incorporated on Date 1, under the General Laws of the State 1. Your Articles of Incorporation state the following:

The principal purpose of the Corporation is to encourage active citizenship among people professing the VV faith. Other purposes are to support and uphold values and moral principles that accord with the Holy Bible; to defend religious freedom; to enunciate an interpretation of the United States Constitution which is in accordance with the original intention of the framers of the United States Constitution; and to promulgate and teach concern for the sanctity of life, traditional family values, an economic system which fosters individual self reliance, opposition to tyranny, and faith in God.

You are a state affiliate of X, a national organization based in State 2. The submitted copy of your affiliation agreement with X in Date 4 includes the following provisions:

1. You shall have the right to represent X in the State 1 and shall be known as its affiliate.
2. You shall acknowledge the objectives and purposes of X as set forth in the Charter and in the Bylaws of X and agree to take such action as appropriate to implement such objectives and purposes and to enhance the reputation and goodwill of X.
3. You are granted a non-exclusive, revocable license to use X's name, logo, and any and all trademarks or service marks that X now or hereafter owns during the term of the agreement.

Page 3

4. You shall provide X for its approval, prior to publication, broadcast or distribution, a copy of all advertisements, press releases, radio or television spots, newsletters, fundraising materials, brochures, voter guides, and other printed materials for public dissemination on which X's name, logo, trademarks, or service marks are used or appear.

5. You shall incorporate, and maintain corporate status, as a nonprofit corporation and apply for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

6. You shall adopt bylaws subject to the applicable laws of the State 1 and shall be substantially in the form of the bylaws of X. You shall have the right to adopt additional bylaw provisions as are required by statute or deem appropriate, provided, however, that such additional bylaw provisions shall not be inconsistent with the Charter, the X bylaws, or this agreement.

7. Any proposed amendments of your governing document shall be submitted to X for review and approval.

8. You may organize and recognize local X chapters in the State 1, provided you enter into an affiliation agreement with each local chapter and each such agreement is approved by X. Once a quarter, you shall provide X with the names and addresses of each local chapter, as well as the names, addresses and phone numbers of the leader in each local chapter.

9. You may send mailings to certain X proprietary mailing lists for a reasonable computer and label/tape charge.

10. X shall provide you with a list of activists on X's database for the state to use for fund-raising purposes.

11. X shall conduct for you regular workshops to teach fund-raising and organizing skills for state leadership.

12. X shall schedule at least one leadership school per calendar year in your state, to be sponsored by you. You shall be responsible for recruiting at least seventy five (75) paid registrants for the seminar. X shall provide all educational materials at cost, a national or regional instructor, and one mailing from the national office to promote and publicize the school;

Page 4

13. X will work with you to hold at least one major fund-raising event per calendar year to be attended by A (as schedule permits) and/or other nationally recognized individuals.

14. X will provide you with access to its flagship publication, Magazine. You shall be able to place a four-page insert into all copies of the Magazine mailed to the members of the X in your state. The cost of printing and mailing the insert will be paid for by X. In addition, limited bulk mailings of the Magazine will be sent to drop points you designated.

15. X shall provide state and local leaders with a regular update of events in the nation's capital.

16. X shall provide you with voter education materials specific to your state. Congressional scorecards will be provided at cost, and federal voter guides will be provided free of charge.

17. You and X are separate corporate entities and as such shall not incur any liability, obligation, or expense on behalf of each other.

As the state affiliate of X in State 1, your objectives are similar to X. A brochure produced by X describes these objectives and their implementation as follows:

X was formed in Year 1 to speak out against anti-W bigotry and to make our government more responsive to the concerns of W and pro-family Americans. In pursuit of this goal, X...

- provides America's 40 million W voters with the information and knowledge that they need to make sure W voices are heard in government;
- represents Ws before the U.S. Congress, state legislatures and local governing bodies;
- registers Ws to vote and makes sure they cast ballots on Election Day; and
- protests unfair and biased treatment of Ws by the news media, the entertainment industry and officials in government.

Page 5

You indicate that your main activities consist of lobbying the state legislature on education, tax, and social issues, conducting workshops, and distributing newsletters, voter guides and scorecards.

You conduct a seminar called X Seminar. Your flyer advertising the seminar headlines "THINK LIKE JESUS. LEAD LIKE MOSES. FIGHT LIKE DAVID. RUN LIKE LINCOLN." The seminar is indicated in the material as given by America's sharpest political strategies and is a crash course on:

- Why people of faith should be involved in politics.
- How to organize your neighborhood and precinct.
- Influencing public policy at all levels of government,
- How to effectively lobby elected officials.

The seminar uses training manuals produced and supplied by X. In his foreword to the training manual, A states the following:

Our Seminar is designed to give you a hands-on-working knowledge of the essential nuts and bolts of grassroots political activism. You will learn valuable insights into: becoming a X liaison to your church; setting up a neighborhood organization; identifying pro-family voters; and learning how, "[a]ll politics is local."

You have been involved in the formation and development of county chapters and putting coordinators in neighborhood communities. X's brochures refers to the neighborhood community as a "precinct" and it states that X is organizing "precincts" as no other organization of any kind has done. The X precinct organization plan consists of getting neighborhood helpers to follow three simple steps:

- identify voters
- inform voters
- mobilize voters

You conduct surveys for identification and mobilization of voters. Your voter identification brochure, which was prepared by X, follows Abraham Lincoln's four rules for winning elections:

1. Obtain a complete list of voters,
2. Determine how they will vote,
3. Contact the favorable voters, and
4. Get them to the polls on election day

Page 6

Your voter identification brochure points out that Lincoln's four rules are the foundation of modern grassroots politics. The most effective element in influencing the public policy of a city, county or state is electing quality candidates to office. Voter identification is the key.

You also distribute voter guides on candidates from the Republican, Democratic and Independent parties for presidential, state and local elections. You also distribute voter guides for primary elections but only for the Republican Party. The voter guides for federal elections are produced and supplied by X. You produce voter guides for state and local elections similar to the X-produced materials. You distribute voter guides just prior to elections.

The format of the voter guides includes the names and sometimes pictures of the candidates for various elective offices. In the voter guide for the Year 2 election, all Republican candidates were shown with a response of either "Opposes" or "Supports" to the selected issue, and 1the Democratic candidates were shown to have "No Response" to most of the issues. The selected issues included:

- 10% Income Tax Cut
- Parents' Right To Home School or Use Non-accredited Private School
- Public Or Private School Vouchers
- Require Parent's Consent To Presenting Sex Education Curriculum
- Exempt Religious Day Care From MD Child Care Administration Oversight
- Defining Homosexuals As A Minority Guaranteed Legal Rights To Abortion
- Taxpayer Funding Of Abortion Through Health Insurance Mandates Or Medicaid
- Crime Victims Compensated From Criminal Assets
- Restrictions On Gun Owners

You distribute the voter guides to members and constituents. The voter guides state in small print that "[t]he information provided herein is for the purpose of voter education and is not intended as an endorsement of any candidate." However, your training material, Seminar, states the following:

In Date 2, X distributed 500,000 voter guides in cooperation with minority groups and the Catholic Archdiocese in the State 3 City School Board races. As a result, an estimated 63 percent of pro-family candidates won and conservatives gained ground in even the most liberal districts. Due to the concerted efforts of X state and local chapters, conservatives are enjoying victories of this nature all across America.

Page 7

You also distribute congressional and legislative scorecards. The congressional scorecards prepared by X for distribution to voters through its state affiliates. The scorecard is a compilation of voting records of all incumbent members of the United States Congress with respect to issues on which X has taken a position. The names of legislators from the Republican Party are all capitalized but not the names of the legislators from the Democratic Party.

The X Congressional Scorecard, Year 2 Election Year Edition, shows how each United States senator and representative voted or announced on each of the selected issues with a rating of either "+" or "-" and a percentage score. The scorecard states that "+" indicates that the legislator voted or announced in favor of the X position, and "-" indicates that the legislator voted or announced against the X position. A score of 100 percent means that the legislator supported the X position on key issues on every vote cast during his or her current term in office.

The Year 2 congressional scorecard shows 12 issues that members of the U.S. House of Representatives voted on, and 14 issues that members of the U.S. Senate voted on. More than half of the issues voted on by members of the U.S. House of Representatives were identical to the issues voted on by members of the U.S. Senate. The issues chosen for the U. S. House of Representatives in Year 2 included the following:

- Banning Immigration With HIV/AIDS Virus
- Parental Notification For Abortion
- Lifting Bans on Gays in the Military
- Taxes To Promote Abortion
- Fetal Issue Research
- Clinton Pork-Barrel Spending
- Clinton Tax-and-Spend Budget Plan
- Increasing Debt Limit
- Giving Parents A Say in Education
- Government-Sanctioned Homosexual Marriages
- Taxpayer-Funded Abortion
- Taxpayer-Funded Pornography/Government Waste

You also publish Newsletter, a newsletter consisting of two pages updating members primarily on the status of legislation and the political scene. It also includes information regarding the "Conference," an annual conference conducted by X that is billed as a legislative rally. The conference includes meetings with members of Congress and features speeches by prominent members of the Republican Party.

Page 8

Additionally, you publish a four-page news supplement inserted in the Magazine. This bi-monthly magazine is published by X and distributed through its affiliates.

You also engage in lobbying activities. You distribute materials urging members and others in supporting or defeating certain conservative-issue legislation. The Seminar Manual, the training manual published by X, which you use in your seminars, contains the following information on the topic of the basic lobbying that X and you, as one of its affiliates, implement:

The game of politics and lobbying operates no differently. In Date 3, we saw X teams all across the country work together to ensure those pro-family conservative values were represented in Congress. During that same election cycle, not one pro-life incumbent lost a seat in Congress, and a new tide of pro-family legislators rolled onto the shores of Capitol Hill because X team members played their parts.

LEGAL ANALYSIS:

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption from Federal income taxes under section 501(a) for organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Whether an organization is "primarily" engaged in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances test. The regulation states:

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(i).

Section 1.501(c)(4)-l(a)(2)(ii) of the regulations provides that political campaign activities do not promote social welfare as defined in section 501(c)(4). The regulations under section 501(c)(4) clearly distinguish between acceptable social welfare activities such as lobbying and unacceptable activities such as political campaign intervention. The regulation states:

Page 9

The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-(a)(2)(ii).

In order for an organization to engage in political campaign activities, there generally must be a candidate for public office on whose behalf or against whom the activity or intervention occurs. Section 1.501(c)(3)-(c)(3)(iii) of the regulations states that the "term 'candidate for public office' means an individual who offers himself, or is proposed by others, as a contestant for an elective public office." In Rev. Rul. 76-456, 1976-2 C.B. 151, the organization at issue was formed for the purpose of elevating the standards of ethics in the conduct of campaigns for election to public office at the national, state and local levels, and had disseminated information concerning general campaign practices. The organization proposed a code of fair campaign practices, but did not solicit the signing or endorsement of the code by candidates for political office. We concluded that this did not constitute political intervention since the organization's activities only allowed citizens to increase their knowledge and understanding of election processes and participate more effectively in their selection of government officials, without any candidates even mentioned. At the same time we modified Rev. Rul. 66-258, 1966-2 C.B. 213, which was an identical organization except that it did solicit the signing or endorsement of its code of fair campaign practices by candidates for political office. We concluded that the latter organization was engaged in political intervention and therefore was not exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. (Because these Rev. Ruls. contain a section 501(c)(3) analysis which prohibits all political campaign activities, the activities should be considered in absolute terms. However, for purposes of section 501(c)(4), we are determining whether political intervention is the primary activity of the organization.)

Whether an organization is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances determination. Relevant factors include the manner in which the organization's activities are conducted; resources used in conducting such activities, such as buildings and equipment; the time devoted to activities (by volunteers as well as employees); the purposes furthered by various activities; and the amount of funds received from and devoted to particular activities. See, e.g., Rev. Rul. 74-361, 1974-2 C.B. 159 (volunteer fire company that provides recreational facilities for members is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare where providing facilities primarily furthers exempt purposes); Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259 (organization's principal source of income is not sole factor in determining whether it is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare). In Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, we concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." The corollary to this is that if an organization's primary activities do not promote social welfare but are direct or indirect political intervention, the organization is not exempt under section 501(c)(4). The key is to determine the character of the organization's primary activities by looking at all of the facts and circumstances.

Page 10

1. Precinct Organization:

Your activities with regard to recruitment of people to become active in local politics at the precinct level appear to be identical to the recruitment and organization that takes place in a political party. Your leadership seminars train people to work in campaigns, and political involvement and get-out-the-vote activities are advocated in order to intervene and influence elections. Your focus is on getting people to become candidates and activists. While organizing down to the precinct or neighborhood level has enabled you to mobilize some limited legislative grassroots campaigns, this organizational basis has primarily been used to mobilize targeted conservative voters to get to the polls on election day. It has also been used to identify and encourage religious conservatives to run for local office. From your inception, you have been part of X's precinct organization intended to facilitate intervention in the political process at every level of government. As stated above, it is also evident that you were interested in legislation and lobbying activities. However, after a careful review of the materials presented, it is apparent that the lobbying activities were secondary to political intervention. You primarily engage in activities intended to intervene in the political process and to influence the elections of those Republican conservative candidates who reflected your views. Your emphasis is focused on activities which were designed to result in the election of religious conservatives to public office at every level of government. Using the facts and circumstances test, we conclude that your precinct organizational basis was implemented primarily to intervene in political campaigns.

2. Legislative Scorecards:

In defining political campaign activity, Rev. Rul. 67-368, 1967-2 C.B. 194, states that rating candidates as average, good, or excellent using qualifications such as education and experience, even on a nonpartisan basis, is an intervention on behalf of those candidates favorably rated and in opposition to those less favorably rated for purposes of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. See The Association of the Bar of the City of New York v. Commissioner, 858 F.2d 876 (2d Cir. 1988), cert. denied 490 U.S. 1030 (1989). However, in Rev. Rul. 80-282, 1980-2 C.B. 178, we concluded that publishing the voting records of all incumbent members of Congress on selected legislative issues soon after the close of each congressional session, along with an expression of the organization's position on the issues, were not political campaign activities. We set forth several factors which were considered when ruling that the publication and distribution of the voting records were not political intervention. Those factors included: 1) voting records of all incumbents were presented, 2) candidates for reelection were not identified, 3) no comment was made on an individual's overall qualifications for public office, 4) no statements expressly or impliedly endorsed or rejected any incumbent as a candidate for public office, 5) no comparison of incumbents with other candidates, 6) the organization pointed out the inherent limitations of judging the qualifications of an incumbent on the basis of the selected votes by stating the need to consider other unrecorded matters, and 7) no attempt was made to time the date of publication to coincide with an election. Another factor considered relevant was that the organization did not distribute the voting records widely. Again, a facts and circumstances test was utilized to determine whether the publication was political intervention.

Distinguishing factors between your scorecards and the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 include the following: 1) your scorecards were distributed to a large number of religious conservatives, while the documents at issue in Rev. Rul. 80-282 were only distributed to a few people, 2) the legislator's "score" was indicated based upon agreement/disagreement with your issues, and 3) the scorecards were published and distributed to coincide with the national and state elections. We also believe that the limited distribution in Rev. Rul. 80-282 was an important factor in the conclusion that an intervention did not occur. Your scorecards were very widely distributed among religious conservatives. Your targeted yet wide distribution of the congressional scorecards differs substantially with the factual situation in Rev. Rul. 80-282. Rev. Rul. 80-282 sets forth a facts and circumstances test. Therefore, after carefully considering all the facts and circumstances we conclude that the scorecards constitute political intervention.

3. Voter Guides:

An organization which publishes and distributes candidate questionnaire results in the form of voter guides must demonstrate neutrality in order for the voter guides to be considered educational. A facts and circumstances test is utilized to determine whether activities involving voter guides are educational or whether they are political campaign activities. In Rev. Rul. 78-248, 1978-1 C.B. 154, examples are given as to the factors which should be considered when applying a facts and circumstances test. The factors which are indications that the activities are educational are as follows: 1) the publication reports on a neutral group of elected officials or candidates such as all members of Congress or all candidates for a particular office, 2) the publication reports elected officials' or candidates' views or their voting records on a wide range of subjects, 3) the publication includes no editorial opinion on the elected officials or candidates, or on their views, 4) the publication does not indicate approval of elected officials or candidates in the contents or structure of the publication, and 5) the organization makes the publication generally available to the public.

Page 12

After looking at your voter guides, several patterns emerge. First, as mentioned above, the Democratic candidates regularly have "No Response" listed after many of the issues, whereas very few Republican candidates were listed without a complete list of "Opposes" or "Supports" underneath their name and picture. Only the names of Republican candidates are shown in capital letters. Second, the issues chosen seem to have a direct correlation to the desired response from X's preferred Republican candidate, or conversely to portray a Democratic candidate as against X's positions. While these factors are not explicit endorsements of candidates, the lack of responses from Democratic candidates and the wording and choice of issues to create a particular response along party lines is significant. Also, the general nature of and approach taken with respect to the issues covered leads to responses which are arguably inaccurate. Additionally, the summary descriptions are so vague that they do not adequately cover any of the issues. Finally, the voter guides do not report on a neutral group of candidates as required by Rev. Rul. 78-248. The voter guides list the names of a neutral group of candidates, but they fully report the positions of only some of the Democratic candidates and almost all of the positions of the Republican candidates. This reporting is so heavily weighted toward the Republican Party as to not constitute reporting on a neutral group of candidates.

In our view, the voter guides are heavily weighted in favor of the Republican candidates, especially those Republican incumbents endorsed on the congressional scorecards. We conclude that these voter guides cannot be considered nonpartisan educational materials within the intent of the law. Inaccurate and/or incomplete information does not constitute education. The targeted distribution of the scorecards and voter guides also indicates that these publications are not nonpartisan educational activities. These documents were distributed to previously identified conservative churches and conservative individuals. The voter guides would have only limited educational value to anyone wishing to know the positions of Democratic candidates or to compare the positions of Democratic and Republican candidates, since such a large percentage of Democratic candidates did not have their positions listed in the voter guides. Also, the possible distortion of the candidate's position when translating a vote on legislation to a summary description is an additional factor we have considered in determining that the voter guides constitute political intervention. Based on all the available information, we conclude that the voter guides are not nonpartisan and constitute intervention in political campaigns.

Page 13

4. Lobbying Activities:

Lobbying activities were considered in Rev. Rul. 68-656, 1968-2 C.B. 216, to not only be an acceptable activity for an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, but to constitute activities that promote social welfare. Rev. Rul. 68-656 provides that seeking favorable legislation is recognized by the section 501(c)(4) regulations as a permissible means of attaining social welfare goals. Additionally, Rev. Rul. 71-530, 1971-2 C.B. 237, concludes that an organization described in section 501(c)(4) may have lobbying as its only activity. A facts and circumstances test is to be used in determining whether an organization's activities primarily constitute political intervention or whether those activities constitute lobbying or educational activities. After reviewing all of the facts and circumstances presented in the administrative file as discussed above, we have concluded that your primary emphasis and primary activities constituted direct and indirect political intervention. While you engage in extensive lobbying activities, they are by no means your primary activity. Your first and primary emphasis is on getting people elected to public office. The administrative record contains a wealth of information regarding your organizational structure and activities relating to candidate recruitment. There is only, secondarily, an emphasis on lobbying and educational activities. Your organizational thrust is to organize at the neighborhood or precinct level in order to get religious conservatives elected to local offices; only secondarily is this precinct level organization utilized to influence legislation.

Accordingly, after looking at all of the facts and circumstances, we have concluded that your lobbying activity was not your primary activity.

CONCLUSION REGARDING YOUR PRIMARY ACTIVITY:

The emphasis throughout your materials is on electing to office "family friendly" people in order to impact legislation and policy as insiders. The overwhelming majority of the evidence in the administrative record, and thus the facts and circumstances in this case, denotes an organization that is intent upon intervening in political campaigns. The precinct organizational structure allows you to implement your policies as more and more religious conservatives are elected to office. While lobbying is usually mentioned, and we recognize that lobbying activities are being pursued, those activities are not your primary activity. An analysis of all of the facts and circumstances contained in the administrative file leads us to the conclusion that your primary activity constitutes political intervention.

Page 14

CONCLUSION:

Based upon the materials submitted in connection with your application, we have concluded that your activities primarily constitute direct and indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office. Therefore, you are not primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare and do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you should submit a statement of your views to this office, with a full explanation of your reasoning. This statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date of this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Practices Requirements.

If we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and a copy will be forwarded to the Ohio Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) office. Thereafter, any questions about your federal income tax status should be directed to that office, either by calling 877-829-5500 (a toll free number) or sending correspondence to: Internal Revenue Service, TE/GE Customer Service, P.O. Box 2508, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: T:EO:RA:T:3, Room 6137
1111 Constitution Ave, NW
Washington, D.C. 20224

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Harper, Jr.
Manager, Exempt Organizations
Technical Group 3

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201128032
Release Date: 7/15/2011

Date: April 4, 2011

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Form Required To Be Filed:

Tax Years:

UIL: 501.04-00

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reason(s):

You are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001500

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: January 13, 2011

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

FAX Number:

Employer Identification Number:

UIL Code:
501.04-00

Legend:
State =
Party =

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("the Code"). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

FACTS

You were formed on August 16, 2006 as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of State. Your Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws state that your purpose is to

Your Bylaws provide that your properties and assets are dedicated to social welfare purposes, upon dissolution or otherwise, and that no part of your net income or assets may inure to the benefit of any director, officer, member, or private individual.

You conduct a training program for who are members of Party, including sessions covering

Report Exhibits - Page 001502

2

Your potential trainees must apply, remit a application fee, and be interviewed to be admitted to your program. To enroll, trainees must pay tuition of You state that you may provide partial or full financial aid following admission to the program.

Your website contains various materials related to your training program. Your homepage states,

Your webpage states that you select students for your training program based on evidence of applicants must be This webpage also states that Party members and

Your 2011 Program Application contains a section which asks the potential trainee, and, If an applicant did not is then asked to explain why.

Your 2011 Program Application also contains a which requires the applicant to affirm the following:

Your webpage notes the success of which includes

LAW

Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code") exempts from federal income tax organizations described in section 501(c)(4).

Section 501(c)(4)(A) of the Code describes civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Section 501(c)(4)(B) indicates that subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations ("regulations") states that an organization may be exempt as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code if it is not organized or operated for profit and is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community, such as bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Rev. Rul. 73-306, 1973-2 C.B. 179, provides that an organization formed for the purpose of promoting the common interest of tenants who reside in a particular apartment complex does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Any person regularly living in the complex was eligible for membership. The organization represented its member-tenants in negotiations with the management of the complex in order to secure better maintenance and services, as well as reasonable rentals. The ruling holds that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) because it operated essentially to benefit its members and, thus, was not primarily engaged in activities that promote the common good and general welfare of the community. In contrast, Rev. Rul. 80-206, 1980-2 C.B. 185, holds that an organization formed to promote the legal rights of all tenants in a community, instead of limiting its benefits to member-tenants, does qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 73-349, 1973-2 C.B. 179, holds that an organization formed to purchase groceries for its members at the lowest possible prices on a cooperative basis is not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Rather, the organization was a cooperative enterprise operated primarily for the private economic benefit or convenience of its members, and provided only incidental benefit to the community.

Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed by the residents of a city block to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block, and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Its activities consisted of paying the city government to plant trees on public property within the block, organizing residents to pick up litter and refuse in the public streets and on public sidewalks within the block, and encouraging residents to take an active part in beautifying the block by placing shrubbery in public areas. Much of the public area improved by the organization was part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. Membership in the organization was restricted to residents of the block and those owning property or operating businesses there.

Because the activities enhanced the value of the members' property rights, the organization served the private interests of its members and did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). The restricted nature of its membership and limited area in which improvements were made were further indicators of private benefit. However, by beautifying and preserving public property in cooperation with the local government, the organization was considered to primarily promote the general welfare of the community even though its activities also benefited its members. Therefore, the organization did qualify under section 501(c)(4).

In Erie Endowment v. United States, 316 F.2d 151 (3d Cir. 1963), the court held that to qualify for exemption within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code, "the organization must be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Id. at 156.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized by World War II veterans for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Individuals became members in the corporation by purchasing an apartment unit and, as such, the number of members was limited to the number of units available. The court held that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code because it was "a public-spirited but privately-devoted endeavor" that provided only incidental benefit to the community. Id. at 818. The organization did not promote social welfare because it furnished housing only to a certain group of individuals, rather than on a community basis, and did not offer a service or program for the direct betterment or improvement of the community as a whole.

In New York State Association of Real Estate Boards Group Insurance Fund v. Commissioner, 54 T.C. 1325 (1970), an association organized by a small group interested in obtaining group insurance did not qualify for exemption because it offered its benefits to only a limited class of its members and their employees. The court noted "[t]here is not in such an organization the requisite civic concern to constitute social welfare" required for qualification under section 501(c)(4). Where the primary benefit from an organization is limited to that organization's members, and not provided to the community as a whole, the organization is not operated primarily for the social welfare.

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 827 (1974), plumbers working in New York City were responsible for the cuts they made in the city streets. Prior to the organization's existence, the city had repaired the cuts and billed the plumbers individually in what proved to be a highly inefficient system. The organization was formed in order to restore the city streets. It only repaired cuts made by its members. The joint effort of the plumbers reduced their liability and their expenses, and more efficiently repaired the city streets. While the court found that the program provided substantial benefits to the public, it concluded that the organization primarily served the private economic interests of its members and, thus, could not be considered exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), the organization's primary activity was to operate a school ("the Academy") training individuals for careers as political campaign professionals. The organization represented on its application for exemption that the Academy was an outgrowth of programs operated by the National Republican Congressional Committee ("NRCC") that were designed to train candidates and to train and subsequently place campaign professionals in Republican campaigns. In addition, the NRCC contributed physical assets to the Academy, two of the Academy's six full-time faculty members had been previously involved in the NRCC's training program, one of the Academy's three initial directors was the Executive Director of the NRCC at the time, and another initial director was a member of the Republican National Committee at the time. The Academy's activities were exclusively funded by the National Republican Congressional Trust. The Academy's curriculum included discussions concerning "How some Republicans have won Black votes," "NRCC/RNC/NRSC/State Party naughtiness," and "Use of GOP allies," without a counterbalance of comparable studies of other political parties.

While applicants to the Academy were not required to formally declare their political affiliation to attend the organization's school, the admission panel could deduce such affiliation from the campaign experiences and political references in the applications. The court found that this knowledge of an applicant's political affiliations allowed the admission panel to limit enrollment to applicants who were likely to subsequently work in Republican organizations and campaigns. Indeed, the court found that no graduate was known to affiliate with any political party other than the Republican Party. A substantial number of the members of the Academy's admission panel were affiliated with the Republican Party.

The Service determined that the organization operated for a substantial, non-exempt private purpose. The Tax Court agreed, holding the organization did not operate exclusively for exempt, educational purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it conducted its activities to benefit the private interests of Republican entities and candidates. Although these entities and candidates were not organization "insiders," the court stated that the conferral of nonincidental benefits on disinterested persons may cause an organization to serve a private interest. While the school had a legitimate educational program, it conducted these activities with the partisan objective of benefiting Republican candidates and entities. As such, a more than incidental private benefit was conferred on Republican entities and candidates who employed the Academy's students, one that precluded exemption under section 501(c)(3).

ANALYSIS

Based on the information you submitted with your application and in subsequent correspondence, you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code because your activities primarily serve private interests. Therefore, you do not qualify for exemption from federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(4).

Your activities do not primarily promote social welfare because you primarily benefit private individuals and interests.

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations. An organization recognized under section 501(c)(4) is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. Id.

To qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4), an organization must primarily benefit the community as a whole, rather than select individuals or groups. See Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp., supra; New York State Ass'n of Real Estate Boards Group Ins. Fund, supra; Lake Forest, Inc., supra; Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra. A section 501(c)(4) organization must be "a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Erie Endowment, supra. As such, a tenants' organization that benefits all the tenants in the community qualifies for exemption, while one that directs its activities toward benefiting only its member-tenants does not. Compare Rev. Rul. 80-206, supra, with Rev. Rul. 73-306, supra; see also Rev. Rul. 73-349, supra. Therefore, conferring a sufficient amount of private benefit on select individuals will preclude exemption under section 501(c)(4) for an organization that would otherwise qualify. Even if an organization substantially benefits the community, it will fail to qualify for exemption if it primarily benefits private interests. See Contracting Plumbers, supra.

Educational activities undertaken to provide a partisan benefit are considered to serve private interests, rather than the common good. In American Campaign Academy, supra, the court denied exemption under section 501(c)(3) to a school organized to train individuals for careers as political campaign professionals because its educational activities were operated with the partisan purpose of benefiting Republican Party entities and candidates. The private benefit conferred on these persons was more than incidental, and thus demonstrated a substantial non-exempt purpose that precluded exemption. While you are requesting recognition as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) and not section 501(c)(3) (as was American Campaign Academy), the standard for determining what constitutes private benefit described in American Campaign Academy applies to both sections. As such, for purposes of both section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4), an organization which conducts its educational activities to benefit a political party and its candidates serves private interests. And, as discussed above, an organization that primarily serves private interests fails to qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4).

Report Exhibits - Page 001506

6

Thus, notwithstanding any benefit your educational activities may provide to the community, you fail to qualify for exemption because your training program primarily benefits the interests of the Party and its candidates. According to your Articles and Bylaws, your primary activity is to train and recruit who are members of the Party to run for political office. Like the school in American Campaign Academy, your purpose in conducting this activity is to provide education solely to individuals affiliated with a certain political party who want to enter politics. Indeed, you measure your success in terms of the number of your graduates who have run for, or won, elective office representing the Party.

Because your primary activity is an educational program that is limited to who are members of the Party and that is conducted with the partisan objective of increasing the number of the Party's elected officials, you primarily serve private interests. Therefore, the operation of your program does not promote social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

CONCLUSION

In summary, you are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code and you must file federal income tax returns.

Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code and you must file federal income tax returns.

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter. We will consider your statement and decide if the information affects our determination.

Your protest statement should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this protest statement, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the statement contains all the relevant facts, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

You also have a right to request a conference to discuss your protest. This request should be made when you file your protest statement. An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you. If you want representation during the conference procedures, you must file a proper power of attorney,

Report Exhibits - Page 001507

7

Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov, Forms and Publications.

If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848 and any supporting documents to this address:

Internal Revenue Service
*****
1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, DC 20224

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Lois Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201128034
Release Date: 7/15/2011
Date: April 18, 2011

Contact Person:
Identification Number:
Contact Number:
Employer Identification Number:
Form Required To Be Filed:
Tax Years:

UIL: 501.04-00

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reason(s):

You are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 5110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001509

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: January 14, 2011

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

FAX Number:

Employer Identification Number:

UIL Code:
501.04-00

Legend:
State =
Party =

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("the Code"). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

FACTS

You were formed on December 21, 2007 as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of State. Your Articles of Organization and Bylaws state that your purpose is and 4. To operate exclusively to promote the social welfare within the meaning of Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code . . . .

Your Articles of Organization and Bylaws provide that upon dissolution, your assets shall be dedicated to social welfare purposes, and that no part of your net income or assets may inure to the benefit of any director, officer, member, or private individual.

You conduct a training program of for who are members of Party. The program includes sessions covering

Your recruitment of students began in and training began in

You charge in tuition for your training program. You provide scholarships for tuition expenses and make payment plans available. You select up to participants each year.

Report Exhibits - Page 001511

2

Your website contains a number of materials related to your training program. Your homepage states that you are [redacted] You describe your curriculum as follows:

Your website states that you select students for your training program based on evidence of [redacted]

Your 2010 Program Application shows that one of your training dates coincides with the [Party]'s State Convention and contains a [redacted]

If an applicant did not [redacted] and, [redacted] is then asked to explain why.

Your 2010 Program Application also contains a [redacted] which requires the applicant to affirm the following:

On your [redacted] page you state you are,

On the same page, you state,

In answering the question "What makes [you] unique?" you state that you are [redacted]

You also state that you are [redacted]

In materials you provide to potential donors, you note your program's success by stating that the [redacted]

LAW

Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code") exempts from federal income tax organizations described in section 501(c)(4).

Section 501(c)(4)(A) of the Code describes civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Section 501(c)(4)(B) indicates that subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations ("regulations") states that to be described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, an organization must not be organized or operated for profit and must be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2) of the regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Additionally, it states that an organization described within this section is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Rev. Rul. 73-306, 1973-2 C.B. 179, provides that an organization formed for the purpose of promoting the common interest of tenants who reside in a particular apartment complex does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Any person regularly living in the complex was eligible for membership. The organization represented its member-tenants in negotiations with the management of the complex in order to secure better maintenance and services, as well as reasonable rentals. The ruling holds that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) because it operated essentially to benefit its members and, thus, was not primarily engaged in activities that promote the common good and general welfare of the community. In contrast, Rev. Rul. 80-206, 1980-2 C.B. 185, holds that an organization formed to promote the legal rights of all tenants in a community, instead of limiting its benefits to member-tenants, does qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 73-349, 1973-2 C.B. 179, holds that an organization formed to purchase groceries for its members at the lowest possible prices on a cooperative basis is not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Rather, the organization was a cooperative enterprise operated primarily for the private economic benefit or convenience of its members, and provided only incidental benefit to the community.

Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed by the residents of a city block to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block, and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Its activities consisted of paying the city government to plant trees on public property within the block, organizing residents to pick up litter and refuse in the public streets and on public sidewalks within the block, and encouraging residents to take an active part in beautifying the block by placing shrubbery in public areas. Much of the public area improved by the organization was part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. Membership in the organization was restricted to residents of the block and those owning property or operating businesses there.

Because the activities enhanced the value of the members' property rights, the organization served the private interests of its members and did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). The restricted nature of its membership and limited area in which improvements were made were further indicators of private benefit. However, by beautifying and preserving public property in cooperation with the local government, the organization was considered to primarily promote the general welfare of the community even though its activities also benefited its members. Therefore, the organization did qualify under section 501(c)(4).

In Erie Endowment v. United States, 316 F.2d 151 (3d Cir. 1963), the court held that to qualify for exemption within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code, "the organization must be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Id. at 156.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized by World War II veterans for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Individuals became members in the corporation by purchasing an apartment unit and, as such, the number of members was limited to the number of units available. The court held that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code because it was "a public-spirited but privately-devoted endeavor" that provided only incidental benefit to the community. Id. at 818. The organization did not promote social welfare because it furnished housing only to a certain group of individuals, rather than on a community basis, and did not offer a service or program for the direct betterment or improvement of the community as a whole.

In New York State Association of Real Estate Boards Group Insurance Fund v. Commissioner, 54 T.C. 1325 (1970), an association organized by a small group interested in obtaining group insurance did not qualify for exemption because it offered its benefits to only a limited class of its members and their employees. The court noted "[t]here is not in such an organization the requisite civic concern to constitute social welfare" required for qualification under section 501(c)(4). Where the primary benefit from an organization is limited to that organization's members, and not provided to the community as a whole, the organization is not operated primarily for the social welfare.

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 827 (1974), plumbers working in New York City were responsible for the cuts they made in the city streets. Prior to the organization's existence, the city had repaired the cuts and billed the plumbers individually in what proved to be a highly inefficient system. The organization was formed in order to restore the city streets. It only repaired cuts made by its members. The joint effort of the plumbers reduced their liability and their expenses, and more efficiently repaired the city streets. While the court found that the program provided substantial benefits to the public, it concluded that the organization primarily served the private economic interests of its members and, thus, could not be considered exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), the organization's primary activity was to operate a school ("the Academy") training individuals for careers as political campaign professionals. The organization represented on its application for exemption that the Academy was an outgrowth of programs operated by the National Republican Congressional Committee ("NRCC") that were designed to train candidates and to train and subsequently place campaign professionals in Republican campaigns. In addition, the NRCC contributed physical assets to the Academy, two of the Academy's six full-time faculty members had been previously involved in the NRCC's training program, one of the Academy's three initial directors was the Executive Director of the NRCC at the time, and another initial director was a member of the Republican National Committee at the time. The Academy's activities were exclusively funded by the National Republican Congressional Trust. The Academy's curriculum included discussions concerning "How some Republicans have won Black votes," "NRCC/RNC/NRSC/State Party naughtiness," and "Use of GOP allies," without a counterbalance of comparable studies of other political parties.

While applicants to the Academy were not required to formally declare their political affiliation to attend the organization's school, the admission panel could deduce such affiliation from the campaign experiences and political references in the applications. The court found that this knowledge of an applicant's political affiliations allowed the admission panel to limit enrollment to applicants who were likely to subsequently work in Republican organizations and campaigns. Indeed, the court found that no graduate was known to affiliate with any political party other than the Republican Party. A substantial number of the members of the Academy's admission panel were affiliated with the Republican Party.

The Service determined that the organization operated for a substantial, non-exempt private purpose. The Tax Court agreed, holding the organization did not operate exclusively for exempt, educational purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it conducted its activities to benefit the private interests of Republican entities and candidates. Although these entities and candidates were not organization "insiders," the court stated that the conferral of nonincidental benefits on disinterested persons may cause an organization to serve a private interest. While the school had a legitimate educational program, it conducted these activities with the partisan objective of benefiting Republican candidates and entities. As such, a more than incidental private benefit was conferred on Republican entities and candidates who employed the Academy's students, one that precluded exemption under section 501(c)(3).

ANALYSIS

Based on the information you submitted with your application and in subsequent correspondence, you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code because your activities primarily serve private interests. Therefore, you do not qualify for exemption from federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(4).

Your activities do not primarily promote social welfare because you primarily benefit private individuals and interests.

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations. An organization recognized under section 501(c)(4) is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. Id.

To qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4), an organization must primarily benefit the community as a whole, rather than select individuals or groups. See Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp., supra; New York State Ass'n of Real Estate Boards Group Ins. Fund, supra; Lake Forest, Inc., supra; Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra. A section 501(c)(4) organization must be "a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Erie Endowment, supra. As such, a tenants' organization that benefits all the tenants in the community qualifies for exemption, while one that directs its activities toward benefiting only its member-tenants does not. Compare Rev. Rul. 80-206, supra, with Rev. Rul. 73-306, supra; see also Rev. Rul. 73-349, supra. Therefore, conferring a sufficient amount of private benefit on select individuals will preclude exemption under section 501(c)(4) for an organization that would otherwise qualify. Even if an organization substantially benefits the community, it will fail to qualify for exemption if it primarily benefits private interests. See Contracting Plumbers, supra.

Educational activities undertaken to provide a partisan benefit are considered to serve private interests, rather than the common good. In American Campaign Academy, supra, the court denied exemption under section 501(c)(3) to a school organized to train individuals for careers as political campaign professionals because its educational activities were operated with the partisan purpose of benefiting Republican Party entities and candidates. The private benefit conferred on these persons was more than incidental, and thus demonstrated a substantial non-exempt purpose that precluded exemption. While you are requesting recognition as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) and not section 501(c)(3) (as was American Campaign Academy), the standard for determining what constitutes private benefit described in American Campaign Academy applies to both sections. As such, for purposes of both section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4), an organization which conducts its educational activities to benefit a political party and its candidates serves private interests. And, as discussed above, an organization that primarily serves private interests fails to qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4).

Thus, notwithstanding any benefit your educational activities may provide to the community, you fail to qualify for exemption because your training program primarily benefits the interests of the Party and its candidates. According to your Articles, Bylaws, and website, your primary activity is to train and recruit who are members of Party to run for political office. Moreover, your program application asks prospective students to disclose specific details of their political participation as a member of Party, and clearly discloses that you limit your membership to registered members of the Party. Like the school in American Campaign Academy, your purpose in conducting this activity is to provide education solely to individuals affiliated with a certain political party who want to enter politics. Indeed, you measure your success in terms of the number of your graduates who have won elective office representing the Party.

Because your primary activity is an educational program that is limited to who are members of Party and is conducted with the partisan objective of increasing the number of Party's elected officials, you primarily serve private interests. Therefore, the operation of your program does not promote social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

CONCLUSION

In summary, you are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code and you must file federal income tax returns.

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter. We will consider your statement and decide if the information affects our determination.

Your protest statement should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Report Exhibits - Page 001516

7

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this protest statement, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the statement contains all the relevant facts, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

You also have a right to request a conference to discuss your protest. This request should be made when you file your protest statement. An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you. If you want representation during the conference procedures, you must file a proper power of attorney, Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov, Forms and Publications.

If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848 and any supporting documents to this address:

Internal Revenue Service
*****
1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, DC 20224

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Holly Paz
Acting Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201128035
Release Date: 7/15/2011
Date: April 18, 2011

Contact Person:
Identification Number:
Contact Number:
Employer Identification Number:
Form Required To Be Filed:
Tax Years:

UIL: 501.04-00

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a) as an organization described in Code section 501(c)(4).

We made this determination for the following reason(s):

You are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001518

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: 1/13/11

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

FAX Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("the Code"). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

FACTS

You were formed on August 7, 2006 as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of *****. Your Articles of Incorporation state that you are organized for the following purpose

In addition, your Bylaws state that your purpose is:

Your Bylaws provide that your properties and assets are dedicated to social welfare purposes, upon dissolution or otherwise, and that no part of your net income or assets may inure to the benefit of any director, officer, member, or private individual.

You conduct a training program of _____ for ***** The program includes sessions _____

This activity began in _____ and you train up to _____ each year.

You charge a _____ application fee for prospective students and _____ in tuition for your training program. You provide scholarships for tuition expenses to students who request them.

You state that you select students based on evidence of _____

Report Exhibits - Page 001520

2

Your program application for 2009 contains a portion which asks, and, Additionally, this portion asks, " If an applicant did not and, is then asked to explain why.

Your program application for 2009 also contains a which requires the applicant to affirm the following:

You have provided your which you state Your first is "***** You state in conjunction with this point that you Your second is that you have no litmus tests for your students Your include that you do not endorse candidates or legislation. You state that you "provide intensive training," which

Your training curriculum contains materials on in which the of the student's cabinet, or networking contacts, include "***** party insiders."

In materials you provide to your donors, you state that you are

In these materials, you note your success from 2007-2008 in recruiting, training, and

LAW

Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code") exempts from federal income tax organizations described in section 501(c)(4).

Section 501(c)(4)(A) of the Code describes civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Section 501(c)(4)(B) indicates that subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations ("regulations") states that an organization may be exempt as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code if it is not organized or operated for profit and is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community, such as bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Rev. Rul. 73-306, 1973-2 C.B. 179, provides that an organization formed for the purpose of promoting the common interest of tenants who reside in a particular apartment complex does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Any person regularly living in the complex was eligible for membership. The organization represented its member-tenants in negotiations with the management of the complex in order to secure better maintenance and services, as well as reasonable rentals. The ruling holds that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) because it operated essentially to benefit its members and, thus, was not primarily engaged in activities that promote the common good and general welfare of the community. In contrast, Rev. Rul. 80-206, 1980-2 C.B. 185, holds that an organization formed to promote the legal rights of all tenants in a community, instead of limiting its benefits to member-tenants, does qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 73-349, 1973-2 C.B. 179, holds that an organization formed to purchase groceries for its members at the lowest possible prices on a cooperative basis is not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Rather, the organization was a cooperative enterprise operated primarily for the private economic benefit or convenience of its members, and provided only incidental benefit to the community.

Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed by the residents of a city block to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block, and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Its activities consisted of paying the city government to plant trees on public property within the block, organizing residents to pick up litter and refuse in the public streets and on public sidewalks within the block, and encouraging residents to take an active part in beautifying the block by placing shrubbery in public areas. Much of the public area improved by the organization was part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. Membership in the organization was restricted to residents of the block and those owning property or operating businesses there.

Because the activities enhanced the value of the members' property rights, the organization served the private interests of its members and did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). The restricted nature of its membership and limited area in which improvements were made were further indicators of private benefit. However, by beautifying and preserving public property in cooperation with the local government, the organization was considered to primarily promote the general welfare of the community even though its activities also benefited its members. Therefore, the organization did qualify under section 501(c)(4).

In Erie Endowment v. United States, 316 F.2d 151 (3d Cir. 1963), the court held that to qualify for exemption within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code, "the organization must be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Id. at 156.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized by World War II veterans for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Individuals became members in the corporation by purchasing an apartment unit and, as such, the number of members was limited to the number of units available. The court held that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code because it was "a public-spirited but privately-devoted endeavor" that provided only incidental benefit to the community. Id. at 818. The organization did not promote social welfare because it furnished housing only to a certain group of individuals, rather than on a community basis, and did not offer a service or program for the direct betterment or improvement of the community as a whole.

In New York State Association of Real Estate Boards Group Insurance Fund v. Commissioner, 54 T.C. 1325 (1970), an association organized by a small group interested in obtaining group insurance did not qualify for exemption because it offered its benefits to only a limited class of its members and their employees. The court noted "[t]here is not in such an organization the requisite civic concern to constitute social welfare" required for qualification under section 501(c)(4). Where the primary benefit from an organization is limited to that organization's members, and not provided to the community as a whole, the organization is not operated primarily for the social welfare.

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 827 (1974), plumbers working in New York City were responsible for the cuts they made in the city streets. Prior to the organization's existence, the city had repaired the cuts and billed the plumbers individually in what proved to be a highly inefficient system. The organization was formed in order to restore the city streets. It only repaired cuts made by its members. The joint effort of the plumbers reduced their liability and their expenses, and more efficiently repaired the city streets. While the court found that the program provided substantial benefits to the public, it concluded that the organization primarily served the private economic interests of its members and, thus, could not be considered exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), the organization's primary activity was to operate a school ("the Academy") training individuals for careers as political campaign professionals. The organization represented on its application for exemption that the Academy was an outgrowth of programs operated by the National Republican Congressional Committee ("NRCC") that were designed to train candidates and to train and subsequently place campaign professionals in Republican campaigns. In addition, the NRCC contributed physical assets to the Academy, two of the Academy's six full-time faculty members had been previously involved in the NRCC's training program, one of the Academy's three initial directors was the Executive Director of the NRCC at the time, and another initial director was a member of the Republican National Committee at the time. The Academy's activities were exclusively funded by the National Republican Congressional Trust. The Academy's curriculum included discussions concerning "How some Republicans have won Black votes," "NRCC/RNC/NRSC/State Party naughtiness," and "Use of GOP allies," without a counterbalance of comparable studies of other political parties.

While applicants to the Academy were not required to formally declare their political affiliation to attend the organization's school, the admission panel could deduce such affiliation from the campaign experiences and political references in the applications. The court found that this knowledge of an applicant's political affiliations allowed the admission panel to limit enrollment to applicants who were likely to subsequently work in Republican organizations and campaigns. Indeed, the court found that no graduate was known to affiliate with any political party other than the Republican Party. A substantial number of the members of the Academy's admission panel were affiliated with the Republican Party.

The Service determined that the organization operated for a substantial, non-exempt private purpose. The Tax Court agreed, holding the organization did not operate exclusively for exempt, educational purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it conducted its activities to benefit the private interests of Republican entities and candidates. Although these entities and candidates were not organization "insiders," the court stated that the conferral of nonincidental benefits on disinterested persons may cause an organization to serve a private interest. While the school had a legitimate educational program, it conducted these activities with the partisan objective of benefiting Republican candidates and entities. As such, a more than incidental private benefit was conferred on Republican entities and candidates who employed the Academy's students, one that precluded exemption under section 501(c)(3).

ANALYSIS

Based on the information you submitted with your application and in subsequent correspondence, you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code because your activities primarily serve private interests. Therefore, you do not qualify for exemption from federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(4).

Your activities do not primarily promote social welfare because you primarily benefit private individuals and interests.

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations. An organization recognized under section 501(c)(4) is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. Id.

To qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4), an organization must primarily benefit the community as a whole, rather than select individuals or groups. See Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp., supra; New York State Ass'n of Real Estate Boards Group Ins. Fund, supra; Lake Forest, Inc., supra; Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra. A section 501(c)(4) organization must be "a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Erie Endowment, supra. As such, a tenants' organization that benefits all the tenants in the community qualifies for exemption, while one that directs its activities toward benefiting only its member-tenants does not. Compare Rev. Rul. 80-206, supra, with Rev. Rul. 73-306, supra; see also Rev. Rul. 73-349, supra. Therefore, conferring a sufficient amount of private benefit on select individuals will preclude exemption under section 501(c)(4) for an organization that would otherwise qualify. Even if an organization substantially benefits the community, it will fail to qualify for exemption if it primarily benefits private interests. See Contracting Plumbers, supra.

Educational activities undertaken to provide a partisan benefit are considered to serve private interests, rather than the common good. In American Campaign Academy, supra, the court denied exemption under section 501(c)(3) to a school organized to train individuals for careers as political campaign professionals because its educational activities were operated with the partisan purpose of benefiting Republican Party entities and candidates. The private benefit conferred on these persons was more than incidental, and thus demonstrated a substantial nonexempt purpose that precluded exemption. While you are an organization described in section 501(c)(4) and not section 501(c)(3) (as was American Campaign Academy), the standard for determining what constitutes private benefit described in American Campaign Academy applies to both sections. As such, for purposes of both section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4), an organization which conducts its educational activities to benefit a political party and its candidates serves private interests. And, as discussed above, an organization that primarily serves private interests fails to qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4).

Thus, notwithstanding any benefit your educational activities may provide to the community, you fail to qualify for exemption because your training program primarily benefits the interests of the ***** and its candidates. According to your Articles and Bylaws, your primary activity is to train and recruit ***** to run for political office. Moreover, your program application asks prospective students to disclose specific details of their political participation as a ***** and clearly discloses that you limit your membership to registered members of the *****.

Like the school in American Campaign Academy, your purpose in conducting this activity is to provide education solely to individuals affiliated with a certain political party who want to enter politics. Indeed, you measure your success in terms of the number of your graduates who have won elective office representing the ***** or are actively engaged as campaign managers and advocates for ***** campaigns.

Because your primary activity is an educational program that is limited to ***** and conducted with the partisan objective of increasing the number of ***** elected officials you primarily serve private interests. Therefore, the operation of your program does not promote social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

CONCLUSION

In summary, you are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code and you must file federal income tax returns.

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter. We will consider your statement and decide if the information affects our determination.

Your protest statement should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this protest statement, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the statement contains all the relevant facts, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

You also have a right to request a conference to discuss your protest. This request should be made when you file your protest statement. An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you. If you want representation during the conference procedures, you must file a proper power of attorney, Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov, Forms and Publications.

Report Exhibits - Page 001525

7

If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848 and any supporting documents to this address:

Internal Revenue Service
*****
1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, DC 20224

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Holly Paz
Acting Director, Exempt Organizations
Rulings & Agreements

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201142027
Release Date: 10/21/2011

Date: June 30, 2011

UIL: 501.04-03

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Form Required To Be Filed:

Tax Years:

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax as an organization described in Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(4). Recently, we sent you a letter in response to your application that proposed an adverse determination. The letter explained the facts, law and rationale, and gave you 30 days to file a protest. Since we did not receive a protest within the requisite 30 days, the proposed adverse determination is now final.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001527

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: June 30, 2011

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

UIL: 501.04-03

Contact Number:

FAX Number:

Employer Identification Number:

Legend:

State =

Party =

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code ("Code"). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

FACTS

You were formed on December 6, 2008 as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of State. Your Articles of Incorporation state that you are "organized and shall be operated exclusively to inspire and train Party to run for public office."

Your Articles of Incorporation provide that upon dissolution or final liquidation, after the payment or provision for payment of all of the liabilities of the corporation, your remaining assets shall be distributed to such organization or organizations as the board of directors shall determine.

You conduct a training program of _____ for _____ who are members of Party. The program includes sessions covering _____

. You conducted your first training program in _____.

You charge $ _____ in tuition for your training program. You may award partial financial aid to program participants. You select _____ participants each year.

Your website contains a number of materials related to your training program. Your homepage states that "

Report Exhibits - Page 001529

2

You describe your curriculum as follows:

Your website states that you select students for your training program based on evidence of discriminate on the basis of " . You declare that you do not

Your 2010 Program Application contains a " " section which asks the potential trainee, " ?" and, " is then asked to explain why. If an applicant did not

Your 2010 Program Application also contains a " , " which requires the applicant to affirm the following: "

Your " " page says you are the:

On your "About Us" page you state:

Your website describes you as part of a

. You note your program's success by stating that the to which you belong has trained over

LAW

Section 501(a) of the Code exempts from federal income tax organizations described in section 501(c)(4).

Section 501(c)(4)(A) of the Code describes civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Section 501(c)(4)(B) indicates that subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations ("regulations") states that to be described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code, an organization must not be organized or operated for profit and must be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2) of the regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Additionally, it states that an organization described within this section is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Rev. Rul. 73-306, 1973-2 C.B. 179, provides that an organization formed for the purpose of promoting the common interest of tenants who reside in a particular apartment complex does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Any person regularly living in the complex was eligible for membership. The organization represented its member-tenants in negotiations with the management of the complex in order to secure better maintenance and services, as well as reasonable rentals. The ruling holds that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) because it operated essentially to benefit its members and, thus, was not primarily engaged in activities that promote the common good and general welfare of the community. In contrast, Rev. Rul. 80-206, 1980-2 C.B. 185, holds that an organization formed to promote the legal rights of all tenants in a community, instead of limiting its benefits to member-tenants, does qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 73-349, 1973-2 C.B. 179, holds that an organization formed to purchase groceries for its members at the lowest possible prices on a cooperative basis is not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Rather, the organization was a cooperative enterprise operated primarily for the private economic benefit or convenience of its members, and provided only incidental benefit to the community.

Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, describes an organization that was formed by the residents of a city block to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block, and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Its activities consisted of paying the city government to plant trees on public property within the block, organizing residents to pick up litter and refuse in the public streets and on public sidewalks within the block, and encouraging residents to take an active part in beautifying the block by placing shrubbery in public areas. Much of the public area improved by the organization was part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. Membership in the organization was restricted to residents of the block and those owning property or operating businesses there.

Because the activities enhanced the value of the members' property rights, the organization served the private interests of its members and did not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3). The restricted nature of its membership and limited area in which improvements were made were further indicators of private benefit. However, by beautifying and preserving public property in cooperation with the local government, the organization was considered to primarily promote the general welfare of the community even though its activities also benefited its members. Therefore, the organization did qualify under section 501(c)(4).

In Erie Endowment v. United States, 316 F.2d 151 (3d Cir. 1963), the court held that to qualify for exemption within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code, "the organization must be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Id. at 156.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized by World War II veterans for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Individuals became members in the corporation by purchasing an apartment unit and, as such, the number of members was limited to the number of units available. The court held that the organization was not described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code because it was "a public-spirited but privately-devoted endeavor" that provided only incidental benefit to the community. Id. at 818. The organization did not promote social welfare because it furnished housing only to a certain group of individuals, rather than on a community basis, and did not offer a service or program for the direct betterment or improvement of the community as a whole.

In New York State Association of Real Estate Boards Group Insurance Fund v. Commissioner, 54 T.C. 1325 (1970), an association organized by a small group interested in obtaining group insurance did not qualify for exemption because it offered its benefits to only a limited class of its members and their employees. The court noted "[t]here is not in such an organization the requisite civic concern to constitute social welfare" required for qualification under section 501(c)(4). Where the primary benefit from an organization is limited to that organization's members, and not provided to the community as a whole, the organization is not operated primarily for the social welfare.

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 827 (1974), plumbers working in New York City were responsible for the cuts they made in the city streets. Prior to the organization's existence, the city had repaired the cuts and billed the plumbers individually in what proved to be a highly inefficient system. The organization was formed in order to restore the city streets. It only repaired cuts made by its members. The joint effort of the plumbers reduced their liability and their expenses, and more efficiently repaired the city streets. While the court found that the program provided substantial benefits to the public, it concluded that the organization primarily served the private economic interests of its members and, thus, could not be considered exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), the organization's primary activity was to operate a school ("the Academy") training individuals for careers as political campaign professionals. The organization represented on its application for exemption that the Academy was an outgrowth of programs operated by the National Republican Congressional Committee ("NRCC") that were designed to train candidates and to train and subsequently place campaign professionals in Republican campaigns. In addition, the NRCC contributed physical assets to the Academy, two of the Academy's six full-time faculty members had been previously involved in the NRCC's training program, one of the Academy's three initial directors was the Executive Director of the NRCC at the time, and another initial director was a member of the Republican National Committee at the time. The Academy's activities were exclusively funded by the National Republican Congressional Trust. The Academy's curriculum included discussions concerning "How some Republicans have won Black votes," "NRCC/RNC/NRSC/State Party naughtiness," and "Use of GOP allies," without a counterbalance of comparable studies of other political parties.

While applicants to the Academy were not required to formally declare their political affiliation to attend the organization's school, the admission panel could deduce such affiliation from the campaign experiences and political references in the applications. The court found that this knowledge of an applicant's political affiliations allowed the admission panel to limit enrollment to applicants who were likely to subsequently work in Republican organizations and campaigns. Indeed, the court found that no graduate was known to affiliate with any political party other than the Republican Party. A substantial number of the members of the Academy's admission panel were affiliated with the Republican Party.

The Service determined that the organization operated for a substantial, non-exempt private purpose. The Tax Court agreed, holding the organization did not operate exclusively for exempt, educational purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it conducted its activities to benefit the private interests of Republican entities and candidates. Although these entities and candidates were not organization "insiders," the court stated that the conferral of nonincidental benefits on disinterested persons may cause an organization to serve a private interest. While the school had a legitimate educational program, it conducted these activities with the partisan objective of benefiting Republican candidates and entities. As such, a more than incidental private benefit was conferred on Republican entities and candidates who employed the Academy's students, one that precluded exemption under section 501(c)(3).

ANALYSIS

Based on the information you submitted with your application and review of your website, we find that you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code because your activities primarily serve private interests. Therefore, you do not qualify for exemption from federal income tax as an organization described in section 501(c)(4).

Your activities do not primarily promote social welfare because you primarily benefit private individuals and interests.

An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations. An organization recognized under section 501(c)(4) is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. Id.

To qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4), an organization must primarily benefit the community as a whole, rather than select individuals or groups. See Contracting Plumbers Coop. Restoration Corp., supra; New York State Ass'n of Real Estate Boards Group Ins. Fund, supra; Lake Forest, Inc., supra; Rev. Rul. 75-286, supra. A section 501(c)(4) organization must be "a community movement designed to accomplish community ends." Erie Endowment, supra. As such, a tenants' organization that benefits all the tenants in the community qualifies for exemption, while one that directs its activities toward benefiting only its member-tenants does not. Compare Rev. Rul. 80-206, supra, with Rev. Rul. 73-306, supra; see also Rev. Rul. 73-349, supra. Therefore, conferring a sufficient amount of private benefit on select individuals will preclude exemption under section 501(c)(4) for an organization that would otherwise qualify. Even if an organization substantially benefits the community, it will fail to qualify for exemption if it primarily benefits private interests. See Contracting Plumbers, supra.

Educational activities undertaken to provide a partisan benefit are considered to serve private interests, rather than the common good. In American Campaign Academy, supra, the court denied exemption under section 501(c)(3) to a school organized to train individuals for careers as political campaign professionals because its educational activities were operated with the partisan purpose of benefiting Republican Party entities and candidates. The private benefit conferred on these persons was more than incidental, and thus demonstrated a substantial non-exempt purpose that precluded exemption. While you are requesting recognition as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) and not section 501(c)(3) (as was American Campaign Academy), the standard for determining what constitutes private benefit described in American Campaign Academy applies to both sections. Sections 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4)(B) of the Code. For purposes of both section 501(c)(3) and section 501(c)(4), an organization which conducts its educational activities to benefit a political party and its candidates serves private interests. And, as discussed above, an organization that primarily serves private interests fails to qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4).

Thus, notwithstanding any benefit your educational activities may provide to individual students and the community, you fail to qualify for exemption because your training program primarily benefits the interests of the Party and its candidates. According to your Articles, Bylaws, and website, your primary activity is to

. Although you declare that you do not discriminate on the basis of "age, race, color, national or ethnic origin, marital status, religious affiliation, sexual orientation or physical abilities" you openly select students on the basis of partisan political affiliation. Your program application asks prospective students to disclose specific details of their political participation as a member of Party, and clearly discloses that you limit your membership to registered members of the Party. Your application asks candidates to affirm that they will use their increased skills to advance Party and the interests of Party. Like the school in American Campaign Academy, you provide education solely to individuals affiliated with a certain political party who want to enter politics. Your stated purpose is to advance opportunities for Party and the interests of the Party in general. Indeed, you measure your success, and that of your affiliates in other states, by the number of your graduates who have won elective office representing the Party.

Because your primary activity is an educational program that is limited to who are members of Party and is conducted with the partisan objective of increasing the number of Party's elected officials, you primarily serve private interests. Therefore, the operation of your program does not promote social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

CONCLUSION

In summary, you are not operated primarily to promote social welfare because your activities are conducted primarily for the benefit of a political party and a private group of individuals, rather than the community as a whole. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code and you must file federal income tax returns.

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter. We will consider your statement and decide if the information affects our determination.

Your protest statement should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this protest statement, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the statement contains all the relevant facts, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

You also have a right to request a conference to discuss your protest. This request should be made when you file your protest statement. An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you. If you want representation during the conference procedures, you must file a proper power of attorney, Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov, Forms and Publications.

If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848 and any supporting documents to this address:

Internal Revenue Service
TE/GE (SE:T:EO:RA)

1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, DC 20224

Report Exhibits - Page 001535

8

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director
Exempt Organizations

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201214035
Release Date: 4/6/2012
Date: January 11, 2012

Contact Person:
Identification Number:
Contact Number:
Employer Identification Number:
Form Required To Be Filed:
Tax Years:

UIL: 501.04-00; 501.04-03

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax as an organization described in Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(4). Recently, we sent you a letter in response to your application that proposed an adverse determination. The letter explained the facts, law and rationale, and gave you 30 days to file a protest. Since we did not receive a protest within the requisite 30 days, the proposed adverse determination is now final.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under Code section 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, you should follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Letter 4040 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47635Z

Report Exhibits - Page 001537

2

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

Letter 4040 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 476352

PSI-IRS-07-000102

TAX EXEMPT AND GOVERNMENT ENTITIES
DIVISION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: November 10, 2011

Contact Person:

Identification Number:

Contact Number:

FAX Number:

Employer Identification Number:

LEGEND:

B = Board Member
M = Political Candidate
N = Political Party in P
O = State where Organization is Incorporated
P = Nation where M is a Candidate
Q = Date Form 1024 received by IRS
R = Date of Organization's Incorporation
S = Election Date
T = Autobiography of M
U = Book about M
V = Book on M's Policies
W = Book Promoting P's Patriotism
X = Applicant's Website
Y = Location of Applicant's Related Group
Z = Location of Applicant's Related Group

UIL:

501.04-00
501.04-03

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code section 501(a). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under Code section 501(c)(4). The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

Issues

- Do you qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code?

No, for the reasons set forth below.

Facts

The Form 1024, Application for Recognition for Exemption Under Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code was received on date Q. With the Form 1024, you are applying for tax exempt status under IRC Section 501(c)(4). You were incorporated under the laws of the state of O on date R.

Your Certificate of Incorporation states that your purpose is, "To create, form, and establish an organization to disseminate information regarding national elections to [citizens of P] residing in the United States; to promote, foster, and advance their voting rights in P by providing access to information concerning political topics of interest to [citizens of P] residing in the United States; to research economic and social policies which may affect the [citizens of P] population in the United States; to survey and study the [citizens of P] population in the United States regarding their opinions on issues relevant to the [citizens of P] community; to provide information on all matters of political concern to the [citizens of P] population; to provide information regarding the availability of P governmental and social services in the U.S.; to provide an avenue of information between [citizens of P] residing in the United States and their homeland."

Your board of directors is comprised of three unrelated individuals, who do not receive compensation.

Your website, X, states that you were formed to support M, former Chairman of the N, which is a political party in P. The percentage of time that will be directed toward providing any kind of support to M is 80%. You will support M's policies and make the public aware of M's policies and ideas. You indicated through your website that you will do your best to support and patriotically advise M in the upcoming presidential election. You believe that increasing the interest and voting rates of the citizens of P in the U.S. will lead to the development of P's (green card holders, citizens, and following generations) rights, interests, and pride for their mother land. For this purpose, you believe that M is the most reliable and suitable politician, and you will devote your efforts to form a pro-M public opinion and help elect M in the coming presidential election.

You will support M's policies and make the public aware of M's policies and ideas by having a website which updates all M related information, such as personal information, policies and plans, media articles, etc. in real time. You will introduce and distribute M related books. These related books include T, an autobiography of M, U, V and W, which present favorable views of M's policies. You purchase these books from various companies and publishers. T and U are given away for free to promote a better understanding of M. V highlights M through the great achievements, patriotism, and philosophy of M's father. W is given away for free to promote patriotism among the citizens of P living in the United States. You will solicit concerns about the conditions in P from student citizens of P through seminars. You will then deliver their desires and opinions to M. You also plan to provide rides to the voting center for voters on S, and will remain neutral without supporting a specific candidate or political party while providing transportation. You stated that your goal is to turn out a high rate of voters by having advertisements in periodicals and through book purchases, which will help develop the interests of P's citizens in the U.S.

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

Your revenue will come from individual and group donations and gross dues and assessments of members. Your budgets indicate that your annual revenues range from less than $9,000 in 2010 to approximately $30,000 expected in 2012. Your expenditures included the $850 user fee paid for the processing of your Form 1024 application. Most of your expenses will be for publicity through advertising in periodicals and for book purchases.

Law

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for the exemption from federal income tax of organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations provides that an organizations is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) of the regulations provides that the promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

In Rev. Rul. 67-293, 1967-2 C.B. 185, an organization already exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code, and substantially engaged in promoting legislation to protect or otherwise benefit animals, is not exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, even though the legislation it advocates may be beneficial to the community, and even though most of the attempts to influence legislation may be indirect. The organization has not, however, participated or intervened in any political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office, and therefore, it remains exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In Rev. Rul. 67-368, 1967-2 C.B. 194, the Service held that an organization, formed for the purpose of promoting an enlightened electorate, whose primary activity was rating candidates for public office, was not exempt under IRC 501(c)(4) because such activity is not "the promotion of social welfare." The ruling stated that comparative rating of candidates, even though on a non-partisan basis, is participation or intervention on behalf of candidates favorably rated and in opposition to those less favorably rated.

In Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, the Service considered the effect of engaging in political campaign activities on an IRC 501(c)(4) organization. The organization was primarily engaged in activities designed to promote social welfare. In addition, it conducted activities involving participation and intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for nomination or election to public office. The ruling concluded that since the organization's primary activities promoted social welfare, its lawful participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to candidates for public office would not adversely affect its exempt status under IRC 501(c)(4). However, the organization was subject to the tax imposed by IRC 527 on expenditures for political activities as defined in IRC 527(e)(2), pursuant to IRC 527(f)(1).

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

Rev. Rul. 2004-6, 2004-4 I.R.B. 328, presents several scenarios involving 501(c)(4) organizations in which the [(c)(4)] organization engages in activities related to encouraging and supporting a particular public policy outcome or decision by associating the desired policy outcome with a specific elected official or candidate for public office. The individual scenarios are then differentiated in terms of whether the activities qualify for tax exemption. The Revenue Ruling held that expenditures by a 501(c)(4) organization were subject to tax under section 527(b)(1) of the Code when the actions of the organization do not identify and are not timed to coincide with a specific event or decision outside the control of the organization that it hopes to influence. Rather, expenditures and actions of the organization support or encourage the election of the specific public official or candidate in order to accomplish its public policy goal.

In American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), a school that trained individuals as campaign managers was denied exemption under IRC 501(c)(3) because it operated for the substantial nonexempt purpose of benefiting the private interests of Republican Party entities and candidates. Although the school had a legitimate educational program, the Tax Court held that it conducted its educational activities with the partisan objective of benefiting Republican interests. The court noted that the school's partisan purpose distinguished its activities from the educational organization in Rev. Rul. 76-456, supra.

Application of Law

You fail to meet the requirements of Section 501(c)(4) of the Code because you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. The percentage of your time that will be devoted toward supporting M's political interests is 80%. Your activities are primarily political in nature in that you influence citizens of P to vote for M by distributing the books U, V, and W, supporting M's policies and making the public aware of M's policies and ideas by maintaining a website, which updates all M related information, such as personal information, M's policies and plans, media articles, etc. in real time.

You are not an organization described under 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) – (ii) of the regulations because you are not operating exclusively for the promotion of social welfare because you are not primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Instead, you are engaged primarily in influencing or attempting to influence the selection, election, or appointment of M in P's upcoming presidential election. As noted above, 80% of your activities will be devoted to providing support to the political candidate, M. A document taken from your website and submitted with your response states that you are "organized throughout the United States to inspire our [P-Americans] (excluding US citizens) to exercise their rights to vote during P's elections, and especially to vote for the right leaders who will further develop our home country." The document further states, "Because the image of the association and chapter is closely related to and seriously influences that of candidate M, this association will endeavor to enhance and protect the image of the association." You also stated that you want to influence all citizens of P eligible to vote in P (those with green cards and/or visiting visas) that are in the U.S., and [P-American] leaders who are interested in the expansion of rights and interests for the next generation, but not voters located in P.

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

Report Exhibits - Page 001542

5

You are unlike the organization in Rev. Rul. 67-293 because you do participate and intervene in political campaigns on behalf of a candidate for public office, and therefore, are not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You are similar to the organization described in Rev. Rul. 67-368 because you are participating or intervening on behalf of M. A statement on your website, that has been shared with you in our correspondence, states that you were, "formed and [are] officially active in supporting M, former Chairman of N." Your website also states that, "the association will be in close ties with M, play an important role in connecting with the P-American Society, and support M in the upcoming presidential election." Your website further quotes your board member, B, who said, "This association is a nationwide association, expanding from pre-existing groups in O, Y, and Z who support M, and will do its best to support and patriotically advise M for M's victory in the upcoming presidential election." Finally, to reiterate, you also indicated in your most recent response that 80% of your time will be devoted to supporting M as a political candidate.

You are unlike the organization in Rev. Rul. 81-95 because your activities are primarily engaged in campaigning for M. Your website updates all M related information, such as personal information, M's policies and plans, media articles, etc. in real time. You will introduce M related books such as M's autobiography, T, as well as U, V and W, which present favorable views of M and M's policies. You also boost concerns about the conditions of P among P's citizens through seminars, and then report their desires and opinions to M.

Your activities in support of the policies and election of M are similar to activities of the organizations described in Rev. Rul. 2004-6 that are subject to tax because these activities and expenditures support or encourage the election of a specific public official or candidate in order to accomplish public policy goals.

You are similar to the organization described in American Campaign Academy v. Commissioner, 92 T.C. 1053 (1989), in that you conducted your activities with the partisan objective of benefiting M's interests. You stated that the purpose of advertising in periodicals and the book purchases is to attract citizens of P's attention to the politics in P and to create a high turnout of voters, thus supporting homeland prosperity and advanced politics through M, and to further the development of rights and interests of citizens of P in the U.S. for the next generation. You will promote M's political campaign by providing information of M's economic and political views and by providing information to the public of M's background and character. As stated earlier, your website updates all M related information including personal information, policies and plans, media articles, etc. in real time. Although this court case is about an organization being denied under 501(c)(3) because it operated for the substantial nonexempt purpose of benefiting the private interests of Republican party entities and candidates, the same concept would apply for a section 501(c)(4) organization because promoting a political candidate also does not serve social welfare purposes as described under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Applicant's Position

You state that your primary activity is involved in promoting M's political campaign. You believe that

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

PSI-IRS-07-000107

increasing the interest and voting rates of citizens of P in the U.S. will lead to the development of the rights, interests, and pride for the mother land among these individuals (green card holders, citizens, and following generations). For this purpose, M is the most reliable and suitable politician. You will devote your efforts to form a pro-M public opinion and help elect M in the coming presidential election. You want to influence all citizens of P who are in the U.S. (those with green cards and/or visiting visas) to vote, and to influence [P-American] leaders who are interested in the expansion of rights and interests for the next generation, not just the voters in P. You plan to provide rides to the voting center for voters on S, the election date, while remaining neutral and without supporting a specific candidate or political party while providing transportation. Your goal is to create a high turnout of voters, which will support homeland prosperity and advanced politics through M, and further the development of rights and interests of citizens of P in the U.S. for the next generation.

Service Response to Applicant's Position

Your stated primary activity, promoting an individual's political campaign is not a qualifying tax-exempt purpose under IRC section 501(c)(4). Political educational organizations must conduct their activities in a non-partisan manner. Your activities are not conducted in a non-partisan manner because they serve primarily to support M's political presidential campaign. Therefore, you do not have a social welfare purpose consistent with section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Conclusion

You do not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4), or any other section of the Code, because you primarily support M in the contest for the presidential election in P by influencing voters in the United States who are eligible to vote.

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter.

We will consider your statement and decide if that information affects our determination. If your statement does not provide a basis to reconsider our determination, we will forward your case to our Appeals Office. You can find more information about the role of the Appeals Office in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues.

Types of information that should be included in your appeal can be found on page 2 of Publication 892, under the heading "Regional Office Appeal". The statement of facts (item 4) must be declared true under penalties of perjury. This may be done by adding to the appeal the following signed declaration:

"Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined the statement of facts presented in this appeal and in any accompanying schedules and statements and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, they are true, correct, and complete."

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

Report Exhibits - Page 001544

7

Your appeal will be considered incomplete without this statement.

If an organization's representative submits the appeal, a substitute declaration must be included stating that the representative prepared the appeal and accompanying documents; and whether the representative knows personally that the statements of facts contained in the appeal and accompanying documents are true and correct.

An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you during the appeal process. To be represented during the appeal process, you must file a proper power of attorney, Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice Before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov, Forms and Publications. If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter to you. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848 and any supporting documents to the applicable address:

Mail to:

Internal Revenue Service
EO Determinations Quality Assurance
Room 7-008
P.O. Box 2508
Cincinnati, OH 45201

Deliver to:

Internal Revenue Service
EO Determinations Quality Assurance
550 Main Street, Room 7-008
Cincinnati, OH 45202

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure, Publication 892

Letter 4034 (CG) (11-2005)
Catalog Number 47628K

PSI-IRS-07-000109

Report Exhibits - Page 001545

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Number: 201224034
Release Date: 6/15/2012

Date: March 21, 2012

UIL: 501.04-00
501.30-00
501.33-00

Contact Person:
*****
Identification Number:
*****
Contact Number:
*****
Employer Identification Number:
*****
Form Required To Be Filed:
*****
Tax Years:
*****

Dear :

This is our final determination that you do not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax as an organization described in Internal Revenue Code § 501(c)(4). Recently, we sent you a letter in response to your application that proposed an adverse determination. The letter explained the facts, law and rationale, and gave you 30 days to file a protest. Since we did not receive a protest within the requisite 30 days, the proposed adverse determination is now final.

You must file Federal income tax returns on the form and for the years listed above within 30 days of this letter, unless you request an extension of time to file. File the returns in accordance with their instructions, and do not send them to this office. Failure to file the returns timely may result in a penalty.

We will make this letter and our proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection under § 6110, after deleting certain identifying information. Please read the enclosed Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in Notice 437. If you agree with our deletions, you do not need to take any further action.

If you have any questions about this letter, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter. If you have any questions about your Federal income tax status and responsibilities, please contact IRS Customer Service at

Report Exhibits - Page 001546

2

*****

1-800-829-1040 or the IRS Customer Service number for businesses, 1-800-829-4933. The IRS Customer Service number for people with hearing impairments is 1-800-829-4059.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

Enclosure
Notice 437
Redacted Proposed Adverse Determination Letter
Redacted Final Adverse Determination Letter

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

Date: February 15, 2012

501.04-00
501.30-00
501.33-00

Contact Person:

*****

Identification Number:

*****

Contact Number:

*****

FAX Number:

*****

Employer Identification Number:

*****

Legend:

State = *****
Founder = *****
Schools = *****
Office = *****
County = *****
Program 1 = *****
Program 2 = *****
Program 3 = *****
Program 4 = *****
Program 5 = *****
Program 6 = *****
Program 7 = *****

Dear :

We have considered your application for recognition of exemption from Federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code § 501(a). Based on the information provided, we have concluded that you do not qualify for exemption under § 501(c)(4). The basis for our conclusion is set forth below.

Facts:

You were incorporated under the laws of State. You transitioned from a series of for-profit successors with the following purposes:

- Promoting political change through articles, columns, books, and other media Founder was planning to create.
- Producing and selling prepared foods to consumers.
- Promoting solutions to the state's challenging problems through grassroots advocacy and publicity.

Your latest Articles of Incorporation provide that you are organized to promote solutions to

*****

State's challenging problems through grassroots advocacy and publicity. Your Articles also state that you will have a board of directors with one member and that member will be Founder. Founder is also your president. Upon dissolution, your remaining assets shall be distributed for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of § 501(c)(3) or § 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Your Bylaws provide that you shall have one director and that person alone shall be known as the Board of Directors. Your Bylaws further provide that directors shall not be compensated for their duties as directors. Salaries of your officers shall be fixed by resolution of your board of directors. Founder is also your treasurer and secretary. You stated that as you grow, you will add an appropriate oversight mechanism but in your current state, you find this unnecessary. Your Bylaws contain a Conflict of Interest and Compensation Approval Policies. However, as Founder is your only director and officer, these Policies are immaterial.

You state that you are a citizen's advocacy group focused on solving some of the critical problems facing the citizens of State. At the time of application, you were engaged in the following activities:

- Program 1: this program allowed citizens to learn about and commit to specific action to save the marine environment through a website program. This program attempts to motivate citizens to substantially reduce the amount they pollute. Individuals who visit the website are presented with a list of actions they can take to reduce the amount they pollute, and then are asked to commit to taking specific actions. The website calculates how many pounds of pollution would not reach the marine environment as the result of each step taken. You worked with other organizations to develop the predictor model on the website.
- Program 2: this program attempted to help protect citizens from inappropriate law enforcement raids. You worked with public officials to pass legislation requiring jurisdictions using law enforcement tactical teams to report periodically on the number of tactical deployments and outcomes. State's governor signed the legislation into law.
- Program 3: this program allowed you to work with the leadership of Schools to design and implement a system where organizations can partner with schools to provide improved education opportunities to students. Founder worked with the Office to develop a program where individuals, businesses, and churches could partner with a specific school to provide additional educational opportunities to students or resources to the school.

At the time of application, you anticipated that your activities would change to the following:

- Program 1
- Program 4: this program would allow you to work with representatives of State's governor's office to implement one or more pilot programs showing how state agencies can restructure their systems to cut costs while providing better customer service.

*****

- Program 5: this program would allow you to work with local business organizations to create programs to help entrepreneurial companies start and expand in State, creating high-quality jobs.

You state that for most of the time from submission of your application you were on hiatus while Founder, ran for elective office. After losing the election, Founder's attention turned back to your operations. You are currently focusing on the following:

- Program 1: you are working with residents in a few of the most critical communities to determine the cost structure and other criteria necessary to build community support to invest in sewer systems.
- Program 6: Founder was just elected chair of County's state-mandated organization whose mission is to represent the interests of parents and citizens to County's board of education. Founder's chairmanship started by fielding a comprehensive survey to determine residents' biggest concerns. You will participate in this research and report the results so the organization can use the results to choose a number of issues to research further and help solve.
- Program 7: you have almost completed a research project which will report how ambulance response rates in County compare with the national standard. You plan to report the results of this research mid-2011 and set up a task force of several high-level fire department personnel as well as representatives from two major hospitals in County. The task force will determine how to get ambulances back on the street more quickly.

Your website contains a description of all of your programs. Your website also contains a blog written and maintained by Founder. The blog started around the time of your incorporation and most recent amended Articles of Incorporation. Most blog posts center around current or pending legislation, as well as the agendas of elected political officials. Of the 17 blog posts, five of these criticize Founder's former opponent in a race for elected office. These critical blog posts occurred both before and after the election.

The blog page on your website contains links to Founder's campaign website.

You have been primarily funded through donations from Founder. You hope to recruit additional sources of support in the future. In the year that you were incorporated, income was generated from Founder's donations and Program 2. Expenses for that year primarily included those for disbursements to Program 2, software, personal property taxes, and your website. For the following tax year, you only incurred expenses for bank fees, depreciation, and merchant account fees.

At the time of application, you indicated you may spend money attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of individuals to public office or office in a political organization. Upon further development, you indicated you have not spent any money doing so, nor do you ever intend to do so. Your webpage that seeks donations from individuals states that because donations are "used for lobbying and promoting political change, it is not tax-deductible under U.S. law."

*****

You stated that because Founder is a political figure who ran for elective office in 2004 and 2010, you wish to seek exemption as a § 501(c)(4) organization to avoid the appearance of any impropriety.

Law:

Section 501(a) exempts from federal income tax organizations described in § 501(c)(4).

Section 501(c)(4)(A) describes civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Section 501(c)(4)(B) indicates that subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations ("regulations") states that an organization may be exempt as an organization described in § 501(c)(4) if it is not organized or operated for profit and is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community, such as bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) provides that the promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. Nor is an organization operated primarily for the promotion of social welfare if its primary activity is operating a social club for the benefit, pleasure, or recreation of its members, or is carrying on a business with the general public in a manner similar to organizations which are operated for profit.

In Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc. v. United States, 326 U.S. 279 (1945), the Supreme Court held that the presence of a single non-exempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will destroy the exemption regardless of the number or importance of truly exempt purposes. The Court found that a trade association had an "underlying commercial motive" that distinguished its educational program from that carried out by a university, and therefore, the association did not qualify for exemption.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F.2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), a corporation was organized for the purpose of purchasing a government housing project and converting it to cooperative, nonprofit housing for its members. Individuals became members in the corporation by purchasing an apartment unit. The court held that the organization was not described in

*****

§ 501(c)(4) because it was "a public-spirited but privately-devoted endeavor" with only incidental benefit to the community. Id. at 814. Although anyone was eligible to join the organization, the court determined that it provided benefits only to its members and not the community as a whole.

In Erie Endowment v. United States, 316 F.2d 151, 156 (3d Cir. 1963), the court held that to qualify for exemption within the meaning of § 501(c)(4), "the organization must be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends."

In Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp. v. United States, 488 F.2d 684 (2d Cir. 1973), the court ruled that an organization benefitting only its members did not meet the requirements of § 501(c)(4) because the benefits flowed directly to members of the organization. The court followed "the rule that the presence of a single substantial non-exempt purpose precludes exempt status regardless of the number or importance of the exempt purposes." Id. at 686. The organization's primary activity benefited its members rather than the public, and therefore it was not "primarily devoted to the common good as required by even the most liberal reading of 501(c)(4)." Id. at 687.

Rev. Rul. 74-361, 1974-2 C.B. 159, held that an organization that was organized as a nonprofit volunteer fire company to provide fire protection and ambulance services for a community could be held as exempt from Federal income tax as a social welfare organization described in § 501(c)(4) because its activities promote the common good and general welfare of the community.

Rev. Rul. 68-45, 1968-1 C.B. 259, held that a war veterans' post which was primarily engaged in social welfare activities could qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under § 501(c)(4) even though a substantial portion of its revenue came from bingo games open to the general public.

Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332, held that an organization primarily engaged in the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of § 501(c)(4) may participate in lawful political campaign activities involving the nomination or election of public officials without adversely affecting its exempt status.

Analysis:

Based on our analysis of the information you submitted with your application and in subsequent correspondence, we have determined that you are not operated primarily for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of § 501(c)(4), and therefore do not qualify as an organization described in § 501(c)(4).

To be described in § 501(c)(4), an organization must be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. An organization will be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, and therefore exempt, if it is primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the community. See § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i). Exempt purposes include bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. See § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i).

*****

Whether an organization is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare is a facts and circumstances determination. Relevant factors include the manner in which the organization's activities are conducted; resources used in conducting such activities, such as buildings and equipment; the time devoted to activities (by volunteers as well as employees); the purposes furthered by various activities; and the amount of funds received from and devoted to particular activities. See e.g., Rev. Rul. 74-361, supra (volunteer fire company that provides recreational facilities for members is primarily engaged in promoting social welfare where providing facilities primarily furthers exempt purposes); Rev. Rul. 68-45, supra (organization's principal source of income is not sole factor in determining whether it is "primarily engaged" in promoting social welfare).

Based on Contracting Plumbers Cooperative Restoration Corp., an organization will not meet the requirements of § 501(c)(4) if it is operated primarily to benefit a private group rather than the community as a whole, even if it provides some benefit to the community. 488 F.2d at 687. Your activities serve to primarily benefit Founder. You solely serve to promote Founder and Founder's agenda and platforms. As provided in your Articles and Bylaws, Founder is the only member and officer on your Board of Directors. There is no community input or oversight, or independent members of the community on your Board of Directors. This is demonstrated from the fact that while Founder sought elected office your operations seized until the election was over. Furthermore, the selection, operation, and oversight of your programs and activities are made at the sole discretion of Founder, and are solely funded by Founder.

Founder also plans to use you to conduct activities in connection with Founder's election as the chair of County's state-mandated organization. The holding of Erie Endowment, requires that a § 501(c)(4) organization be a community movement designed to accomplish community ends. 316 F.2d at 156. Your programs, however, are designed strictly to promote Founder and that individual's pursuits.

Additionally, you have not established that your primary activity is not to engage in direct or indirect political intervention. The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii). In Rev. Rul. 81-95, supra, we concluded that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under section 501(c)(4) . . . as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare." The corollary to this is that if an organization's primary activities do not promote social welfare but are direct or indirect political intervention, the organization is not exempt under § 501(c)(4). The key is to determine the character of the organization's primary activities by looking at all of the facts and circumstances. Founder used you to prepare studies that coincide with Founder's political interests, to lobby for things that Founder believes in, and to follow political opponents through the blog on your website. Your website contains a blog written and maintained by Founder that criticizes Founder's former opponent in a race for elected office. The blog also contains information on the political agendas of elected political officials. There are no procedures in place to bar using the website as platform development

*****

Conclusion:

You have not established that you meet the requirements of § 501(c)(4) because you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Your primary activities do not serve the general welfare of the people or the community as required by § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2).

You have the right to file a protest if you believe this determination is incorrect. To protest, you must submit a statement of your views and fully explain your reasoning. You must submit the statement, signed by one of your officers, within 30 days from the date of this letter. We will consider your statement and decide if the information affects our determination.

Your protest statement should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this protest statement, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the statement contains all the relevant facts, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

You also have a right to request a conference to discuss your protest. This request should be made when you file your protest statement. An attorney, certified public accountant, or an individual enrolled to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may represent you. If you want representation during the conference procedures, you must file a proper power of attorney, Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, if you have not already done so. For more information about representation, see Publication 947, Practice before the IRS and Power of Attorney. All forms and publications mentioned in this letter can be found at www.irs.gov. Forms and Publications.

If you do not intend to protest this determination, you do not need to take any further action. If we do not hear from you within 30 days, we will issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information about filing tax returns and other matters.

Please send your protest statement, Form 2848, and any supporting documents to this address:

Internal Revenue Service
TE/GE (*****)
*****
1111 Constitution Ave, N.W.
Washington, DC 20224

You may also fax your statement using the fax number shown in the heading of this letter. If you fax your statement, please call the person identified in the heading of this letter to confirm that he or she received your fax.

Report Exhibits - Page 001554

8

*****

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Lois G. Lerner
Director, Exempt Organizations

January 4, 2013

VIA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL (Catherine.M.Barre@irs.gov)

The Honorable Steven T. Miller
Acting Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement
Internal Revenue Service
1111 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20224

Dear Acting Commissioner Miller:

I appreciate your November 23, 2012 response to my letter of October 23, 2012. Please provide the following information by January 25, 2013.

- 1) In the IRS response of September 14, 2012, you write that "during the past six months, no notices of proposed or final revocation were issued to section 501(c)(4) organizations." In the November 23, 2012 IRS response, you write that "we have issued 42 revocation notices to section 501(c)(4) organizations since January of 2007." Also in the November 23, 2012 response you write "Since January 1, 2007, we have issued ten adverse determinations to section 501(c)(4) applicants." Please respond to the following:
  - a. Please explain the difference between a "revocation notice" and an "adverse determination."
  - b. Please explain whether or not a total of 52 organizations have now been deemed by the IRS as having not met their obligations as a § 501(c)(4) social welfare organization, and if so, please describe the consequences for those organizations in terms of whether or not they were subject to tax or penalties under § 527(i) and (j) for failure to make proper disclosure, whether they were then required by the IRS to pay other taxes, including back taxes, and whether or not they did so.
  - i. If you have not already done so, please provide the notices or letters that the IRS sent to the groups which the IRS determined did not meet their obligations as § 501(c)(4) charitable organizations.
- 2) In the IRS response of November 23, 2012, you write that from January 1, 2007 to September 2012, the IRS has examined 643 § 501(c)(4) organizations to determine whether or not they were primarily engaged in social welfare activities but that the IRS "cannot definitively conclude whether we examined an organization to determine the level of political activity” without conducting a manual review of these cases. Please respond to the following:

- a. Please conduct this manual review and provide the number of these 643 examinations which involved political activity;
- b. Please provide the number and names of the organizations that were determined to not be valid § 501(c)(4) organizations from this review.
- c. Please provide an explanation as to how the IRS determined whether or not the § 501(c)(4) organization was primarily engaged in political activity including any guidance, memorandum, or criteria used by the IRS to determine whether or not a § 501(c)(4) organization was primarily engaged in political activity during these examinations.

3) In the IRS response of November 23, 2012, you write “Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax exempt status and supporting materials only after the organization has been recognized as exempt.” On December 14, 2012, ProPublica released the 1024 application for tax exempt status filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies with the IRS.<sup>1</sup> Please respond to the following:

- a. Did the IRS release the 1024 application filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies to ProPublica or any other entity?
- b. If the IRS released the 1024 application filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies, why did it do so since the IRS has yet to approve Crossroads’ application?
- c. Please also provide an update as to the status of the application for tax exempt status filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies.

4) With regard to your June 4, 2012 response:

- a. When describing the § 501(c)(4) application process, you write that “... in situations where there are a number of cases involving similar issues (such as credit counseling organizations, down payment assistance organizations, organizations that were automatically revoked and are seeking retroactive reinstatement, and most recently, advocacy organizations), the IRS will assign cases to designated employees to promote consistency.” Please explain the term “advocacy organization” and provide any guidelines, memorandum, or procedures used by the IRS to evaluate § 501(c)(4) advocacy organizations including whether or not the IRS considers an “advocacy organization” to be an organization that is engaged in political activity.
- b. Please provide the “draft educational guide sheet on the issue of political activity for section 501(c)(4) applications that was shared for comment with some employees in EO Determinations” that you reference on page 13 of the letter.

---

<sup>1</sup> See Karl Rove’s Dark Money Group Promised IRS It Would Spend Limited Money on Elections, ProPublica, (12/14/2012), <http://www.propublica.org/article/what-karl-roves-dark-money-nonprofit-told-the-irs>.

Report Exhibits - Page 001557

3

- 5) Please explain the difference between Rev. Ruling 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421, which is generally used by the IRS to determine whether issue advocacy crosses the line into campaign intervention<sup>2</sup> and Rev. Ruling 2004-6, 2004-1 C.B. 328, which generally addresses whether an expenditure for an issue advocacy expenditure is subject to the § 527(f) tax.<sup>3</sup> Please also explain which of these is used by the IRS to determine whether a § 501(c)(4) organization is primarily engaged in political activity.
- 6) It has been reported in the press that some § 501(c)(4) organizations report to the IRS that they do not engage in political activity but then report either they do engage in political activity to the Federal Election Commission (FEC) or report widely varying amounts of political activity to the FEC and the IRS.<sup>4</sup> Please respond to the following:
- a. Does the IRS track a § 501(c)(4) organization's filings with the FEC?
  - b. What actions does the IRS take when there are differences in what a § 501(c)(4) organization reports to the IRS versus what it reports to the FEC?
  - c. How does the IRS coordinate with the FEC with regard to § 501(c)(4) organizations?

Thank you for your assistance. If you have any questions, please contact me, or have your staff contact Laura Stuber of my staff at 202/224-9579 or laura\_stuber@hsgac.senate.gov.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

<sup>2</sup> Political Ads: Issue Advocacy or Campaign Activity Under the Tax Code, Congressional Research Service, August 29, 2012.

<sup>3</sup> Id.

<sup>4</sup> See How Non Profits Spend Millions on Elections and Call it Public Welfare, Propublica, August 18, 2012, <http://www.propublica.org/article/how-nonprofits-spend-millions-on-elections-and-call-it-public-welfare>.

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20224

March 15, 2013

The Honorable Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Committee on Homeland Security
and Government Affairs
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am responding to your letter dated January 4, 2013, requesting additional information about § 501(c)(4) organizations. This response supplements the previous responses dated June 4, 2012, July 13, 2012, August 24, 2012, September 14, 2012, October 17, 2012, and November 23, 2012, and addresses the additional questions raised in your recent letter.

Question 1. In the IRS response of September 14, 2012, you write that "during the past six months, no notices of proposed or final revocation were issued to section 501(c)(4) organizations." In the November 23, 2012 IRS response, you write that "we have issued 42 revocation notices to section 501(c)(4) organizations since January of 2007." Also in the November 23, 2012, response you write "since January 1, 2007, we have issued ten adverse determinations to section 501(c)(4) applicants." Please respond to the following:

- a. Please explain the difference between a "revocation notice" and an "adverse determination."

An adverse determination is a written ruling denying tax-exempt status to an organization that has applied for tax exemption, but has failed to meet the applicable requirements. A revocation notice is a written notice that tax exempt status is being revoked, as the result of an examination.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Revocation notices also may be issued to organizations that are automatically revoked for failing to file a Form 990 series return for three consecutive years. The revocation notices noted in Question1 above resulted from examinations.

- b. Please explain whether or not a total of 52 organizations have now been deemed by the IRS as having not met their obligations as a § 501(c)(4) social welfare organization, and if so, please describe the consequences for those organizations in terms of whether or not they were subject to tax or penalties under § 527(i) and (j) for failure to make proper disclosure, whether they were then required by the IRS to pay other taxes, including back taxes, and whether or not they did so.

See Question 1bi below for information regarding the number of organizations that have not met the requirements for 501(c)(4) social welfare status.

As discussed in the June 4, 2012 and September 14, 2012 responses, failure to qualify under § 501(c)(4) is not determinative of whether an organization qualifies as tax-exempt under § 527. Sections 501(c)(4) and 527 both provide avenues for tax exemption under the Code, but for different types and levels of activity. To be tax-exempt under § 527, an organization must be operated primarily for the purpose of accepting contributions or making expenditures for an exempt function (i.e., influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any federal, state, or local public office or office in a political organization). To be tax-exempt under § 501(c)(4) an organization must be primarily engaged in social welfare activity, but may conduct some amount of non-social welfare activity. If a § 501(c)(4) organization is determined not to be primarily engaged in social welfare by virtue of conducting high levels of non-social welfare activity, which could include political campaign intervention activity, that does not automatically mean the organization qualifies to be a § 527 political organization. To be tax-exempt under § 527, an organization must meet the requirements for that section, including taking action to be so treated by filing Form 8871, unless it meets one of the statutory exceptions. If it fails to timely file Form 8871, the organization will not be treated as a tax-exempt political organization for any period before the date the Form is filed, and its income will be subject to tax.

- i. If you have not already done so, please provide the notices or letters that the IRS sent to the groups which the IRS determined did not meet their obligations as § 501(c)(4) charitable organizations.

Under the disclosure restrictions of §§ 6103 and 6110, we can only provide adverse determination letters and revocation notices in which taxpayer identifying and certain other information have been redacted.

Once we redact identifying information from an adverse determination letter or a revocation notice, copies of the original and redacted versions are sent to the organization, along with Notice 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose. Notice 437 provides the organization with an opportunity to request additional deletions or a delay in public disclosure. If the organization does not take any further action within a specified period, generally 60 days after the mailing date of the notice, the redacted documents can then be made public. If, however, the organization disagrees with the redactions or requests a delay in publication, the process can take longer.

With regard to your request, we provided the ten redacted adverse determination letters with the November 23, 2012 response to your October 23, 2012 letter. The 42 instances of revocation notices identified in our earlier response resulted from queries to our automated systems, which have some limitations. In searching for the revocation notices, we noted some discrepancies between system-generated information and the actual revocation notices. To ensure that we provide responsive information to your request, we are manually reviewing case files for some of these matters. We will provide an update as we complete our review. We have enclosed nine revocation notices that have completed the redaction and taxpayer review process. Others are at various stages in that process and we will provide them as the process is completed.

Question 2. In the IRS response of November 23, 2012, you write that from January 1, 2007 to September 2012, the IRS has examined 643 § 501(c)(4) organizations to determine whether or not they were primarily engaged in social welfare activities but that the IRS "cannot definitively conclude whether we examined an organization to determine the level of political activity" without conducting a manual review of these cases. Please respond to the following:

- a. Please conduct this manual review and provide the number of these 643 examinations which involved political activity;
- b. Please provide the number and names of the organizations that were determined to not be valid § 501(c)(4) organizations from this review.

As stated in the November 23, 2012, response, our system reflects that 22 of the 643 examined § 501(c)(4) organizations had political campaign activity as one of the issues explored during examination. We derived this information from the selected Principal Issue Codes (PIC codes), which identify issues during an examination. Although there are some limitations to PIC codes, we do not believe a manual review of the files would significantly change the number of examinations in which political campaign activity was an issue considered. We would like to discuss with your staff any remaining concerns with this methodology.

Please note that the law would not allow us to provide the names of the organizations. As previously noted, § 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers, including whether they are under investigation or examination, unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision of the Internal Revenue Code.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>2</sup> IRC § 6103(f) of the Code sets forth the means by which congressional committees may obtain access to return and return information (that is not otherwise made publicly available under

- c. Please provide an explanation as to how the IRS determined whether or not the § 501(c)(4) organization was primarily engaged in political activity including any guidance, memorandum, criteria used by the IRS to determine whether or not a § 501(c)(4) organization was primarily engaged in political activity during these examinations.

To maintain tax exemption as described in § 501(c)(4), the organization must meet the statutory requirements in the Internal Revenue Code and accompanying regulations. Whether an organization maintains the statutory and regulatory requirements of § 501(c)(4) depends upon all of the facts and circumstances, and no one factor is determinative. Thus, in making a determination, we must take into account all facts and circumstances in evaluating whether legal requirements are satisfied. A variety of legal and procedural guidance is relevant in making such determination.

Legal guidance used to determine whether a § 501(c)(4) organization primarily engages in exempt activities include the following:

- IRC § 501(c)(4)
- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(a)-1<sup>3</sup>
- Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1; i.e., Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i)-(ii)<sup>4</sup>
- Rev. Rul. 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421

---

§§ 6104 and 6110). We are available to discuss these rules in more detail with your staff.

<sup>3</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.501(a)-1(a)(3). In general, proof of exemption. An organization claiming exemption under § 501(a) and described in any paragraph of § 501(c) (other than § 501(c)(1)) shall file the form of application prescribed by the IRS and shall include thereon such information as required by such form and the instructions issued with respect thereto. For rules relating to the obtaining of a determination of exempt status by an employees' trust described in § 401(a), see the regulations under § 401. Treas. Reg. § 1.501(a)-1(b)(2). In addition to the information specifically called for by this section, the IRS may require any additional information deemed necessary for a proper determination of whether a particular organization is exempt under § 501(a), and when deemed advisable in the interest of an efficient administration of the internal revenue laws, the IRS may in the cases of particular types of organizations prescribe the form in which the proof of exemption shall be furnished.

<sup>4</sup> An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements. A social welfare organization will qualify for exemption as a charitable organization if it falls within the definition of charitable set forth in paragraph (d)(2) of Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1 and is not an action organization as set forth in paragraph (c)(3) of Reg. § 1.501(c)(3)-1. The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. Nor is an organization operated primarily for the promotion of social welfare if its primary activity is operating a social club for the benefit, pleasure, or recreation of its members, or is carrying on a business with the general public in a manner similar to organizations which are operated for profit.

- Rev. Rul. 2004-6, 2004-1 C.B. 328
- Rev. Rul. 81-95, 1981-1 C.B. 332<sup>5</sup>
- Rev. Rul. 67-368, 1967-2 C.B. 194<sup>6</sup>
- Rev. Rul. 60-193, 1960-1 C.B. 195<sup>7</sup>

A revenue agent working a case uses sound reasoning based on tax law training and his or her experience in examining an organization. Because of the facts and circumstances nature and the need for professional judgment on the part of the revenue agent doing the review, procedural guidance is necessary to minimize variances in how cases are developed. As such, the IRS utilizes procedural guidance to promote quality and consistency in similar cases, such as the following:

- Rev. Proc. 2013-9<sup>8</sup>
- Form 1024<sup>9</sup>
- IRM 4.75<sup>10</sup>
- IRM 4.76.13<sup>11</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Rev. Rul. 81-95 provides that "an organization may carry on lawful political activities and remain exempt under § 501(c)(4) as long as it is primarily engaged in activities that promote social welfare."

<sup>6</sup> In Rev. Rul. 67-368, an organization formed for the purpose of promoting an enlightened electorate, whose primary activity was rating candidates for public office, was not exempt under § 501(c)(4) because such activity was not "the promotion of social welfare." The ruling stated that comparative rating of candidates, even though on a non-partisan basis, constitutes participation or intervention in a political campaign on behalf of candidates favorably rated and in opposition to those less favorably rated.

<sup>7</sup> Rev. Rul. 60-193 concludes that an organization whose purpose was to encourage greater participation in governmental and political affairs promoted social welfare and therefore qualified for recognition of exemption under § 501(c)(4). Activities of the organization included conducting nonpartisan seminars and workshops relating to the American political system. All lecturers were required to maintain certain technical standards and were not allowed to advocate for any particular political group. Seminars and workshops were moderated by permanent staff personnel of the organization in order to prevent the program from becoming partisan in character.

<sup>8</sup> Rev. Proc. 2013-9 sets forth IRS procedures for issuing, as well as for revoking and modifying, determination letters and rulings on the exempt status of organizations under § 501 of the Internal Revenue Code.

<sup>9</sup> IRS application form for organizations seeking IRS recognition of exemption under § 501, including § 501(c)(4).

<sup>10</sup> IRM 4.75 provides general examination procedures.

<sup>11</sup> IRM 4.76.13 provides examination guidelines on social welfare organizations.

Question 3. In the IRS response of November 23, 2012, you write "Section 6104(a) of the Code permits public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax exempt status and supporting materials only after the organization has been recognized as exempt." On December 14, 2012, Propublica released the 1024 application for tax exempt status filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies with the IRS. Please respond to the following:

- a. Did the IRS release the 1024 application filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies to Propublica or any other entity?
- b. If the IRS released the 1024 application filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies, why did it do so since the IRS has yet to approve Crossroads' application?

Section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized. The protection and confidentiality of tax information is one of our top priorities. When questions arise about the release of tax information, our normal procedure is to refer the matter to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration. We are unable to comment further.

- c. Please also provide an update as to the status of the application for tax exempt status filed by Crossroads Grassroots Policy Strategies.

Section 6104(a) of the Code does permit public disclosure of an application for recognition of tax-exempt status and supporting materials only after the application has been approved for the organization to be recognized as exempt. The IRS has no record of an approved application for Crossroads GPS.

Question 4. With regard to your June 4, 2012 response:

- a. When describing the § 501(c)(4) application process, you write that "...in situations where there are a number of cases involving similar issues (such as credit counseling organizations, down payment assistance organizations, organizations that were automatically revoked and are seeking retroactive reinstatement, and most recently, advocacy organizations), the IRS will assign cases to designated employees to promote consistency." Please explain the term "advocacy organization" and provide any guidelines, memorandum, or procedures used by the IRS to evaluate § 501(c)(4) advocacy organizations including whether or not the IRS considers an "advocacy organization" to be an organization that is engaged in political activity.

As the chart below illustrates, the Code distinguishes between advocacy activities that influence legislation, those that influence candidate elections, and those that do neither. Depending on the subsection under which an organization is exempt, there are differing rules regarding the nature and amount of advocacy an organization can conduct and still retain its exemption. As used in the prior response, "advocacy organizations" was a short hand way of describing cases that raise questions whether the type and amount of advocacy an organization undertakes is consistent with the code section under which it seeks exemption.

|                                                                                | 501(c)(3) | 501(c)(4) | 501(c)(5) | 501(c)(6) | 527 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----------|-----|
| Receive tax-deductible charitable contributions                                | YES       | NO        | NO        | NO        | NO  |
| Receive contributions or fees deductible as a business expense                 | YES       | YES       | YES       | YES       | NO  |
| Substantially related income exempt from federal income tax                    | YES       | YES       | YES       | YES       | YES |
| Investment income exempt from federal income tax                               | LTD*      | YES       | YES       | YES       | NO  |
| Engage in legislative advocacy                                                 | LTD       | YES       | YES       | YES       | LTD |
| Engage in candidate election advocacy                                          | NO        | LTD       | LTD       | LTD       | YES |
| Engage in public advocacy not related to legislation or election of candidates | YES       | YES       | YES       | YES       | LTD |

*Private foundations are subject to tax on their net investment income.

See also response to question 2(c) above for guidance and procedures used to determine whether a § 501(c)(4) organization primarily engages in exempt activities.

- b. Please provide the "draft educational guide sheet on the issue of political activity for section 501(c)(4) applications that was shared for comment with some employees in EO Determinations" that you reference on page 13 of the letter.

We would like to provide some additional details regarding this document. The guide sheet draft referenced in this question was an initial staff draft, which was never approved nor finalized. It was distributed for comment only. We are able to discuss with your staff in more detail.

Question 5. Please explain the difference between Rev. Ruling 2007-41, 2007-1 C.B. 1421, which is generally used by the IRS to determine whether issue advocacy crosses the line into campaign intervention and Rev. Ruling 2004-6, 2004-1 C.B. 328, which generally addresses whether an expenditure for an issue advocacy expenditure is subject to the § 527(f) tax. Please also explain which of these is used by the IRS to determine whether a § 501(c)(4) organization is primarily engaged in political activity.

As you note in your question, Rev. Rul. 2004-6 and Rev. Rul. 2007-41 provide guidance under two different statutory provisions. Rev. Rul. 2004-6 provides guidance on the circumstances in which a public policy advocacy communication may constitute an exempt function within the meaning of § 527(e)(2), which would be subject to tax under § 527(f).<sup>12</sup> The ruling describes six factual situations involving organizations that are exempt from federal income tax under § 501(a) as organizations described in § 501(c)(4), § 501(c)(5) or § 501(c)(6). Each of the situations assumes that the organization would continue to be exempt under § 501(a), even if the described activity is not a § 501(c) exempt activity. The ruling provides nonexclusive lists of factors that tend to show that an advocacy communication on a public policy issue is (or is not) for an exempt function under § 527(e)(2), but also states that all facts and circumstances must be considered.

Rev. Rul. 2007-41 provides guidance on when an organization exempt from federal income tax under § 501(a) as an organization described in § 501(c)(3) has participated or intervened in a political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office in violation of § 501(c)(3).<sup>13</sup> The ruling describes 21 factual situations. In each factual situation, all the facts and circumstances are considered in determining whether the organization's activities result in political campaign intervention for purposes of § 501(c)(3).

Neither Rev. Rul. 2004-6 nor Rev. Rul. 2007-41 specifically addresses whether a § 501(c)(4) organization is engaged in political campaign activity within the meaning of Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii).<sup>14</sup> Nevertheless, consistent with both of these revenue rulings, the Service analyzes all the facts and circumstances to determine whether a § 501(c)(4) organization participated or intervened in a political campaign.

Question 6. It has been reported in the press that some § 501(c)(4) organizations report to the IRS that they do not engage in political activity but then report either they do engage in political activity to the Federal Election Commission (FEC) or report widely varying amounts of political activity to the FEC and the IRS. Please respond to the following:

<sup>12</sup> Section 527(e)(2) provides: "The term 'exempt function' means the function of influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office or office in a political organization, or the election of Presidential or Vice-Presidential electors, whether or not such individual or electors are selected, nominated, elected, or appointed. Such term includes the making of expenditures relating to an office described in the preceding sentence which, if incurred by the individual, would be allowable as a deduction under section 162(a)."

<sup>13</sup> To qualify under § 501(c)(3) an organization must "not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distributing of statements), any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office."

<sup>14</sup> Treas. Reg. § 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) provides: "The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office."

- a. Does the IRS track a § 501(c)(4) organization's filings with the FEC?
- b. What actions does the IRS take when there are differences in what a § 501(c)(4) organization reports to the IRS versus what it reports to the FEC?
- c. How does the IRS coordinate with the FEC with regard to § 501(c)(4) organizations?

We use all publicly-available information, including FEC filings, when considering an application or conducting an examination. However, we do not have a system that formally tracks FEC filings of § 501(c)(4) organizations. We also do not formally coordinate with the FEC on matters related to § 501(c)(4) organizations as § 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code prohibits the disclosure of information about specific taxpayers unless the disclosure is authorized by some provision of the Internal Revenue Code. Therefore, exchange of confidential taxpayer information with the FEC generally is barred.

Further, differences in reporting requirements such as the following make coordination between the agencies difficult. These include, for example, differences in who is responsible for filing the reports, what constitutes reportable political campaign activity, and the timing of reports.

The party responsible for filing with the FEC depends upon the nature of the political campaign expenditure. So, for example, if a § 501(c)(4) organization makes any contributions, including in-kind contributions and coordinated expenditures, to an FEC political organization (campaign committee, party committee or PAC), it is our understanding that the § 501(c)(4) organization is not required to file anything with the FEC. Instead, it is our understanding that the recipient political organization is required to include the contribution on its report to the FEC. On the other hand, if a § 501(c)(4) organization makes independent expenditures or electioneering communications, it is required to file a report with the FEC.

The definition of what constitutes reportable political campaign expenditures under the two filing regimes also differs. Although most political campaign expenditures required to be reported to the FEC may constitute political campaign intervention under the Internal Revenue Code, some might not.

In addition, we are not limited by the express advocacy standard or FEC case law in determining whether an activity is political campaign intervention for § 501(c)(4) purposes. The regulations under § 501(c)(4) provide that directly or indirectly participating or intervening in a political campaign on behalf of or in opposition to a candidate for public office is not in furtherance of § 501(c)(4) exempt purposes. This determination is based upon all of the facts and circumstances.

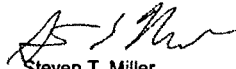

Another factor that can lead to differences in reporting is timing of the reports. Organizations report to the FEC based upon the election cycle; while organizations report to the IRS based upon their fiscal tax year, which differs among organizations. Forms 990 filed with the IRS are due 5 months and 15 days after the end of the organization's fiscal tax year. So, for example, an organization with a June fiscal tax year might make independent expenditures in October that are reported to the FEC prior to the November election. However, because the Form 990 is not due until the 15th day of the fifth month after the end of the fiscal tax year, those same expenses would be reported on the Form 990 that is due on November 15th of the following year (and, because of extensions, may not actually be filed for another six months after that).

All of these factors can contribute to perceived inconsistencies between FEC and IRS records of political campaign activity by § 501(c)(4) organizations.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have questions, please contact me or have your staff contact Catherine Barré, Director, Legislative Affairs, at (202) 622-3720.

Sincerely,

Steven T. Miller
Deputy Commissioner for Services and Enforcement

Enclosures (9)

Report Exhibits - Page 001568

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service
TE/GE: EO Examinations
1100 Commerce Street
Dallas, TX 75242

Release Number: 200720026
Release Date: 5/18/07
Date: 2/22/07
UIL Code: 501.04-01

ORG

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:
990

Tax Year(s) Ended:
12/31/xxxx

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:
Telephone:
Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000011

Report Exhibits - Page 001569

2

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000012

Report Exhibits' - Page 001570

3

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-HRS-08-000013

Report Exhibits - Page 001571

|                             |                                                       |                          |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit  |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                          |
| Name of Taxpayer     |                                                       | Year/Period Ended |
| ORG                         |                                                       |                          |

Legend:

ORG = Name of Organization

Security Firm – Name of Security Firm

Related Firm = Name of the Related For Profit

City, State = Location of ORG

ISSUE

Does the ORG qualify for tax exempt status under IRC section 501(c)(4)?

FACTS

ORG was created by the Related Firm (Related Firm ) in Related Firm began to develop a acre parcel of beach front property as a first rate, mixed-use vacation resort. The resort area was to consist primarily of a large hotel, several distinct groupings of condominiums (condos) and the infrastructure and related facilities necessary to support the resort. Related Firm decided to create extensive common areas that were carefully landscaped to attract buyers to for these condos.

As the condominiums were built, Related Firm created individual condo associations for each distinctive grouping of condos. Related Firm referred to these associations as regimes. These traditional style condo associations were charged with the responsibility for maintaining the exterior of their structures and the care of the common areas closely associated with their condo territory.

To provide coordination between the individual associations and control the maintenance of the roads, streets, trails, lakes, and other landscaped areas, it was necessary for Related Firm to create the ORG to act as overseer to these areas and the individual associations.

ORG is funded with fees from the condo owners. The individual condo associations collect the fees and pass them along to ORG . ORG expends over 70% of the funds that they receive for the maintenance and care and landscaping of the common areas in the ORG area.

Related Firm has retained control of the entire ORG project from it's inception by installing favorable voting rights provisions into the organizational bylaws. The bylaws state that Related Firm receives two votes for every vote received by the other board members. The board consists of one representative from each condo association and a representative appointed by Related Firm .

In the Declaration of Covenants, dated June xx, 198X, Related Firm clearly states that the covenant covers the acre parcel now owned and any and all land that may acquired by Related Firm and included in the ORG project. Article I, section 1.1.7 of

Report Exhibits - Page 001572

|                  |                                                                                      |                            |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended          |
| ORG              |                                                                                      |                            |

the covenant states that common areas are for the "common use and enjoyment of the owners and occupants of the development."

FACTS, continued

ORG incorporated on November 2, 199X in City, State. The purpose of the organization is to provide an entity for the operation of and administration of the mixed use, multi-phased, multi-regime residential and commercial community known as ORG

ORG applied for exemption under IRC section 501(c)(4) and were denied by IRS Determinations in early, 20xx. The application was rejected based on the lack of public access. ORG appealed the adverse determination and submitted evidence that the ORG area was in fact open to the public. IRS Appeals found in favor of ORG and granted tax exempt status.

Information contained on Form 1024:

Proposed Activities:

1. Maintain the general common areas of the residential community,
2. Make payment of common area utilities, insurance, street and lighting maintenance, landscaping and maintenance and repair of all association owned common property,
3. Publish a regular newsletter,
4. Conduct social, recreational and educational events in the community,
5. Provide a manned entry gate for traffic control, directions and assistance to both members as well as the public,
6. Within the association there is a hotel, restaurant, pools, lounge, shops and real estate office open to the general public.

The common areas may include but are not limited to maintenance areas, roads, streets, parking lots, parks, open areas, recreational amenities and walkways. The association does not maintain common areas or landscape for the shops, hotel, restaurant, lounge or pools. These areas are open to the general public.

Membership is mandatory. Each owner of every unit is a mandatory member. Membership begins with the purchase of a unit and ceases upon sale. There are no voluntary members and no membership certificate is issued.

Financial support consists of members' assessments, cable TV fees, and interest earned on reserve replacement funds.

ORG hires Security Firm, Inc. to provide security personnel and guards for the entrance into the ORG area. In section 4.0 of the security handbook, in

Report Exhibits - Page 001573

|                             |                                                       |                          |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit  |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                          |
| Name of Taxpayer     |                                                       | Year/Period Ended |
| ORG                         |                                                       |                          |

reference to access control, the guards at the entrance have the authority to deny entry to anyone at any time.

Financial disbursements include repair and maintenance to the common/gated areas.

LAW

Treasury Regulation 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) states; An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the community.

Treasury Regulation 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) provides that social and recreational activities are not social welfare activities. However, if a substantial part of an organization's activities consists of social functions for the benefit, pleasure, and recreation of its members, it may qualify for exemption under IRC 501(c)(4) if it is primarily engaged in social welfare activities.

Treasury Regulation 1.528-1: With regard to Homeowner's Associations

(a) In general. —Section 528 only applies to taxable years of homeowners associations beginning after December 31, 1973. To qualify as a homeowners association an organization must either be a condominium management association or a residential real estate management association. For the purposes of section 528 and the regulations under that section, the term "homeowners association" shall refer only to an organization described in section 528. Cooperative housing corporations and organizations based on a similar form of ownership are not eligible to be taxed as homeowners associations. As a general rule, membership in either a condominium management association or a residential real estate management association is confined to the developers and the owners of the units, residences, or lots. Furthermore, membership in either type of association is normally required as a condition of such ownership. However, if the membership of an organization consists of other homeowners associations, the owners of units, residences, or lots who are members of such other homeowners associations will be treated as the members of the organization for the purposes of the regulations under section 528.

(b) Condominium. —The term "condominium" means an interest in real property consisting of an undivided interest in common in a portion of a parcel of real property (which may be a fee simple estate or an estate for years, such as a leasehold or subleasehold) together with a separate interest in space in a building located on such

Report Exhibits - Page 001574

|                             |                                                       |                            |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                            |
| Name of Taxpayer     |                                                       | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                         |                                                       |                            |

property. An interest in property is not a condominium unless the undivided interests in the common elements are vested in the unit holders. In addition, a condominium must meet the requirements of applicable state or local law relating to condominiums or horizontal property regimes.

LAW, continued

(c) Residential real estate management association. —Residential real estate management associations are normally composed of owners of single-family residential units located in a subdivision, development, or similar area. However, they may also include as members owners of multiple-family dwelling units located in such area. They are commonly formed to administer and enforce covenants relating to the architecture and appearance of the real estate development as well as to perform certain maintenance duties relating to common areas.

(d) Tenants. —Tenants will not be considered members for purposes of meeting the source of income test under section 528(c)(1)(B) and §1.528-5. However, the fact that tenants of members of a homeowners association are permitted to be members of the association will not disqualify an association under section 528(c)(1) if it otherwise meets the requirements of section 528(c) and these regulations. [Reg. §1.528-1.]

Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(4)(A) describes Civic Leagues as follows: Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in a particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes.

Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(4)(B) states that; Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Internal Revenue Code section 528. Certain Homeowner's Associations

528(a) GENERAL RULE. —A homeowners association (as defined in subsection (c)) shall be subject to taxation under this subtitle only to the extent provided in this section. A homeowners association shall be considered an organization exempt from income taxes for the purpose of any law which refers to organizations exempt from income taxes.

Report Exhibits<sup>1</sup> - Page 001575

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      |                            |

528(b) TAX IMPOSED. —A tax is hereby imposed for each taxable year on the homeowners association taxable income of every homeowners association. Such tax shall be equal to 30 percent of the homeowners association taxable income (32 percent of such income in the case of a timeshare association).

LAW, continued

528(c) HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION DEFINED. —For purposes of this section —

528(c)(1) HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION. —The term "homeowners association" means an organization which is a condominium management association, a residential real estate management association, or a timeshare association if —

528(c)(1)(A) such organization is organized and operated to provide for the acquisition, construction, management, maintenance, and care of association property,

528(c)(1)(B) 60 percent or more of the gross income of such organization for the taxable year consists solely of amounts received as membership dues, fees, or assessments from —

528(c)(1)(B)(i) owners of residential units in the case of a condominium management association,

528(c)(1)(B)(ii) owners of residences or residential lots in the case of a residential real estate management association, or

528(c)(1)(B)(iii) owners of timeshare rights to use, or timeshare ownership interests in, association property in the case of a timeshare association,

528(c)(1)(C) 90 percent or more of the expenditures of the organization for the taxable year are expenditures for the acquisition, construction, management, maintenance, and care of association property and, in the case of a timeshare association, for activities provided to or on behalf of members of the association,

528(c)(1)(D) no part of the net earnings of such organization inures (other than by acquiring, constructing, or providing management, maintenance, and care of association property, and other than by a rebate of excess membership dues, fees, or assessments) to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and

Report Exhibits - Page 001576

|                  |                                                                                      |                            |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended          |
| ORG              |                                                                                      |                            |

528(c)(1)(E) such organization elects (at such time and in such manner as the Secretary by regulations prescribes) to have this section apply for the taxable year.

LAW, continued

528(c)(2) CONDOMINIUM MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION. —The term "condominium management association" means any organization meeting the requirement of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) with respect to a condominium project substantially all of the units of which are used by individuals for residences.

528(c)(3) RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION. —The term "residential real estate management association" means any organization meeting the requirements of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) with respect to a subdivision, development, or similar area substantially all the lots or buildings of which may only be used by individuals for residences.

528(c)(4) TIMESHARE ASSOCIATION. —The term "timeshare association" means any organization (other than a condominium management association) meeting the requirement of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) if any member thereof holds a timeshare right to use, or a timeshare ownership interest in, real property constituting association property.

528(c)(5) ASSOCIATION PROPERTY. —The term "association property" means —

528(c)(5)(A) property held by the organization,

528(c)(5)(B) property commonly held by the members of the organization,

528(c)(5)(C) property within the organization privately held by the members of the organization, and

528(c)(5)(D) property owned by a governmental unit and used for the benefit of residents of such unit.

In the case of a timeshare association, such term includes property in which the timeshare association, or members of the association, have rights arising out of recorded easements, covenants, or other recorded instruments to use property related to the timeshare project.

528(d) HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION TAXABLE INCOME DEFINED. —

Report Exhibits<sup>1</sup> - Page 001577

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      |                            |

528(d)(1) TAXABLE INCOME DEFINED. —For purposes of this section, the homeowners association taxable income of any organization for any taxable year is an amount equal to the excess (if any) of ;

LAW, continued

528(d)(1)(A) the gross income for the taxable year (excluding any exempt function income), over

528(d)(1)(B) the deductions allowed by this chapter which are directly connected with the production of the gross income (excluding exempt function income), computed with the modifications provided in paragraph (2).

528(d)(2) MODIFICATIONS. —For purposes of this subsection —

528(d)(2)(A) there shall be allowed a specific deduction of $100,

528(d)(2)(B) no net operating loss deduction shall be allowed under section 172, and

528(d)(2)(C) no deduction shall be allowed under part VIII of subchapter B (relating to special deductions for corporations).

528(d)(3) EXEMPT FUNCTION INCOME. —For purposes of this subsection, the term “exempt function income” means any amount received as membership dues, fees, or assessments from —

528(d)(3)(A) owners of condominium housing units in the case of a condominium management association,

528(d)(3)(B) owners of real property in the case of a residential real estate management association, or

528(d)(3)(C) owners of timeshare rights to use, or timeshare ownership interests in, real property in the case of a timeshare association.

Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F. 2d 814 (4th Cir. 1962), the court held that a cooperative housing corporation was not exempt as a social welfare organization under section 501(c)(4) of the Code since its activities were of the nature of an economic and private cooperative undertaking.

Report Exhibits<sup>1</sup> - Page 001578

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      |                            |

Revenue Ruling 69-280 states that an organization that provides specified services for the member homeowners, such as exterior maintenance on walls and roofs, was not exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the code. The organization described in the ruling was performing services that its members would otherwise have to provide for themselves. It is a private cooperative enterprise for the economic benefit or convenience of the members.

LAW, continued

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F. 2d 814 (1962), it was held that a corporation that provided housing on a cooperative basis lacked the necessary requirements of an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The court held the operation to be a private self-help enterprise with only an incidental benefit to the community as a whole.

Similarly, in this case it was held that the organization is operated primarily for the private benefit of members and any benefits to the community were not sufficient to meet the requirement of the regulation that the organization be operated primarily for the common good and general welfare of the people of the community.

Revenue Ruling 72-102 holds that certain nonprofit organizations of a type usually called homeowners' associations, which are formed to administer and enforce covenants for preserving the architecture and appearance of a housing development and to maintain streets, sidewalks, and other non-residential, non-commercial properties in the development of the type normally owned and maintained by a municipal government, may qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Revenue Ruling 74-99 modified Revenue Ruling 72-102, to make clear that a homeowners' association of the kind described in Revenue Ruling 72-102 must, in addition to otherwise qualifying for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code, satisfy the following requirements: (1) It must engage in activities that confer benefit on a community comprising a geographical unit which bears a reasonably recognizable relationship to an area ordinarily identified as a governmental subdivision or a unit or district thereof; (2) It must not conduct activities directed to the exterior maintenance of private residences; and (3) It owns and maintains only common areas or facilities such as roadways and parklands, sidewalks and street lights, access to, or the use and enjoyment of which is extended to members of the general public and is not restricted to members of the homeowners' association.

Revenue Ruling 74-17 holds that an organization formed by the unit owners of a condominium housing project to provide for the management, maintenance, and care of the common areas of the project, as defined by State statute, with membership

Report Exhibits - Page 001579

|                  |                                                                                      |                            |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended          |
| ORG              |                                                                                      |                            |

assessments paid by the unit owners does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

By virtue of the essential nature and structure of a condominium system of ownership, the rights, duties, privileges, and immunities of the members of an association of unit owners in a condominium property derive from, and are established by, statutory and contractual provisions and are inextricably and compulsorily tied to the owner's acquisition and enjoyment of his property in the condominium. In addition, condominium ownership necessarily involves ownership in common by all condominium unit owners of a great many so-called common areas, the maintenance and care of which necessarily constitutes the provision of private benefits for the unit owners.
LAW, continued

Since the organization's activities are for the private benefit of its members, it cannot be said to be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Accordingly, it does not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION

ORG was created by Related Firm in . As more condominiums were built in the ORG controlled area, Related Firm created separate condominium associations for each specific grouping. Each association or "regime" as Related Firm called them was responsible for maintaining their own common areas. As more condominiums were built, it became necessary for Related Firm to create the Master Association to oversee the subordinate regimes and the maintenance of all common areas.

As a condominium association, or a master condominium association, the organization should never have received tax exempt status under any code section. In Commissioner v. Lake forest, Inc., the court set a clear precedent that organizations that operated on a cooperative basis lacked the necessary requirements of an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code. The court held the operation to be a private self-help enterprise with only an incidental benefit to the community as a whole.

Revenue Ruling 74-17 reiterates the points derived from Lake Forest and specifically states that condominium associations formed by the unit owners of a condominium housing project to provide for the management, maintenance, and care of the common areas of the project, as defined by State statute, with membership assessments paid by the unit owners does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Report Exhibits<sup>1</sup> - Page 001580

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      |                            |

Revenue Ruling 74-17 further states that condominium ownership necessarily involves ownership in common by all condominium unit owners of a great many so-called common areas, the maintenance and care of which necessarily constitutes the provision of private benefits for the unit owners.

Based on the Declaration of Covenants and organization by-laws which are in effect, Related Firm has maintained control of the entire acre ORG project since it's inception in Related Firm Development controls the operation and activities of the ORG project by holding over % of the voting rights. These favorable voting rights allow Related Firm Development to assert a large measure of control on the subordinate associations.

As the ORG project has progressed over time, Related Firm has enjoyed a private benefit from having control over the master association and subsequently, the subordinate associations. This private benefit came in the form of serving Related Firm commercial interests by having well-maintained roads, trails and immaculately landscaped areas which had to increase the ability of Related Firm to sell these condominiums.

IRC section 501(c)(4) specifically states that tax exempt status shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

ORG is not open to the general public, but is rather a closed, gated community where limited access to non-condominium owners may or may not be granted. As evidenced during the tour of the facilities and confirmed by reviewing the security manual used by the guards at the entrance gate, access is controlled by the organization and the guards have written policies on who to let in and the discretion on who to keep out.

The organization is clearly not operating within the spirit of a social welfare organization because they are not engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the community.

TAXPAYER'S POSITION

The organization has signed the Form 6018-A agreeing to revocation of their tax exempt status. The organization has elected to file Forms 1120-H as required under code section 528 for the 200 , 200 and 200 tax years. The organization has provided these returns and the required payment checks to this office for filing.

Report Exhibits - Page 001581

|                  |                                                                                      |                            |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended          |
| ORG              |                                                                                      |                            |

CONCLUSION

The ORG does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the code. The main reason for disallowing tax exempt status is that per Revenue Ruling 74-17, condominium associations do not qualify for exempt status under IRC section 501(c)(4).

Secondary reasons for disallowing the continuance of tax exempt status is that there are two private benefit issues that would preclude exemption under IRC section 501(c)(4).

First, the organization is a condominium association where the maintenance of common areas provides a private benefit to the individual condominium owners. As in Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., this organization provides housing on a cooperative basis which the court held to be the operation of a private self-help enterprise with only an incidental benefit to the community as a whole. As such, the organization cannot qualify for exemption under code section 501(c)(4) because they are operated for the private benefit of the condominium owners and not for the common good and general welfare of the community or general public.

Second, the organization and entire ORG remains under the control of Related Firm. This control in and of itself precludes exemption based on the obvious private and commercial benefit received by Related Firm. Any ancillary benefits received by the community as a whole pale compared to the benefits enjoyed by Related Firm.

The developer of the ORG area has retained voting control over the Master Association's Board of Directors, and as an extension the subordinate individual associations. As the developer has never relinquished control of the common areas, the maintenance of said common areas connotes a private benefit to the developer in relation to having immaculate facilities and grounds to assist in the sale of condominiums still being built. Based on the private benefit bestowed upon the developer, the organization cannot qualify for exemption because they are operated for the private benefit of the developer as well as the condominium owners and not for the common good and general welfare of the community or general public.

A third issue that would preclude exemption is the lack of public access to ORG. The organization restricts access to the ORG by allowing their

Report Exhibits' - Page 001582

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      |                            |

gate guards to deny access to anyone they feel doesn't belong here. Such a policy is in stark contrast to the provisions in code section 501(c)(4). As there is no true open public access, the organization cannot qualify for exemption under code section 501(c)(4) because they are operated for the private benefit of the condominium owners and not for the common good and general welfare of the community or general public.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
1100 Commerce
Dallas, Texas 75242

UIL-501.04-01

ORG = Name of Organization

Dear Sir or Madam:

This is a Final Adverse Determination as to your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Our adverse determination was made for the following reasons: Organization's activities were operated on a cooperative basis and lacked the necessary requirements of an organization described for a community organization and were more like an operation for a private self-help enterprise.

The ORG fails to meet the requirement for exemption under IRC 501(c)(4) and 528. Section 1.501(c)(4)-1 of the Income Tax Regulations which states an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the community.

As a result of a recent audit of your organization's activities and Form 990 for the period ended December 31, 20xx, the operation is organized and operating solely as a condominium association which do not qualify for exempt status under IRC section 501(c)(4).

Based on the above, we are revoking your organization's exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code effective January 1, 20xx.

You are required to file Federal income tax returns on Form 1120. These returns should be filed with the appropriate Service Center for all years beginning after December 31, 20xy. You have executed the Form 6018 agreeing to this revocation.

You are required to file Form 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return. Form 1120 must be filed by the 15th day of the third month after the end of your annual accounting period. A penalty of $20 a day is charged when a return is filed late, unless there is reasonable cause for the delay. However, the maximum penalty charged cannot exceed $10,000 or 5 percent of your gross receipts for the year, whichever is less. This penalty may also be charged if a return is not complete, so please be sure your return is complete before you file it.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. However, you should first contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown above since this person can access your tax information and can help you get answers. You can call 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate assistance. Or you can contact the Taxpayer Advocate from the site where the tax deficiency was determined by calling, or writing to:

Report Exhibits'- Page 001584

2

Taxpayer Advocate assistance cannot be used as a substitute for established IRS procedures, formal appeals processes, etc. The Taxpayer Advocate is not able to reverse legal or technically correct tax determinations, nor extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in the United States Tax Court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Release Number: 200720030
Release Date: 5/18/07
Date: 2/3/07
UIL Code: 501.04-01
ORG

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

Taxpayer Identification number:

Form(s):

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax

Certified Mail – Return Receipt Requested

Dear :

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (Code) is necessary.

If you accept our findings, take no further action. We will issue a final revocation letter.

If you do not agree with our proposed revocation, you must submit to us a written request for Appeals Office consideration within 30 days from the date of this letter to protest our decision. Your protest should include a statement of the facts, the applicable law, and arguments in support of your position.

An Appeals officer will review your case. The Appeals office is independent of the Director, EO Examinations. The Appeals Office resolves most disputes informally and promptly. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, and Publication 892, Exempt Organizations Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues, explain how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892. If we issue a determination letter to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS regarding the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

Letter 3618 (Rev. 11-2003)
Catalog Number 14809F
PSI-IRS-08-000028

Report Exhibits - Page 001586

If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case based on the recommendations shown in the report of examination. If you do not protest this proposed determination within 30 days from the date of this letter, the IRS will consider it to be a failure to exhaust your available administrative remedies. Section 7428(b)(2) of the Code provides, in part: "A declaratory judgment or decree under this section shall not be issued in any proceeding unless the Tax Court, the Claims Court, or the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia determines that the organization involved has exhausted its administrative remedies within the Internal Revenue Service."

We will then issue a final revocation letter.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

Taxpayer Advocate

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Report of Examination

Report Exhibits' - Page 001587

|                                          |                              |                   |                            |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | REPORT OF EXAMINATION |                   | Schedule number or exhibit |
| Name of taxpayer                         | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period ended |                            |

Issue Name: Tax Exempt Status

Per Return: 990

Per Exam:

Issue:

Whether _____ qualifies for exemption under Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code

Facts:

Exhibit A provides copies of the Internal Revenue Service correspondence requesting information from _____ to perform examination, and requesting the organization to file the required return, on tax periods ending _____.
_____ failed to respond to the Internal Revenue Service attempts to obtain information to perform an examination, and failed to file Forms 990 for the tax periods ending _____.

Law:

Section 1.61-1 of the regulations provides that gross income means all income from whatever source derived, unless excluded by law. Gross income includes income realized in any form, whether in money, property, or services. Income may be realized, therefore, in the form of services, meals, accommodations, stock, or other property, as well as cash.

Section 511 of the Internal Revenue Code imposes a tax at corporate rates under section 11 on the unrelated business taxable income of certain tax-exempt organizations, including those described in section 501(c)(3).

Section 6001 of the Code provides that every person liable for any tax imposed by the Code, or for the collection thereof, shall keep adequate records as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may from time to time prescribe.

Section 1.6001-1(e) of the regulations states that the books or records required by this section shall be kept at all time available for inspection by authorized internal revenue officers or employees, and shall be retained as long as the contents thereof may be material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Section 6033(a)(1) of the Code provides, except as provided in section 6033(a)(2), every organization exempt from tax under section 501(a) shall file an annual return, stating specifically the items of gross income, receipts and disbursements, and such other information for the purposes of carrying out the internal revenue laws as the Secretary may by forms or regulations prescribe, and keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such other returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe.

Section 1.6033-1(h)(2) of the regulations provides that every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the district director for the purpose of

Report Exhibits - Page 001588

|                                          |                              |                   |                            |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | REPORT OF EXAMINATION |                   | Schedule number or exhibit |
| Name of taxpayer                         | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period ended |                            |

enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of subchapter F (section 501 and the following), chapter 1 of the Code and section 6033.

Section 501(c) (4) of the Code provides that a civic organization not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare is exempt from Federal income tax.

Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627, concerns an exempt organization that was requested to produce a financial statement and statement of its operations for a certain year. However, its records were so incomplete that the organization was unable to furnish such statements. The Service held that the failure or inability to file the required information return or otherwise to comply with the provisions of section 6033 of the Code and the regulations which implement it, may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

In accordance with the above-cited provisions of the Code and regulations under sections 6001 and 6033, organizations recognized as exempt from federal income tax must meet certain reporting requirements. These requirements relate to the filing of a complete and accurate annual information (and other required federal tax forms) and the retention of records sufficient to determine whether such entity is operated for the purposes for which it was granted tax-exempt status and to determine its liability for any unrelated business income tax.

Conclusion:

It is the IRS's position that the organization failed to meet the reporting requirements under sections 6001 and 6033 to be recognized as exempt from federal income tax under 501(c)( ) of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, the organization's exempt status is revoked effective

Form 1120 returns should be filed for the tax periods after

In accordance with IRM 4.75.22.12(9)(e), the effective date of the revocation will be the first day after the end of the 90-day period

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service
TE/GE EO Examination
1100 Commerce Street
Dallas, Texas 75242

July 30, 2007

Number: 200809035
Release Date: 2/29/2008

ORG UIL:501.04-01
Address

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:
990

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:
Telephone:
Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801 V

PSI-IRS-08-000032

Report Exhibits - Page 001590

2

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000033

Report Exhibits - Page 001591

3

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000034

Report Exhibits - Page 001592

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                            |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended12/31/20XX |

Legend
ORG = Organization name    XX = Date    XYZ = State City = city
CO-1 = Company    CO-2 = 2nd company

ISSUES

Does ORG continue to qualify for tax exempt status under Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(4)?

FACTS

The ORG (ORG) was incorporated May 21, 19XX in the State of XYZ. The ORG is not gated, nor does it enforce any covenant for preserving the architecture and appearance of a particular area.

The Articles of Incorporation shows the purposes for which the ORG was organized as:

- To promote and develop the common good and welfare of the residents within the community, such community being defined as that certain area of the City of City, known as the CO-1,
- To promote and develop good fellowship, neighborliness, and civic responsibility among the members of the corporation including, but not limited to, discussion and collective pursuit of problems of civic interest.

The By-laws identify the purposes of this ORG to be to preserve, protect, and advance the interests of the neighborhood in which its members reside, to disseminate information of interest to those residents, and to promote fellowship among its members.

The By-laws recognize the streets and blocks which make up the member residences which adult residents reside on. Membership is voluntary for all residents in the area covered by the ORG. The ORG provides its members with an annual directory, monthly newsletters, participation in neighborhood events and activities. The ORG has formed a                      Operations committee to act as liaison, arrange maintenance and periodic inspection of the                      area behind member's homes.

For the tax year ended December 31, 20XX, the ORG provided members with monthly informative newsletters and an annual telephone directory. The monthly newsletter provides members with property care tips, crime watch report, advertisements geared toward homeowners and the ORG agenda. The monthly newsletter is also used to keep members aware of the ORG events and activities, which promote fellowship and encourage non-member resident owners to join. The ORG holds a Spring and Fall General Membership meeting, Boot Scootin' Progressive Party, Easter Egg Hunt, the 4th of July Parade, Tree Lighting with Santa Claus, and annual Halloween Party. The ORG requires foods and candy as fee for admittance to the events held,

Report Exhibits - Page 001593

|                             |                                                                                      |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit          |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended12/31/20XX |

Legend
 ORG = Organization name      XX = Date    XYZ = State City = city
 CO-1 = Company    CO-2 = 2nd company

while other activities may require members to pay for events held off-site. The conducting these activities and member benefits make up about % of the organization total expenses.

The ORG also offers crime watch patrol open to the ORG members. The ORG has an agreement with a neighboring homeowner ORG to provide the crime watch patrol. The ORG employs off-duty police officers in City Police cars to patrol in the designated Crime Watch area. The patrol officers' schedule varies, with special emphasis on known peak crime hours. The operation of the crime watch program makes up about % of the ORG expenses. In 19XX the ORG formed the CO-2 to address growing crime in the area. As a result the ORG started Crime watch patrol. The ORG had about 405 participants on the program. The ORG charged $ per month in dues for the service. Benefits limited to paying participants include:

- Voice mail system – each member has an access code,
- Extra attention to their home while on a trip (such as checking windows and doors for anything unusual, and removing flyers and hiding newspapers and mail,
- Direct access to patrolling officers and off-duty voice mail message via dedicated cell phone,
- Member alert to recent crime in the area,
- Crimes watch member signage for home exterior.

Officers are available approximately 100 hours a week to address other problems and concerns such as:

- Medical emergency assistance
- Investigation of suspicious persons
- Investigation of unknown parked vehicles
- "Open garage door" alerts
- Overseeing personal safety for late-night home arrival
- Stopping vandalism in progress.

LAW

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for the exemption from Federal income tax of civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Regulations states that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization

Report Exhibits - Page 001594

|                             |                                                       |                          |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit  |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                          |
| Name of Taxpayer     |                                                       | Year/Period Ended |
| ORG                         |                                                       | 12/31/20XX               |

Legend
 ORG = Organization name XX = Date XYZ = State City = city
 CO-1 = Company CO-2 = 2nd company

embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterment and social improvements.

Revenue Ruling 77-273, 1977-2 CB 194, A nonprofit organization that provides security services for residents and property owners of a particular community, who agree to voluntarily donate money at a specified hourly rate to defray the cost of the services, is carrying on a business with the general public in a manner similar to organizations operated for profit and does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Revenue Ruling 69-280, 1969-1 C.B. 152 concluded that an organization that provides maintenance of exterior walls and roofs of members' homes in a housing development does not qualify for tax-exempt status under IRC section 501(c)(4). The organization was operating primarily for the benefit of individual members rather than the community as a whole.

In Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., 305 F. 2d 814(1962), it was held that the organization, a housing cooperative for World War II veterans and others, did not meet the requirements for tax-exempt status under IRC section 501(c)(4). The court found that the organization was not operating exclusively for "social welfare" purposes, but as a private economic enterprise. The court also determined that the organization was organized and operated for the benefit or convenience of its members by performing services that its members would otherwise have to provide for themselves.

Section 528(c)(1) defines the term "homeowners ORG" to mean an organization, which is a residential real estate management ORG organized and operated to provide for the acquisition, construction, management, maintenance, and care of ORG property. The homeowners ORG must receive at least 60 percent of its gross income from amounts received as membership dues, fees, or assessments, and at least 90 percent of its expenditures must be from the acquisition, construction, management, maintenance, and care of the ORG property on behalf of members of the ORG.

The taxable income of a homeowners ORG for any taxable year is an amount equal to the excess (if any) of the gross income for the taxable year (excluding any exempt function income), over the deductions allowed directly connected with the production of the gross income (excluding exempt function income).

Under section 528, the term "exempt function income" is any amount received as membership dues, fees, or assessments from owners of real property in the case of a residential real estate management ORG. There shall be allowed a specific deduction of $100. No net operating loss is deductible.

Report Exhibits - Page 001595

|                             |                                                                                      |                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended12/31/20XX |

Legend
 ORG = Organization name      XX = Date      XYZ = State City = city
 CO-1 = Company      CO-2 = 2nd company

Section 1.528-1 of the Regulations states to qualify as a homeowners association an organization must either be a condominium management association or a residential real estate management association. As a general rule, membership in either a condominium management association or a residential real estate management association is confined to the developers and the owners of the units, residences, or lots. Furthermore, membership in either type of association is normally required as a condition of such ownership. However, if the membership of an organization consists of other homeowners associations, the owners of units, residences, or lots who are members of such other homeowners associations will be treated as the members of the organization for the purposes of the regulations under section 528.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION

An organization that limits its service to certain property owners, operated to serve the individual interest of its members rather than the community as a whole by providing social activities, security patrol and disseminating information useful to its members, is not a social welfare organization exempt under section 501(c)(4). A social welfare organization must be operated for the benefit of the general public by providing a community benefit to qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4). Generally, social welfare organization, which operates as an exempt homeowners association, owns and maintains certain common areas open to the public. The Treasury Regulations extend tax-exempt status to those exempt homeowners' associations that are primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterment and social improvements.

ORG has not shown its activities primarily serve the community rather than the private interest of its members. The security patrol services the ORG provides to property owners on a regular basis is similar to organizations operated for profit. The fact that security patrol services are provided does not satisfy the requirements of the regulations that an organization be primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare the community.

ORG is similar to the organizations in Revenue Rulings 69-280 and 77-273, because the ORG activities and services are for the benefit of its members. Most of the ORG member dues are used for patrol services for private residents. An organization of this type described in the rulings is essentially a mutual, self-interest type of organization. ORG's income is used to provide direct economic benefits to its members and any benefit to the larger community is minor and incidental. As in Commissioner v. Lake Forest, Inc., ORG's benefits are neither intended for the public at large, rather for the private interest of property owners paying for a particular service.

Report Exhibits - Page 001596

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      | 12/31/20XX                 |

Legend

ORG = Organization name      XX = Date      XYZ = State City = city
CO-1 = Company      CO-2 = 2nd company

ORG is similar to organizations describe under section 528 of the Code. The activities and support are of those of a traditional homeowners' ORG as described in section 528.

TAXPAYER'S POSITION

Unknown

CONCLUSION

Since the benefits provided by the ORG are limited to its members, you are not operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare within the meaning of section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

As a result of our examination of your Form 990 for the period ended December 31, 20XX, we have determined that your organization no longer qualifies as an exempt homeowners ORG described in IRC section 501(c)(4). We are proposing that the Corporation's exempt status be revoked as of January 1, 20XX. Form 1120-H, U.S. Income Tax Return for Homeowners ORG, should be filed for the fiscal years ended December 31, 20XX, 20XX and all future years.

TAX EXEMPT AND GOVERNMENT ENTITIES
DIVISION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service
Attn: Mandatory Review, MC 4920 DAL
1100 Commerce Street
Dallas, TX 75424

January 28, 2008

Number: 200817061
Release Date: 4/25/2008
UIL: 9999.98-00

Legend
ORG = Organization name      Address = Address      XX = Date

ORG

Address

Employer identification Number:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

In a determination letter dated July 19XX, you were held to be exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code).

Based on recent information received, we have determined you have not operated in accordance with the provisions of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Accordingly, your exemption from Federal income tax is revoked effective July 1, 20XX. This is a final adverse determination letter with regard to your status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

We previously provided you a report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your exempt status is necessary. At that time, we informed you of your right to contact the Taxpayer Advocate, as well as your appeal rights. On October 1, 20XX, you signed Form 6018-A, Consent to Proposed Action, agreeing to the revocation of your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Report Exhibits - Page 001598

2

You are therefore required to file Form[s] 1120, U.S. Corporate Income Tax

Return, for the year[s] ended June 30, 20XX – 20XX with the Ogden Service Center. For future periods, you are required to file Form 1120 with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for the return.

You have the right to contact the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal Appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free, and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown at the beginning of this letter.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Report Exhibits - Page 001599

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service
TE/GE EO Examinations
1500 Ormsby Station Court Suite A - Stop 700
Louisville, KY 40223

ORG
Address

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:
990

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:
Telephone:
Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000042

Report Exhibits - Page 001600

2

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Letter 3510 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000043

Report Exhibits - Page 001601

3

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez, Director
Exempt Organizations Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3510 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000044

Report Exhibits - Page 001602

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      | June 30, 20XX &20XX    |

Legend
ORG = Organization name      XX = Date

Issue:

Whether ORG (ORG) qualifies for exemption under Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Facts:

Exhibit A provides copies of the Internal Revenue Service correspondence requesting that ORG file the Form 990 for the tax periods ended June 30, 20XX & 20XX.

ORG failed to respond to the Internal Revenue Service correspondence or file the Forms 990 for the tax periods ended June 30, 20XX & 20XX.

Law:

Section 6001 of the Code provides that every person liable for any tax imposed by the Code, or for the collection thereof, shall keep adequate records as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may from time to time prescribe.

Section 6033(a)(1) of the Code provides, except as provided in section 6033(a)(2), every organization exempt from tax under section 501(a) shall file an annual return, stating specifically the items of gross income, receipts and disbursements, and such other information for the purposes of carrying out the internal revenue laws as the Secretary may by forms or regulations prescribe, and keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such other returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe.

Section 1.6001-1(a) of the regulations in conjunction with section 1.6001-1(c) provides that every organization exempt from tax under section 501(a) of the Code and subject to the tax imposed by section 511 on its unrelated business income must keep such permanent books or accounts or records, including inventories, as are sufficient to establish the amount of gross income, deduction, credits, or other matters required to be shown by such person in any return of such tax. Such organization shall also keep such books and records as are required to substantiate the information required by section 6033.

Section 1.6001-1(e) of the regulations states that the books or records required by this section shall be kept at all times available for inspection by authorized internal revenue officers or employees, and shall be retained as long as the contents thereof may be material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Report Exhibits - Page 001603

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                                         |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit                              |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period EndedJune 30, 20XX &20XX |

Legend
ORG = Organization name      XX = Date

Section 1.6033-1(h)(2) of the regulations provides that every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the district director for the purpose of enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of subchapter F (section 501 and the following), chapter I of the Code and section 6033.

Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627, concerns an exempt organization that was requested to produce a financial statement and statement of its operations for a certain year. However, its records were so incomplete that the organization was unable to furnish such statements. The Service held that the failure or inability to file the required information return or otherwise to comply with the provisions of section 6033 of the Code and the regulations which implement it, may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

In accordance with the above cited provisions of the Code and regulations under sections 6001 and 6033, organizations recognized as exempt from federal income tax must meet certain reporting requirements. These requirements relate to the filing of a complete and accurate annual information (and other required federal tax forms) and the retention of records sufficient to determine whether such entity is operated for the purposes for which it was granted tax-exempt status and to determine its liability for any unrelated business income tax.

Taxpayer's Position:

The taxpayer failed to file the required Form 990s.

Government's Position:

The tax exempt status of ORG should be revoked effective July 1, 20XX.

If Forms 990 for June 30, 20XX & 20XX are filed within 30 days from the date of this report, the tax-exempt status will not be revoked.

Conclusion:

It is the IRS's position that ORG failed to meet the reporting requirements under sections 6001 and 6033 to be recognized as exempt from federal income tax under 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, ORG's exempt status is revoked effective July 1, 20XX.

Report Exhibits - Page 001604

|                         |                                                                                      |                            |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit |
| Name of Taxpayer |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended   |
| ORG                     |                                                                                      | June 30, 20XX &20XX    |

Legend

ORG = Organization name      XX = Date

Form 1120 returns should be filed for the tax periods after July 1, 20XX.

Report Exhibits - Page 001605

Internal Revenue Service

Department of the Treasury

Number: 200829036
Release Date: 7/18/2008

Date: May 2, 2007

UIL: 501.04-01

ORG
ADDRESS

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:
990

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL - RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (Rev. 11-2003)
Catalog Number: 34901V

PSI-IRS-08-000048

Report Exhibits - Page 001606

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter revoking your exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Judy L. Jones, CPA

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (Rev. 11-2003)
Catalog Number: 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000049

Report Exhibits - Page 001607

|                                          |                              |                                       |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS | Schedule number or exhibit            |
| Name of taxpayerORG                  | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 1, 20XX |

LEGEND
ORG = Organization      XX = Date

Issue:

Whether ORG, Inc. (ORG) qualifies for exemption under Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Facts:

Exhibit A provides copies of the Internal Revenue Service correspondence requesting that ORG file the Form 990 for the tax period ending December 31, 20XX. ORG failed to respond to the Internal Revenue Service correspondence or file the Forms 990 for the tax period ending December 31, 20XX.

ORG was previously examined for the tax year ended December 31, 20XX and given a letter stating that ORG continued to qualify for exemption, but with an advisory addendum that set out several deficiencies which, if continued, could result in penalties and/or loss of exemption.

Specifically, an exempt organization whose annual gross receipts are normally $25000 or less does not have to file Form 990. The organization's gross receipts are the total amounts it receives from all sources during its annual accounting period, without subtracting any costs or expenses. An organization's gross receipts are considered normally to be $ or less if the organization averaged $ or less in gross receipts for the immediately preceding three tax years.

ORG's gross income for the year 20XX was over $, so even if it had no other income, it still has exceeded "normally more than $ annually", for the next three years. ORG was advised that it must file Form 990 for 20XX, 20XX, and 20XX because it had more than $ in income from the year 20XX alone.

During the course of the examination, it was determined that ORG did not maintain adequate records to report accurately its financial activities as required by Section (§)6033(a) of the Internal Revenue Code and the Regulations there under. The closing letter addendum was the official notice to keep complete records so the accuracy of your returns may be determined.

Law:

IRC §6001 provides that every person liable for any tax imposed by the IRC, or for the collection thereof, shall keep adequate records as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may from time to time prescribe.

Report Exhibits - Page 001608

|                                          |                              |                                       |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS | Schedule number or exhibit            |
| Name of taxpayerORG                  | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 1, 20XX |

LEGEND

ORG = Organization      XX = Date

IRC § 6033(a)(1) provides, except as required in IRC §6033(a)(2), every organization exempt from tax under section 501(a) shall file an annual return, stating specifically the items of gross income, receipts and disbursements, and such other information for the purposes of carrying out the internal revenue laws as the Secretary may by forms or regulations prescribe, and keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such other returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe.

Treas. Reg. §1.6001-1(a) in conjunction with Treas. Reg. §1.6001-1(c) requires that every organization exempt from tax under IRC §501(a) and subject to the tax imposed by IRC §511 on its unrelated business income must keep such permanent books or accounts or records, including inventories, as are sufficient to establish the amount of gross income, deduction, credits, or other matters required to be shown by such person in any return of such tax. Such organization shall also keep such books and records as are required to substantiate the information required by IRC §6033.

Treas. Reg. §1.6001-1(e) states that the books or records required by this section shall be kept at all times available for inspection by authorized internal revenue officers or employees, and shall be retained as long as the contents thereof may be material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Treas. Reg. §1.6033-1(h)(2) provides that every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the district director for the purpose of enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of subchapter F (section 501 and the following), chapter 1 of the Code and IRC §6033.

Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627, concerns an exempt organization that was requested to produce a financial statement and statement of its operations for a certain year. However, its records were so incomplete that the organization was unable to furnish such statements. The Service held that the failure or inability to file the required information return or otherwise to comply with the provisions of IRC §6033 and the regulations which implement it, may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

In accordance with the above cited provisions of the Code and regulations under IRC §6001 and §6033, organizations recognized as exempt from federal income tax must meet certain reporting requirements. These requirements relate to the filing of a

Report Exhibits - Page 001609

|                                          |                              |                                       |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS | Schedule number or exhibit            |
| Name of taxpayerORG                  | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 1, 20XX |

LEGEND

ORG = Organization      XX = Date

complete and accurate annual information (and other required federal tax forms) and the retention of records sufficient to determine whether such entity is operated for the purposes for which it was granted tax-exempt status and to determine its liability for any unrelated business income tax.

Conclusion:

It is the IRS's position that the organization failed to meet the reporting requirements under IRC §6001 and 6033 to be recognized as exempt from federal income tax under IRC §501(c)(4). In addition, it has failed to meet the recordkeeping requirements as required under by Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1C.B. 627, and Treas. Reg. § 6001-1(e). Accordingly, the organization's exempt status is revoked effective January 1, 20XX, the first year following the prior examination year and for which it was specifically required to file a return and keep adequate records.

Form 1120 returns should be filed for the tax periods ending on or after December 31, 20XX.

Report Exhibits - Page 001610

Internal Revenue Service
Appeals Office
One Cleveland Center-Suite 815
1375 East Ninth Street
Cleveland, OH 44114-1739

Number: 200909072
Release Date: 2/27/2009
Date: December 1, 2008

A

B

LEGEND:

A -
B -

C -

CERTIFIED MAIL

Dear :

This is a Final Adverse Determination as to your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Our adverse determination was made for the following reasons:

Your organization fails to meet the requirements for exemption under IRC section 501(c)(4). IRC section 501(c)(4), provides for the exemption of civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

As a result of a recent audit of your organization's activities and Forms 990, it was determined that your organization is operated primarily for social purposes, rather than for the promotion of social welfare.

Based on the above, we are revoking your organization's exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code effective January 1, 20

Department of the Treasury

Person to Contact:

*****

Employee ID Number:

*****

Tel: *****

Fax: *****

Refer Reply to:

*****

In Re:

EO Examination

Tax Period(s) Ended:

12/20 and 12/20

EIN:

C

UIC: 501.04-00

Report Exhibits - Page 001611

You are required to file converted Forms 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return, for any years which are still open under the statute of limitations beginning with the year ending December 31, 2005 and ending with the year ending December 31, 2007. You should file any returns due for these years with the Internal Revenue Service TEGE: EO: 1100 Commerce St. MC 4920 DAL: Mandatory Review, Dallas, TX 75242-1027 by March 31, 2009. Forms 1120 for tax periods beginning on and after January 1, 2008, should be filed with the Cincinnati Service Center, Cincinnati, OH, 45999-0012.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. However, you should first contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown above since this person can access your tax information and can help you get answers. You can call 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate assistance. Or you can call the Taxpayer Advocate for the IRS office that issued this letter. See the enclosed Notice 1214, Helpful Contacts for Your "Notice of Deficiency" for Taxpayer Advocate telephone numbers and addresses.

Taxpayer Advocate assistance cannot be used as a substitute for established IRS procedures, formal appeals processes, etc. The Taxpayer Advocate is not able to reverse legal or technically correct tax determinations, nor extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in the United States Tax Court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels, gets prompt and proper handling.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Douglas H. Schulman
Commissioner
By

Charles F. Fisher
Appeals Team Manager

Enclosure:
Notice 1214 Helpful Contacts for your "Notice of Deficiency"

Report Exhibits - Page 001612

Internal Revenue Service

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service
230 S Dearborn, 17th Floor, MC 4923 CHI
Chicago, IL 60604

Date: DEC 01 2008

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:

Tax Year(s) Ended:

ORG
ADDRESS

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL - RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (Rev. 11-2003)
Catalog Number: 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000055

Report Exhibits - Page 001613

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter revoking your exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez.
Director, EO Examinations.

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (Rev. 11-2003)
Catalog Number: 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000056

Report Exhibits - Page 001614

|                                |                                                                                      |                                                     |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report    | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

LEGEND

ORG = Organization name    XX = Date    City = city    XYZ = State    Country = country    CO-1, CO-2, CO-3, CO-4, CO-5 & Co-6 = 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th & 6th Companies.

ISSUE

1. Whether the tax exempt status of ORG (ORG) recognized under Internal Revenue Code 501(c)(4) should be revoked?

BRIEF EXPLANATION OF FACTS

Organization Features

The subject organization is recognized as a 501(c)(4) tax-exempt organization. They received individual exemption on January 06, 20XX. According to its constitution, the primary purpose of the organization is to raise funds to help members within CO-1 and to donate to charitable organizations chosen by the members. Article 2 of the constitution described the objectives as;

Section 4: "...but extend to all types of economic, social, including but not limited to activities of fraternal, charitable, welfare and of social nature which further the interest of this organization, chapters and members directly or indirectly...."

Section 5: "...to unite as brothers and sisters and ride motorcycle for the enjoyment of the ride and to be family oriented association, and watch each others back..."

Section 6: "...to help brothers and sisters who are on the strike line by riding in and joining them....."

The organization is located in City, XYZ and has chartered chapters across Country and Country. Currently, they have over 11 chapters.

Application for Recognition of Tax-Exempt Status

The organization filed Form 1023 with the Internal Revenue Service under penalties of perjury to apply for recognition of tax-exempt status under Internal Revenue Code 501(c)(3) section on May 27, 20XX. The application described the objective as "...to raise funds to help our brother and sister members within the CO-1 and to donate to charitable organizations especially children's organization. It shall further be an object of this organization to receive, manage, invest, expend, or otherwise use the funds and property of this organization to carry out the duties of the president and to achieve the objectives set forth in the bylaws for such additional purposes and objects not inconsistent therewith as will further the interest of the organization, chapters and its members directly or indirectly. It shall also be the objective of this organization to unite as brothers and sisters and ride motorcycles for the enjoyment of the ride and to be a family oriented association. It shall also be the objective of

Report Exhibits - Page 001615

|                             |                                                                                      |                                       |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

this organization to help our brothers and sisters who are on the strike line by riding in and joining them....."

The organization's sources of financial support were listed as " Dues, Initiation Fees, Investment income including gains/loss from sales of investments (if any), sales of patches/Logos/Vests indicating club affiliation, Per Capita tax and fines.

Question 5 of the Form 1023 asked if the organization is controlled by any other organization. The answer was "Yes". The organization stated that CO-2 (CO-3) will control various local chapters when/if established.

Question 11 of Form 1023 asked if the organization is a membership organization. The answer was "YES". The explanation provided in part, that "the organization shall be composed of members and associate members of individual chapters which have been chartered by CO-3"

The following correspondences occurred between the IRS determination office and CO-2 during the application process:

August 09, 20XX: Request to amend organizing documents for proper purpose clause, dissolution clause and description of activities.

August 25, 20XX: Taxpayer responded to the August 09 letter, provided requested information, and amended the organizing documents. Taxpayer described the activities as primarily benefiting needy families. Important extracts from the letter include:

- 1) "The only criteria needed in order for the CO-2 to provide assistance is to show a need for help. The numerous families we assist each year could range from 1-5 or more if the participant demonstrates that he/she needs our help"
- 2) "CO-4, City, XYZ, in 20XX and 20XX, we sponsored a pledge run for the children of CO-4 donating all proceeds to the hospital. In 20XX, we had a member who was stricken with Multiple Sclerosis, we sponsored a run and donated all proceeds to the CO-5. Both of these activities are annual events"
- 3) "...We gather pledge donation from members and the public, we hold raffles on the day of the event, the purpose of this function is to help the children of CO-4 and to help them with the construction of a new wing of the hospital, we also ride a bike show at the hospital, the children of the hospital participates as judges in the bike show giving out trophies to the participants of the run, the purpose of this is to get the children involved with the people who are providing assistance for them..."
- 4) "The CO-6: we gather donations from members and the public, we hold raffles on the day of the event, the purpose of this function is to help the CO-5 defeat Multiple Sclerosis, to create awareness of Multiple Sclerosis and to assist its local chapter in City, XYZ with program (such as the aquatic program) to help there members cope with multiple sclerosis."

Report Exhibits - Page 001616

|                             |                                                                               |                                       |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                               | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

- 5) "The dues for members are $ per month, the dues are used to help run the fundraisers, organize new CO-2 chapters in other states, to stock vest and patches for new members, and to make donations to charitable organizations".

October 04, 20XX

Agent from Internal Revenue Service determination office sent a letter to inform the organization that the activities are not exclusively charitable, educational or religious but are promoting community welfare. The agent suggested that the organization request exemption under IRC 501(c)(4) with a signed letter from the officer and other information regarding activities to substantiate recognition under IRC 501(c)(4).

November 07, 20XX

Taxpayer responded on this date with the additional information and request to be exempted under IRC 501(c)(4).

January 08, 20XX

Letter 948 (Exemption Letter) was issued to CO-2 as an organization recognized under IRC 501(c)(4). The organization received an individual organization exemption, not a group ruling.

Activities

ORG (ORG) is an association of motorcycle riders who conducts motorcycle runs for member's pleasure and for charitable purposes. The association is open to all ORG, who ride any brand of bike, and who are interested in joining the group. ORG in City is referred to as "CO-3" and represents the main/parent organization. CO-3 chartered other ORG chapters (over 11 chapters) all over Country including one chapter in Country.

There are two types of motorcycle runs as described below and extracted from the constitution:

- 1) "Runs will be for raising moneys for charities that the chapter has chosen to raise money for. Each chapter will have at least one party or event per year to raise moneys for their charitable organization. All chapters shall make attempt to attend other chapters events to raise moneys for their charitable organization"
- 2) "Other runs will be to unite as CO-2 brothers and sisters and ride for the enjoyment of the ride". "There shall be one designated mandatory run. CO-3 or chapter may call additional mandatory runs if need be. All members on mandatory runs will dress uniformly for such runs. Any member missing a mandatory run will be charged....".

Basically, this organization operates motorcycle runs to unite as ORG brothers and sisters, ride for the enjoyment/pleasure of members and raise money for selected charitable organizations.

Report Exhibits - Page 001617

|                                |                                                                                      |                                                     |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report    | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

Some of the runs conducted in 20XX include "Defeat M.S Ugly Pledge Run - $ each, CO-4, Multiple Sclerosis Run and CO-6.

Payment for the runs includes Breakfast, Lunch, Music, 50/50, raffles, door prizes and other social activities for members.

There are no educational or training activities involved in the runs or in any of the events described above.

Membership

As noted above, "membership is open to all ORG who ride any brand of Bike who are interested in joining". The preferred type of bike is Harley Davidson, but not required.

The extracts below described the membership structure as reported in the constitution of the organization:

The organization is composed of "members and associate members of the chapters which have been chartered by CO-3 and which are within the geographical jurisdiction of CO-3, which includes the Country and Country....".

In order to be an associate member " you must be an immediate family, wife, husband, son daughter, girlfriend or significant other and be sponsored by a member in good standing"

Furthermore, each new chapter member is required to sign a pledge agreement obligating her to pay a national initiation fee and annual fees directly to the founding chapter (CO-2).

"...members are required to attend four (4) runs or meetings per year or be put on the inactive member status which makes the member relive the three (3 to 6) month probation period...."

"All members are required to attend four (4) meetings or runs per year or be suspended from membership...."

All new members are put on probationary status until other members vote on their status to convert to full members.

Members are required to wear vest, patches (logos) that distinguish them from other ORG. The logos are sold by CO-3 to all members of CO-3 and members of the other chapters. The logos cannot be purchased elsewhere.

"All chapters will have a 2 patch back logo, a 1-patch front chapter number logo, a 1 patch front association logo with your state, a 1 patch front flag on left chest, with the option of CO-3 ....."

Report Exhibits - Page 001618

|                             |                                                                               |                                       |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                               | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

"Any motorcycle jackets, vests, denim, Levi jackets, T-shirt or any other type of materials with the CO-2 Logo affix to it shall be bought only through CO-3..."

All new chapters and new members are required to pay initiation fee before starting a new chapter.

"Any chapter or member becoming three (3) months in arrears will be revoked and their Logo wearing rights shall be revoked....."

Reporting:

Form 990 return filed for the year ended did not include financial activities of the chapters. Information document request was issued to taxpayer to provide financial documents relating to the chapters on 04/20/XX. Taxpayer's response regarding the information is as follows, "...Article 15 of the by-laws clearly states the chapter's responsibilities for maintaining their own books and records and filling their own Form 990 as applicable. Therefore, this organization is unaware of each chapter's EIN, location and financial activities. That information is not part of our records"

Chapters Affiliations:

ORG created chapters all over Country and Country, and gave authority to the various chapters to operate using their name as the parent organization. The chapters purchase all logos and membership dues from ORG (CO-2) as stipulated in the constitution.

The review of exempt's status of these chapters disclosed that the chapters are not exempt organization and do not have separate EIN number and did not file a separate Form 990 return.

Although, in the process of the audit, the president confirmed that the chapters have their separate EIN number and are required to file their own separate 990 return. I requested for the EIN numbers and financial information for these chapters, they were never provided.

Extracts from the constitution regarding this arrangement of chartered chapters include:

"In order to be chartered, each officer of the Charter must be a member and remain a member in good standing of CO-3"

"All chapters will apply for their own (FEIN) Federal Employer Identification Number from the IRS, you need to fill out SS4 form, call in for number, then fax form in within 24 hours to be used to open their bank accounts....."

Report Exhibits - Page 001619

|                             |                                                                                      |                                       |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

"All chapters will be responsible for filing their own 990 tax forms, where applicable"

The chapters operating under ORG's IRC 501(c)(4) exemption are listed below:

|             |           |             |
|-------------|-----------|-------------|
| 1) Chapter  | City, XYZ | Parent      |
| 2) Chapter  | City      | Subordinate |
| 3) Chapter  | City      | Subordinate |
| 4) Chapter  | City      | Subordinate |
| 5) Chapter  | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 6) Chapter  | City      | Subordinate |
| 7) Chapter  | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 8) Chapter  | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 9) Chapter  | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 10) Chapter | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 11) Chapter | City      | Subordinate |
| 12) Chapter | City, XYZ | Subordinate |
| 13) Chapter | City, XYZ | Subordinate |

LAW

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for the exemption from federal income tax of civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations provides that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one that is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social welfare.

Reg. 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(ii) states that social and recreational activities are not social welfare activities. However, even if a substantial part of an organization's activities consists of social functions for the benefit, pleasure, and recreation of its members, it may qualify for exemption under IRC 501(c)(4) if it is primarily engaged in social welfare activities.

IRC section 501(c)(4)(B), applicable to all section 501(c)(4) organizations, requires that no net earnings inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual with respect to such organization.

Regulation 1.501(c)(4)-1 - Social activities for the benefit, pleasure, or recreation of members do not promote accomplishment of social welfare purposes and thus are not qualifying social welfare activities. However, such social activities do not preclude exemption under IRC section 501(c)(4) so long as those social activities, along with any other activities that do not promote social welfare purposes, are not the primary activities of the organization.

Report Exhibits - Page 001620

|                             |                                                                               |                                       |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                               | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

In Rev. Rul. 75-286, 1975-2 C.B. 210, the residents of a city block formed an organization to preserve and beautify that block, to improve all public facilities within the block and to prevent physical deterioration of the block. Much of the public area improved by the organization is part of the public roadway lying between the sidewalk and the street in front of private property owned by members of the organization. This revenue ruling concluded that since the organization's activities promote social welfare because they beautify and preserve public property, although they are limited to a particular block, the community as a whole benefits. Thus, the organization qualifies for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Compare Rev. Rul. 78-69, 1978-1 C.B. 156, which holds that an organization providing rush hour commuter bus service to all residents of a community qualifies for exemption under section 501(c)(4), with Rev. Rul. 55-311, 1955-1 C.B. 72, which holds that a local association of employees operating a bus primarily for the convenience of its members does not so qualify.

Regulation §601.201.(n)(3) Rulings and determination letters

(3) Effect of exemption rulings or determination letters

(i) A ruling or determination letter recognizing exemption is usually effective as of the date of formation of an organization, if its purposes and activities during the period prior to the date of the ruling or determination letter were consistent with the requirements for exemption.

(ii) A ruling or determination letter recognizing exemption may not be relied upon if there is a material change inconsistent with exemption in the character, the purpose, or the method of operation of the organization.

Regulation §601.201. (n)(6)(1) Rulings and determination letters

(6) Revocation or modification of rulings or determination letters on exemption

An exemption ruling or determination letter may be revoked or modified by a ruling or determination letter addressed to the organization, or by a revenue ruling or other statement published in the Internal Revenue Bulletin. The revocation or modification may be retroactive if the organization omitted or misstated a material fact, operated in a manner materially different from that originally represented, or engaged in a prohibited transaction of the type described in subdivision (vii) of this subparagraph. In any event, revocation or modification will ordinarily take effect no later than the time at which the organization received written notice that its exemption ruling or determination letter might be revoked or modified.

Section 1.6033-1(h)(2) of the regulations provides that every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return

Report Exhibits - Page 001621

|                             |                                                                                      |                                                     |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the district director for the purpose of enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of subchapter F (section 501 and the following), chapter 1 of the Code and section 6033.

Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627, concerns an exempt organization that was requested to produce a financial statement and statement of its operations for a certain year. However, its records were so incomplete that the organization was unable to furnish such statements. The Service held that the failure or inability to file the required information return or otherwise to comply with the provisions of section 6033 of the Code and the regulations which implement it, may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

In accordance with the above cited provisions of the Code and regulations under sections 6001 and 6033, organizations recognized as exempt from federal income tax must meet certain reporting requirements. These requirements relate to the filing of a complete and accurate annual information (and other required federal tax forms) and the retention of records sufficient to determine whether such entity is operated for the purposes for which it was granted tax-exempt status and to determine its liability for any unrelated business income tax.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption of organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. An organization may be exempt under section 501(c)(4) of the Code only if it is not organized or operated for profit, and if it is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. Operating exclusively means that a larger percentage of activities and expenses must be towards promotion of social welfare and not towards membership pleasure or enjoyment.

Basically, in order to be recognized under IRC 501(c)(4), the primary activity must be the promotion of social welfare and civic betterment in the community. The benefit from such organization must accrue to the community as a whole, not the membership.

In determining the extent of the social welfare, we reviewed the primary activities and the financial records of CO-2.

ORG is a membership organization and the review of activities indicated that the organization's primary activity is to enjoy the art of riding motorcycle with members. This is evident from the way the membership is structured, such as wearing the same uniform, patches, logos e.t.c. to identify members and also the mandatory requirement to attend runs during a designated functions or event. Members are expected to dress certain way and require mandatory participation in motorcycle runs.

Report Exhibits - Page 001622

|                             |                                                                               |                                       |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                               | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

The membership is restricted to motorcycle riders only, within and outside of Country. Collection of national membership fees is enforced by the power of the executive council, and they can withdraw national membership privileges from delinquent members.

The 20XX Form 990EZ return as filed by ORG reported $ in revenue and $ in expenses. The revenue consisted of $ from contributions and $ from membership dues and membership program activities. Out of the total expenses reported, only $ was spent on grants and donations to support social welfare. Thus, the organization spent 16% on social welfare activities and spent over 77% on membership activities while the remaining 7% was spent on general expenses.

The 20XX Form 990EZ had $ in revenue and $ in expenses. Revenue consisted of $ from contributions and $ from membership dues and membership program activities. $ was spent on grants and donations promoting social welfare, which amounted to 19% of total expenses. Over 70% was spent on membership activities while the remaining 11% was spent on general administrative expenses.

ORG provides some social welfare programs to the community by making donations to hospitals, scholarship fund, individual's e.t.c. The amount was reported as grants and donations in the books. Overall, amount spent as contributions and donations was less than 20% of total expenses.

The flow of expenses indicated that this organization spend more on member welfare than social welfare of the community. Analysis of program and financial activities disclosed that membership social activities outweigh social welfare benefit to the community.

To be a social welfare organization, the organization must be primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the community. In this case, ORG do promotes good and welfare of the community, but that is not the primary activity. In as much as the organization's social welfare program is not its primary activity, the organization is not exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

A social welfare organization will jeopardize its exemption under Code section 501(c)(4) if it ceases to operate primarily to further social welfare purposes. Substantial social activities, and operating for the benefit of private individuals (members) are activities present in ORG that do not further social welfare purposes.

In addition, taxpayer failed to provide financial information regarding chapters that operate within the same exemption provided to the EO. Section 6033 provided that failure to provide accurate and required information return may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

Report Exhibits - Page 001623

|                             |                                                                               |                                       |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Form 886ARevised Report | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or ExhibitForm 990   |
| Name of TaxpayerORG     |                                                                               | Year/Period Ended20XX1220XX12 |

Individual exemption issued to an organization is meant for that organization for which it was issued. Unless the organization applied and received a group exemption, they cannot apply the individual exemption to other organizations not included in the exemption letter. Such organization cannot operate in a manner similar to a group ruling, unless they were issued a group ruling and the subordinate's name were included on the ruling. The claim that "the chapters" chartered by the EO are exempt organization is false and misleading the general public. If ORG is not operating in accordance to the individual exemption received, this may jeopardize exempt status.

Since your services and programs are benefiting your members (private group of individuals) rather than the community and the income from the public is inuring to the benefit of your members because it is used for the maintenance and improvement of social activities, you do not meet the requirements of section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

CONCLUSION

Based on all the facts and circumstances, you have not established that you operate primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements as required by section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the regulations. In addition, you are not operating in accordance with individual exemption received, and failed to provide accurate information return regarding activities/operation of organizations that claim to be your "chapters".

Thus, you are not primarily engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community as required by section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i). Consequently, you do not qualify for recognition of exemption under section 501(a) of the Code.

Revocation of exemption is hereby proposed, effective from January 01, 20XX. You are required to file Federal income tax returns on Form 1120 for 20XX and going forward.

TAXPAYER'S POSITION

Taxpayer's position regarding the revised report is unknown.

TAX EXEMPT AND GOVERNMENT ENTITIES
DIVISION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
Attn: Mandatory Review, MC 4920 DAL
1100 Commerce St.
Dallas, TX 75242

Date: November 7, 2008

Number: 200910087
Release Date: 3/6/2009

LEGEND

ORG = Organization name      XX = Date      Address = address
UIL: 501.04-01

ORG.
ADDRESS

Employer Identification Number:
Person to Contact/ID Number:
Contact Numbers:
Voice:
Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

In a determination letter dated April 19XXX, you were held to be exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code).

Based on recent information received, we have determined you have not operated in accordance with the provisions of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Accordingly, your exemption from Federal income tax is revoked effective July 1st, 20XX. This is a final adverse determination letter with regard to your status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

We previously provided you a report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your exempt status is necessary. At that time, we informed you of your right to contact the Taxpayer Advocate, as well as your appeal rights. On September 4, 20XX, you signed Form 6018-A, Consent to Proposed Action, agreeing to the revocation of your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You have filed taxable returns on Form[s] 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return, for the year[s] ended June 30, 20XX, 20XX, and 20XX with us. For future periods, you are required to file Form 1120 with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for the return.

-2-

You have the right to contact the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal Appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free, and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown at the beginning of this letter.

Sincerely,

Vicki L. Hansen
Acting Director,
Exempt Organizations Examinations

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
135 High Street, Stop 250
Hartford, CT 06103

August 20, 2008

ORG
ADDRESS

re: ORG

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear :

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000069

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File those returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Report Exhibits - Page 001628

3

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Revenue Agent

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000071

Report Exhibits - Page 001629

|                         |                                                                                      |                                        |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG.                                                                          | Year/Period Ended20XX06 |

LEGEND

ORG = Organization name      XX = Date      City = city      XYZ = State

FACTS:

ORG was formed in 19XX. ORG encompasses a small area of approximately 550 acres within the city of City, XYZ. ORG represents approximately      households. Its purpose is to take ownership of private roadways and common areas in a residential development and to provide for their repair and maintenance. In addition, ORG was to provide police protection and generally safeguard the health, comfort and safety of residents. ORG was granted exempt status in April of 19XX.

ORG is a membership organization. Local property owners are referred to as members, their membership is a consequence of property ownership within the City area. Only property owners are allowed to join, and membership is automatic under provisions of the organization's By-Laws and Corporate Charter. Initially organization assessed its members for the funds with which to carry out its activities, but had no legal authority to enforce its assessments.

Dues are not obligatory, unless there is a provision for them in the deed of the property owner, and are used chiefly to defray the costs of printing an annual directory and for some smaller social events. The organization also conducts various holiday programs and recreational activities for resident members, some of which involve additional charges.

The organization's primary activity was in the area of public safety and crime prevention. As a major part of its efforts in this area, the organization contracted with retired police officers to provide the community with professionally trained security personnel. They patrol the area and respond to calls for routine police matters. Access by non-residents is explicitly restricted, and notice is given that any unauthorized vehicles will be stopped. If security personnel detect the presence of non-residents in the area, non residents are asked to leave.

The organization's activities in the City area include removal of deteriorated structures and flora, and improvement and maintenance of residential area roads, signage, drains, and open spaces. Signs are posted at various entry points to the area indicating it is private property.

In 19XX, the state of XYZ adopted a statute to allow for the establishment of districts within municipalities. The City Tax District was formed by area residents. Since association dues or assessments were not enforceable taxes were needed for purpose the purpose of providing security services and maintaining Association's common areas, and to enforce liens against property owners who failed to pay the assessments. The creation of a Tax District ensured that all property owners paid their fair share of the expenses of the area.

Report Exhibits - Page 001630

|                             |                                                       |                         |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                         |
| Name of Taxpayer            | ORG.                                                  | Year/Period Ended       |
|                             |                                                       | 20XX06                  |

ORG leased its roads and common areas to the Tax District to limit ORG's liability. The Tax District and Association entered into a Service Contract. The Service Contract makes ORG responsible for the duties it always discharged. ORG sub-contracts its responsibilities to other entities for security and maintenance. Provisions of the annual contract are essentially unchanged since 19XX.

ORG is reimbursed for the services it provides at cost from the Tax District. ORG does receive tax return preparation, bookkeeping, and legal services through the Tax District's budget, but this is not disclosed on the 990.

The organization's activities benefit local property owners. Substantially all of its financial support comes from assessments imposed by the Tax District on the property owners, with a minimal portion collected from membership dues. Its expenses primarily grow out of its security patrol contracts, road maintenance activities, and social activities. Legal expenses were substantially increased during the examination year and subsequent year due to the challenge by a local resident to the arrangement with the Tax District. ORG later ended its role in security contracts.

Law:

Section 501(c)(4) of the Code provides for exemption from federal income tax of civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

Section 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations provides that an organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

Rev. Rul. 72-102, 1972-1 C.B. 149, holds that certain nonprofit organizations of a type usually called homeowners' associations, which are formed to administer and enforce covenants for preserving the architecture and appearance of a housing development and to maintain streets, sidewalks, and other non-residential, non-commercial properties in the development of the type normally owned and maintained by a municipal government, may qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Rev. Rul. 74-99, 1974-1 C.B. 131, modified Rev. Rul. 72-102, to make clear that a homeowners' association of the kind described in Rev. Rul. 72-102 must, in addition to otherwise qualifying for exemption under section 501(c)(4) of the Code, satisfy the following requirements: (1) It must engage in activities that confer benefit on a community comprising a geographical unit which bears a reasonably recognizable relationship to an area ordinarily identified as a

|                             |                                                       |                         |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                         |
| Name of Taxpayer            | ORG.                                           | Year/Period Ended       |
|                             |                                                       | 20XX06                  |

governmental subdivision or a unit or district thereof; (2) It must not conduct activities directed to the exterior maintenance of private residences; and (3) It owns and maintains only common areas or facilities such as roadways and parklands, sidewalks and street lights, access to, or the use and enjoyment of which is extended to members of the general public and is not restricted to members of the homeowners' association.

Section _____ of the _____ Statutes states in pertinent part that a “district” means any _____

Statutes states in pertinent part that voters may establish a district for any or all of a number of purposes, including to among other things.

Flat Top Lake Association, Inc., v. U.S., 868 F.2d 108, involved an organization's tax exempt status pursuant to IRC Section 501(c)(4). In the Flat Top Lake case the "Association acquired approximately 2,200 acres of land. It constructed a 230 acre artificial lake. The land surrounding the lake front was subdivided into lots and sold. Access to the property was provided by a two-lane road constructed by the Association. The road is not a public highway and bears a sign at the entrance to the development stating "Flat Top Lake Association, Private Property, Members Only." There are 375 lots in the Flat Top Lake development owned by members...

The Association performs "tasks of quasi-governmental nature" for the Association members and others. Those tasks include year-round water and sanitation services, snow removal from common areas, police protection, road and equipment maintenance and maintenance of the dam and other common areas. The Association is working with local authorities in considering construction of a sewage treatment plant. Further, it has promulgated a disaster relief plan in the event of failure of the dam, and it supplies a backup water supply to the nearby City of Beckley, a city of some 19,000 population."

The court concluded that the Flat Top Lake Association did not qualify for exempt status under section 501(c)(4) because it did not represent a community as the term is described in the published precedent. The area served did not bear a reasonably recognizable relationship to an area ordinarily identified as a governmental subdivision or a unit or district. The court further held that the benefits of the organization were limited to its members and benefits were not enjoyed by the general public. The exclusionary nature of the organization where benefits were limited to members indicated that the organization was not organized for social welfare but for

Report Exhibits - Page 001632

|                             |                                                       |                          |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit  |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                          |
| Name of Taxpayer     | ORG.                                           | Year/Period Ended |
|                             |                                                       | 20XX06                   |

the private benefit of its members.

Government's Position:

Rev. Rul. 74-99, 1974-1 C.B. 131, is a key published precedent concerning ORG's right to continued exemption. The ruling cites the following requirements: (1) the organization must engage in activities that confer benefit on a community comprising a geographical unit which bears a reasonably recognizable relationship to an area ordinarily identified as a governmental subdivision or a unit or district thereof; (2) the organization must not conduct activities directed to the exterior maintenance of private residences; and (3) it owns and maintains only common areas or facilities such as roadways and parklands, sidewalks and street lights, access to, or the use and enjoyment of which is extended to members of the general public and is not restricted to members of the homeowners' association.

The Flat Top Lake Association, Inc., v. U.S., 868 F.2d 108, confirmed the criteria in the revenue ruling. Even though the Flat Top Lake Association performed many more quasi governmental activities than ORG the court still ruled that the organization did not qualify for exemption because its size was not reasonably recognizable as a governmental subdivision and the benefits provided served the organization's members.

ORG serves a members only area. Security personnel expel all those who are determined to be non-residents of the City area without regard to their activities, such as fishing, bicycling, or enjoying the local park. Further, non-residents are warned away and informed the roadways and common areas maintained in the course of the organization's activities are private property and not for public use. Benefits of the maintenance are restricted to property owners.

As stated in the Flat Top Lake case, although it is unquestionably their right to do so, when a group of citizens elects to separate themselves from society and to establish an entity that solely advances their own private interests, no potential for general social advancement is implicated. The requirements expressed in Rev. Rul. 74-99 have not been met.

Taxpayer's Position:

The organization's position has not been made known.

Conclusion:

Since the organization's activities serve the private benefit of its members, it is not operated for the promotion of social welfare. Accordingly, it does not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

Further, since ORG is not organized for pleasure, recreation, or other non-profitable purposes, it does not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(7) of the Code.

Report Exhibits - Page 001633

|                  |                                                                                      |                                    |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit         |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG.                                                                          | Year/Period Ended20XX06 |

Similarly, since the organization's revenues are not primarily from member assessments, it does not qualify as a Homeowner's Association under section 528 of the Code.

ORG appears to be properly described by IRC 277 as a membership organization which is not exempt from taxation.

Report Exhibits - Page 001634

TE/GE EO Examinations
1100 Commerce Street
Dallas, TX 75242

501-04-00

Date: December 4, 2009

Release Number: 201013060

Release Date: 4/2/10

LEGEND

ORG = ORGANIZATION NAME    XX = DATE    ADDRESS    ADDRESS

ORG
ADDRESS

Taxpayer Identification Number:
Form:
Tax Year(s) Ended:
Exemption under Section 501(c)(4)
of the Internal Revenue Code
Person to Contact/ID Number:
Contact Numbers:
Phone:
Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

In a determination letter dated 03/12/20XX, you were held to be exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code).

Based on recent information received, we have determined you have not operated in accordance with the provisions of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. Accordingly, your exemption from Federal income tax is revoked effective 01/01/20XX. This is a final adverse determination letter with regard to your status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

We previously provided you a report of examination explaining why we believe revocation of your exempt status is necessary. At that time, we informed you of your right to contact the Taxpayer Advocate, as well as your appeal rights. On 05/15/20XX, you signed Form 6018-A, Consent to Proposed Action, agreeing to the revocation of your exempt status under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

You are required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. If you have not yet filed these returns, please file them with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted, or unless an examiner's report for income tax liability was issued to you with other instructions. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal

Report Exhibits - Page 001635

Appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in the United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:
Taxpayer Advocate Service

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown at the beginning of this letter.

Sincerely,

Sunita Lough
Director, EO Examinations

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service
1100 Commerce Street
Dallas, TX 75242

April 8, 2008

ORG
ADDRESS

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSI-IRS-08-000079

Report Exhibits - Page 001637

2

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801 V

PSI-IRS-08-000080

Report Exhibits - Page 001638

3

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Marsha A. Ramirez
Director, EO Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801Y

PSI-IRS-08-000081

Report Exhibits - Page 001639

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

LEGEND

ORG = Organization name    XX = Date    State = state    River = river
CO-1, & CO-2 = 1st Company, 2nd Company    ATT-1, ATT-2, ATT-3, ATT-4, ATT-5,
ATT-6, ATT-7 & ATT-8 = 1st ATTRACTION, 2nd ATTRACTION, 3rd ATTRACTION, 4th
ATTRACTION, 5th ATTRACTION, 6th ATTRACTION, 7th ATTRACTION & 8th ATTRACTION

ISSUE:

Whether ORG's (ORG) section 501(c)(4) exempt status should be revoked effective January 1, 20XX, because the ORG is organized for profit, and is not operated exclusively for social welfare purposes.

FACTS-ORGANIZATIONAL:

The ORG (ORG) was incorporated or formed on 11/12/19XX. The ORG applied for exempt status under Section 501(c)(7) as a social ORG on 11/19/01. The ORG received a determination letter granting them exempt status under Section 501(c)(4) on 3/12/20XX. The ORG's Form 1024, Application for Exempt Status states, "The organization formerly owned and operated a private nine hole golf course and ORG house/restaurant for its members only. A couple of years ago, however, the organization went through a change. Rather than focusing on its members, it became a community organization. It opened its golf course up to the public. As a part of this change, it entered into an agreement with ORG, State, to combine with the organization's nine holes of golf the nine holes of golf owned by ORG, State. Thus, the organization currently operates an 18 hole course that is open to the public. ORG requested the organization to operate the entire course. This is the only golf course near City, State. ORG requires that all green fees be used towards the maintenance of the 18 holes of golf. ORG regularly meets with the organization to provide suggestions as to how to make this course better for the general community..."

The ORG's most recent ARTICLE's OF INCORPORATION dated 3/31/20XX [and prior Articles] state the following:

Article III PURPOSES AND POWERS

The ORG was organized and continues as a non-profit country ORG for the purpose of owning and operating a golf course, a ORG house and other related recreational, dining and social facilities for the recreation and enjoyment of the ORG's duly qualified members. The ORG shall have the power to carry on all activities reasonably related or incidental to the operation of a golf and country ORG. No part of the net earnings of the ORG shall inure to the benefit of any member or individual. The ORG's powers shall include but shall not be limited to the following:

- (1) To construct, own, operate, and carry on a golf ORG for the use and enjoyment of its members and their guests, and to build, own, operate and maintain a golf course, a pro shop, a ORG storage facility and other related facilities, on its own or in conjunction with

Report Exhibits - Page 001640

|                                |                                                                                      |                                     |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A               | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit          |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

other public or private entities as may be determined by the ORG's Board of Directors, for the use, pleasure and enjoyment of the ORG's member, their guests and the public.

(2) To construct, own, operate, and maintain a ORG house and other facilities as may be determined by the Board of Directors, including a restaurant, dining areas, dance floors or areas, refreshment stands, locker rooms, and other rooms, places or facilities, and to provide or conduct social, entertainment or amusement activities, for the convenience, health, comfort, and entertainment of the ORG's members and their guests;

Article VI (f) POWERS OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

(1) To make, alter or amend the Bylaws and ORG rules and provide penalties for infractions thereof by members; all bylaws made and enacted by the Board shall have full and final effect unless inconsistent with the laws of the State of State or the Constitution and Articles of Incorporation;

(2) Prescribe the terms upon which persons may be accepted to membership in the ORG;

(3) Accept or reject any application for membership;

(4) Fix and prescribe classifications of members;

(5) Determine and fix admission fees and dues;

(6) Levy assessments against the members and provide for the collection of the same;

(7) Approve the hiring of the ORG manager, the golf pro, the greens superintendent, and all other employees of the ORG, and approve all salaries of ORG employees;

(8) Fine, reprimand, suspend or expel any member;

(9) Remove for cause any director or officer....

Article IX MEMBERSHIP

(a) Eligibility. Any person of good moral character, twenty-one years of age or over, shall be eligible for membership in the ORG, subject to the provisions of the Bylaws and rules of the ORG.

(b) Application for Membership and Action Thereon. Matters relating to applications for membership and action thereon shall be as fixed in the Bylaws.

The ORG's BYLAWS dated 3/31/20XX [and prior bylaws] state the following:

Article I Section 1.1 Purposes. The ORG was formed and continues as a nonprofit country ORG for the purpose of owning and operating a golf course, ORG house and other related recreational, dining and social facilities in City, State for the enjoyment and recreation of its members.

Article II MEMBERS:

Section 2.1.1. Members. ...In the case of a membership owned by a corporation or other entity, such entity shall designate one individual who will be deemed the owner for purposes of use of ORG facilities and voting.

Report Exhibits - Page 001641

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit          |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

Section 2.1.2. Equity Members. Equity Members are those members who have purchased an equity membership, have received a certificate of equity membership issued by the ORG, and whose equity membership has not been sold by the member or terminated by the ORG. Equity Members are entitled to vote, hold office, share in any liquidation proceeds, and sell, transfer or bequeath their membership in the ORG as permitted by these Bylaws.

Section 2.1.3. Non-Equity Members. Non-Equity Members are those members who have purchased a non-equity membership and whose non-equity membership has not been terminated by the ORG. Non-equity Members are not entitled to vote, hold office, share in any liquidation proceeds, or sell, transfer or bequeath their membership in the ORG.

Section 2.4 Admission Procedures. Membership in the ORG will be solely by invitation of the Board. A request that an invitation to membership be extended must be made in writing by at least one (1) voting Equity Member in good standing. All requests for invitations will be submitted to the Membership Committee of the Board for consideration and review. The Membership Committee will carefully examine all information and communications in reference to each candidate. Before each monthly Board meeting, the Membership Committee will submit to the Board members a list of individuals for whom an invitation for membership has been requested, together with its recommendation for action. All information regarding the candidates, as well as all action taken by the Membership Committee and the Board regarding such candidates will be kept confidential. The affirmative vote of four Board members will be required to admit a candidate. Should the nomination be unfavorably acted upon, it may not be submitted again for a period of one (1) year. It will be the duty of each Member of the ORG possessed of any negative information regarding the character of a candidate, or knowing of any good reason why membership should not be granted to such individual, to communicate the same to the Membership Committee. All such communications will be held by the Membership Committee in strictest confidence.

Section 2.6. Upgrade from Non-Equity Membership to Equity Membership. At the discretion of the Board, a Non-Equity Member may become an Equity Member by requesting such status and by paying as an initiation fee the difference between the fee paid by the Member at the time he or she became a Non-Equity Member and the then current initiation fee for an equity membership. [For 20XX, both the purchase of an Equity membership and the initiation fee for a Non-Equity membership were $ .]

Section 2.8. Voting Rights. ...Each Equity Member in good standing shall have one vote. Non-Equity Members shall not have voting rights. [In 20XX, the ORG had 127 equity members and 105 associate/non-equity members; both classes pay annual dues of $ per person.]

Article XV DISSOLUTION

Report Exhibits - Page 001642

|                                       |                                                                                      |                                            |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                      | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

Section 15.1. Dissolution of the ORG. In the event that the ORG shall be dissolved, the Equity Members in good standing shall participate on a pro-rata basis in the distribution of the net assets of the ORG.

FACTS – OPERATIONAL:*Golf Course Open to Public

The ORG operates an 18 hole championship golf course under an arrangement with ORG, State. The County owns 9 holes and leases this to the ORG in exchange for the ORG managing and maintaining it along with their 9 holes, and keeping the entire 18 holes open to the public. The County requires the ORG to roll green fees from the golf course back into the course for operating expenses, maintenance and improvements. For 20XX, the County also appropriated $ for capital improvements and equipment for the golf course.

Numerous golf tournaments are held on the golf course including fundraisers, state sponsored or sanctioned events, and company outings. All of the golf tournaments are open to the public as well as the ORG members. There are many people from out of the area that participate in the tournaments.

Members of the ORG and members of the general public all pay the same to play golf– whether it is a season pass or green fees.

Private ORG house – Members pay dues to patronize but also open to the public.

Facilities owned by the ORG include a restaurant and bar which is a private ORG house with a Class A liquor license as contemplated in Section 32A-5 of the State Code. The building also contains several large conference rooms not subject to the state private ORG rules.

Although the ORG house is a “private ORG” for purposes of the state liquor law, the ORG maintains that it is open to the public for practical purposes. The ORG actively seeks to book business meeting luncheons and corporate golf outing dinners with local and visiting companies and groups as well as company holiday parties, weddings, reunions, birthday gatherings, etc. The ORG meets and works with the Convention and Visitors Bureau and local hotels, rents billboards, and buys radio time to find bookings for the ORG house. The ORG explained that private ORG rules are followed by having a member of the ORG sponsor an event. Thus, the attendees are guests of that member. When an event is initiated by a non-member, they will ask one of their relatives or friends that is a member to sponsor the event. If it happens that there is non-member business, the person who is hosting the party must buy a temporary membership. [See section below on membership.]

Snack bar and pro-shop – Open to the public

Report Exhibits - Page 001643

|                  |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                                                           | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

ORG property also includes a building housing a snack bar and pro-shop, open to the public. Beer, but not liquor, is served in the snack bar so it is not subject to the State private ORG rules. The snack bar business is owned and operated by the ORG. The pro-shop business is owned and operated by the general manager (GM) of the ORG who is also their golf professional.

Membership: Voting, Non-Voting and Temporary

There are three classes of membership: (1) equity members, who have purchased an equity membership, are entitled to vote, hold office, share in any liquidation proceeds, and sell, transfer, or bequeath their shares in the ORG, (2) non-equity members, who are not entitled to vote, hold office, share in any liquidation proceeds, or sell, transfer or bequeath their shares in the ORG and (3) temporary members, whose only benefit is the use of the ORG house. Equity and non-equity membership is only by invitation of the ORG.

For 20XX, the purchase of both an equity membership and the initiation fee for a non-equity membership was $. Both classes pay annual dues of $ per person. In 20XX, there were 127 equity (voting) members and 105 non-equity (non-voting) members. Upgrade from non-equity to equity membership is at the discretion of the Board. Since the equity and non-equity members pay the same dues and fees, it is not immediately apparent why the non-equity members are not allowed to vote. One possible explanation may be that the State liquor law requires at least of the membership of a Class A liquor licensee have full voting rights [and an equal share in the equity of the ORG if it is a stock corporation]. The ORG has members with full voting rights. This arrangement will generate dues revenue from all "members" willing to pay dues while granting full voting membership only to the extent required by State law. This would allow for maximum revenue and minimum sacrifice of voting control and equity.

Regarding the temporary memberships, in actuality, very few are sold. Non-member/temporary dues in 20XX totaled $. Regular membership dues totaled $. Initially, the examining agent was told that a temporary membership costing $ entitled the purchaser and guest(s) the use of the ORG house for two weeks. This amount was charged at the request of regular members because it approximates member's annual dues on a prorated basis. The members didn't think it was fair if they had to pay $ per person; $ per married couple to patronize the ORG house if a non-member could get in on a $ visitor card. [Under state law, the $ visitor card can be good for 3 weeks.] Per correspondence from the ORG's representative dated 3/13/20XX, "for the last several months they have three different types of non-member use of the restaurant. First, non-members are able to purchase a one month membership for the $. Second, they can purchase a one day membership for $. Third, and apparently the largest use, is that non-members are allowed to use the restaurant based upon being a guest of a member."

Membership dues, whether annual or temporary, do not entitle a member to use the golf course, only the restaurant and bar.

Report Exhibits - Page 001644

|                  |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                                                           | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

Control of ORG

According to the Articles of Incorporation, control of the ORG rests with a board of seven directors who are elected by the members. The board determines who will be accepted as a member to the ORG and who will not. A prospective equity/voting member must be recommended to the board by a current equity member. An affirmative vote of four board members is required to admit a candidate.

The board meets with the County regularly regarding the management of the golf course, but manages the ORG house and membership in the ORG independently.

The area where the ORG is situated

The ORG is 1 of 5 golf courses in all of _____ covers a comparable geographic area and has 88 golf courses. The golf course winds along the River and is banked by sandstone and shale cliffs. It is located between the towns of City and City in ORG. The approximate population of City is _____ and City, the largest town in the county, _____ There are at least two hotels in City which have event facilities. The CO-1 advertises that it has meeting and banquet facilities for groups of 10 to 500. The CO-2 has two meeting rooms. The larger has a capacity of 200 and the smaller, 50. Per an internet source, ORG per capita income is approximately $ _____ of the population below the poverty line. Largest industries are mining, government, and wholesale/ retail trade.

ORG terrain consists of mountain and desert. The area appears to be somewhat economically depressed, however many tourist attractions draw in additional commerce. City was once the hub of State's transportation and mining industries, and now nearly every building on Main Street is on the NATT-2. Other attractions in this area called "ATT-1" (unusual rock formations) include ATT-3, ATT-4, ATT-5, ATT-6 ATT-7, and ATT-8. There are hundreds of miles of mountain bike trails, trout fishing, hiking tours and camping.

FACTS - FINANCIAL:

The following two pages contain the ORG's financial statements. The ORG's allocates income and expenses to either the ORG house or the golf course.

| Form |                                                | ORG   | Golf   |          |
|------|------------------------------------------------|-------|--------|----------|
| 990  | Revenue                                        | house | Course | Combined |
|      | Green Fees-ORG Members & General Public        |       |        |          |
|      | Golf Season Passes - General Public            |       |        |          |
|      | Driving Range Income                           |       |        |          |
|      | Riding Cart Rentals                            |       |        |          |
|      | Advertising Income - Bench Ads                 |       |        |          |
|      | Visitor cards - Temporary Membership ORG house |       |        |          |

Report Exhibits - Page 001645

| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Schedule No. or Exhibit              |
|----------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| Explanation of Items |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                      |
| Name of Taxpayer     | Year/Period Ended                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                      |
| ORG                  | 20XX12, 20XX12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                      |
| Line 1               | Mineral lease incomeMiscellaneous incomeCollection charge returned cks                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                      |
| Line 2               | Program Service Revenue                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                      |
| Line 3               | ORG house Member Golf PassesORG house Member DuesMembership Dues                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                      |
| Line 4               | Interest Income                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                      |
| Line 8               | Sale of Fixed Assets                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                      |
|                      | ORG house - FoodORG house - Minimum ChargesORG house - BevORG house - LiquorORG house - BeerORG house - Catering DepositsSubtotal                                                                                                        |                                      |
|                      | Snack Bar - FoodSnack Bar - BeveragesSnack Bar - BeerSubtotal                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                      |
| Line 10a             | Gross Sale of InventoryTotal Gross Receipts                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                      |
| Line 10b             | Cost of Goods Sold                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                      |
| Line 12              | Total Revenue                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                      |
| Line 44              | Total Expense                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                      |
| Line 18              | Excess or (deficit)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                      |
| Form 990             | Expense                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | ORG house    Golf Course    Combined |
|                      | Groundskeeper SalaryAssistant Groundskeeper SalaryAssistant Golf Pro SalaryGrounds LaborSalary - Driving RangeStarter's SalaryMarshallingGeneral Manager and Golf Pro SalaryOffice Clerk and Office Manager SalaryCrew Labor |                                      |

Report Exhibits - Page 001646

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit          |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

|         |                                                 |  |
|---------|-------------------------------------------------|--|
|         | Labor Snack Bar                                 |  |
|         | Janitor                                         |  |
| Line 26 | Other Salaries and Wages                        |  |
| Line 29 | Payroll Taxes                                   |  |
| Line 31 | Accounting Fees                                 |  |
| Line 32 | Legal Fees                                      |  |
|         | Office Supplies                                 |  |
|         | Paper Supplies, Linens                          |  |
|         | Janitor Supplies, Misc Supplies, Freight        |  |
|         | Kitchen Supplies, Uniforms, China/Silver,       |  |
|         | Gasoline & Lubricants                           |  |
|         | Bar Supplies, Mistakes/Spills Liquor            |  |
| Line 33 | Supplies                                        |  |
| Line 35 | Postage and Shipping                            |  |
| Line 37 | Repairs & Maintenance - Bldgs & Equip           |  |
| Line 42 | Depreciation                                    |  |
|         | Outside Labor                                   |  |
|         | Electric                                        |  |
|         | Phone                                           |  |
|         | Water                                           |  |
|         | Tax & license                                   |  |
|         | Property Taxes                                  |  |
|         | Insurance                                       |  |
|         | Employee ed,insure,bene,wrkms comp              |  |
|         | Legal services                                  |  |
|         | Advertising                                     |  |
|         | BDay, dues/sub, entertain, cable, misc, bad cks |  |
|         | Bank charges                                    |  |
| Line 43 | Other Expenses                                  |  |
| Line 44 | Total Expenses                                  |  |

LAW:

IRC, 2007-CODE-VOL, SEC. 501. EXEMPTION FROM TAX ON CORPORATIONS, CERTAIN TRUSTS, ETC.

501(c)(4)(A) Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in a particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes.

501(c)(4)(B) Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an entity unless no part of the net earnings of such entity inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

The term "shareholder" includes a member of an organization. See West Side Tennis Club v. Comm., 111 F. 2d 6 (2d Cir. 1940).

Report Exhibits - Page 001647

|                             |                                                       |                                     |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                                     |
| Name of Taxpayer            | ORG                                            | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

FINAL-REG, TAX-REGS, §1.501(c)(4)-1. Civic organizations and local associations of employees

Reg. §1.501(c)(4)-1 does not reflect P.L. 99-514, P.L. 100-203, P.L. 100-647, P.L. 101-73 or P.L. 104-168.

(a) Civic organizations

(1) In general. —A civic league or organization may be exempt as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) if:

- (i) It is not organized or operated for profit; and
- (ii) It is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare.

(2) Promotion of social welfare

(i) In general. —An organization is operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare if it is primarily engaged in promoting in some way the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. An organization embraced within this section is one which is operated primarily for the purpose of bringing about civic betterments and social improvements.

(ii) Political or social activities. —The promotion of social welfare does not include direct or indirect participation or intervention in political campaigns on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office. Nor is an organization operated primarily for the promotion of social welfare if its primary activity is operating a social club for the benefit, pleasure, or recreation of its members, or is carrying on a business with the general public in a manner similar to organizations which are operated for profit.

Revenue Ruling 64-313

The organization in question was incorporated under state law, without capital stock, as a nonprofit corporation. Its purpose is to maintain a registry for the wishes of members in regard to arrangements following death; to study and develop methods of achieving simplicity and dignity in funeral and memorial services; and to educate and inform its members and the public as to the results of such study.

Membership is available to any person who is in sympathy with the purposes of the organization on payment of a nominal membership fee. The income of the organization is derived from membership fees and donations. Its funds are expended for office rental, printing and supplies, secretarial help, and other miscellaneous expenses.

It is clear that the educational functions of the organization benefit the community as a whole by informing it of the problems involved in funeral arrangements. Furthermore, the maintenance of the registry is not similar to a business ordinarily carried on for profit, and in view of the nominal cost of membership and the non-exclusiveness of membership, this activity also serves a public purpose by facilitating the completion of decedents' funeral arrangements and the disposition of their remains in accordance with their wishes. Supplying information to members or their

Report Exhibits - Page 001648

|                  |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                                                           | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

representatives as to local funeral directors furnishing low cost funerals is incidental to and in furtherance of the organization's primary social welfare functions.

Revenue Ruling 67-109

A nonprofit corporation which operates a roller skating rink is exempt under section 501(c)(4). The roller skating rink is located in a county-owned building which is made available by the county government to the organization on a rent free basis. The income of the organization, which is derived from admissions, membership fees, and concessions operated in conjunction with the skating facilities, is used to defray operating expenses. Although the charges made are aimed at a break-even operation, any profit which the rink might realize is donated to the county for necessary improvements to the rink building. Membership in the organization, which qualifies one to vote for officers and directors at the annual meeting, and admission to the rink are open to all residents of the county upon payment of a nominal amount.

Revenue Ruling 66-273

An organization was formed to provide supervised facilities in a community for the development of good pistol, rifle, and shotgun marksmanship and for instruction in the safe handling and proper care of firearms. Membership is open to any citizen of the community of good moral character over 18 years old. Its receipts are derived from membership dues, range fees, and proceeds from the sale of ammunition and targets. Disbursements are made for the purchase of ammunition and targets, improvements to the range ground and buildings, expenses of special events, and miscellaneous operating expenses. The organization does not maintain a clubhouse. Social affairs are limited to an annual dinner for members, occasional picnics, and special events. None of the organization's income inures to the benefit of private individuals.

American Women Buyers Club, Inc. v. Commissioner, 238 F.2d 526 (2nd Cir. 1964)

The court affirmed denial of exemption to a membership corporation of female ready-to-wear buyers organized to promote the general good and welfare of members in the trade, encourage friendly relations, and give aid to members in distress. Membership, even within the trade, was restrictive as approximately 15% of the applicants were turned down. The services provided by the club (such as employment facilities, information about sources of supply, lectures, dinners, installations, publications, and sick and death benefits) were all primarily, if not exclusively, for the club membership.

Revenue Ruling 80-205

The Service ruled that it will not follow the decision in Eden Hall Farm v. United States, 389 F. Supp. 858 (W.D. PA 1975). This case held that an organization providing recreational facilities to the employees of selected corporations qualifies for exemption as a social welfare organization described in IRC 501(c)(4).

Revenue Ruling 69-385

Report Exhibits - Page 001649

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                            |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

A corporation was formed for the stated purpose of promoting the general welfare of the residents of a particular community. Membership in the corporation was available to those who owned property in a designated area. They paid an assessment based on the amount of property owned. Membership was transferable to successive purchasers of property owned by the original members. The corporate bylaws provide that any profits of the corporation shall be apportioned pro rata among the members according to the assessment originally paid. The corporation used the original assessments to purchase unimproved lots and some undeveloped land in the area. Over the years, the corporation sold on a sporadic basis some of the property and received substantial income from such sales. It derived additional income from the investment of the proceeds from the sales. The corporation improved and maintained nonresidential property and engaged in other activities for the benefit of all the residents of the area. On several occasions the corporation distributed profits to the members in accordance with its bylaws provisions. The corporation is authorized to make, and in fact made, distributions of profits to its members. These distributions are equivalent to dividends based upon equity ownership and result in profit to the members. It was held that the corporation does not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Code since the authority for making the distributions and the distributions themselves are incompatible with the requirements of the regulations that an organization must not be organized or operated for profit.

In P.L.L. Scholarship Fund v. Commissioner, 82 T.C. 196 (1984) [CCH Dec. Link 40,960]

An organization operated bingo at a bar (a for-profit enterprise) for purposes of raising money for scholarships. The board of directors included the bar's owners and accountant, and two other persons. The court reasoned that, because the bar owners controlled the organization and appointed its directors, the organization's fundraising activities could be used to the advantage of the bar owners, and thus, provide them with a maximum private benefit. The organization claimed that it was independent because there was a separate accounting and that no payments were going to the bar. The court maintained that the organization's and the bar's activities were so interrelated as to be "functionally inseparable." A separate accounting did not change that fact. Thus, the organization did not operate exclusively for exempt purposes, but rather benefited private interests - the bar owners. Exemption was properly denied.

Revenue Ruling 74-298

A nonprofit organization was formed by local businessmen to provide recreation and entertainment for the citizens and visitors of the community. All residents of the community are eligible to become members of the organization upon payment of a nominal initiation fee and approval of a majority of the Board of Directors. The organization's sole activity is the sponsorship of an annual professional golf tournament that would otherwise not be available to the community. The tournament features nationally known competitors and receives nation-wide news coverage. The organization charges a standard admission fee to the public to attend the tournament. The organization's income is from gate receipts, membership fees, and assessments. Its disbursements are for prize money for the golfers, rental of a golf course, and miscellaneous administrative expenses. The ruling held that a professional golf tournament is an activity that

Report Exhibits - Page 001650

|                             |                                                       |                                     |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A            | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Explanation of Items |                                                       |                                     |
| Name of Taxpayer            | ORG                                                   | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

can be operated for profit, and the sponsorship of such a golf tournament can itself be a business for profit. The golf tournament sponsored by the organization is carried on with the general public and is operated in a manner similar to tournaments operated for profit. Accordingly, the organization is not operated primarily for the promotion of social welfare and, therefore, does not qualify for exemption from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(4) of the Code.

In People's Educational Camp Society, Inc. v. Commissioner, 331 F.2d 923 (2nd Cir. 1964), a nonprofit corporation's social welfare activities were supported by its operation of a commercial resort. The court rejected the argument that the resort activities were social welfare and characterized them as business activities. It noted that a large portion of the revenue was being reinvested in the commercial operation. As the business activities were of such magnitude in comparison with the social welfare activities that the organization could not be said to be exclusively (that is, "primarily") engaged in the promotion of social welfare, the court held the organization nonexempt.

In Club Gaona, Inc. v. United States, 167 F. Supp. 741 (S.D. CA 1958), the organization's principal activity was the promotion of regular public dances, which were its main source of income. The club used these profits for speculative real estate dealings. The court held that the organization was not primarily promoting social welfare as its profits were devoted to the accumulation of funds which were not used for ascertainable civic projects.

GOVERNMENTS POSITION:

The ORG operates in several capacities:

- 1.) As a private ORG bar and restaurant in order to comply with the state liquor laws, to control membership and ownership, and for the benefit, pleasure and recreation of the members.
- 2.) Carrying on a business with the general public by actively seeking bookings for golf tournaments, banquets, other events and daily business.
- 3.) Managing and operating a County owned 9 hole golf course in conjunction with their own 9 hole course to provide recreation for the community and for ORG members.

During the course of this examination, there has been a good deal of discussion and fact finding in an attempt to determine whether the ORG is organized and operated as required under IRC 501(c)(4). i.e. Are the Articles and Bylaws consistent with IRC 501(c)(4)? What is the primary activity and is it in furtherance of social welfare purposes? Relevant facts and circumstances are as follows.

Social and recreational activities for members and activities similar to those carried on by a business operated for profit are present to a substantial degree. Functions for members in the ORG house and member golf leagues are not IRC 501(c)(4) activities. They are social and recreational activities for members. Also, operating a bar, restaurant, banquet facilities, renting out meeting rooms, and even hosting golf tournaments [R.R. 74-298] are activities similar to

Report Exhibits - Page 001651

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

those carried on by a business operated for profit and are not IRC 501(c)(4) activities. However, these activities do not preclude exemption provided they do not comprise the primary activity of the organization.

Factors such as the remote location of the golf course, the economically depressed area, the community's need for recreation, and the golf course being available at the same cost to the general public and ORG members, are indicative that the golf course may be operated for the benefit of the community. The ORG has suggested that the arrangement they have with the County and the support they receive from them shows that they qualify under IRC 501(c)(4).

The examining agent suggests that the "arrangement" is a management contract and the "support" is compensation under that contract; i.e. capital acquisition funds [9 holes are ORG property], additional revenues generated by the draw of having an 18 hole course suitable for tournaments, and additional revenues from being open to the public. The County's purpose was to provide a golf course open to the community. To achieve this, they contracted with a privately owned golf course [the ORG] to manage and operate it. The ORG did not apply for exempt status until a couple of years later. Nevertheless, without regard to the private ownership of the ORG, operation of a public golf course can qualify as a 501(c)(4) activity provided other facts and circumstances are consistent with IRC 501(c)(4). The examining agent will continue with the government's position allowing the presumption that the 18 hole golf course activity is considered to be an activity of the ORG and an activity described in IRC 501(c)(4). Returning to the determination of the primary activity of the ORG; one method of determining the primary activity is a gross receipts test. Initially, the examining agent used the ORG's allocation of receipts on their financial statements for the gross receipts test which resulted in the ORG house having of gross receipts. However, the ORG pointed out that this allocation was flawed because receipts from riding cart rentals and the snack bar are related to the golf course. Thus, these receipts were moved to the golf course column as reflected in the schedule below. Gross receipts from the golf course activities, i.e. green fees, season passes, golf cart rentals, driving range income and snack bar income make up of total gross receipts.

|                                 | ORGhouse | GolfCourse | Total |
|---------------------------------|--------------|----------------|-------|
| ORG Financial Statements |              |                |       |
| Gross Receipts                  |              |                |       |
| Cost of Goods Sold              |              |                |       |
| Total Revenue                   |              |                |       |
| Total Expense                   |              |                |       |
| Excess or (Deficit)             |              |                |       |
| Riding cart rentals         |              |                |       |
| Snack Bar receipts              |              |                |       |

Report Exhibits - Page 001652

|                  |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                                                           | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

Reallocation

Gross Receipts
Cost of goods sold
Total Revenue

Labor snack bar
Total Expense

Excess or (Deficit)

The gross receipts test shows the golf course activity to be the primary activity and there are factors supporting that the golf course is operated for the benefit of the community. Additional facts and circumstances relevant in determining qualification for exempt status are as follows.

The examining agent feels it is important to point out that the riding cart rentals and snack bar income are not required by the County to be rolled back into the golf course. [Not that this would necessarily prevent funds from benefiting equity members as they own half of the 18 hole course.] These receipts may be disbursed as deemed necessary by the ORG board. In fact, the ORG financial statements allocate all of these receipts to the ORG house. Regardless, the excess from general public patronage benefits ORG members in such forms as an increase in services offered by the ORG without a corresponding increase in dues or other fees and as an increase in the ORG's assets which are distributable to equity members upon the dissolution of the ORG.

Equity membership in the ORG is exclusive; limited by the Board. Equity members are given access to the ORG house, the right to vote, hold office, and share in the net assets of the ORG upon dissolution. Non-equity members pay the same dues and fees and only receive access to the ORG house. They are not allowed to vote, hold office, or share in the net assets of the ORG upon dissolution. An organization that is operated for the benefit of the community should be open to all persons in the community with full voting rights and equal dues for equal rights. The exclusivity of membership is inconsistent with IRC 501(c)(4) purposes.

The ORG has stated that the ORG house itself provides social welfare activities because it has meeting rooms which provide a place for "various charities and other public gatherings" and that the bar and restaurant is not just for members but, open to the public, for all practical purposes. The examining agent contends that the activities are not social welfare activities. There are other bars, restaurants, event centers, banquet facilities, and a convention center, in the area. These are business activities carried on with the general public and operated for profit. However, it is not the operation of the ORG house as a business activity [or social activity for members] that precludes exemption. The ORG house does not appear to be the primary activity. The problem is the private ownership of the ORG house along with the limited membership. Revenues treated as tax exempt are inuring to private individuals.

Report Exhibits - Page 001653

|                         |                                                       |                                            |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A        | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit                    |
|                         | Explanation of Items                           |                                            |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                            | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

The Articles and Bylaws are not consistent with and in furtherance of IRC 501(c)(4) purposes. They state "In the event that the ORG shall be dissolved; the Equity Members in good standing shall participate on a pro-rata basis in the distribution of the net assets of the ORG." The net earnings of a 501(c)(4) organization must be devoted exclusively to charitable, recreational, or educational activities. The ORG's dissolution clause which provides for the distribution of net assets to its members is not consistent with exemption under IRC 501(c)(4). [R.R. 69-385]

The organizing documents do state that the ORG was organized as a non-profit country ORG and that no part of the net earnings shall inure to the benefit of any member or individual. However, this declaration is contradicted when these same documents also authorize the issuance of certificates of equity, which are certificates of stock representing ownership in the corporation, and dedicate the assets to the owners/members of the corporation.

The ORG states that it is the net assets of the ORG that will be shared by the members and that IRC 501(c)(4) only requires that no net earnings inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual. The examining agent argues that for purposes of the prohibition against inurement, these terms are indistinguishable and interchangeable. Both the net assets and the net earnings of an IRC 501(c)(4) organization are protected by this prohibition. The ORG is organized so that equity members will participate on a pro-rata basis in the distribution of the net assets upon dissolution. This is a fatal flaw in the ORG's organizing documents.

TAXPAYER'S POSITION:

[Letter dated 12/28/20XX] The report basically ignores the fact that substantially all of the activities and funds of the Golf Course are devoted to maintenance and operation of the public golf course which provides needed recreational activities to the general public and is of the type that ORG clearly recognizes and supports. In addition to the larger capital acquisition payments, ORG contributes indirectly to the operations of the golf course. This results from the County making the additional nine holes of golf available for use with no charge. Thus, the golf course is able to use the green fees generated by this free use of the County's property for the operation of the golf course as a whole. All such green fees, as well as all golf passes sold to members and non-members must be used for the care, maintenance, and operation of the golf course. The vast majority of such green fees are paid from the general public users or from public tournaments. In addition to the use of the County's portion of the golf course, the County contributed last year about $ for golf course capital acquisitions. Given these two forms of contributions, there is no doubt but that the operation of the golf course is furthering one of the purposes of the County.

A "de minimis" part of the Golf Course activities is the operation of the restaurant. The restaurant is owned and operated in the manner imposed upon it by the State of State as a result of its liquor license. These rules make it appear as if it is similar to other private ORGs. However, like most places in State that permit the sale of alcohol, the actual operation of the

Report Exhibits - Page 001654

|                  |                                                                                      |                                     |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Name of Taxpayer | ORG                                                                           | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

ORG is radically different from a true private ORG. The public is able to and does use the restaurant. This is facilitated by the payment of a small three day fee, now being the minimum $ fee set by the state of Statc. The requirement of a member sponsoring an event to be held at the restaurant by the public on paper also looks like a private ORG. Here again, the state of State requires a member to sponsor such an event. However, this is form over substance, since such member sponsorship has been and is available upon request. In addition, in the same building as the restaurant, there are several large conference rooms. These are fully available, without the minimum liquor license fee, for all types of community and other charitable uses and are frequently used for such purposes.

Proceeds from the golf cart rentals are used for golf cart repair, maintenance, and purchase of new replacement carts. This is not the profit center alleged in the report, especially since this "profit" only goes to improve the facilities used by the public.

Although Code Section 501(c)(4) may use stricter language, the regulations make it clear that all that is required for an entity to qualify under this section is that it be "primarily" engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Regs. 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i). Given the large percentage of funds and time devoted to the golf course, it is clear that this is the primary focus. There is no question that ORG clearly believes that the operation of a golf course is for the common good and general welfare of its citizens. This is the only golf course in ORG and ORG not only owns a portion of the course in question, but also regularly contributes substantially towards the cost of capital improvements. It is also clear that the golf course is available to the general public.

Although the report recognizes the obvious desire of the County to provide this type of recreation to its citizens, it suggests that this for some reason is not the type of social welfare addressed in Section 501(c)(4). The providing of recreation by governmental entities is common place and clearly is a governmental function. The fact that an economically strapped county, such as ORG, desires to make this type of capital resource available for recreation is proof that the golf course operation satisfies the social welfare requirement.

The report asserts the finding in a case which benefits a small group of apartment renters as reason why the golf course is not for the public benefit. There is no comparison between these two. There is not a select group that benefit from the golf course as there was in the apartment case. Every citizen is able to enjoy the benefit of this course. Clearly, this is a public and not a private benefit and the comparison to an apartment complex is completely incorrect. The lack of benefit to the members is additional evidence of the public purpose of the golf course.

The report also focuses on the restaurant as preventing satisfaction of the "primarily" engaged requirement. The report is wrong on three points. The activity and cost of operating the restaurant pales in comparison to the operation of the golf course. Second, the restaurant, for a small fee required by the state of State, is available to the public. Third, a portion of the

Report Exhibits - Page 001655

|                                |                                                       |                                     |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A               | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service | Schedule No. or Exhibit             |
| Explanation of Items    |                                                       |                                     |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                       | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

restaurant itself provides social welfare. It provides a place for various charities and other public gatherings. In this economically strapped county, the ability for a large public group to gather satisfies a public welfare requirement. Although the state of State dictated liquor laws place some technical road blocks for such public gatherings, these have and continue to not be anything more than technical. For example, member sponsoring is required, but freely given to all. Such activities are very similar to those involved in Rev. Rul. 65-195, which found a social welfare activity to be present in conducting community sports contests.

We believe that the regulations and case law provide that once the public welfare benefit is established, minor profit activities do not destroy its qualifying under Section 501(c)(4). Although the court found that the primary activity of the taxpayer in People's Educational Camp Society, Inc. v. Comr. was the providing of for profit management services, the court indicated that had this been a secondary activity, the taxpayer would still qualify under Section 501(c)(4).

Similarly, see TAM 9815061, where the entire activity was a for profit activity. This distinction is best found, however, in TAM 97110004. Here a number of subordinate organizations were found to have as their "predominant activity" the commercial operations of a bar and restaurant. However, the parent company that oversaw such subordinate organization as well as other charitable organizations remained qualified since this commercial activity was not the primary or principal activity of the parent company. In short, the existence of minor non public welfare activity does not destroy the qualification.

Here, it is only a minor activity that is arguably a for profit activity. By far and away the vast majority of the activity is the operation of the public golf course. It is this activity that should control.

PRIOR APPROVAL: Even if the primary purpose of the golf course is ignored and hence the golf course is denied 501(c)(4) status, such change cannot be done retroactively. The golf course obtained a determination letter from the IRS. Neither its organizational documents nor its operations have changed from those disclosed in the application for this determination. Thus, this is a re-determination of the same facts and one that must be done prospectively only.

[Letter dated 1/30/20XX] We still disagree on two basic points. First, the regulations do not prohibit all other activity, but only require that the organization be "primarily" engaged in promoting the common good and general welfare of the people of the community. Reg. 1.501(c)(4)-1(a)(2)(i). We believe that even if the areas you have focused upon do not fit squarely in this general welfare requirement, such activities are very minor compared to the real focus of the golf course operator.

Second, we disagree with your conclusion that the provision to distribute the assets of the golf course operator to its members results in the sharing in net profits. In fact, the organizational documents prohibit the sharing in the net profits. Instead, they require the distribution of the

Report Exhibits - Page 001656

|                                    |                                                                                      |                                            |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Form 886A                   | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit                 |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 | remaining assets to the members if the entity ever dissolved. These two provisions are not in conflict since the net profits would be required to be distributed to a public charity and the initial capital (the land) distributed to the members.

[Letter dated 3/13/20XX] This is a follow up to our telephone conversation of about a week ago. [manager appeal conference] Attached is a summary of the financial income statement for the ORG. I have tried to allocate the income generated by the golf course versus that generated by the restaurant/ convention facility. It shows $ of income being generated by the golf course as compared to $ being generated by the restaurant/convention facility. It is difficult to make this same allocation based upon expenses since many of the upper level employees jobs are divided between the two activities.

With respect to the restaurant, management confirmed that for the last several months they have three different types of non-member use of the restaurant. First, non-members are able to purchase a one month membership for the $. Second, they can purchase a one day membership for $ (the minimum permitted by the state of State). Third, and apparently the largest use, is that non-members are allowed to use the restaurant based upon being a guest of a member. This last option is used the most and on a very liberal basis. Thus, any time there is any possibility that a non-member can attach himself or herself to a member, then no fee is charged. The reason being is that the restaurant needs more customers and hence they have an incentive to permit non-members use of it.

I had the ORG take a count of member versus non-member use of the restaurant over the time period from February 26 to March 8th 20XX. During this time, there were 29 members who used the restaurant and 180 non-members who used the restaurant. According to the ORG management, this is a typical use ratio.

Given the non-member availability to use the restaurant and the actual use of the restaurant by non-members, it is obvious that there is no real value to the members and hence no inurement to them. Given the low or no cost to use the restaurant there is clearly no real value being given to the members.

I did some research on the issue of the land going to the members upon a dissolution and whether or not the unrecognized appreciation would be treated as "net income" for purposes of the prohibition against sharing in income. I was not able to find anything on point going either direction. The board of directors has no problem amending the bylaws so that to the extent income was used to improve the property that the value of such improvements would go to a 501(c)(3) charity upon any dissolution. However, as to the real property itself, I still believe that an entity should be able to distribute such an asset to members upon dissolution without violating the sharing in net income, whether or not there has been unrecognized appreciation.

Report Exhibits - Page 001657

|                                |                                                                                      |                                     |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Form 886A               | Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue ServiceExplanation of Items | Schedule No. orExhibit          |
| Name of TaxpayerORG |                                                                                      | Year/Period Ended20XX12, 20XX12 |

I also said that I would check on a modification of the bylaws so that both classes of stock were able to vote, rather than only the equity class having a right to vote. Because of the conflict between these two on a dissolution, the board of directors wanted to retain the right to have the equity class vote. Because ORG dictates how the golf course is to be run and maintained, the members have little power. For this reason, do not think that the voting disparity is all that important.

I believe the above covers those issues that were flushed out during our last telephone call. Hopefully, you will find that this supports my argument that the restaurant is either too immaterial to be concerned with or alternatively, that it provides a service for the community as a whole. If so, then the members are receiving no real advantage from the restaurant and it does not generate an inurement problem.

I like to try to compromise issues wherever possible, including those with the IRS. What I propose in this case is that the ORG retain its 501(c)(4) status, but that the restaurant is treated as an unrelated trade or business. I believe this fits with the facts since there is no real inurement to the members. Thus, to the extent it generates any income, there would be an UBIT. I realize that this compromise position cuts against my argument that the restaurant serves a community purpose since the conference rooms are used by the community as a whole. However, since such is basically free, the restaurant still generates the lion share of the income.

CONCLUSION:

IRC section 501(c)(4) provides that social welfare organizations must not be organized for profit and must be operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare. IRC section 501(c)(4)(B) requires that no net earnings inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual with respect to such organization.

The ORG does not meet the organizational and operational requirements of IRC 501(c)(4) because it is owned by its stockholding/voting members, membership is limited, revenues generated by public patronage inure to the benefit of ORG members, and net assets are dedicated to ORG members upon dissolution.

Therefore, we propose revocation of the ORG's section 501(c)(4) exempt status retroactive to January 1, 20XX with consideration given to any request for IRC 7805(b) relief.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
Attn: Mandatory Review, MC 4920 DAL
1100 Commerce St.
Dallas, TX 75242

501.04-00

Date: June 9, 2010

Release Number: 201037034

Release Date: 9/17/10

LEGEND

ORG = Organization name

XX=Date Address = address

Employer Identification Number:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Voice:

Fax:

ORG

ADDRESS

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

This is a final adverse determination letter with regard to your status under section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

You were established in June 19XX as a subordinate under group exemption number 1710. The parent organization was granted tax exempt status as an organization described in section 501(c)(4) of the Code in January 19XX.

Based on recent information received, we have determined you have not operated in accordance with the provisions of section 501(c)(4) of the Code. You ceased operations at the end of 20XX. Currently, you have no financial resources and no assets. You also failed to meet the reporting requirements under IRC §§ 6001 and 6033 necessary for continued exemption from federal income tax under IRC § 501(c)(4).

Accordingly, your exemption from Federal income tax is revoked effective December 31, 20XX.

You are required to file Federal income tax returns on Form 1120. These returns should be filed with the appropriate Service Center for all years beginning after December 31, 20XX.

2

You have the right to contact the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal Appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free, 1-877-777-4778, and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at: (405) 297-4055 (not toll-free).

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown at the beginning of this letter.

Sincerely,

Nanette M. Downing
Director, EO Examinations

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
Internal Revenue Service

January 28, 2010

ORG
ADDRESS

Taxpayer Identification Number:

Form:

Tax Year(s) Ended:

Person to Contact/ID Number:

Contact Numbers:

Telephone:

Fax:

CERTIFIED MAIL – RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Dear

We have enclosed a copy of our report of examination explaining why we believe an adjustment of your organization's exempt status is necessary.

If you do not agree with our position you may appeal your case. The enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process, explains how to appeal an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decision. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process.

If you request a conference, we will forward your written statement of protest to the Appeals Office and they will contact you. For your convenience, an envelope is enclosed.

If you and Appeals do not agree on some or all of the issues after your Appeals conference, or if you do not request an Appeals conference, you may file suit in United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or United States District Court, after satisfying procedural and jurisdictional requirements as described in Publication 3498.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801 V

PSI-IRS-08-000103

Report Exhibits - Page 001661

2

You may also request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892, Exempt Organization Appeal Procedures for Unagreed Issues. If a determination letter is issued to you based on technical advice, no further administrative appeal is available to you within the IRS on the issue that was the subject of the technical advice.

If you accept our findings, please sign and return the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Adverse Action. We will then send you a final letter modifying or revoking exempt status. If we do not hear from you within 30 days from the date of this letter, we will process your case on the basis of the recommendations shown in the report of examination and this letter will become final. In that event, you will be required to file Federal income tax returns for the tax period(s) shown above. File these returns with the Ogden Service Center within 60 days from the date of this letter, unless a request for an extension of time is granted. File returns for later tax years with the appropriate service center indicated in the instructions for those returns.

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Taxpayer Advocate assistance is not a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate cannot reverse a legally correct tax determination, or extend the time fixed by law that you have to file a petition in a United States court. The Taxpayer Advocate can, however, see that a tax matter that may not have been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate Assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number 34801V

PSH-IRS-08-000104

Report Exhibits - Page 001662

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

For Nanette M. Downing
Acting Director, EO Examinations

Enclosures:
Publication 892
Publication 3498
Form 6018
Report of Examination
Envelope

Letter 3610 (04-2002)
Catalog Number J-801V

PSI-IRS-08-000105

Report Exhibits - Page 001663

|                                          |                              |                                        |                            |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1994) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS |                                        | Schedule number or exhibit |
| Name of taxpayerORG                  | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 31, 20XX |                            |

OMB No. 1545-0047
S.S. Catalog Number 1545-0047-0100
XX = Date    1545-0047-0100 = Publication
Catalog No. 1545-0047-0100

Issue:

Whether ORG qualifies for exemption under Section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Facts:

The Internal Revenue Service has made reasonable requests to ORG to file Form 990 for the tax period ending December 31, 20XX.
The following requests were made:

1. Cover Letter 3606, Form 4564, Information Document Request, (IDR), and Publication 1 were sent to the organization on June 18, 20XX.
2. Agent called EO Officer at (405) 412-5019 several occasions to discuss the case and requested delinquent Return for 20XX12, but demands for filing were not met.
3. A 90 day notice and demand letter and IDR were sent by certified mail to the organization on September 22, 20XX. The certified receipt was returned signed on 09/28/20XX by Officer.
4. A letter was sent to EO Manager on October 16, 20XX requesting delinquent Returns forms 941 and 990 but not respond was receipted.

ORG, has failed to respond to IRS correspondences and phone calls, and failed to file the Form 990 for the tax period ending December 31, 20XX. The organization reported wages paid in 20XX of $ and failed to file Forms 941. Substitute-for>Returns were established by RA and Letter 3596 and form 2504 (Agreement to Assessment and Collection of Additional Tax) was mailed to EO for consent but the form was not return. The organization was required to file a 990 return as well for the year ending December 31, 20XX, but failed to respond to multiple correspondence sent and phone calls.

Background:

ORG, was established in June 19XX as part of a group ruling, group exemption number: 1710. The organization was granted tax exempt status as a 501(c)(4) non-profit organization in January, 19XX. According to the executive director, Officer, the organization no longer exists and does not conduct exempt activities. EO ceased

Report Exhibits - Page 001664

|                                          |                              |                                        |
|------------------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. January 1991) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS | Schedule number or exhibit             |
| Name of taxpayerORG                  | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 31, 20XX |

operations at the end of 20XX. Currently, the organization has no financial resources and no assets. A letter was received from Quartermaster of the national office, RA, confirming ORG ceased of operations in 20XX.

Nonetheless, ORG, did not follow proper procedures for termination of its exempt status. Articles of dissolution were not filed, nor a final Return was submitted when requested.

Failure to File Form 990s:

IRC § 6001 provides that every person liable for any tax imposed by the IRC, or for the collection thereof, shall keep adequate records as the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate may from time to time prescribe.

IRC § 6033(a)(1) provides, except as provided in IRC § 6033(a)(2), every organization exempt from tax under section 501(a) shall file an annual return, stating specifically the items of gross income, receipts and disbursements, and such other information for the purposes of carrying out the internal revenue laws as the Secretary may by forms or regulations prescribe, and keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such other returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe.

Treas. Reg. § 1.6001-1(a) in conjunction with Treas. Reg. § 1.6001-1(c) provides that every organization exempt from tax under IRC § 501(a) and subject to the tax imposed by IRC § 511 on its unrelated business income must keep such permanent books or accounts or records, including inventories, as are sufficient to establish the amount of gross income, deduction, credits, or other matters required to be shown by such person in any return of such tax. Such organization shall also keep such books and records as are required to substantiate the information required by IRC § 6033.

Treas. Reg. § 1.6001-1(e) states that the books or records required by this section shall be kept at all times available for inspection by authorized internal revenue officers or employees, and shall be retained as long as the contents thereof may be material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Treas. Reg § 1.6033-1(h)(2) provides that every organization which has established its right to exemption from tax, whether or not it is required to file an annual return of information, shall submit such additional information as may be required by the district director for the purpose of enabling him to inquire further into its exempt status and to administer the provisions of subchapter F (section 501 and the following), chapter 1 of the Code and IRC § 6033.

Report Exhibits - Page 001665

|                               |                              |                                        |                            |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Form 886-A(Rev. 10-13-99) | EXPLANATIONS OF ITEMS |                                        | Schedule number or exhibit |
| Name of taxpayerORCA      | Tax Identification Number    | Year/Period endedDecember 31, 20XX |                            |

Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627, concerns an exempt organization that was requested to produce a financial statement and statement of its operations for a certain year. However, its records were so incomplete that the organization was unable to furnish such statements. The Service held that the failure or inability to file the required information return or otherwise to comply with the provisions of IRC § 6033 and the regulations which implement it, may result in the termination of the exempt status of an organization previously held exempt, on the grounds that the organization has not established that it is observing the conditions required for the continuation of exempt status.

In accordance with the above cited provisions of the Code and regulations under IRC §§ 6001 and 6033, organizations recognized as exempt from federal income tax must meet certain reporting requirements. These requirements relate to the filing of a complete and accurate annual information (and other required federal tax forms) and the retention of records sufficient to determine whether such entity is operated for the purposes for which it was granted tax-exempt status and to determine its liability for any unrelated business income tax.

Conclusion:

It is the IRS's position that the organization failed to meet the reporting requirements under IRC §§ 6001 and 6033 to be recognized as exempt from federal income tax under IRC § 501(c)(4). Accordingly, the proposed revocation would be effective as of December 31, 20XX. Any contributions to the organization would no longer be deductible as charitable contributions. Any contributions to this organization by those who were in part responsible for or were aware of the activities or deficiencies on the part of the organization that gave rise to loss of exempt status will not be allowed as a deduction effective the date of revocation.

If this revocation becomes final, appropriate State officials will be advised of the action in accordance with Internal Revenue Code 6104(c) and applicable regulations.

JOINT COMMITTEE ON TAXATION PRESS RELEASE

JCT Press Release: 00-02

March 16, 2000

For Immediate Release:

For Further Information, Contact: Michael Boren (202-225-3621)

(Michael.Boren@mail.house.gov)

The staff of the Joint Committee on Taxation (the "Joint Committee") today submitted a Report Of Investigation of Allegations Relating to Internal Revenue Service Handling of Tax-Exempt Organization Matters to Chairman William V. Roth, Jr., Vice-Chairman Bill Archer, Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, and Congressman Charles B. Rangel of the Joint Committee. Attached is the Executive Summary containing an overview of the Joint Committee staff investigation and findings.

On March 24, 1997, Chairman Roth, Vice-Chairman Archer, Senator Moynihan, and Congressman Rangel (the "Members") sent a letter to then-Joint Committee Chief of Staff Kenneth J. Kies indicating their concern about recent reports alleging politically motivated treatment of certain tax-exempt organizations and individuals by the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). The Members directed the Joint Committee staff to investigate whether the IRS's selection of tax-exempt organizations (and individuals associated with such tax-exempt organizations) for audit had been politically motivated. The scope of the investigation was limited to tax-exempt organizations described in Internal Revenue Code sections 501(c)(3) ("charitable, educational, religious, etc., organizations") and 501(c)(4) ("social welfare organizations"). Because allegations had also been made concerning IRS handling of determination letter applications, a review of these IRS processes was included within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation.

The Joint Committee staff report contains the following information: (1) an executive summary of the investigation and findings (Part I); (2) a summary of the allegations (Part II); (3) a detailed discussion of the Joint Committee staff findings (Part III); (4) the methodology employed by the Joint Committee staff in conducting its investigation (Part IV); (5) details of IRS operations relating to tax-exempt organizations (Part V); and (6) exhibits and appendices containing additional information relevant to the investigation (Exhibits 1-1, 1-2, and 1-3 and Appendices A and B).

I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Summary of allegations made concerning IRS handling of exempt organization matters

Beginning in 1996, allegations appeared in various media reports that the IRS was engaged in politically targeted examinations of tax-exempt organizations. Additional allegations were made in submissions to, and by individuals interviewed by, the Joint Committee staff in connection with its investigation.

Some allegations related to IRS actions with respect to political and lobbying activities of specific tax-exempt organizations. Other allegations related to more general targeting by the IRS of organizations with views opposed to the Clinton Administration. These allegations can be summarized as follows:

- the IRS handling of determination letter requests for organizations perceived to represent political views that were opposed to the Clinton Administration was biased;
- the IRS inappropriately granted determination letters or expedited the granting of determination letters for organizations whose views were in line with those of the Clinton Administration;
- the IRS handling of examinations of tax-exempt organizations (and individuals associated with such organizations) that were opposed to or were critical of the Clinton Administration's policies was biased;
- the IRS did not conduct examinations of organizations favored by the Clinton Administration engaged in activities similar to other tax-exempt organizations that were under examination;
- the IRS inappropriately initiated examinations of certain tax-exempt organizations in response to information provided to the IRS by the White House or other influential individuals (e.g., Members of Congress) whose views aligned with the Clinton Administration and in opposition to the organizations targeted; and
- IRS employees assigned to cases of tax-exempt organizations whose views were in opposition to the Clinton Administration exhibited bias in their handling of such cases.

Joint Committee staff investigation in general

The Joint Committee staff investigation focused on a review of (1) how the IRS generally administered the law relating to the political and lobbying activities of tax-exempt organizations, (2) how the IRS generally administered determination letter requests of tax-exempt organizations, (3) how the IRS generally selected tax-exempt organizations for examination, and

(4) the IRS handling of matters relating to certain specific tax-exempt organizations and individuals associated with such tax-exempt organizations.

Joint Committee staff review of IRS handling of specific tax-exempt organizations and individuals

The Joint Committee staff identified 142 tax-exempt organizations (and individuals related to such organizations) that were potentially within the scope of the Joint Committee investigation through the following sources: (1) media reports, (2) contacts from tax-exempt organizations and individuals, (3) information provided by the IRS (including the IRS Office of Inspection) and the Treasury Inspector General, and (4) information received from the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee. From these sources, the Joint Committee staff identified more than 130 organizations and individuals potentially within the scope of the investigation. The Joint Committee staff received briefings and/or summary materials prepared by IRS National Office personnel relating to each of these organizations or individuals. The Joint Committee staff identified 83 organizations and individuals for which complete case file reviews were conducted to evaluate IRS conduct with respect to the taxpayers.

The Joint Committee staff reviewed hundreds of boxes of case file material supplied by the IRS with respect to the organizations and individuals identified as within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation. In addition, the Joint Committee staff conducted in-depth interviews of 57 current and former IRS employees, many of whom were directly or indirectly involved in the cases of the organizations and individuals within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation. Follow-up interviews were conducted with a number of IRS employees to clarify inconsistencies in statements or to pursue additional information relating to the cases in question. The Joint Committee staff reviewed personnel files of IRS employees in certain circumstances.

The Joint Committee staff contacted organizations and individuals whose names had appeared in media reports and invited the organizations to meet with Joint Committee staff or to submit written responses to questions. The Joint Committee staff met with representatives of ten organizations or individuals and received written submissions from a number of other organizations.

Joint Committee staff review of other materials

In addition to the review of specific case file information with respect to organizations and individuals within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation, the Joint Committee staff reviewed extensive other information relating to IRS handling of tax-exempt organization matters in general and other information that may be relevant to the cases within the scope of the investigation. The Joint Committee staff review included the following information: (1) all determination letter and examination data for tax-exempt organizations from 1990 through 1998, (2) all Congressional correspondence to the IRS from 1995 through 1997, (3) IRS management information and reports from 1990-1997, (4) IRS correspondence and case tracking systems, (5) Internal Revenue Manual procedures, (6) policies and procedures of the IRS, the Treasury Department, and the White House with respect to conduct of employees and employee involvement in specific taxpayer matters, (7) all allegations of employee misconduct with respect to tax-exempt organization matters from 1990-1998, and (8) information supplied by the Justice Department, the Treasury Department, and the White House.

Report Exhibits - Page 001669

Summary of Joint Committee staff findings

Most of the information supplied by the IRS to the Joint Committee staff in the course of its investigation constitutes taxpayer return information that cannot be disclosed pursuant to section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code.<sup>1</sup> Thus, the Joint Committee staff findings do not include any specific findings of the Joint Committee staff with respect to the organizations and individuals within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation or any information that might identify such organizations or individuals. These findings represent the general conclusions drawn by the Joint Committee staff from its extensive review of IRS case file information, other information received from the IRS, other Federal agencies, and other sources, and interviews with relevant Federal employees and others.

IRS handling of tax-exempt organization determination letter requests

- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the IRS delayed or accelerated issuance of determination letters to tax-exempt organizations based on the nature of the organization's perceived views.
- The Joint Committee staff found that determination letter applications forwarded to the IRS National Office for handling took much longer on average for the IRS to process. The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the forwarding of certain determination letter applications to the IRS National Office was the result of a deliberate effort by IRS employees to subject organizations with views that opposed the Clinton Administration to more intense scrutiny. The Joint Committee staff found that the delay by the IRS National Office in processing the determination letter application of one organization was unacceptably slow, but the Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence either of bias by IRS employees or other political intervention causing the delay.

---

<sup>1</sup> Under section 6103(f)(4), the Chief of Staff of the Joint Committee may receive taxpayer return information from the IRS. However, such Chief of Staff may not disclose any taxpayer return information received. Unauthorized disclosure of tax return information protected under section 6103 is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $5,000, imprisonment for up to five years, or both.

Report Exhibits - Page 001670

IRS handling of tax-exempt organization examinations

- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that tax-exempt organizations were selected for examination, or that the IRS altered the manner in which examinations of tax-exempt organizations were conducted, based on the views espoused by the organizations or individuals related to the organization.
- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence of intervention by Clinton Administration officials (including Treasury Department and White House officials) in the selection of (or the failure to select) tax-exempt organizations for examination.
- The Joint Committee staff found that certain cases involving high-profile tax-exempt organizations and individuals received intense internal review and scrutiny by the IRS; however, the Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that such increased review or scrutiny was politically motivated.
- The Joint Committee staff found that the interaction between the Office of IRS Chief Counsel and the Office of the Assistant Commissioner (Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations) with respect to technical advice requests results in significant delays in the processing of such requests and contributes to a reluctance by certain IRS Key District Office employees to submit such requests for technical advice. These delays contributed to a perception that the IRS was not treating all tax-exempt organizations consistently. The Joint Committee staff concluded that the delays in processing such requests were unnecessarily excessive in some cases.
- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the IRS had improperly targeted for examination individuals related to tax-exempt organizations within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation.

IRS use of information items in the tax-exempt organization area

- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the IRS systematically used information items (such as media reports, letters from Members of Congress, letters from taxpayers, etc.) to identify for examination tax-exempt organizations that espouse views that are opposed to the political views of the Clinton Administration. Prior to the middle of 1998, most IRS Key District Offices destroyed information items when a decision was made not to pursue the item. Thus, the Joint Committee staff could not evaluate whether there was a pattern of behavior by the IRS in the handling of information items that resulted in certain organizations being selected for examination and other organizations engaged in similar activities not being selected for examination. The Joint Committee staff found that the IRS had initiated examinations of certain tax-exempt organizations with views clearly in opposition to the Clinton Administration based on media reports and other information items provided to the IRS. The Joint Committee staff found that the IRS also initiated examinations of organizations that would be considered supportive

Report Exhibits - Page 001671

- of the Clinton Administration based on such information items.
- The Joint Committee staff found a few instances in which the stated IRS National Office policy of sending information items without comment to the appropriate IRS Key District Office was not followed and the IRS National Office memorandum transmitting an information item contained statements as to the IRS National Office view of either the law or the relevance of the information item. The Joint Committee staff did not find any credible evidence that the IRS National Office attempted to influence IRS Key District Office decisions on whether to initiate examinations of tax-exempt organizations.
- Certain media reports raised issues relating to statements attributed to an IRS employee concerning the handling of Congressional inquiries relating to tax-exempt organizations. According to the reports, the IRS employee allegedly stated (1) that IRS employees had been or were shredding documents identifying the names of Members of Congress and their staff as the sources of examination requests and (2) suggesting ways to disguise information items received from Members of Congress. The Joint Committee staff reviewed documentation provided by the IRS relating to the IRS employee's statements. According to the documentation, the IRS employee's statements concerning the shredding of documents related to the previous practice in the IRS Key District Offices of destroying information items that did not result in an audit. The employee's statements with respect to the attribution of information items received from Members of Congress related to the concern raised by an IRS Office of Inspection Internal Audit report (discussed in detail below) that recommended identifying a media report as the source of an information item relating to a tax-exempt organization even if a taxpayer or a Member of Congress forwards such media report to the IRS.
- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that Congressional inquiries had improperly altered the manner in which the IRS handled tax-exempt organization cases.
- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that information items forwarded to the IRS by the Treasury Department or the White House were given more weight by the IRS than information items received from other sources.

Employee misconduct with respect to tax-exempt organization matters

- The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that any IRS employee had improperly altered the outcome of a tax-exempt organization case. The Joint Committee staff found that the IRS had procedures in place to ensure that political appointees, such as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the IRS Chief Counsel, did not generally become involved in the resolution of issues relating to specific taxpayers.
- The Joint Committee staff found that allegations of IRS employee misconduct with respect to organizations within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation that were referred to the IRS Office of Inspection were thoroughly investigated by IRS management and the IRS Office of Inspection and disciplinary action, if warranted, was taken.

Report Exhibits - Page 001672

- The Joint Committee staff found that instances of employee misconduct or other issues relating to organizations within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation that were referred to the Treasury Inspector General's office were lost, misplaced, or not investigated by the Inspector General. The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that this failure to investigate referrals by the Inspector General's office occurred as a result of a concerted effort to protect high-ranking IRS and Treasury Department officials. Rather, it appeared that these failures to investigate resulted from lack of accountability, recordkeeping failures, and incompetence within the Inspector General's office.
- The Joint Committee staff identified eight instances of alleged IRS employee misconduct relating to organizations within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation. With respect to these eight instances, the Joint Committee staff found the following:
  - Two instances related to statements made by IRS employees to representatives of tax-exempt organizations under examination by the IRS. In each instance, the IRS employee's statements were interpreted by the representative of the tax-exempt organization to indicate that there was bias in the handling of the examination by the IRS. The Joint Committee staff found that the IRS employees' statements were ambiguous. In addition, based upon interviews of IRS employees by the Joint Committee staff and based upon records of interviews conducted by the IRS Office of Inspection and the Treasury Inspector General, the Joint Committee staff found that the IRS employees did not intend their statements to mean what the statements had been interpreted to mean by the representatives of the tax-exempt organizations.
  - Three instances related to allegations made by tax-exempt organizations that IRS employees assigned to the tax-exempt organizations' cases were biased, based generally on information the tax-exempt organization had about the political views of the IRS employees. In one instance, the case was transferred to the IRS National Office based on the issues involved and the IRS employee had no further involvement in it. In the other two instances, the IRS either reassigned the case in question to another IRS employee or added IRS employees to the case to ensure that individual IRS employee bias would not occur.
  - One instance related to an allegation that IRS employees had violated the church audit procedures contained in Code section 7611. The Joint Committee found that the contact made by IRS employees was done to educate the relevant church as to the law with respect to impermissible political campaign intervention by organizations described in section 501(c)(3). See the discussion in Part III.B., concerning the Joint Committee staff's findings with respect to the church audit procedures.

Report Exhibits - Page 001673

- One instance involved allegations of potential misconduct identified by one IRS employee with respect to the actions of the employee's supervisor. Based on the available information and evidence and the statements of the IRS employee and the employee's supervisor, the Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the supervisor had acted in a manner intended to influence improperly either the initiation or conduct of examinations of tax-exempt organizations.
- One instance involved an allegation of an improper attempt to obtain information by an employee of the Office of IRS Chief Counsel with respect to the examination of a tax-exempt organization within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation. The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the employee had acted in a manner intended to influence improperly the handling of the examination by the IRS.
- Allegations of IRS employee misconduct with respect to the handling of tax-exempt organization cases are not recorded in a single IRS data base and the IRS does not have a comprehensive system in place to identify all such allegations. In order to respond to Joint Committee staff requests with respect to allegations of employee misconduct, the IRS surveyed managers in the IRS National Office and IRS Key District Offices to determine their recollections of any such allegations. This manager survey identified one allegation that was also identified through one of the two relevant IRS databases. However, due to the lack of a comprehensive data base, the Joint Committee staff was unable to evaluate systematically whether all instances of alleged IRS employee misconduct with respect to tax-exempt organizations within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation were located.
- The Joint Committee staff found evidence of two nonroutine contacts of IRS employees made by White House and Treasury officials.
  - In the first instance, the Joint Committee staff found evidence of a single nonroutine direct contact in 1997 between White House officials and the IRS in which the White House officials appear to have attempted to obtain taxpayer return information to which they were not entitled under section 6103. Because the tax-exempt organization in question was not an organization described in section 501(c)(3) or (c)(4), the contact was outside of the scope of the Joint Committee investigation and, therefore, was not extensively reviewed. However, limited materials reviewed by Joint Committee staff indicated that the contact related to the status of certain forms filed by members of a tax-exempt organization. It appears that White House officials initially contacted employees in the Treasury Office of Tax Policy and were referred, in apparent violation of Treasury Order 107-05, directly to the IRS. The White House officials then, in violation of written White House policies, contacted directly several IRS employees (none of whom worked in the Exempt Organization Division) and attempted to secure taxpayer return information. The Joint Committee staff found that the IRS employees involved (1) refused to disclose taxpayer return information protected under section 6103; and (2) promptly referred the contact to the Treasury Inspector General.

Report Exhibits - Page 001674

- In the second instance, a Treasury Department official was alleged to have made a 1995 inquiry to IRS employees concerning the status of an examination of a tax-exempt organization within the scope of the Joint Committee staff investigation. One of the IRS employees contacted in connection with the inquiry was sufficiently concerned about the nature of the contact that a referral was made to the IRS Office of Inspection. As the matter pertained to a Treasury Department official, the IRS Office of Inspection referred the matter to the then-Treasury Inspector General's office.<sup>2</sup> The Treasury Inspector General did not act upon the referral until it was brought to the Inspector General's attention during the Joint Committee staff investigation during 1997. When asked about the referral by the Joint Committee staff, the Treasury Inspector General's office could not locate it and had no record of any action taken with respect to the referral. Materials received by the Joint Committee staff from the Treasury Inspector General's office in 1999 indicate that the Inspector General received a copy of the referral in July 1997 and assigned an investigator to it. There was no evidence of any other action by the Treasury Inspector General with respect to this referral after September 1997. During 1999, following further Joint Committee staff inquiries with respect to the referral, the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration investigated the allegations made with respect to this contact and found that the evidence concerning the nature of the contact made by the Treasury official was inconclusive. However, the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration did not find any evidence that the IRS handling of the examination of the tax-exempt organization in question was improper. The Joint Committee staff interviewed all parties involved in this contact and reviewed IRS and Treasury records, including the relevant case file. The Joint Committee staff found no credible evidence that the contact by the Department of Treasury employee influenced the conduct or outcome of the examination.

Other investigations

Prior to and during the Joint Committee staff investigation, the IRS Office of Inspection, the Treasury Inspector General, and the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration conducted a number of investigations into the IRS processes relating to tax-exempt organizations generally and into allegations relating to IRS employee handling of certain cases specifically. The Joint Committee staff had access to all information obtained by or generated by these offices in connection with the various investigations.

---

<sup>2</sup> There is conflicting information regarding the timing of the referral by the IRS Office of Inspection to the Treasury Inspector General. IRS Office of Inspection records indicate that the referral was forwarded in 1995; however, the Treasury Inspector General's office had no record of receiving the referral prior to July, 1997.

COMMITTEE ON
HOMELAND SECURITY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

May 23, 2013

VIA U.S. MAIL & EMAIL (Catherine.M.Barre@IRS.gov)

Mr. Daniel J. Werfel
Acting Commissioner
Internal Revenue Service
U. S. Department of the Treasury
1111 Constitution Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20224

Dear Mr. Werfel:

We are writing to urge you to suspend immediately Lois Lerner from her office as Director of the Office of Exempt Organizations at the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). We believe that Ms. Lerner failed to disclose crucial information concerning the IRS's inappropriate targeting of some conservative 501(c)(4) organizations during the course of a Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations inquiry into how the IRS enforces the 501(c)(4) law, leading to an incomplete account of the full operations of her unit.

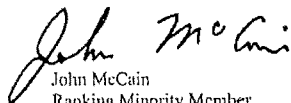

Since March of last year, the Subcommittee has been examining whether the IRS adequately and appropriately enforces tax code provisions and implementing regulations regarding the extent to which tax-exempt 501(c)(4) groups may engage in political campaign activity. The Subcommittee asked the IRS why it was not enforcing the 501(c)(4) statute which states that social welfare organizations should be used "exclusively for the promotion of social welfare" and instead enforcing the more lenient IRS regulation which states that a social welfare organization may be used "primarily" for social welfare. It also asked the IRS about how they reviewed applications filed by certain Democratic and Republican leaning 501(c)(4)s. Our investigation has included a year's worth of correspondence between the Subcommittee and the IRS, as well as document productions and repeated consultations with IRS staff.

On April 30, 2013, Ms. Lerner and seven IRS colleagues spent six hours being interviewed, on a bipartisan basis, by Subcommittee staff. That interview covered, among other topics, how the IRS determines which groups to review, what actions are taken in connection with the IRS reviews, and how the laws and regulations are used to examine those groups. Ms. Lerner failed to disclose the internal controversy over the search terms used by the Cincinnati office to identify 501(c)(4) groups for further review, the actions taken by that office in reviewing the identified groups, the investigation and imminent findings by the Treasury Department Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA), and TIGTA's conclusion that the IRS had used inappropriate criteria to target Tea Party and other conservative groups. Ms. Lerner also failed to disclose that she was fully aware of these issues as early as June 2011, and, according to TIGTA, had been personally involved in reviewing questionable actions taken by the Cincinnati office.

Given the serious failure by Ms. Lerner to disclose to this Subcommittee key information on topics that the Subcommittee was investigating, we have lost confidence in her ability to fulfill her duties as Director of Exempt Organizations at the IRS. Ms. Lerner's continued tenure in the office she holds, where she is responsible for overseeing 1.6 million tax-exempt organizations, would erode public trust and confidence in the IRS and its professional integrity. We believe that the immediate removal of Ms. Lerner from office would be a vital step in helping to restore public trust in the agency.

Sincerely,

John McCain
Ranking Minority Member
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Carl Levin
Chairman
Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

INSPECTOR GENERAL
FOR TAX
ADMINISTRATION

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005

July 19, 2013

The Honorable Sander M. Levin
Ranking Member
Committee on Ways and Means
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515-6348

Dear Representative Levin:

On June 26, 2013, I responded to your letters dated June 24, 2013 and June 26, 2013 regarding our recent audit report entitled "Inappropriate Criteria Were Used to Identify Tax-Exempt Applications for Review." As a result of additional review of this matter, we would like to clarify two points from our previous response.

Before proceeding, I would like to reiterate that TIGTA did not make any characterizations of any organizations in our audit report as "conservative" or "liberal" and I believe it would be inappropriate for an Inspector General to make such conclusions. Therefore, our audit did not focus on names except for those that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) informed us that it used to select potential political cases for additional review.<sup>1</sup> We reviewed all 298 potential political cases the IRS identified as of May 31, 2012 and statistical samples of 338 cases out of 4,510 Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications that we identified, to determine if they matched names the IRS included in its criteria.<sup>2</sup> The analyses we are providing in this letter were conducted subsequent to our audit to respond to concerns expressed by congressional Members.

The first point I would like to clarify concerns a statement in our prior response that a total of 6 out of 20 applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 including the words "Progress" or "Progressive" in the organization's name were processed as potential political cases. We subsequently found an additional organization whose name had been misspelled by the IRS on the listing it provided to us of 298 potential political cases that we believe should have been included in our analysis of "Progress" or "Progressive."<sup>3</sup> Therefore, we now believe that 7 of 21 Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications having the words "Progress" or "Progressive" in their names were included in the 298 cases the IRS identified as potential political cases as of May 31, 2012. Of these, three specifically had the word "Progressive" in the organizational name. These figures are based on our research of data for 4,510 Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications that were open as of May 31, 2012 or closed between May 2010 and May 2012.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Until July 11, 2011, the Rulings and Agreements office referred to these cases as "Tea Party" cases. Afterwards, the Exempt Organizations function referred to these cases as "advocacy" cases.

<sup>2</sup> Id.

<sup>3</sup> The IRS misspelled a word in one organization's name as "Progressive" in the listing it provided to us.

In addition, we researched the IRS's listing of 298 potential political cases to determine if any included the word "Occupy." We determined that none of the 298 organizations included the word "Occupy" in the organization's name as of May 31, 2012. Furthermore, we determined that there were no applications in the population of Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications that we identified containing the word "Occupy" in the organization's name. Two organizations with the word "Occupy" were identified as potential political cases by December 2012 after the IRS removed "Occupy" from the Be On the Look Out (BOLO) listings.

In addition, on July 9, 2013, we received two documents from July 2010 that the IRS failed to provide to us during the conduct of our audit which refer to the term "Progressive" in association with "current activities/politics." In one of the documents, the Determinations Unit specialist responsible for processing potential political cases at the time of the documents states "Progressive" applications are not considered 'Tea Parties'." Since we were not aware of the existence of these two documents during our audit, we did not ask questions about them. We are reviewing this matter further.

The second point we would like to clarify concerns a statement in our June 26, 2013 response that 100 percent of the tax-exempt applications filed between May 2010 and May 2012 including the words "Tea Party," "Patriots," or "9/12" were subjected to additional scrutiny as potential political cases. To clarify, 100 percent of the Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications in our statistical samples with the words "Tea Party," "Patriots," or "9/12" in their names were processed as potential political cases.

<sup>4</sup> To be consistent with our audit, we researched a population of 4,510 Section 501(c)(4) tax-exempt applications. This includes 2,081 applications that the IRS determined required minimal or no additional information that were closed between May 2010 and May 2012. This also includes 2,459 applications that the IRS determined required additional information from the organization applying for tax-exempt status that were closed between May 2010 and May 2012 or open as of May 31, 2012. Additional applications that were open as of May 31, 2012 or closed between May 2010 and May 2012 were not considered as part of our analysis because they did not meet the criteria for our statistical samples, e.g., applications that were returned to organizations because they were incomplete or applications that had not made it through the IRS's initial review. Three additional applications with the words "Progress" or "Progressive" in the organizational name were open as of May 31, 2012, but were not in the population from which we sampled. None of these applications were included in the 298 cases the IRS identified as potential political cases as of May 31, 2012.

The IRS recently shared with us additional information indicating that some applications with the words "Tea Party," "Patriots," or "9/12" in their names were not processed as potential political cases. We conducted additional analyses and determined that 12 of the 4,510 Section 501(c)(4) applications considered as part of our audit with the words "Tea Party" (two cases), "Patriots" (four cases), or "9/12" (six cases) in their names were not processed as potential political cases, as of May 31, 2012.<sup>5</sup> None of the 12 applications appeared in our statistical samples. We researched data for these 12 applications and determined that four were later processed as potential political cases; one was treated similarly to a potential political case, and one was not a potential political case. Specifically:

- Three of the "9/12" applications and one "Patriots" application were included on a listing of potential political cases prepared after May 2012.
- One "Tea Party" application was transferred to the Exempt Organizations Technical Unit to be processed.
- One application with "Patriots" in its name did not appear to relate to a group involved with political campaign intervention.

The remaining six cases included two that were withdrawn by the organization in Calendar Year 2010, two that were approved in Calendar Year 2010, and two that were approved in Calendar Year 2011.

As the IRS continues to provide us with additional information from its internal review, we will continue to provide you with updates as necessary. If you or your staff have any questions, please contact me at [REDACTED] or Acting Deputy Inspector General for Audit Michael E. McKenney at [REDACTED].

Sincerely,

J. Russell George
Inspector General

[REDACTED] - Redacted by the Permanent
Subcommittee on Investigations

<sup>5</sup> Four additional applications with the words "Tea Party," "Patriots," or "9/12" in the organizational names were either open as of May 31, 2012 or closed between May 2010 and May 2012, but were not in the population from which we sampled. The IRS returned three of the four applications to the applicants as incomplete. The remaining application required minimal information to process, but had not been closed. None of these applications were included in the 298 cases the IRS identified as potential political cases as of May 31, 2012.

IRS list reveals concerns over Tea Party 'propaganda'

Gregory Korte, USA TODAY 12:57 p.m. EDT September 18, 2013
<http://www.usatoday.com/story/news/politics/2013/09/17/irs-tea-party-target-list-propaganda/2825003/>

Correction: An earlier version of this story understated the number of groups represented by the the American Center for Law and Justice.

WASHINGTON — Newly uncovered IRS documents show the agency flagged political groups based on the content of their literature, raising concerns specifically about "anti-Obama rhetoric," inflammatory language and "emotional" statements made by non-profits seeking tax-exempt status.

The internal 2011 documents, obtained by USA TODAY, list 162 groups by name, with comments by Internal Revenue Service lawyers in Washington raising issues about their political, lobbying and advocacy activities. In 21 cases, those activities were characterized as "propaganda."

The list provides the most specific public accounting to date of which groups were targeted for extra scrutiny and why. The IRS has not publicly identified the groups, repeatedly citing a provision of the tax code prohibiting it from releasing tax return information.

More than 80% of the organizations on the 2011 "political advocacy case" list were conservative, but the effort to police political activity also ensnared at least 11 liberal groups as of November 2011, including Progressives United, Progress Texas and Delawareans for Social and Economic Justice.

The IRS controversy first exploded in May, when Exempt Organizations Director Lois Lerner admitted that the IRS had targeted Tea Party groups for additional scrutiny beginning in early 2010. The IRS placed a hold on those applications for more than 20 months, an inspector general's investigation found.

On Nov. 16, 2011, IRS lawyers in Washington sent a list of cases to front-line agents in Cincinnati, along with comments and guidance on how to handle political organizations.

Tax law experts say those comments appear to show IRS employees trying to apply the murky rules governing political activities by social welfare groups.

But the American Center for Law and Justice, a nonprofit legal institute that represents 33 of the groups appearing on the IRS list, said it appears to be "the most powerful evidence yet of a coordinated effort" by the IRS to target Tea Party groups.

"The political motivations of this are so patently obvious, but then to have a document that spells it out like this is very damaging to the IRS," said Jay Sekulow, chief counsel for the ACLJ. "I hope the FBI has seen these documents."

Report Exhibits - Page 001681

The IRS categorized the groups as engaging in several advocacy-related activities that could have barred them from tax-exempt status, such as lobbying and "propaganda."

But the word "propaganda" doesn't appear in section 501(c)(4), which governs the social welfare status that most Tea Party groups were applying for, said John Colombo, a law professor at the University of Illinois. Instead, it appears in section 501(c)(3), which governs public charities.

"There would be no reason I would think to flag them if it's for a 501(c)(4) status," Colombo said. "That's very odd to me."

In three cases, IRS lawyers noted that groups appeared to be connected to Republican politicians: Stand Up for Our Nation Inc., linked to former Alaska governor Sarah Palin; Reform Jersey Now Inc., linked to Gov. Chris Christie; and American Solutions for Winning the Future, founded by former House speaker Newt Gingrich. Gingrich's group was approved last year.

Five groups were flagged as having "anti-Obama" materials in their applications or on their websites.

For instance, the IRS said the website of the Patriots of Charleston contains "negative Obama commentary." Though the IRS didn't cite examples, a November 2011 article on the group's site says: "Obama's and the Democrats' track record of disaster is based upon a combination of their ignorance and their fundamental desire to convert America into a ruling class of wealthy all-powerful elitists and a single class of serfs."

"The web site, as we explained to them on multiple occasions, is really a blog" that members can submit commentary to, said Joanne Jones, the group's vice chairwoman. "I'm not going to tell you we weren't political. We were to an extent, but we were within the limits of the law. For example, there's one clear-cut issue: We did not endorse candidates."

"To focus in on somebody saying something anti-Obama," she said, "it's almost like the speech police there. It's disturbing. It's the kind of overreach that leads into Obamacare."

The group received its tax exemption in September 2012.

RHETORIC OF SOME GROUPS QUESTIONED

It wasn't just anti-Obama rhetoric the IRS was looking out for. Progress Texas was identified by the IRS as engaging in lobbying, propaganda and political activities. IRS lawyers in Washington noted "anti-Rick Perry" rhetoric, referring to the Republican Texas governor, then a presidential candidate.

Progress Texas received a tax exemption as a social welfare group in June, 2012.

Report Exhibits - Page 001682

Campaign-finance watchdogs say the IRS scrutiny came out of a justified effort to police "dark money" in politics. After the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 2010 that corporations and unions — and even non-profit groups — could engage in independent political advertising, social welfare groups became a vehicle for funneling undisclosed cash into the election system.

That's the position of Progressives United, a group founded by former senator Russ Feingold, D-Wis., that itself appeared on the 2011 IRS target list.

"The fact that our group received some scrutiny does not change at all our opinion that scrutiny like this from the IRS, it's their job. The law applies to us as it would any conservative group," said Progressives United's Josh Orton. "I feel like there's this group of campaign finance nihilists who want to expand this into an argument that there should be no scrutiny at all. They want a wild west of election law, because they want to continue using secret corporate money to influence elections."

Crossroads GPS, a group affiliated with GOP strategist Karl Rove, spent $70 million on the 2012 election. Its 2010 application for a tax exemption, obtained by the non-profit news organization Pro Publica last year, said it would spend 50% of its resources on "public education." In the 2011 list, the IRS noted "significant anti-Obama rhetoric." Crossroads has not received a tax exemption.

'WE ARE TOTALLY ABOVE BOARD'

The Tea Party of North Idaho filed its tax-exempt application in February, 2010 — the same month IRS screeners in Cincinnati first brought Tea Party applications to the attention of officials in Washington, according to IRS employee testimony before a congressional committee.

A lawyer in the IRS Exempt Organizations Technical Unit in Washington wrote the Idaho group had "No significant amount of clear campaign intervention; however little issue advocacy or educational; significant inflammatory language, highly emotional language, little to no educational information on issues."

The IRS lawyers recommended that screeners in Cincinnati look for other materials — including "press releases, commentary, articles, and research reports," according to the IRS list.

That's when Leslie Damiano, who co-founded the North Idaho group, started getting what she considered to be intrusive questions from the IRS. She said the tax agency wanted to know who her donors were, and what companies they own. They wanted to know the educational background of the group's board members. And they wanted to know whether candidates were invited to the group's meetings, and whether it made endorsements.

"We're a conservative organization. We invited some independents," she said. "We never had any rallies that were off the charts by any stretch of the imagination."

Report Exhibits - Page 001683

Frustrated with the process, the Tea Party of North Idaho withdrew its application in 2012.

"We had an accountant, we had a bookkeeper. We were totally above board with everything we did," Damiano said.

REDUCING THE NATIONAL DEBT

Some groups caught in the IRS' net had no connection to national politics on either side. The Citizens for the Preservation of Rural Murrysville says it's "dedicated to the preservation of the open and natural, rural character of Murrysville, Pa.," although the IRS said it endorsed some local candidates. The Sarasota Bay Tiger Club is one of several similar Florida clubs that provide "a non-partisan forum on current political issues." The club says it has "never endorsed political candidates nor advocated a particular ideology," but the IRS said in its spreadsheet that it was "unclear" if that was the case.

The list also includes the Association to Reduce the National Debt, which was seeking to be recognized as a charity so it could solicit tax-deductible contributions — and give those contributions to the U.S. Treasury to put toward the national debt.

Founder Seth Eisenberg said the group was not political — and he told the IRS that.

IRS tax specialists noted "no political campaign activities." But two years after applying, the association still hasn't gotten his ruling letter. And without that letter, contributions are not tax-deductible and no one will give, he said.

All for a group that said it wanted to give the government money.

"I thought this would be a fast-tracked application. A no-brainer. But it got caught up in this whole political controversy," Eisenberg said. "It's the greatest irony that ever was."

DOCUMENT: The IRS list of 'political advocacy cases
<http://www.usatoday.com/story/news/politics/2013/09/17/irs-tea-party-target-list-document/2827925/>

| Organization Name                                    | Central  | Date       | EW  | Submission | Current | Lobbying | GeneralAdvocacy (i.e.issue advocacyeducational) | Propagandaflamboyant(list to noaspects) | PoliticalActivities | Develop-ment | Comments                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Suggested Actions                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------------------------------------------------------|----------|------------|-----|------------|---------|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Chattanooga Tea Party                             | 11/18/09 | 27-054657  | C-4 | 52         |         | X        |                                                             | X                                                   | X                       | Yes              | lobbying, general advocacy (list to no ad hoc requests; political activities (not primary)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Suggesters are based on initial screening of cases in this category. The information provided indicates that EOC may want to review the case to make final determinations whether to or not to develop the case. |
| 2. Mississippi Tea Party                             | 12/04/09 | 27-0187231 | C-4 | 52         |         | X        | X                                                           | X                                                   | X                       | Yes              | General advocacy, educational; limited campaign activities                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 3. Richmond Tea Party                                | 12/29/09 | 27-0207175 | C-4 | 52         |         |          | X                                                           |                                                     |                         | -                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Possible exception                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 4. American Patriots Against Government Excess       | 01/02/10 | 27-1202658 | C-4 | 52         |         | X        |                                                             |                                                     | X                       | Yes              | Propaganda political campaign intervention; list to no general advocacy; educational; limited campaign activities                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 5. Tea Shop Our Country                              | 02/10/10 | 31-1610794 | C-4 | 52         |         |          | X                                                           |                                                     | X                       | Yes              | Based on website, primarily political campaign intervention; including copies of weekly newsletters. "Mission": "Our ultimate goal is to turn California's 54 electoral votes back to a conservative candidate. First order of business is to educate the electorate." Additional development needed: no ad hoc requests; political activities (not primary) |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 6. Tea Party Patriots of North Idaho                 | 02/10/10 | 27-0364007 | C-4 | 52         |         |          |                                                             |                                                     |                         | Yes              | Propaganda political campaign intervention; list to no general advocacy; educational; limited campaign activities                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 7. Project Reducing Government Spending Now          | 03/02/10 | 27-1272341 | C-3 | 52         |         |          |                                                             |                                                     |                         | Yes              | Additional development needed: no ad hoc requests; political activities (not primary)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 8. Pennsylvania Coalition for Responsible Government | 03/03/10 | 30-0384435 | C-4 | 52         |         |          |                                                             |                                                     | X                       | -                | May be proposed denied / primary activity is political                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

Report Exhibits - Page 001686

Report Exhibits - Page 001687

Report Exhibits - Page 001688

[illegible]

Report Exhibits - Page 001690

| Case No. | Organization                            | EO Case No. | EO Case Title | EO Case Description | EO Case Status | EO Case Date | EO Case Type | EO Case Category | EO Case Subcategory | EO Case Outcome | EO Case Comments                                                                                                       |
|----------|-----------------------------------------|-------------|---------------|---------------------|----------------|--------------|--------------|------------------|---------------------|-----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 98       | Tra Party Politics Denver, Inc.         | 010111      | 27-373122     | 27-373122           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  |                     |                 | Some EO on selected EO Form 1024 narrative is here as undelivered; website is available. More development data.        |
| 97       | Glenn Beaman, Inc.                      | 020111      | 27-303055     | 27-303055           | c-3            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 96       | The Citizens Center for Public Policy   | 020111      | 27-462945     | 27-462945           | c-3            | 52           |              |                  | X                   |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 99       | Interactions, Inc.                      | 020311      | 80-073701     | 80-073701           | c-3            | 52           |              |                  | X                   |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 100      | The Tim Mellon Foundation               | 020111      | 27-164754     | 27-164754           | c-4            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 101      | Constitution Education Foundation       | 020411      | 27-462958     | 27-462958           | c-3            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 102      | Constitution Education Foundation       | 020411      | 27-161268     | 27-161268           | c-4            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 103      | Constitution Education Foundation       | 020211      | 39-050559     | 39-050559           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  | X                   |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 104      | Minnesota Campaign for Liberty          | 022311      | 27-291143     | 27-291143           | c-4            | 52           | X            | X                |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 105      | Minnesota Campaign for Liberty          | 022211      | 27-308535     | 27-308535           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 106      | Minnesota Campaign for Liberty          | 022211      | 27-302683     | 27-302683           | c-4            | 52           | X            | X                |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 107      | Freedom Path Inc.                       | 030711      | 96-046021     | 96-046021           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 108      | One First for a Better Government, Inc. | 030811      | 27-540106     | 27-540106           | c-4            | 52           | X            | X                |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 109      | The Tea Party Action, Inc.              | 030811      | 27-267032     | 27-267032           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  | X                   |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 110      | Tea Party Action, Inc.                  | 030811      | 27-132340     | 27-132340           | c-4            | 52           | X            | X                |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 111      | Progress Texas                          | 030111      | 86-060761     | 86-060761           | c-4            | 52           | X            |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 112      | The Labor Committee                     | 030511      | 27-149102     | 27-149102           | c-4            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |
| 113      | Spirit of Freedom Institute             | 030511      | 27-273343     | 27-273343           | c-3            | 52           |              |                  |                     |                 | 50122, potential political campaign activity, negative comment/endorsement on Obama on website. More development data. |

|     |                                                   | 02/17/11 | 27-07-0033 | C-4 | 52 | X | X | X | Yes | Prohibited BLANK Form 1023, provided no narrative, provided no financial data. | Passable detail     |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------|----------|------------|-----|----|---|---|---|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| 114 | Outcast Tea Party, Inc.                           | 03/09/11 | 27-0810007 | C-4 | 52 | X | X | X | Yes | Lobbying and general adv., some candidate                                      |                     |
| 115 | Campan Roads Tea Party, Inc.                      | 03/09/11 | 27-0810007 | C-4 | 52 | X | X | X | Yes | Lobbying and general adv., some candidate                                      |                     |
| 116 | Concerned Neighbor, Inc.                          | 03/25/11 | 45-0001110 | C-4 | 52 | X | X | X | Yes | Lobbying and general advocacy                                                  |                     |
| 117 | Dayton Tea Party, Inc.                            | 03/25/11 | 20-4995555 | C-4 | 52 | X | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 118 | The Mother Love Tea Party                         | 03/28/11 | 27-4220256 | C-3 | 52 | X |   |   | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 119 | United Progres Action Fund, Inc.                  | 03/29/11 | 31-1823023 | C-4 | 52 | X | X |   | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 120 | Adrian Tea Party                                  | 03/29/11 | 27-1011256 | C-4 | 52 |   |   |   | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 121 | Courtesy 9-12 Project                             | 04/04/11 | 27-2759222 | C-4 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 122 | PsychicChange Com II                              | 04/05/11 | 27-2511525 | C-4 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 123 | Condition for a Conservative Agency Owner Chapter | 04/07/11 | 27-0835561 | C-4 | 52 |   |   |   | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 124 | Metaphysics Com, Inc.                             | 04/08/11 | 27-0900491 | C-4 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 125 | Gov at Home                                       | 04/11/11 | 45-0939130 | C-3 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 126 | Greenwich Tea Party Patriots of South Jersey LLC  | 04/13/11 | 27-1802977 | C-4 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 127 | Westminster for health care                       | 04/15/11 | 45-0832966 | C-4 | 52 |   | X | X | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |
| 128 | Chae 512 Inc.                                     | 04/15/11 | 27-3448016 | C-3 | 52 |   |   |   | Yes | General advocacy activity may be lobbying, voter                               | Passable Incomplete |

[illegible]

|     |                                                        |          |            |     |    |  |  |   |   |   |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                 |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------|----------|------------|-----|----|--|--|---|---|---|--|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| 142 | Monthly Campaign for Liberty                           | 06/09/11 | 27-3437130 | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Could't locate on TEOG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 143 | Myanmar Campaign for Liberty                           | 06/09/11 | 27-3839990 | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Could't locate on TEOG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 144 | Mexican Campaign for Liberty                           | 06/09/11 | 27-2856236 | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Could't locate on TEOG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 145 | Monterey City Campaign for Liberty                     | 06/09/11 | 27-3857069 | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Could't locate on TEOG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 146 | Association to Reduce the Political Influence of Money | 06/10/11 | 45-2484513 | c-3 | S2 |  |  | X |   |   |  | Yes | US purpose is to raise money to send to the House and Senate to influence the legislative process. No political campaign activities, legislative activities, or lobbying activities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                 |
| 147 | West Suburban Parents                                  | 06/10/11 | 80-8029904 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X | X |   |  | Yes | General advocacy, educational, legislative, and lobbying activities. No political campaign activities, legislative activities, or lobbying activities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Possible denial |
| 148 | Champion's for Liberty                                 | 06/15/11 | 27-4571143 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X |   | X |  | Yes | General advocacy, educational, legislative, and lobbying activities. No political campaign activities, legislative activities, or lobbying activities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 149 | We the People of Maryland, Inc.                        | 06/15/11 | 45-2131970 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X | X |   |  | Yes | Lobbying and general advocacy. Need more info on whether or not it is a political campaign.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                 |
| 150 | Take Back Our Country                                  | 06/17/11 | 27-3927748 | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Could't locate on TEOG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 151 | Act for America Middle Tennessee                       | 06/21/11 | 27-4431473 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X | X |   |  | Yes | Org's purpose appears to be "educating" on the dangers of radical Islam/Chambers legislation. Recruitment etc. While there are educational materials, the primary purpose is to recruit and persuade. Primary activities appear to be lobbying and political campaign activities, will campaign candidate for Congress. No political campaign activities, legislative activities, or lobbying activities. |                 |
| 152 | New York Civic Action, Inc.                            | 06/23/11 | 45-2800368 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X |   | X |  | Yes | General advocacy, educational, legislative, and lobbying activities. No political campaign activities, legislative activities, or lobbying activities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |
| 154 | Michigan Fight and Freedom Coalition                   | 06/28/11 | 45-118574  | c-4 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | Under more development, need to determine whether political activities are primary.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                 |
| 155 | Corporate Accountability Project                       | 06/28/11 | 45-228210  | c-3 | S2 |  |  | X | X |   |  | Yes | US 501(c)(6) political educational activities. However, have concerns about one activity of org that involves its website and that will "provide a means by which individuals and organizations can coordinate their efforts on direct and influential corporate behavior may be influenced."                                                                                                             |                 |
| 156 | Coalition for Regulatory Reform                        | 06/29/11 | 45-2549959 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X |   |   |  |     | General advocacy, legislative, and lobbying activities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                 |
| 157 | Free Congress Action, Inc.                             | 06/29/11 | 27-3161776 | c-4 | S2 |  |  | X | X |   |  |     | Lobbying activities and general advocacy, need more info on activities engaging in.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                 |
| 158 | Conscience our Republics                               | 06/29/11 | 45-2022072 | c-3 | S2 |  |  |   |   |   |  | Yes | US 501(c)(6) political educational activities. However, have concerns about one activity of org that involves its website and that will "provide a means by which individuals and organizations can coordinate their efforts on direct and influential corporate behavior may be influenced."                                                                                                             |                 |

|     |                               |          |            |     |    |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
|-----|-------------------------------|----------|------------|-----|----|---|--|--|--|--|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 59  | New Research Foundation, Inc. | 06/26/11 | 45-0021734 | c-3 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  | Yes | SP 103, website under construction; additional development recommended to obtain national's perspective; research conducted; more detail on or support to be engaged in lobbying & general advocacy; has related SP PAC |  |
| 60  | Progressives United, Inc.     | 07/6/11  | 45-231777  | c-4 | 52 | X |  |  |  |  | -   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 61  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  | X   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 62  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 63  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 64  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 65  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 66  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 67  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 68  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 69  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 70  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 71  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 72  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 73  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 74  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 75  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 76  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 77  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 78  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 79  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 80  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 81  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 82  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 83  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 84  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 85  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 86  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 87  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 88  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 89  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 90  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 91  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 92  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 93  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 94  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 95  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 96  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 97  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 98  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 99  | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| 100 | Arizona Citizens United       | 07/6/11  | 45-2321317 | c-4 | 52 |   |  |  |  |  |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |

The Colorado Independent

Does the IRS really have it in for tea party groups?

Teddy Wilson

March 28, 2012 Politics

<http://www.coloradoindependent.com/116361/does-the-irs-really-have-it-in-for-tea-party-groups>

Conservative activists and some Republican lawmakers are up in arms about what they describe as the Internal Revenue Service conducting a partisan and ideologically driven campaign against tea party groups around the country. They claim that progressive organizations are not experiencing the same level of scrutiny. However, some progressive groups say they have had similar experiences with the IRS, and at least one expert dismisses the notion that the government is engaged in an ideological witch hunt.

Tea party groups, as well as other non-profit organizations, can apply for tax-exempt status with the IRS. Under the 501(c) designation there are 28 different types of organizations that are exempt from paying some or all federal taxes. Typically, organizations like tea party groups will apply either for 501(c)3 or 501(c)4 status, depending on the organization's activities. One of the differences between the designations is that donations to a 501(c)3 are tax deductible and donations to a 501(c)4 are not.

In an interview with the Texas Independent, Toby Walker of the Waco Tea Party said that the group applied for 501(c)4 status by filing a 1024 form with the IRS in July of 2010. About a month later the group was informed that the IRS would take 90 days to inform it of an approval, a denial, or a request for more information. "The 90 days came and went," said Walker. "But on their web site it said that they were behind. We started calling and checking in, and they said they were backlogged."

Then on Feb. 7 of this year, the Waco Tea Party received a letter from the IRS asking for the answers to 20 questions. "Some of the questions were acceptable," said Walker. "We knew they were going to ask for more information, and we weren't surprised to get the letter. What surprised us were a number of the questions that did not pertain to the 1024."

"Red alert"

Walker specifically cited the seventeenth question as being a "red alert." The question asks if the group has a "close relationship with any candidate for public office or political party." The question also asks them to describe the relationship.

"I told our treasurer to find out what that means," said Walker. "When we called the IRS they said that close relationship is subjective and to send them the names, and they will let us know. What does that mean?"

"It was so onerous to answer," said Walker.

Report Exhibits - Page 001697

The letter asked for transcripts of the group's social media activities, including posts on Facebook and Twitter. It also requested transcripts of the group's online radio show. Walker said that the group was looking at significant costs for printing and shipping all of the documents required. "Just to do our Twitter account would be between 2,500 and 3,000 pages," said Walker.

Walker said that she knew that "left leaning groups" that filed the same year had been approved. While she did not name the specific groups, Walker referred to a March 8 Roll Call article. The article stated that "several liberal groups contacted by Roll Call did not report similar experiences."

The article specifically cited Protect Your Care, a 501(c)4 organization that describes its mission as providing a space to "champion the Affordable Care Act," as an organization that did not receive any such questionnaire letter from the IRS. Roll Call also said that one other unnamed liberal 501(c)(4) organization was granted tax exempt status in May after receiving "only a modest six-part questionnaire."

Progressives get same treatment

However, interviews conducted by the Texas Independent with three different progressive organizations call into question charges that the IRS is engaged in ideological discrimination. Each organization reported varying degrees of interactions with the IRS, and the amount of time it took each to receive final approval also varied. However, two of the organizations did receive correspondence from the IRS requesting more information, and these letters included similar questions to those received by the Waco Tea Party.

In College Station, Texas, the Brazos Progressives, a coalition of progressive groups and businesses, originally filed for 501(c)3 status and, after being denied, filed for and received 501(c)4 status. Clean Elections Texas, an organization that seeks to build support for a public funding option for candidates seeking public office in Texas, filed for 501(c)4 status and said that they avoided requests for more information by being advised on what specific information the IRS was looking for on the 1024 forms.

A staff member of a progressive organization in Texas spoke with the Texas Independent on the condition of anonymity due to the fact that their organization is undergoing a similar review as the Waco Tea Party. The staff member said that that while the organization's application for 501(c)3 and 501(c)4 status went through "fairly smoothly," the organization also had to answer extensive follow-up questions about its finances and mission.

"We received a questionnaire of around twenty questions," said a staff member. "The letter was looking for a deeper understanding of our organization. There were no questions that were that surprising. I think they [the questions] were just about really drilling into why we wanted to have a tax exempt status. It made us focus on what we are working on and what kind of great good agenda, not just a partisan agenda, we are working toward."

"The IRS is asking similar questions of organizations from all over the political spectrum."

Report Exhibits - Page 001698

The staff member, who said that he has worked for multiple 501(c)3 and 501(c)4 organizations during the Clinton, Bush, and Obama administrations, said that he has perceived no difference in how non-profits applying for tax-exempt status are treated. "When the IRS asks questions, then you answer them," said the staff member. "If you are upset with being upfront and clear about your organization, then maybe you shouldn't be filing for a 501(c)4 status."

A comparison of the letter from the IRS released by the Waco Tea Party and of a letter provided by the progressive Texas organization found that both are extensively detailed, asked similar questions, and were tailored to each organization. Both letters asked for copies of the organization's board meeting minutes and for copies of each organization's web sites. Questions also addressed specific concerns that the IRS had with each organization but, on the whole, did not appear to treat the organizations differently.

Marcus Owens, an attorney who represents non-profit organizations and has previously worked with the IRS, told the Texas Independent that the IRS is attempting to "get behind the rhetoric" of organizations that are interested in public policy.

"The IRS is asking similar questions of organizations from all over the political spectrum," said Owens. "The real issue for the IRS when it looks at organizations that apply for 501(c)4 status is whether or not they are social welfare organizations or something else. It's not whether or not they should be exempt or not, but which code section they should be exempt under."

While Owens did think that some of the questions were too broad and could have been worded better, he also said that groups applying for tax exempt status have options when questioned by the IRS.

"Fundamentally the IRS has a right ask the questions," said Owens. "However, the IRS is usually open to negotiating how much information you need to provide. What is clear is that this application process is normally not improved by public posturing. It is the task of the organization or the organization's representatives to add to the facts and make the case to the IRS."

Walker says that when the Waco Tea Party received the letter from the IRS, the group contacted its members, volunteers, and supporters. At no time did the group contact the IRS directly for clarification of the questions or to negotiate what information would be acceptable.

The Waco Tea Party also sought out the American Center for Law and Justice for legal advice and representation.

The ACLJ has taken up the cause of the Waco Tea Party and other tea party groups. The ACLJ describes itself as "committed to ensuring the ongoing viability of freedom and liberty in the United States and around the world." Founded in 1990 by television evangelist Pat Robertson, the group has gained notoriety for taking up conservative causes. These have included providing a legal defense for a public bus driver who was fired for refusing to take a woman to a Planned Parenthood clinic in Texas.

Report Exhibits - Page 001699

"When a branch of the fed government is violating citizens' rights, they need to be investigated and put into their constitutional box."

The ACLJ posted a petition on its web site to "Stop the IRS from Silencing the Tea Party." The petition claims that under the Obama Administration the IRS "appears to be conducting politically motivated investigations of tea party organizations nationwide." The petition characterizes the investigations as "bullying tactics" that are "designed to silence these organizations." The petition calls for the Speaker of the House and others to "provide IRS oversight." Other Republican lawmakers and candidates have joined in supporting these claims, and some have called for congressional investigations.

Rep. Flores gets involved

Republican Rep. Bill Flores (TX-17), whose district includes Waco, penned a letter to House Committee on Oversight on Government Reform Chairman Rep. Darrell Issa stating that he is "concerned that the IRS is targeting tea party organizations around the country." The letter requests that Issa's committee open an investigation into the issue and hold congressional hearings. Republican senators also sent a letter to Commissioner of the IRS Douglas Shulman, requesting a response to similar concerns and demanding that the agency hold further "demands for information."

The Waco Tea Party also taken to social media to make its case that it is being targetted by the IRS, characterizing it as a battle between the "IRS versus the tea party." Posting multiple status updates and links on Facebook and Twitter, the group has made the claim that you are "either with us or against us and the constitution." The group has also promoted the petition drive by the ALCJ, tweeting "defend the tea party from the IRS, sign the petition and call Congress."

Another recent tweet reads: "The left is trying to silence Rush, and the IRS is trying to silence the tea party."

Walker shares the desire for an investigation and hearings. "Yes there needs to be congressional hearings," she said. "When a branch of the fed government is violating citizens' rights, they need to be investigated and put into their constitutional box."

IRS Letter to Waco Tea Party

Internal Revenue Service
██████████
Cincinnati, OH 45201

Date: February 1, 2012

Waco Tea Party
PO Box 5231
Waco, TX 76708

Department of the Treasury

Employer Identification Number:
██████████

Person to Contact - Group #:
██████████

Contact Telephone Numbers:

██████████ Phone

██████████ Fax

Response Due Date:

February 23, 2012

Dear Sir or Madam:

We need more information before we can complete our consideration of your application for exemption. Please provide the information requested on the enclosed Information Request by the response due date shown above. Your response must be signed by an authorized person or an officer whose name is listed on your application. Also, the information you submit should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this information, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the information contains all the relevant facts relating to the request for the information, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

If we approve your application for exemption, we will be required by law to make the application and the information that you submit in response to this letter available for public inspection. Please ensure that your response doesn't include unnecessary personal identifying information, such as bank account numbers or Social Security numbers, that could result in identity theft or other adverse consequences if publicly disclosed. If you have any questions about the public inspection of your application or other documents, please call the person whose name and telephone number are shown above.

To facilitate processing of your application, please attach a copy of this letter and the enclosed Application Identification Sheet to your response and all correspondence related to your application. This will enable us to quickly and accurately associate the additional documents with your case file. Also, please note the following important response submission information:

- Please don't fax and mail your response. Faxing and mailing your response will result in unnecessary delays in processing your application. Each piece of correspondence submitted (whether fax or mail) must be processed, assigned, and reviewed by an EO Determinations specialist.
- Please don't fax your response multiple times. Faxing your response multiple times will delay the processing of your application for the reasons noted above.

Report Exhibits - Page 001701

2

Waco
[REDACTED]

- Please don't call to verify receipt of your response without allowing for adequate processing time. It takes a minimum of three workdays to process your faxed or mailed response from the day it is received.

If we don't hear from you by the response due date shown above, we will assume you no longer want us to consider your application for exemption and will close your case. As a result, the Internal Revenue Service will treat you as a taxable entity. If we receive the information after the response due date, we may ask you to send us a new application.

If you have any questions, please contact the person whose name and telephone number are shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely yours

[REDACTED]
Exempt Organizations Specialist

Enclosure: Information Request
Application Identification Sheet

Report Exhibits - Page 001702

3

Waco

Additional Information Requested:

1. Please provide copies of your current web pages, including your Blog posts. Please provide copies of all of your newsletters, bulletins, flyers, newsletters or any other media or literature you have disseminated to your members or others. Please provide copies of stories and articles that have been published about you.
2. Provide copies of the pages of your social networking sites
3. You provided a copy of your Articles of Incorporation that does not exhibit the State agency's date stamp. Please provide a copy exhibiting the date stamp.
4. Provide an updated roster of your Board and officers
5. Provide your actual revenues and expenditures for 2010 and 2011, and a projection of your 2012 revenues and expenditures. Please be very explicit about your expenditures
6. Provide copies of the action items you have sent to members and others by email or otherwise
7. Provide copies of the agendas and minutes of any Board meetings and, if applicable, membership meetings, in which electoral issues were discussed or to which candidates for political office were invited
8. Have you expressly endorsed or oppose candidates for public office or slates of candidates at public events, on your website, on your radio show or YouTube page, in your literature or in any other forum? Do you plan to do so in the current election cycle? If so, provide a list of candidates for political office you have expressly endorsed or opposed, and describe the occasion on which you made each endorsement.
9. Describe in detail any financial or other support you have given to candidates, slates of candidates, or political parties, or which you plan to give in the current election cycle
10. List the community events, including rallies, you organized or took part in in the past, or plan to organize or participate in during the current election cycle. What are the dates on which they took place or will take place?
  - a. Describe the purpose of the event, and the issues that it addressed.
  - b. Provide copies of any materials disseminated to participants in the event
  - c. If you permitted a candidate qua candidate to address the participants in any event, explain in detail.
11. List the dates of the radio shows in which candidates for political office were invited or in which candidates as candidates were mentioned by name. Please provide transcripts of the pertinent parts of those shows
12. Submit copies of any candidate questionnaires you submit to candidates. How do you communicate the results of the questionnaires to the electorate? Provide copies of these communications
13. Do you compile voter guides or distribute voter guides, either your own or those provided by others? Provide copies.
14. Provide copies of any documents you disseminate that rate incumbents or all candidates for political office. State the dates on which you disseminated these documents, and through which media

Report Exhibits - Page 001703

Waco
[REDACTED]

15. Do any issue-related advocacy communications compare to the positions of candidates or slates of candidates on these issues with your positions? Provide copies of these communications. What percentage do these constitute of your issue-related advocacy communications?
16. Do you encourage eligible voters to educate themselves, register to vote, and vote?
  - a. Explain in detail how you do this. For example, do you conduct voter registration or get out the vote drives, or voter education?
  - b. In the course of conducting these activities do your members or volunteers urge the voters to support or oppose particular candidates or slates of candidates?
  - c. If not, describe how you ensure that these activities are conducted in a strictly non-partisan manner.
17. Do you have a close relationship with any candidate for public office or political party? If so describe fully the nature of that relationship.
18. Provide copies of any agreements you have with others for provision of goods or services, sharing of facilities or other cooperative arrangements, or anything else
19. What percentage of your time is devoted to each of the following? What percentage of your resources?
  - a. Member events in which electoral issues, including the qualifications of candidates or slates of candidates are also discussed
  - b. Organization/participation in public events. Within this category, what percentage involved some kind of intervention in the political process, including, but not exclusively, express or implicit endorsement or opposition to candidates or slates of candidates.
  - c. Express endorsements of candidates through press releases, advertising, member communications, radio shows, or other media.
  - d. Financial or other support to candidates, slates of candidates, or political parties.
  - e. Voter education and engagement activities which tend to support or oppose specific candidates or slates of candidates.
  - f. Issue-related advocacy communications. Within this category, what percentage include comparisons of the positions of candidates or slates of candidates on these issues with your positions?
  - g. Compilation and distribution of candidate questionnaires, voter guides, incumbent or candidate ratings, and so forth.
  - h. Member events in which only legislative issues are discussed.
  - i. Nonpartisan voter education or engagement activities
  - j. Fundraising.
  - k. Website maintenance
  - l. Other administrative, including officer travel and participation in conferences
  - m. Other – please describe fully

Waco
[REDACTED]

20. Apart from your responses to the preceding, estimate the percentage of your time and what percentage of your resources you will devote to activities in the 2012 election cycle, in which you will explicitly or implicitly support or oppose a candidate, candidates or slates of candidates, for public office

PLEASE DIRECT ALL CORRESPONDENCE REGARDING YOUR CASE TO:

US Mail:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
[REDACTED]
Cincinnati, OH 45201
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Street Address for Delivery Service:

Internal Revenue Service
Exempt Organizations
[REDACTED]
Cincinnati, OH 45202
ATTN: [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

IRS Letter to Progressive Group

ORGANIZATION: [REDACTED]
CASE #: [REDACTED]
AGENT: [REDACTED]
DATE: [REDACTED]

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

NOTE: Your response to this letter must be submitted over the signature of an authorized person or of an officer whose name is listed on the application. Also, the information you submit should be accompanied by the following declaration:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this information, including accompanying documents, and, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the information contains all the relevant facts relating to the request for the information.

1. Please submit statements regarding educational, work and philanthropic backgrounds of the organization's officers, directors, board members and trustees.
2. Please provide information as follows pertaining to each of the organization's officers, directors or trustees:
  - a. Please describe the duties that each individual performs for the organization.
  - b. Other than serving as an officer, director and/or board member for the organization, please provide the names and addresses of each individual's employer/business, the nature of their employment/business, and the number of hours devoted to their employment/business.
3. Other than the Cost Sharing Agreement submitted with Form 1024, please submit copies of any other written leases, contracts or agreements entered into by the organization.
4. Will anyone use the organization's facility other than for the purpose of directly carrying out its work? Will any of the directors or employees reside and/or work (e.g. not related to the organization's activities) at the facility? If so, explain fully. Please fully explain if the owner of the facility is related to the organization and/or its officers, directors, etc. in any way other than as landlord.
5. Please submit complete copies of the organization's financial statements and balance sheets for the following periods:
  - a. Fiscal year ending December 31, 2011, and
  - b. Period covering January 1, 2012 through Present.
6. Please provide copies of board meeting minutes since the organization's inception.
7. Please provide copies of agendas and/or descriptions of topics covered at each of the organization's general meetings and events since inception.

Report Exhibits - Page 001706

ORGANIZATION: [REDACTED]
CASE #: [REDACTED]
AGENT: [REDACTED]
DATE: [REDACTED]

8. Please provide copies of materials distributed at each of the organization's meetings since inception.
9. Does the organization have a website? If so, please provide its website address and complete copies of the organization's web pages and action alerts from its website. Please also ensure to include web pages that are accessible only to members.
10. Please provide copies of all of the organization's promotional material.
11. Has the organization distributed or will it distribute materials or conduct other communications that are prepared by another organization or person? If so, provide the following:
  - a. Please provide details of this activity.
  - b. Please provide the names of the individual(s) and/or organization(s) that prepared the materials.
  - c. Please submit copies of materials and contents of the communications.
  - d. When and where the distributions have been conducted or will be conducted?
  - e. Who has distributed or will distribute the materials?
12. Is the organization a membership organization? If so, submit the following:
  - a. Please indicate how many members the organization has currently.
  - b. Please fully explain what the organization's memberships consist of (i.e. individuals, businesses, organizations, etc.).
  - c. Please provide a numerical breakdown of members in each membership class.
  - d. Please provide a complete copy of the member application/registration form.
  - e. Please provide the membership agreement and rules that govern members.
  - f. Please provide a membership fee schedule.
  - g. Please fully describe the requirements for membership.
  - h. Please fully describe what services and benefits are available only to the organization's membership.
  - i. Please fully describe the members' roles and duties within the organization.
13. The attachment to Part II, Line 5 of Form 1024 indicates that the organization has a close connection to [REDACTED]. Please submit the following:
  - a. Please fully describe the activities [REDACTED]
  - b. Please fully describe how the activities of [REDACTED] differ from those of the organization.
  - c. Please provide the website address for [REDACTED]
  - d. Please provide promotional material relating to [REDACTED]

Report Exhibits - Page 001707

ORGANIZATION: [REDACTED]
CASE #: [REDACTED]
AGENT: [REDACTED]
DATE: [REDACTED]

- e. Please provide the names of officers, directors and board members of [REDACTED]
  - f. Please fully explain if [REDACTED] has been granted exemption from the Internal Revenue Service. If so, please provide complete evidence.
14. Please submit a breakdown list showing the percentage of time and resources that the organization devotes to its activities (For example, this organization is spending 20% of its activities conducting educational seminars and conferences, 35% of its activities on fund-raising activities, etc.).
15. We wish to call the organization's attention to section 4.03 of Rev. Proc. 2008-9, 2008-2 I.R.B. 258 states:

.03 Exempt status may be recognized in advance of the organization's operations if the proposed activities are described in sufficient detail to permit a conclusion that the organization will clearly meet the particular requirements for exemption pursuant to the section of the Internal Revenue Code under which exemption is claimed.

- (1) A mere restatement of exempt purposes or a statement that proposed activities will be in furtherance of such purposes will not satisfy this requirement.
- (2) The organization must fully describe all of the activities in which it expects to engage, including the standards, criteria, procedures or other means adopted or planned for carrying out the activities, the anticipated sources of receipts, and the nature of contemplated expenditures.
- (3) Where the organization cannot demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Service that it qualifies for exemption pursuant to the section of the Internal Revenue Code under which exemption is claimed, the Service will generally issue a proposed adverse determination letter or ruling.

The attachment to Part II, Line 1 on Page 2 of Form 1024 indicates that the organization's mission [REDACTED]

The information submitted with the exemption application does not contain sufficient information in detail to fully describe the organization's past, current and proposed activities. Therefore, please submit a much more detailed description of these activities.

Please ensure to include the following:

- a. Please provide a detailed description of each activity.
- b. The date, location, and content schedule of each event.
- c. Copies of materials distributed to the audience at each event.

Report Exhibits - Page 001708

ORGANIZATION: [REDACTED]
CASE #: [REDACTED]
AGENT: [REDACTED]
DATE: [REDACTED]

- d. Please fully describe what resources the organization uses to gather information for its activities.
  - e. Identify the educational materials that were used by presenters at each event.
  - f. The names and credentials of the instructors.
  - g. If speeches or forums were conducted in the event, provide detailed contents of the speeches or forums, names of the speakers or panels, and their credentials. If any speakers or panel members were paid, provide the amount paid for each person. If not, please indicate that they volunteered to conduct the event.
  - h. The names of persons from the organization and the amount of time they spent for each event. Indicate the name and amount of time they spent on the event. Indicate the name and amount of compensation that was paid to each person.
16. Form 1024 indicates that the organization will conduct get out to vote activities including registering, recruiting, educating, mobilizing and turning out voters in critical elections. Please provide the following:
- a. Please provide more details pertaining to each of these activities.
  - b. Please provide a list to show locations, date and time for each of the events.
  - c. Please fully explain who on the organization's behalf has conducted or will conduct the voter registration or get out to vote drives.
  - d. Provide copies of all materials published or distributed regarding the activities, including copies of any voter guides.
17. Form 1024 indicates that the organization will coordinate a voting rights project to monitor and promote public policy as well as play a watchdog role in election oversight and protection.
18. Please fully describe the activities that the organization conducts that influence legislation. Please ensure to give detailed examples on how the organization educates and/or will educate the public concerning key legislation and the positions of political candidates and elected officials on that legislation.
19. Please fully explain if the organization and/or its officers, directors and board members engaged and/or will engage in business dealings with any political candidates and/or elected officials or an organization that is associated with the candidates and/or elected officials (i.e. renting office space, providing access to a membership list, etc.). If so, describe the relationship in detail and copies of any contracts or other agreements documenting the business relationship.
20. Has the organization conducted or will it conduct candidate forums or other events at which candidates running for public offices are invited to speak? If so, provide the following details and nature of the forum including:
- a. The names of candidates invited to participate.

Report Exhibits - Page 001709

ORGANIZATION: [REDACTED]
CASE #: [REDACTED]
AGENT: [REDACTED]
DATE: [REDACTED]

- b. The names of the candidates who did participate.
  - c. The issues that were discussed.
  - d. The time and location of the event.
  - e. Copies of all materials provided and distributed at the forum, including any internet or advertising material discussed or used at the forum.
21. Describe in detail the organization's fundraising through mail solicitations, email solicitations, and personal solicitations. Please submit copies of all solicitation materials that the organization distributes.